him. By a letter the sub-broker agreed to be liable for an ascertained amount due from the various constituents introduced by him and stipulated that the amount should be debited to his account :

Held that the contract embodied in the letter was neither a contract of indemnity nor a contract of guarantee. AIR 1940 Bom 315 (317) = ILR (1940) Bom 552 (DB).

(13) Where under the sub-brokerage contract the sub-broker was to get fifty per cent. broker's commission, to introduce constituents to the broker and to be answerable to the broker for the performance by the constituents introduced of their obligations, it was held that the contract was one of indemnity and not of guarantee and therefore the broker was under Section 135 entitled to compromise the amount due from the constituents without the consent of the sub-broker. AIR 1940 Bom 315 (317) = ILR (1940) Bom 552 (DB).

(14) Where after the debt has been contracted, A, the alleged surety came forward and promised that he would see that the debtor duly discharged his obligation, but the creditor did not suffer any detriment at the instance of A, it was held that the promise was not supported by consideration and for that reason could not be enforced in a Court of law. A promise of this description could not amount to a guarantee. AIR 1952 Trav-Co 202 (202) (DB).

(15) If a person undertakes to reimburse another for some loss which may be caused to him say, by a third party or by himself, but not at the request, express or implied, of a third party, then the person who having undertaken the liability and having been called upon to make good the loss will not be able to recover the loss so caused to him from the principal debtor, the latter being not privy, but virtually a stranger to the undertaking given to the promisee. Such a contract is not a contract of guarantee but one of indemnity. AIR 1953 Raj 343 (345, 346) = ILR (1958) 8 Raj 975.

(16) A surety for a debt for which a minor made himself liable cannot be proceeded against on his contract of guarantee because under Section 128 the liability of the surety is co-extensive with that of the principal debtor unless it is otherwise provided by the contract. The obligation of the surety does not become a primary one when no liability can ever be fastened on the principal debtor by reason of his minority at the time of the contract. AIR

1957 Mad 164 (168) = ILR (1957) Mad 176 (DB).

(17) Undertaking to perform the promise or discharge the liability of a third person — Letter reciting the writer as a debtor — Writer just come of age — Liable, if at all, only as a debtor — Not liable as a surety. AIR 1952 All 996 (1001, 1010) = ILR (1952) 2 All 984 (DB).

(18) Where two persons were described as principal debtors and two others as sureties in the opening part of the document but in the operative part all these four persons had undertaken upon themselves the liability to pay the amount due under the bond on demand by the plaintiff, held that though two persons have been described as sureties they all were joint contractors. 1961 Raj LW 394 (395).

(19) Where a reference was made in the bond to the request of the principal debtor to the surety to give security and the surety thereupon agreed to comply with the request of the principal debtor and on that basis he executed the bond in favour of the creditor who accepted the same, this satisfied the test of the document being a surety bond. AIR 1959 Mad 122 (125) = 71 Mad LW 866 (2) (DB).

(20) Terms of guarantee fixing last date for enforcement of guarantee — Time limit made integral part of guarantee — No attempt made to enforce it — Guarantee is no longer enforceable. AIR 1967 SC 1634 (1637) = (1968) 1 SCJ 290.

(21) Loan secured from Bank — Letter, promissory note and deed of hypothecation executed in favour of Bank by three defendants of which B was one — Held all documents read together satisfied conditions of Sec. 126, and that B was surety and not co-obligant. AIR 1965 SC 1856 (1860) = (1965) 3 SCR 318.

(22) Overdraft account of B with bank — Sum of money due on — Bank agreeing to give overdraft facility to B — In consideration thereof A, jointly with B executing promissory note containing unconditional undertaking to pay the said amount and gave by their letter continuing security for repayment of any balance due on overdraft — Held, on construction of aforesaid letter that the letter was to make A only a surety. AIR 1964 Andh Pra 555 (557) = (1964) 2 Andh WR 362.

that of stake-holder and not quite that of surety. AIR 1963 All 294 (298) (DB).

4. "Oral or written."— (1) A contract of guarantee need not necessarily be in writing. It may be expressed by word of mouth or it may be tacit or implied and may be inferred from the course of conduct of the parties. Chapter VIII is not exhaustive on the subject. AIR 1930 All 848 (849) (DB)  AIR 1937 Sind 50 (50) (DB)  AIR 1969 Andhra Pra 294 (298) (DB).

(2) Where the terms of a contract of guarantee though oral, have been mentioned with sufficient precision in plaint, the contract cannot be held to be uncertain or void within the meaning of Section 29. AIR 1957 Pat 256 (258) (DB).

5. Guarantee for honesty.— (1) There is a broad and substantial distinction between a surety for the payment of a debt and one for the honesty of a guardian and in order to find out whether a particular transaction belongs to the one class or the other, one will, in each case, have to refer to the terms of the bond itself and the circumstances of the case. AIR 1932 Pat 162 (164) = 10 Pat 94 (DB).

(2) If the employer of a servant whose fidelity has been guaranteed continues to employ him even after a proved act of dishonesty without notice to the guarantor the surety is discharged. AIR 1955 Cal 217 (221, 222).

(3) A surety's liability for the faithful discharge by another of his duties depends in each case on the exact terms of that guarantee. The surety is not discharged from the liability for the principal debtor's default because the default would not have happened if the creditor had used all the powers of superintending the performance of the debtor's duty which he could have exercised, because the employer of servant whose due performance of work is guaranteed does not contract with the surety that he will use the utmost diligence in checking the servant's work. AIR 1955 Cal 217 (221).

(4) The continued employment of a servant without notice to surety in order to discharge the surety must be after the creditor or employer has proof of the servant's acts of dishonesty and not merely suspicions or reports about them. The theory is a theory not of suspicion but of satisfaction. AIR 1955 Cal 217 (223).

6. Surety becoming principal debtor.— (1) If on failure of principal debtor, the money is claimed from the surety and the surety executes a promissory note, he becomes a principal debtor. AIR 1945 All 233 (234, 235) = ILR (1945) All 117 (DB).

(2) Plaintiff and defendant originally creditor and surety — Subsequent agreement by which surety undertaking to pay sum unconditionally — Surety becomes principal debtor — Suit against him within three years of the agreement is maintainable even though the agreement has been entered into on failure of principal debtor to pay. 1935 All WR 492 (492, 493).

(3) The obligation of the surety does not become a primary one when no liability can ever be fastened on the principal debtor by reason of his minority at the time of the contract. AIR 1957 Mad 164 (168) = ILR (1957) Mad 176 (DB).

7. Contract of guarantee — Proof.

(1) Contract of guarantee as also the consideration for it must be strictly proved when they are relied upon. Due weight must be given to custom of merchants in drawing presumptions. AIR 1935 Pat 376 (379) (DB)  AIR 1969 Andh Pra 294 (298) (DB).

(2) Guarantor merely guaranteeing payment of debtor's debt is entitled to require debt to be proved against him — Debtor agreeing to debt proved in particular way — Guarantor is bound by that mode of proof. AIR 1941 Bom 108 (119, 120) = ILR (1941) Bom 273 (DB).

(3) Whether a guarantee is enforceable or not depends upon the terms under which the guarantor bound himself. To this there are some exceptions. In case of ambiguity when all other rules of construction fail the Courts interpret the guarantee contra proferentem, that is, against the guarantor or use the recitals to control the meaning of the operative part where that is possible. But whatever the mode employed, the cardinal rule is that the guarantor must not be made liable beyond the terms of his engagement. AIR 1967 SC 1634 (1636) = (1968) 1 SCJ 290.

(4) The terms of a guarantee must be strictly construed. The surety receives no benefit and no consideration. He is bound therefore, merely according to the proper meaning and effect of the written engagement that he has entered into. AIR 1967 Mys 147 (149) = (1965) 2 Mys LJ 87.

8. Limitation.— (1) Section 128 of the Contract Act defines the liability of a surety but does not affect the statute of limitation. A payment by the principal debtor does not bind the surety for the purposes of limitation. AIR 1918 Cal 707 (710, 712) = 44 Cal 978 (DB).

(2) A promissory note payable on demand being a debt in praesenti and payable without demand, the limitation runs from the date of its execution and the liability of the surety being

127. Consideration for guarantee.—Anything done, or any promise made, for the benefit of the principal debtor, may be a sufficient consideration to the surety for giving the guarantee.

(a) B requests A to sell and deliver to him goods on credit. A agrees to do so, provided C will guarantee the payment of the price of the goods. C promises to guarantee the payment in consideration of A's promise to deliver the goods. This is a sufficient consideration for C's promise.

(b) A sells and delivers goods to B. C afterwards requests A to forbear to sue B for the debt for a year, and promises that, if he does so, C will pay for them in default of payment by B. A agrees to forbear as requested. This is a sufficient consideration for C's promise.

(c) A sells and delivers goods to B. C afterwards, without consideration, agrees to pay for them in default of B. The agreement is void.

collateral with that of the principal debtor, the position both in England and in Indian law is that it will always depend upon the form of the contract as entered into between the surety and the creditor and whether or not the principal debtor and the surety are co-contractors. AIR 1957 Orissa 106 (108) = ILR (1957) Cut 454.

(3) For the purposes of application of S. 20, Limitation Act (1908), the debt of the surety is distinct from the debt of the principal debtor though both of them arise out of the same transactions. Section 128 which makes the liability of the surety co-extensive with that of the principal debtor has reference only to the quantum of the liability and is not intended to affect the application of the statute of limitation. AIR 1957 Orissa 106 (108) = ILR (1957) Cut 454.

(Section 72, Dekhan Agriculturists Relief Act XVII of 1879 — Extension of period of limitation in respect of agriculturists — No distinction between liability as principal and surety.)

(3) Surety for person ordered to keep peace or to be of good behaviour — Liability of surety is independent liability and is not co-extensive with that of the person bound over — Provisions relating to contracts of guarantee and surety's liability in chapter 8 are wholly inapplicable to such bond by surety. AIR 1946 All 333 (335, 336) = ILR (1946) All 801 = 47 Cri LJ 757 (FB).

(4) Mortgage decree against A — Suit by A's son against decree-holder for declaration that property was not liable to sale in execution, the decree being obtained on immoral debts — A made pro forma defendant — Stay of execution asked for — Stay granted on furnishing surety for interest and depreciation of property — During pendency of son's suit decree-holder realizing Rs. 9759 from surety — Suit ultimately dismissed — In execution of mortgage decree, decree-holder obtaining personal decree against A under Order 34, Rule 6 for Rs. 8425 and odd — A cannot claim refund of excess amount recovered from surety in son's suit, since surety cannot demand any money from A, who was merely a pro-forma defendant in the suit. AIR 1949 East Punj 213 (218).

(9) There can be no contract of guarantee if liability does not exist. (10) With regard to contracts of guarantee for advances made by a bank to the principal debtor, an arrangement between the principal debtor, and the surety, behind the back of the bank, cannot affect the bank's right. (27) Under Section 128, the liability of a surety being co-extensive with that of the principal debtor, unless it is otherwise provided for by the contract, the contract of guarantee has to be construed to find out the exact point of time when the liability of the surety arises. The question depends on the terms of the contract of guarantee by which the surety has bound himself. AIR 1948 Nag 123 (124) = ILR (1947) Nag 643  AIR 1960 Andh Pra 210 (211, 212) = (1959) 2 Andh WR 435 (DB)  AIR 1959 Andh Pra 96 (98) (DB). 3. Surety for minors.— (1) A surety for a debt for which a minor made himself liable cannot be proceeded against on his contract of guarantee because under Section 128 the liability of the surety is co-extensive with that of the principal debtor, unless it is otherwise provided by the contract. The obligation of a surety does not become a primary one when no liability can ever be fastened on the principal debtor by reason of his minority at the time of the contract. (6) A bond for the performance of a decree which is governed by S. 145, C. P. Code, though not in the strict sense, a contract of guarantee, in the absence of any stipulation in that behalf there is no ground for limiting a surety's liability only to decrees passed after contest. There is nothing unreasonable or wrong in a surety expressly stipulating that he would be bound by his guarantee only if a decree is passed after contest and that he would not be bound by a consent decree. (7) Where the liability of the judgment-debtor as undertaken under a security bond is limited to a specific sum, the liability is not co-extensive with the amount that may ultimately be decreed and the undertaking that the judgment-debtor would render himself liable to any amount that might be finally decreed means that the liability would not exceed the specified sum. (5) A surety is not a necessary party to the suit against the debtor. AIR 1943 All 289 (291) = ILR (1943) All 598.

(6) The surety is a necessary party in a suit filed for the enforcement of the mortgage. But it is one thing to join him as a necessary party and quite another to claim a decree against him. The mortgagee can join the

But these provisions do not entitle the mortgagee to claim relief of a conditional nature against the surety, where he has agreed to make good the deficit which may be found due on the sale of the mortgaged property. Unless the cause of action has arisen no relief can be claimed against the surety. AIR 1948 Nag 123 (125) = ILR (1947) Nag 643.

(1) Question of continuing guarantee is to be determined with reference to the whole instrument. Cases of ambiguity require consideration of nature of business, position of parties and surrounding circumstances. AIR 1930 All 730 (731) = 52 All 997 (DB).

(2) In considering whether bond constitutes continuing guarantee surrounding circumstances must be considered unless wording of guarantee precludes it — Husband allowed to overdraw from Bank to the extent of Rs. 18,000 on his wife's depositing with Bank the deeds of her house as security — Bank advancing Rs. 18,000 — Husband wanting further finance — Wife executing legal mortgage in respect of house in favour of Bank for Rs. 25,000 to allow husband to overdraw to that extent — Banking account kept on the same basis — Security providing for total amount of Rs. 25,000 with interest or for any amount for time being owing and due to Bank from the wife "on footing of the bond" which specially referred to husband's overdraft — Held, that Court was not precluded

SECTION 133 — SYNOPSIS

1. Discharge of surety on variation of contract.
2. Variation operating as discharge.
3. Variation not operating as discharge.

1. Discharge of surety on variation of contract.— (1) The principle of the law of the discharge of sureties is that the surety, like any other contracting party, cannot be held bound to do something for which he has not contracted. If the original parties have expressly agreed to vary the terms of the original contract, no further question arises. The original contract has gone, and unless the surety has assented to the new terms, there is nothing to which he can be bound, for the final obligation of the principal debtor will be something different from the obligation which the surety guaranteed. Presumably he is discharged forthwith on the contract being altered without his consent, for the parties have made it impossible for the guaranteed performance to take place. AIR 1935 PC 21 (24) = 59 Bom 180 = 62 Ind App 23  AIR 1941 Bom 108 (119, 120) = ILR (1941) Bom 273 (DB)  AIR 1938 Mad 585 (588) (DB)  AIR 1918 PC 210 (212)  (1966) 79 Mad LW 189 = (1966) 1 Mad LJ 457 (458)  1962 Raj LW 711 = ILR (1963) 13 Raj 391 (393)  AIR 1961 Punj 281 (286) (DB). (a) A becomes surety to C for B's conduct as a manager in C's bank. Afterwards B and C contract, without A's consent, that B's salary shall be raised, and that he shall become liable for one-fourth of the losses on overdrafts. B allows a customer to overdraw, and the bank loses a sum of money. A is discharged from his suretyship by the variance made without his consent, and is not liable to make good this loss.

(b) A guarantees C against the misconduct of B in an office to which B is appointed by C, and of which the duties are defined by an Act of the Legislature. By a subsequent Act, the nature of the office is materially altered. Afterwards, B misconducts himself. A is discharged by the change from future liability under his guarantee, though the misconduct of B is in respect of a duty not affected by the later Act.

(c) C agrees to appoint B as his clerk to sell goods at a yearly salary, upon A's becoming surety to C for B's duly accounting for moneys received by him as such clerk. Afterwards, without A's knowledge or consent, C and B agree that B should be paid by a commission on the goods sold by him and not by a fixed salary. A is not liable for subsequent misconduct of B.

(d) A gives to C a continuing guarantee to the extent of 3,000 rupees for any oil supplied by C to B on credit. Afterwards B becomes embarrassed, and, without the knowledge of A, B and C contract that C shall continue to supply B with oil for ready money, and that the payments shall be applied to the then existing debts between B and C. A is not liable on his guarantee for any goods supplied after this new arrangement.

(e) C contracts to lend B 5,000 rupees on the 1st March. A guarantees repayment. C pays the 5,000 rupees to B on the 1st January. A is discharged from his liability, as the contract has been varied, inasmuch as C might sue B for the money before the 1st of March.

(2) The application of this principle must always depend upon a correct analysis of the contract in fact made. Guarantees frequently relate to obligations without special reference to any specific contract between the creditor and the principal debtor. In such a case the doctrine referred to would have a very limited application. But when the contract between the creditor and the principal debtor is the basis of the surety bond and has been shown to the sureties before the bond is executed and is referred to in the body of the judgment the principle will apply. AIR 1935 PC 21 (25) = 62 Ind App 23 = 59 Bom 180.

(3) The avoidance of contract by material alteration is inapplicable where the document is not altered while in possession of the creditor bank or its agent but is altered by the principal debtor in whose possession the document was and who was at the time acting as the agent of the surety. AIR 1963 SC 746 (747, 749, 751, 753) = (1963) Supp 1 SCR 63.

(4) A variation of conditions requires the consensus of all the principal parties. AIR 1929 Lah 203 (204)  ILR (1963) 13 Raj 391 (393).

(5) Consent by the surety to the variation necessarily implies that the surety has the knowledge of the nature of the variation. AIR 1921 Bom 164 (165) = 45 Bom 157 (DB).

(6) In determining the liability of a surety the terms of the bond must in every case be carefully studied; and if there is any change in the position of the principal debtor as regards his creditor, it must materially affect the position of the surety, before the latter can be absolved from liability. AIR 1931 Oudh 426 (429) = 7 Luck 226 (DB)  AIR 1929 Lah 203 (204)  (1913) 14 Mad L Tim 249 (255) (DB).

[But see AIR 1936 Mad 576 (579) (DB). (Variation in small particular absolves surety.)]

(7) Per Hidayatullah, J.— Unsubstantial alterations in an instrument which are to the benefit of the surety do not discharge the surety from the liability. Where, however the alteration is to the disadvantage of the surety, or its unsubstantial character is not self-evident the surety can claim to be discharged. The Court will not then inquire whether it in fact harmed the surety.

Section 133 — Note 1 (contd.)

A document jointly executed by two persons creating a liability equal for both cannot be regarded as materially altered, if the liability is reduced equally for both but the alteration is made only by one of them. Such an alteration must be regarded as unsubstantial and not otherwise than beneficial to the surety. AIR 1963 SC 746 (747, 749, 751, 753) = 1963 Supp (1) SCR 63. ((1862) 45 ER 1225 and (1614) 11 Co. Rep. 26-b, Not applied.)

(8) If there is a substantial alteration in the contract even if there is no actual prejudice to the surety which can be shown to exist, the surety will be discharged as neither the Court nor the jury will go into the question whether there has been any actual prejudice or not. The surety is the sole judge as to whether he will continue to remain liable on the new contract or not. AIR 1932 Bom 168 (171) = 56 Bom 101 (DB).

(11) Section 133 provides only for a particular case of variance, namely, where the contract of guarantee contemplates a series of transactions extending over a period of time. It does not apply to a variance made in the case of a contract consisting of a single transaction. AIR 1932 Bom 168 (174) = 56 Bom 101 (DB).

(12) Section 133 cannot operate to alter the primary law of the contract of guarantee that the promisee must show performance before he can hold the promisor to his promise. AIR 1935 PC 21 (25) = 62 Ind App 23 = 59 Bom 180.

AIR 1953 Mys 68 (70, 71) = ILR (1953) Mys 277 (DB).

(15) The provisions of Section 133 are not subject to a contract to the contrary between the parties to the contract. This section is in unqualified terms. It was not necessary to put in the words 'notwithstanding any contract to the contrary' in this section, because wherever the legislature wanted that the terms of the contract between the parties should take precedence over the provisions of any section, the words 'in the absence of any contract to the contrary' or 'in the absence of any special contract' have been inserted in that particular section as has been done in Sections 152 and 163 of the Act. SECTION 134 — SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.

2. "Any act or omission of the creditor."

3. Omission to sue principal within limitation — Effect.

1. Scope.— (1) Section 134, Contract Act, presupposes to existence of a contract of guarantee, to which the creditor and the surety, if not also the debtor, are parties. The liability of the surety arises from an undertaking the creditor, the legal consequence of which is the discharge of the principal debtor.†

C supplies goods to B, and afterwards B becomes embarrassed and contracts with his creditors (including C) to assign to them his property in consideration of their releasing him from their demands. Here B is released from his debt by the contract with C, and A is discharged from his suretyship.

(b) A contracts with B to grow a crop of indigo on A's land and to deliver it to B at a fixed rate, and C guarantees A's performance of this contract. B diverts a stream of water which is necessary for irrigation of A's land and thereby prevents him from raising the indigo. C is no longer liable on his guarantee.

(c) A contracts with B for a fixed price to build a house for B within a stipulated time, B supplying the necessary timber. C guarantees A's performance of the contract. B omits to supply the timber. C is discharged from his suretyship.

The debt under the subsequent promissory note is quite a new transaction and a co-surety who is ignorant of it, cannot be made liable without his consent to make contribution. AIR 1922 Mad 119 (119) (DB).

(4) Decree passed against both surety and principal debtor by which rights and liabilities of surety were replaced by those created by decree — Before Debt Conciliation Board creditor released principal — Surety not absolved — Section 134 does not apply. 1939 Nag L Jour 402 (402, 403).

(5) Warrant of attachment before judgment withdrawn upon A executing surety bond — Subsequent application by plaintiff for sealing of factory and appointment of receiver — Application not pressed upon B executing another surety bond — No mention of first surety when second surety was given — Nothing to show that liability under first surety bond was preserved — B's surety held took the place of A's surety which stood discharged — Principles of Sections 133 to 139 applied. AIR 1958 Punj 337 (338).

(6) Award against principal debtor and surety making them equally liable — Debtor applying under Madras Debt Conciliation Act — Debtor's liability for debt discharged under Section 10 (2) of that Act — Creditor can still recover debt from surety — Section 134, Contract Act, does not apply where creditor has obtained decree against both the surety and the principal debtor — Madras Debt Conciliation Act, Section 10 (2) does not affect surety's liability under award. AIR 1948 Mad 252 (254) = ILR (1948) Mad 707 (DB).

(7) Liability of the principal debtor to pay to the surety whatever sum the latter has rightfully paid under the guarantee will not arise until the creditor has recovered from the surety the amount due under the award or decree passed against both the principal debtor and the surety and such contingent and future liability is obviously not within the purview of the proceedings under the Madras Debt Conciliation Act, and cannot be affected by the discharge of the principal debtor's liability to the creditor under Section 10 (2) of that Act. AIR 1948 Mad 252 (255) = ILR (1948) Mad 707 (DB).

(8) Sureties in criminal case — Transfer of case — Sureties will not stand discharged — Provisions of Contract Act not applicable — Principle of equity also not applicable. AIR 1960 All 419 (420) = 1960 Cri LJ 873.

(9) Liability of a surety under a bond executed for performance of a decree under Section 145 C. P. C., may be determined or put an end to only by the Court in whose favour the bond is executed. AIR 1967 Mys 147 (149) = (1965) 2 Mys LJ 87.

2. "Any act or omission of the creditor."— (1) Discharge of debtor without the consent of the surety destroys the liability of the surety though he had signed as a co-executant where the creditor knew that he was a surety. AIR 1924 Rang 360 (360).

(2) Section 134 discharges surety if legal consequence of creditor's act discharges debtor. AIR 1939 PC 110 (113, 114) = 66 Ind App 198 = 1939 Rang LR 358.

(3) Where in a suit against principal debtors and the surety, the names of the original debtors are struck out upon an application by the creditor, the only result is to preclude the bringing by the creditor of a fresh suit in respect of the subject matter against them, and is not to release or discharge the principal debt. (7) Creditor proceeding against surety first but not absolving principal debtor — Surety is not discharged as the principal is not discharged thereby. AIR 1926 Bom 465 (466) (DB).

(8) Failure of creditor to serve summons on debtor would enable Court to dismiss the suit against debtor; but that reason does not free the surety from his liability as such. (11) It is always open to a creditor to pursue his remedy against one of the debtors and forbearance to sue the others does not bring the case within Sections 134 and 139 of the Contract Act. AIR 1927 Lah 396 (397).

(12) Abatement of suit as against principal debtor owing to his death during pendency of suit does not discharge surety. AIR 1932 Lah 419 (420) = 13 Lah 817 (DB).

[But see AIR 1928 Lah 246 (247).]

(13) The legal consequence of the creditor's act in taking over the debtor's estate is to discharge the principal debtor. AIR 1923 Mad 340 (341) (DB).

(14) Mortgage by A in favour of G — K standing surety — A adjudicated insolvent — Sale of mortgaged property by Receiver — Only part payment made to G — Receiver keeping balance as commission — Suit by G for balance against A and K — Claim against A given up — G can proceed against K — Section 134 does not apply. in which husband was principal shareholder — Company going into liquidation — Creditor taking company's property in full satisfaction of his dues — Wife induced to sign a letter continuing shares to be security for advances — Wife subsequently induced to give fresh guarantee of indebtedness, misrepresenting that she was still liable as surety. Held that principal debt having been discharged the wife was absolved from all liability. AIR 1934 PC 210 (213).

(18) A surety is not discharged by the discharge of the principal debtor by operation of law. AIR 1942 Mad 145 (146) (DB). (Therefore when a new statutory provision (e. g., Madras Agriculturists' Relief Act) has had the effect of granting a partial discharge to the principal debtor and the creditor has taken no part in releasing the principal debtor from his liability the remedy of the creditor against the guarantor will not be affected. Hence the relief as against the guarantor should not be restricted to the amount of the debt as scaled down in the Act.)

(19) Composition between principal and creditor discharging principal — Surety expressly contracting to remain liable even after the principal's discharge is not absolved. AIR 1940 Mad 437 (438) = ILR (1940) Mad 757 (DB).

(20) Decree against principal and surety passed — Surety becomes joint judgment-debtor — He cannot plead acts of creditor to discharge his liability as surety. AIR 1944 Mad 423 (423).

(22) Every granting of time or accepting of additional security will not discharge the surety unless it comes under Section 134 by being an element in a new contract between the creditor and the principal debtor to which the surety is not a party. 3. Omission to sue principal within limitation — Effect. — (1) Section 134, Contract Act, applies where there is either a release or a discharge of the principal debtor. The section intends that the act or omission of the creditor should be something in the nature of a breach of the contract on his part — The failure of the creditor to bring a suit within the period of limitation against the principal debtor is not an act or omission of the nature contemplated by that section. AIR 1935 Lah 729 (732) = 16 Lah 757 (DB)  AIR 1932 All 610 (612) = 54 All 1007 (DB).

(3) As for Section 20, Limitation Act, the liabilities of the principal debtor and surety are distinct though their liabilities arise out of the same transaction. If the surety has made certain payments and endorsements on the bond on which the suit is based, he is liable even if remedy against the debtor is barred by Limitation Act. AIR 1932 Rang 88 (88, 89) = 10 Rang 398.

135. Discharge of surety when creditor compounds with, gives time to, or agrees not to sue, principal debtor.—A contract between the creditor and the principal debtor, by which the creditor makes a composition with, or promises to give time to, or not to sue, the principal debtor, discharges the surety, unless the surety assents to such contract.*

SECTION 135 — SYNOPSIS

1. Applicability.
2. Composition.
3. Extension of time.
4. Assent of surety.

1. Applicability. — (1) The principles underlying Sections 133 to 141 apply to surety bonds executed in favour of Courts though the sections are not themselves applicable. AIR 1944 Lah 428 (431, 432) (DB)  AIR 1939 Bom 23 (25) = ILR (1938) Bom 794 (DB)  AIR 1933 Mad 309 (310) = 56 Mad 625 (DB). (Bond for restitution of execution.)  (1953) 6 Sau LR 368 (369)  (1963) 3 SCR 921 (925, 926)  AIR 1967 Mys 147 (149) = (1965) 2 Mys LJ 87  (1965) 2 Law Rep 108 (110, 111)  AIR 1962 J and K 72 (74) = 1962 Kash LJ 23 (DB)  AIR 1962 Orissa 54 (59) = ILR (1961) Cut 356 (DB)  AIR 1959 Bom 516 (517) = 1958 Nag LJ 72.

[But see AIR 1927 Lah 336 (336). (Section 135 has no application to surety bond executed under Section 55 (4), Civil P. C., such a bond being in favour of Court.)  AIR 1920 Mad 355 (356) = 43 Mad 272 (DB). (Section does not apply to surety under O. 38, R. 3, Civil P. C.)]

(2) Section 135 has no application unless there is an initial tripartite agreement between the principal debtor, the surety and the creditor fixing specified dates for payment and subsequent extension of time by the creditor without reference to the surety. AIR 1962 Madh Pra 69 (71) = 1962 Jab LJ 429.

(3) Surety for appearance of judgment-debtor — Decree-holder giving time to judgment-debtor — Whether surety is discharged or not depends on discretion of Court, such a bond being in power of Court. AIR 1930 Lah 896 (897).

[See also AIR 1933 Cal 337 (338) (DB). (Surety executing bond for appearance of judgment-debtor — Judgment-debtor appearing and paying part of decree-debt — Acceptance by decree-holder's pleader — Surety's liability ceases on principle of S. 135.)]

(4) Auction-purchaser at execution allowed to, withdraw deposit on furnishing security to re-deposit when asked — Surety bond executed — Auction-purchaser asked to re-deposit — Time asked — Decree-holder not objecting — Time granted, but order reviewed and surety asked to deposit amount — Surety held not absolved, the bond being in favour of the Court and the consent of decree-holder, therefore, being immaterial. AIR 1938 Lah 472 (473).

(5) Sub-brokerage contract on behalf of broker to introduce constituents is not contract of guarantee but one of indemnity — Broker can compromise without sub-broker's consent. AIR 1940 Bom 315 (317) = ILR (1940) Bom 552 (DB).

(6) Person executing a promissory note jointly with another binding himself jointly and severally, cannot plead that he was surety for the other and take advantage of Section 135 unless he brings himself under the definition of surety given in Section 126 and is a party to contract of guarantee. AIR 1943 Mad 216 (217) (DB).

(7) Attachment before decree — Surety bond — Decree — Execution — Stay application by judgment-debtor on ground that he wanted to appeal — Stay granted — Order mentioning that "the previous bond executed subsisted only till the decree in the original suit granted" — Decree confirmed in appeal — Execution started against surety — Question whether stay order had the effect of discharge of surety — Reference of the previous bond in the stay order held was rather casual — Liability under bond did not terminate — Mere forbearance on part of creditor did not, in the absence of any provision in the guarantee to the contrary, discharge the surety under Section 137 — Sections 133, 135 and 139 did not in terms apply — Their application considered. AIR 1953 Mys 68 (70, 71) = ILR (1953) Mys 277 (DB).

(8) Warrant of attachment before judgment withdrawn upon A's furnishing surety bond for Rs. 1,000 — Few days later plaintiff applying for sealing of foundry and workshop and appointment of receiver — B produced as surety for Rs. 10,000 — Matter not proceeded with further — No mention of first surety bond at time the second surety was given — Nothing to show that first surety was preserved or excluded. Held, that the principles of Sections 133 to 139 applied and that B's surety took the place of A's surety, which stood discharged. AIR 1958 Punj 337 (338).

(9) The idea underlying Section 135 is that where the creditor does something behind the back of the surety, and does it to his prejudice, by advancing facilities to the principal debtor, which are likely to harm the surety, the surety is no more to be bound by his undertaking. AIR 1952 All 587 (589) (DB).

(10) Where a person by his letter of guarantee expressly referred to the terms and conditions of the borrower's agreement with the Government and stipulated as follows:

'I agree that failure on your part to enforce any of your remedies against the borrower shall not have the effect of releasing me from my liability under this guarantee'

Held, that the Guarantor could not claim discharge of his guarantee on the ground of indulgence alleged to have been granted by the Government to the borrower. AIR 1960 Cal 416 (419) = 64 Cal WN 126.

(11) No composition between creditor and principal debtor — No giving of time to principal debtor — No promise not to sue — Section 135 does not apply. 1959 All LJ 789 (794) = 1959 All WR (HC) 644.

2. Composition. — (1) Sections 134 and 135 apply to private composition behind back of surety — Principle of these sections does not apply to composition after notice to surety and accepted by Court — In such case, it becomes act of the Court. AIR 1921 Mad 236 (242) = 44 Mad 381 (DB).

(2) Creditor accepting composition during insolvency after part payment by surety — Surety is not entitled to refund. AIR 1921 Mad 236 (239) = 44 Mad 381 (DB).

(3) Composition between principal and creditor discharging principal — Surety expressly contracting to remain liable even after principal is discharged, is not absolved. AIR 1940 Mad 437 (438) = ILR (1940) Mad 757 (DB).

(4) Surety for amount which may be decreed by Court — Maximum liability fixed at Rs. 500 — Plaintiff in suit claiming Rs. 3000 — Parties to suit compromising and agreeing to definite sum of Rs. 950 — Surety held discharged. AIR 1932 Pat 313 (315) = 11 Pat 590 (DB).

(5) Adjustment materially altering decree, though not certified, discharges the surety. AIR 1943 Bom 246 (249) = ILR (1943) Bom 382.

(6) Where the plaintiff as the endorsee of a promissory note sues the maker of it, and the latter pleads that the plaintiff knew that the note was an accommodation note made for the benefit of the acceptor and that the plaintiff, after the note fell due, took a mortgage from the principal debtor, viz., the acceptor, and gave him time, these facts if found true, would be sufficient to discharge the maker from liability. (1890) 13 Mad 172 (177).

(7) Consent decree without surety's consent or knowledge discharges surety. AIR 1926 Cal 818 (818)  AIR 1968 J and K 93 (95, 96) = 1968 Kash LJ 165 (DB)  AIR 1962 Orissa 54 (55, 59) = ILR (1961) Cut 356 (DB)  AIR 1959 Bom 516 (517) = 1958 Nag LJ 72.

(8) Though in the absence of any stipulation in that behalf there is no ground for limiting a surety's liability only to decrees passed after contest, there is nothing unreasonable or wrong in a surety expressly stipulating that he would be bound by his guarantee only if a decree is passed after contest and that he would not be bound by a consent-decree. AIR 1967 Mys 147 (149) = (1965) 2 Mys LJ 87.

(9) When a party undertakes to be bound by a decree or order as may be passed by the Court, he undertakes to be bound by a consent decree as well as by one passed after contest. AIR 1961 Ker 312 (314) = 1960 Ker LT 866 (DB).

(10) The question whether the liability of surety is discharged by a compromise decree depends upon the terms of the bond itself. If the terms indicate that surety undertook the liability on the basis that the dispute should be decided on merits by Court and not amicably settled, the compromise will effect a discharge of the surety. But if the terms show that the parties and the surety contemplated that there might be an amicable settlement as well, and the surety executed the bond knowing that he might be liable under compromise decree, there can be no discharge of surety. (1963) 3 SCR 921 (926)  AIR 1968 Delhi 108 (109). (Whether particular decree is within scope of surety bond or not depends upon terms of surety bond and decree and consequently is question of fact.)  AIR 1961 Ker 312 (314) = 1960 Ker LT 866 (DB). (Surety bond for performance of decree — Compromise decree passed — Terms of bond showing that compromise decree nor excluded.)

(11) Surety agreeing to pay decretal amount as decreed in suit after contest — Suit compromised and decreed on basis of award — Surety is discharged. AIR 1928 Cal 177 (178) = 55 Cal 91 (DB).

(12) Surety for performance of decree that may be passed — Compromise of suit not explicitly or implicitly excluded from scope of surety bond — Bona fide compromise of suit between creditor and principal debtor does not discharge surety. AIR 1931 Bom 55 (56) = 55 Bom 97 (DB).

(13) Suit compromised — Compromise not contemplated by surety for defendant and prejudicial to his interest — Surety is discharged. AIR 1930 Bom 122 (124) = 54 Bom 118 (DB).

(14) Unless there are terms in a surety bond executed under Order 41, Rule 5, Civil P. C. limiting the liability of the surety only to a decree passed after contest, expressly excluding a compromise decree, and the compromise is bona fide the surety's liability continues even after the consent decree. Section 135 does not apply to such a case. (1950) 55 Mys HCR 7 (10) (DB). (AIR 1926 Cal 818; AIR 1932 Pat 313 and AIR 1930 Bom 122, Not followed.)

(15) Where a surety-bond is given in favour of the Court in proceeding started for attachment of property before judgment then it cannot be said as a broad proposition that wherever there is a consent decree in the suit the person who stood surety for the claim of the plaintiff is discharged. It depends in each case on the terms of the decree and on the terms of the bond as to whether the consent decree in question discharged the surety. AIR 1957 Cal 645 (646, 647) (DB). (Held, on construction of bond in this case that there was nothing in terms of bond to exclude consent decree and hence surety was not discharged thereby.)

(16) Attachment before judgment — Surety executing bond in favour of Court — Compromise decree — Surety not a party to the decree nor consenting to it — Compromise decree providing for payment by instalments and thus postponing payment — Held, that the decree did prejudicially affect the interest of the surety and the surety stood discharged. (1965) 2 Law Rep 108 (111).

3. Extension of time. — (1) Where a creditor extends time for the payment of debt, without surety's consent, the surety is discharged. AIR 1915 Low Bur 62 (62)  ('29) 120 Ind Cas 552 (552) (All).

(2) Defence by surety that creditor gave time to the principal debtor without his consent, contemplates a subsequent contract between a creditor and the principal debtor whereby time originally fixed is subsequently extended. AIR 1929 All 664 (665) (DB).

(3) Giving of time does not mean mere forbearance to sue, but entering into a binding agreement by which the creditor precludes himself from suing within a certain time. AIR 1933 Mad 756 (758) = 57 Mad 398 (DB).

(4) What really constitutes giving of time is the extension of the period of which, by the contract between then the principal debtor was originally obliged to pay the creditor by substituting a new and valid contract between the creditor and the principal debtor to which the surety does not assent. AIR 1968 SC 1432 (1436) = (1969) 1 SCJ 162.

(5) Stipulation in surety bond that surety was not to be discharged by any dealings between creditor and principal debtor — Surety is not in any way relieved by time given to principal debtor without his knowledge or concurrence. (1901) 23 All 137 (146, 147) = 27 Ind App 168 (PC).

(6) Money decree against debtors and sureties — Debtors allowed time, thus increasing interest and burden on sureties — Decree-holder not entitled to interest after time when he might and ought to have put up property for sale. (1879) 4 Cal 331 (335, 336) (PC).

(7) When the payment of only a portion of a guaranteed debt is allowed to be postponed, the discharge of the surety extends only to such portion and not to the rest of the liabilities with regard to which he is not prejudiced. (1913) 14 Mad L Tim 249 (253) (DB).

(8) Sec. 135 does not apply to claims which have been decreed. Liability of surety is not discharged by the decree-holder's giving time to principal judgment-debtor. (1906) 9 Oudh Cas 28 (28, 29).

(9) Court and not decree-holder granting time to judgment-debtor to pay by adjourning case from time to time in spite of decree-holder's opposition — Surety is not discharged — Surety acquiescing in orders of Court cannot say that time was granted without his consent. AIR 1944 Nag 277 (277).

(10) Striking of balance by principal debtor unsigned by surety does not discharge surety, inasmuch as while it extended time and privileges to the creditor, it did not confer any benefit on principal debtor. AIR 1931 Lah 627 (627) (DB).

(11) Creditor granting time to the debtor and allowing instalments without surety's consent — Surety is discharged from liability. AIR 1944 Lah 428 (430) (DB)  (1967) 1 SCWR 345 (352).

(12) Consent order — Instalments or giving time to principal debtor — Surety is discharged unless it is expressly provided to proceed against surety. AIR 1933 Mad 309 (310) = 56 Mad 625 (DB).

(13) The question as to whether an advance of interest operates as giving time to the principal debtor is a mixed question of law and fact. As a rule acceptance of interest in advance by creditor operates as giving time to principal debtor and consequently as a discharge to the surety. (1879) 4 Cal 132 (134) (DB).

(14) Drawer of hundi paying interest to holder in order to obtain time for payment — Liability of accommodation acceptor depends on whether he knew of and consented to the arrangement. (1881) 6 Cal 241 (242) (PC).

(15) The mere taking of additional security will not discharge the surety, but the surety will be discharged if, along with the taking of additional security, there is an express or implied contract to give time to the debtor. AIR 1933 Mad 756 (758) = 57 Mad 398 (DB).

(16) A mere agreement between the creditor and the principal debtor, by which the creditor promised to give time to the principal debtor does not discharge the surety under Section 135, unless the agreement amounts to a contract, i. e., at the instance of the debtors. Where, therefore, there is no consideration to an agreement of the above nature, surety is not discharged by reason of the forbearance of the creditor to realize the instalments payable by the principal debtor. (1900) 22 All 351 (352) (DB)  AIR 1936 Pesh 80 (80, 81)  AIR 1933 Sind 311 (312). [But see (1913) 14 Mad L Tim 249 (253) (DB). (When surety is prejudiced by the grant of time to the principal debtor, it is immaterial under the Indian law whether the agreement for grant of time is or is not backed by consideration.)]

(17) Surety's liability does not come to an end if the creditor gives time to the principal debtor in consideration of part payment of the debt by the latter. AIR 1914 Mad 117 (117).

(18) An acknowledgment by the principal debtor does not save limitation against the surety unless it is shown that the latter allowed himself to be represented by the person who made the payment. AIR 1931 Lah 691 (694) = 13 Lah 240.

(19) Entering into an agreement with a principal debtor granting him time will not discharge the surety if the right against the surety is reserved. This principle is applicable to all negotiable instruments even though Section 139 of the Negotiable Instruments Act provides for such reservation only in the case of bills of exchange. AIR 1934 Mad 75 (78) = 57 Mad 482 (DB).

(20) Where a person stands surety for the sum that may be decreed and the suit is decreed but the execution is stayed on the judgment-debtors' furnishing security as a condition precedent, it does not amount to giving time to the principal debtor without the consent of the surety operating to release the surety from his obligation. AIR 1949 Mad 194 (195).

(21) It is not simply neglecting to sue the principal debtor which would have any effect upon the surety's liability, but there must be a positive agreement with the principal debtor that the creditor will postpone the suing of him or enforcing other remedies to a subsequent period before a surety can claim his discharge. AIR 1950 Trav-Co 66 (72) = 1950 Trav-Co LR 289 (FB).

(22) Where time is given to the principal debtor to enable him to raise money by private sale of a portion of his property with a view to discharge his debt, it amounts only to an act of forbearance within the meaning of Section 137 and not an incident of giving time under a "contract" within the meaning of Section 135. AIR 1952 All 587 (589) (DB).

(23) Surety executing bond in proceeding for attachment before judgment — Consent decree passed — Surety not party to decree — According to bond surety standing liable for payment of Rs. 3,000 and odd — By consent decree judgment-debtor given time to make payment of decretal amount — If within that time judgment-debtor paid Rs. 2000 and odd decree was to remain as fully satisfied — Otherwise decree-holder was to proceed to execute decree, when that amount was not paid within extended time and not earlier — Held, that the decree-holder in effect gave time to judgment-debtor and came within the mischief of Section 135 and that the surety was discharged. AIR 1957 Cal 645 (647) (DB). (Observations of Rankin C. J. in AIR 1932 Cal 858, Held, obiter.)

(24) Extension of time given by decree-holder — It may discharge surety — Application of principle depends on facts of case — Where giving of time is merely technical and no real prejudice is caused to the rights of the surety, the surety cannot claim to be discharged — Short extensions given by way of accommodation by the Court or the decree-holder while the warrant of attachment was still kept pending will not relieve the surety from his liability. (1953) 6 Sau LR 368 (370).

(25) The agreement between a creditor Bank and principal debtor provided that the latter should be responsible for the quality and quantity of goods pledged with the Bank and also for the correctness of the statements and returns furnished to the Bank from time to time. The goods pledged were further declared and agreed to be not actually weighed or valued in order to verify the returns furnished by the debtor. When on one occasion the Bank on actual weighment found some deficit in the quantity of goods, it granted some time for the principal debtor to make up the deficiency.

Held, that the Bank's act of giving time to the principal debtor considered in the light of the above terms in the agreement did not tantamount to giving of time within the meaning of Section 135 of the Contract Act so as could exonerate the surety. AIR 1968 SC 1432 (1436) = (1969) 1 SCJ 162.

4. Assent of surety. — (1) Principle that the rights of surety are not to be interfered with without his consent, ought to be applied even to a case not governed by Contract Act. AIR 1939 Bom 23 (25) = ILR (1938) Bom 794 (DB).

(2) There is material from which the consent of the surety to the variation of terms of the contract entered into by the debtor with the creditor the performance of which is guaranteed by the surety, can be inferred, then the surety will be bound by the variation of the terms. Such assent may have been obtained prior to the arriving of the altered terms or may

(3) There can be no variation without consent and if there is such variation surety is discharged. 1962 Raj LW 711 (712)  ILR (1963) 1 Punj 360 (372) (DB)  AIR 1962 Madh Pra 69 (71) = 1962 Jab LJ 429. (4) Where the surety acquiesces in an order of Court granting time to judgment-debtor to pay, it cannot be said that time was granted without surety's consent. AIR 1944 Nag 277 (277).

(5) Arrangement with creditor on behalf of surety by agent authorized or authority subsequently ratified — Arrangement is binding on surety none the less when agent is principal debtor — No direct notice to surety is necessary — Surety is not discharged from his liability. AIR 1929 PC 273 (279).

(6) Where a firm was the indorser of a hundi, and on the date of the agreement to enlarge time the firm was not in existence no consent by the firm would be possible, so as to bind it with liability on the hundi. AIR 1951 Cal 466 = 84 Cal L Jour 33 (43).

(7) Where under a surety bond the surety guarantees the payment of a fixed sum by the principal debtor and as regards the instalments and their due dates he agrees to abide by what the creditor might fix and the creditor initially fixes the dates for payment of instalments and subsequently extends the time for payment without reference to the surety, S. 135 will not apply and the surety will not be discharged. AIR 1962 Madh Pra 69 (72) = 1962 Jab LJ 429.

(8) Banker and customer — Cash credit agreement — Contract of indemnity by guarantee brokers — Bank granting extension to principal debtor after expiry of term of cash credit agreement without assent of guarantee brokers — Bank also permitting itself to be denuded of security either by lack of supervision or connivance — Surety is discharged. Section 136 — Note 1

(1) Though the provisions of Sections 126 and 135 to 139 (and a portion of Section 133) do not apply where the bond has been executed by the surety in favour of the Court, the principles underlying those sections do certainly apply. Section 137 — Note 1

(1) Mere forbearance to sue the principal debtor or to enforce any other remedy against him does not, in the absence of any provision in the guarantee to the contrary, discharge the surety. (2) The fact that the creditor has not sued the principal debtor and exhausted the remedies against him is no defence to an action against the surety. AIR 1935 Oudh 260 (262) (DB).

(4) Debtor asking creditor for time to pay the instalments payable by him — Creditor agreeing provided there is no legal impediment in granting time — Held, a mere agreement between the creditor and the principal debtor does not discharge the surety unless the agreement amounts to a contract — In this case the agreement amounted to a mere gratuitous forbearance on the part of the creditor within Section 137. (5) Where K supplied goods to employees of M who was surety for his employees, a statement by K that he did not intend to file a suit against the employees does not amount to waiver of claim so as to discharge M from liability nor does it take the case out of Section 137. AIR 1929 Rang 187 (187).

(6) Decree-holder agreeing to accept payment by instalments of decretal amount in execution of decree — Certain person standing surety to the effect that in case of default in instalments the whole amount was payable with interest within certain time — Default by judgment-debtor — Decree-holder failing to execute decree which becomes time-barred — He then sued surety for amount — Held, that as the bond laid down the period within which decree-holder had to execute his decree in case of default, his action in not doing so was much more serious than "mere forbearance" in favour of his debtors, and hence his suit was to be dismissed. (1886) 8 All 259 (261) (DB).

(7) A failure to sue the principal debtor until recovery is barred by the statute of limitation does not operate as a discharge of the surety. (8) Plaintiff suing surety along with debtor — Debtor not alive at the time of institution of suit — Failure on part of plaintiff to substitute debtor's legal representative within time thus allowing claim against debtor to become time-barred — Held, that surety was not discharged as suit against him was instituted within time and forbearance by creditor to enforce remedy against debtor did not discharge surety. (1886) 12 Cal 330 (332, 333) (DB).

(9) The fact that a person forbears to sue the moment the debt becomes due, at the request of the debtors, does not amount to a promise to give time to the debtors so as to discharge the surety. AIR 1936 Pesh 80 (80, 81).

(10) The abatement of an appeal as against the principal debtor does not necessarily imply that the debt payable by him is extinguished or discharged — The liability of the surety continues in spite of the abatement. AIR 1920 Oudh 75 (75).

(11) Where time is given to the principal debtor to enable him to raise money by private sale of a portion of his property with a view to discharge his debt, it amounts only to an act of forbearance within meaning of Section 137 and not, an incident of giving time under a 'contract' within meaning of Section 135. It was held that the suit was not instituted against the company at all so that it was not the case of exonerating the principal debtor but that the case was covered by Section 137 and that the conduct of the plaintiff in amending his Discharge of surety by creditor's act or omission impairing surety's eventual remedy.—If the creditor does any act which is inconsistent with the rights of the surety, or omits to do any act which his duty to the surety requires him to do, and the eventual remedy of the surety himself against the principal debtor is thereby impaired, the surety is discharged.*

SECTION 139 — SYNOPSIS

1. Acts inconsistent with rights of surety.
2. Omission to do any act which creditor's duty to surety requires him to do.
3. Impairment of surety's eventual remedy.
4. Liability of surety.
5. Surety for performance of an act.
6. Bond in favour of Court.
7. Surety for employee's honesty.

1. Acts inconsistent with rights of surety. — (1) Positive act on part of obligee to the prejudice of surety must be proved for surety's discharge — Mere laches or acquiescence on obligee's part is not enough. of employer or negligence in supervision is no ground for discharging S from his liability.)

(2) Creditor without surety's consent granting time to debtor and allowing instalments — Surety is discharged from liability. AIR 1944 Lah 428 (430) (DB).

(3) Surety guaranteeing full payment with interest of any amount deposited in bank in case Bank goes into liquidation — Bank going into liquidation — Creditor realising dividend from liquidator — Suit by creditor against surety for recovery of deposit with interest: Held, that the suit was maintainable as the act of the creditor in getting dividend was not inconsistent with the rights of surety against the principal debtor — Surety's liability being co-extensive with that of his debtors, the surety was liable to pay interest also. AIR 1922 Lah 89 (90, 91) (DB).

(4) The opening of a second account in favour of the principal debtor whose credit has been guaranteed in respect of a previous account, without the consent and knowledge of the surety does not discharge the guarantee. AIR 1917 Cal 537 (541) (SB).

(5) Where certain persons executed a surety bond in favour of the creditors and paid an instalment but subsequently some of the creditors in breach of the agreement sued the debtors: Held, that the liability of the sureties was not extinguished because of such suits. AIR 1930 Lah 1029 (1033) (DB).

(6) Where the Court obtains a security bond hypothecating immovable property to secure a proper disposal of money due to minors and the Court breaks the contract by acting inconsistently with the rights of the sureties, the sureties are thereby discharged. AIR 1935 Lah 863 (865) (DB).

(7) Surety for production of property under Order 38, Rule 5, Civil P. C. — Compromise of suit not contemplated by surety and prejudicial to his rights — passing of decree in terms of compromise discharges surety. AIR 1930 Bom 122 (124) = 54 Bom 118 (DB).

(8) Surety bond executed when property of debtor was under attachment in execution of ex parte decree — Attachment withdrawn — Ex parte decree set aside and suit decreed on merits — Property again attached in execution — Attachment released by creditor in spite of surety's objection — Surety discharged to the extent of the property released and not absolutely under Section 139. AIR 1934 All 616 (616, 617).

(9) Where the lease of the right to collect tolls contained a clause that if payment of kist falls into arrears the toll will be liable to be re-sold or conducted under amani: Held, that the alternative of re-sale or conduct under amani was one entirely within the option of the District Board and neither the contractor nor the surety was entitled to plead as a condition of the discharge of the obligations, that the Board should have adopted that course on default of payment of kist. AIR 1934 Mad 85 (88) (DB).

(10) Warrant of attachment before judgment removed on the defendant furnishing surety in Rs. 1000 of A — Few days later application by plaintiff for sealing foundry and workshop and for appointment of receiver — B produced as surety to the extent of Rupees 10,000 — Matter not proceeded further — No mention of first surety when second surety was given — Nothing to show that liability under first surety was preserved or excluded from sum of Rs. 10,000: Held that the principles of Sections 133 to 139 applied and that B's surety took the place of A's surety which stood discharged. AIR 1958 Punj 337 (338).

(11) Surety for sum that may be decreed — Suit decreed — Execution stayed on judgment-debtor furnishing security as condition precedent — It does not amount to giving time — Release of security does not release surety to that extent — By giving up the security in the course of his execution proceedings, the decree-holder had not done something which was inconsistent with the right of the surety impairing the remedy of the surety which attracted the provisions of Section 139 and discharge the surety — Section 139 must be read along with Section 141 and not in such a way as to abrogate Section 141 when it applies. AIR 1949 Mad 194 (195).

(12) Discharge of surety — Laches of decree-holder in executing decree against judgment-debtor — Judgment-debtor applying in insolvency — Decree-holder not inactive in the levy of execution and had not done anything to jeopardise the interest of surety. Surety not discharged — Decree-holder can execute decree against surety — Contract Act (1872), Sections 134, 137, 139. (1961) 1 Andh WR 147 (152) (DB).

(13) Where a person borrows a loan under Rehabilitation Finance Administration Act for starting a factory, the petitioner stands a surety and the Administration, namely creditor has done nothing by which the properties of the principal debtor out of which the surety could later on recover amount, have been affected, the principle of Section 139 will not apply. 1959 All LJ 789 (795) = 1959 All WR (HC) 644.

(14) Creditor granting time to the debtor — No new contract — No acceptance of additional surety by creditor — No collusion between the creditor and debtor — Held, granting of time was merely an act of forbearance on the part of creditor — Surety was not discharged either under Section 135 or Section 139. AIR 1967 Madh Pra 250 (255) = 1967 MPLJ 224 (DB).

2. Omission to do any act which creditor's duty to surety requires him to do.—

(1) Section 139 incorporates in substance the rule that it is the duty of the person who has secured a guarantee to do every act necessary for the protection of the rights of the surety. AIR 1965 Mys 209 (212) = (1964) 2 Mys LJ 260 (DB).

(2) Puisse mortgagee obtaining decree absolute against surety and mortgagor — Mortgaged property sold by prior mortgagee in execution of his decree but proceeds found insufficient to discharge his debt — Failure of puisse mortgagee to execute his decree does not discharge surety from personal liability — Section 139 held inapplicable. AIR 1935 Oudh 260 (262) (DB).

(3) Creditors cannot call upon the guarantor to pay any sum under his guarantee when they themselves have failed to carry out the most important term of their contract, such as conveyance of the property to the purchaser. AIR 1934 Cal 699 (702) (DB).

(4) A creditor is not bound to insist upon any particular kind of security from the principal debtor. It is only when he takes some security from the principal debtor that the surety can claim a right to the benefit of that security. Of course, if a creditor takes security from the principal debtor, it is his duty to see that that security remains enforceable against the principal debtor, and if any formalities are required by law in connection with that security, it would be his duty to see that such formalities are observed. But more than this the creditor is under no obligation to do. AIR 1955 Bom 419 (425).

(5) Charge on company's property in favour of creditor not registered as required by Section 125, Companies Act — No undertaking by the creditor to the surety to get the debt secured by procuring a charge — Surety also entitled under Section 134 Companies Act to get the charge registered not getting it done the surety cannot be discharged of his liability on the ground that the creditor failed to get the debt secured by a charge unless he can show that he received some injury in consequence of the creditor's conduct. AIR 1964 Mad 134 (135, 136) = 76 Mad LW 789.

(6) Overdraft account of B with bank — A standing surety — Equitable mortgage by B of most of his properties not referred to in letter of surety in favour of Bank in respect of another debt without A's knowledge — A held not discharged as there was no breach of duty owed by the creditor to the surety. AIR

1964 Andh Pra 555 (558) = (1964) 2 Andh WR 362.

(7) A variation of the liability undertaken or a departure in the terms of the bond resulting from an act or omission of the creditor will discharge the surety from his obligation under the bond, and it is immaterial whether the variation is substantial or material. AIR 1938 Mad 422 (423) (DB).

(8) A creditor's omission to sue the principal within limitation is not an act of omission of the kind contemplated by Section 134 or Section 139, whereby the surety is discharged. AIR 1927 Lah 396 (397)  AIR 1932 Lah 419 (420) = 13 Lah 817 (DB).

(9) Where the plaintiff-surety in his very action against the third person sues the principal debtor, the plaintiff's own act of suing the principal debtor in this suit itself goes against the plaintiff's contention that his eventual remedy against the principal debtor is impaired. In such a case he cannot be heard to say that he has been discharged on the ground that his eventual remedy against the principal debtor is barred. AIR 1955 Cal 217 (222).

3. Impairment of surety's eventual remedy. — (1) Under Section 139 before the surety is discharged the following two conditions must be satisfied (1) the creditor must do an act which is inconsistent with the rights of the surety or he must omit to do any act which his duty to the surety requires him to do; and (2) by the action or inaction of the creditor referred to in ground one. The eventual remedy of the surety himself against the principal debtor is impaired. (1962) 64 Punj LR 416 (420).

(2) Section 139 is a residuary provision and its object is to ensure that no arrangement different from that contained in the surety's contract is forced upon him and that the surety if he pays the debt has the benefit of every remedy which the creditor has against the principal debtor. AIR 1964 Andh Pra 555 (557) = 1964-2 Andh WR 362.

(3) In order to attract Section 139 there must not only be either an act inconsistent with the rights of the surety or an omission to do an act which it is the creditor's or employer's duty to do but also the impairment of the eventual remedy of the surety against the principal debtor. This impairment of the surety's eventual remedy against the principal debtor is the very crucial factor in this section. If the surety's eventual remedy is not impaired then the surety is not discharged under Section 139. AIR 1955 Cal 217 (221).

(5) Where a person stands surety for several defendants, but the plaintiff proceeds against one defendant only, the exoneration of the remaining defendants discharges the surety. AIR 1920 Mad 311 (311, 312) (DB).

(6) Surety guaranteeing payment of part of debt — Application by principal debtor to Debt Conciliation Board for settlement of debts — Creditor excluding debt guaranteed by surety from his statement of debts — Surety's remedy against principal debtor is impaired and surety is discharged. AIR 1938 Nag 413 (415) = ILR (1939) Nag 175.

(7) Principal and surety — Discharge of surety — Surety undertaking to pay any amount that may be decreed against two defendants in a suit — Compromise decree passed against one defendant and suit as against other defendant dismissed — Surety is discharged. AIR 1938 Mad 422 (423) (DB).

(8) Bills of exchange, each drawn by A upon and accepted by B, payable to drawer's order and endorsed by drawer to a Bank — A executing conveyance of all property to official trustee upon trust for the benefit of A's creditors — Deed assented to and executed by Bank — Deed not containing any composition with or release by creditors, or any covenant on their part not to sue A — Suit by Bank against B to recover amount payable under the bills: Held that the trust deed did not impair the eventual remedy of B and as such he was not discharged from this suretyship under Section 139, Contract Act. (9) Creditor parting with security without consent of surety to the prejudice of surety — Surety is discharged.

AIR 1968 Mys 56 (60) = (1967) 2 Mys LJ 168 (DB).

(10) Charge on the property of the company in favour of the creditor not registered under Section 125 — Liquidator of the company holding the agreement to be a pledge and not a charge needing registration — Remedy of the company cannot be said to have been impaired — No question of relief under Section 139 or Section 141 Contract Act arises. AIR 1964 Mad 134 (135, 136) = 76 Mad LW 789.

(11) Charge on company's property in favour of creditor not registered as required by Section 125 of the Companies Act — Creditor agreeing with the surety to secure the debt by procuring a charge — Failure of creditor to do so — There is impairment of the rights of surety — Surety has cause of action against creditor under Section 139 Contract Act. AIR 1964 Mad 134 (135) = 76 Mad LW 789.

(12) Decree against principal debtor surety — Debtor compromising with creditor without consent of surety — Surety is discharged as the remedy of the surety was impaired. AIR 1968 J and K 93 (95, 96) = 1968 Kash LJ 165 (DB).

(13) Loan taken by principal debtor from State under East Punjab Refugees Rehabilitation (Loans and Grants) Act (6 of 1948) for installing printing press — Sale by principal debtor of press without previous written consent of State is void under Section 6 (4) of the Act — State not instrumental in effecting sale — All necessary steps for safeguarding security taken by State — Eventual remedy of surety against principal debtor is not impaired — Surety is not discharged. (1862) 64 Pun LR 416 (421).

4. Liability of surety. — (1) To enable the surety to enforce his right against the principal debtor, there are two essential conditions (i) that the debt itself must subsist, (ii) that his remedy against the principal debtor must remain unimpaired — Consequently, the creditor will be entitled to compel the surety to perform his promise only if the debt subsists and the surety's remedy is unimpaired. AIR 1938 Nag 413 (414) = ILR (1939) Nag 175.

(2) Surety binding himself to make good any loss if the employee was proved to have committed embezzlement — Embezzlement committed by employee — Suit against employee for amount embezzled — Suit decreed in part — Second suit against surety is not barred as the causes of action are different — Section 139 does not apply. (1913) 11 All LJ 689 (690).

(3) Charge on property purchased by loan money — Property removed by borrower in unauthorised manner — Surety agreeing that loan could be recovered from them without taking steps against principal debtor —

140. Rights of surety on payment or performance.—Where a guaranteed debt has become due, or default of the principal debtor to perform a guaranteed duty has taken place, the surety, upon payment or performance of all that he is liable for, is invested with all the rights which the creditor had against the principal debtor.*

5. Surety for performance of an act.—

(1) A surety who has bound himself for a person's doing certain things, is not discharged from his liability unless it is shown that the creditor has by his conduct either prevented the things from being done or connived at the omission or enabled the person to do what he ought not to have done, and that but for such conduct the omission would not have happened. AIR 1920 Mad 259 (266) (DB).

(2) Surety to produce in Court judgment-debtor on dismissal of appeal and in case of failure, to pay decretal amount — Appeal dismissed — Failure to give notice or to require production of debtor — Sureties are not liable to pay decretal amount. AIR 1925 All 5 (6).

6. Bond in favour of Court. — (1) Surety bond given to Court — Although Sections 133, 135 and 139 do not in terms apply, principles underlying them can be applied. AIR 1939 Bom 23 (25) = ILR (1938) Bom 794 (DB)  AIR 1944 Lah 428 (431, 432) (DB)  AIR 1953 Mys 68 (71) = ILR (1953) Mys 277 (DB). (2) There is nothing unreasonable or wrong in a surety expressly stipulating in the bond executed in favour of Court for the performance of a decree governed by Section 145 C. P. C., that he would be bound by his guarantee only if a decree is passed after contract and that he would not be bound by a consent decree. But in the absence of a stipulation to that effect the liability of the surety will not be limited to decrees passed after contest. AIR 1967 Mys 147 (149) = (1965) 2 Mys LJ 87  AIR 1959 Bom 516 (517) = 1958 Nag LJ 72.

7. Surety for employee's honesty. —

(1) Continuing guarantee for the honesty of a servant — Servant discovered dishonest during the course of service — Servant not dismissed but continued in service without the knowledge or consent of surety — Master cannot subsequently have recourse to surety to make good any loss which may arise during the subsequent service. AIR 1944 Lah 424 (426, 427) (DB).

(2) Surety's liability for the faithful discharge by a servant of his duties depends in each case on the exact terms of that guarantee. The surety is not discharged from the liability for the principal debtor's default because the default would not have happened if the creditor had used all the powers of superintending the performance of the debtor's duty which he could have exercised, because the employer of a servant whose due performance of work is guaranteed does not contract with the surety that he will use the utmost diligence in checking the servant's work. AIR 1955 Cal 217 (221).

(3) Where a person stands surety for an employer for his honesty, and undertakes liability for any dereliction of duty, misappropriation, negligence, etc. on the part of the employee, the continued employment of the servant without notice to the surety, merely upon a suspicion, does not discharge the surety. It is only the continued employment without notice to surety after the employer has proof of the servants' negligence or dishonesty, that would discharge the surety. The employer cannot dismiss the servant merely on suspicion or merely because some shortage in the cash of which the servant was in charge was reported without investigation and without giving the servant a chance to be heard in his favour. AIR 1955 Cal 217 (223).

(4) Surety under indemnity bond for fidelity of manager of Bank — Misappropriation by manager — Connivance of Directors in fraud of the manager — Surety is discharged. AIR 1965 Mys 209 (213) = (1964) 2 Mys LJ 260. ((1886) 6 ER (HL) 1534; (1854) 23 LJ Ch 434; (1889) 22 QBD 394 and AIR 1965 Cal 217, Rel. on.)

(5) Section 139 besides prohibiting on the part of the creditor acts of commission and omission which would impair the remedy of the surety incorporates the further rule which is implicit in its provisions that where an employer by his own conduct assists infidelity on the part of his employee, the guarantor who guarantees fidelity on the part of the employer stands discharged. AIR 1965 Mys 209 (212, 217) = (1964) 2 Mys LJ 260 (DB).

(2) A surety who has paid the debt of his principal is subrogated to all the remedies and rights which the creditor has not only against the principal but against the others and to all the securities and rights of action generally which the creditor has in respect of the debt. AIR 1936 Mad 342 (343). (A and B undertaking to be liable jointly and severally for each other's debt owing to a Bank — Bank recovering B's debt from C who stood surety for B — C held was subrogated to right of action which the Bank had against A.)  (1947) 52 Mys HCR 325 (328) (DB). (A, surety for repayment of loan granted to B by Government under Land Improvement Loans Act — A and B mortgaging their land as security — B's default — A paying off debt — A being in position of co-mortgagor is entitled under Section 95, T. P. Act to a charge on the mortgaged property of B.)  AIR 1969 SC 297 (299) = (1969) 1 SCJ 380.

(3) Section 140 expressly says that the surety upon payment of all that he is liable for is invested — that is immediately invested — with all the rights which the creditor had against the principal debtor. The condition laid down by the section for this right to arise is the payment by the surety of all that he is liable for, and not the payment of all that may be due to the creditor who holds the securities. Where the guaranteed debt is a fraction only of the debt, the surety's right comes into existence immediately on payment of that fraction, for that fraction, is, so far as he is concerned, the whole. Both under S. 140, Contract Act, and under the English law the surety's right to the benefit of the security vests in him the moment he pays the guaranteed amount. The creditor cannot afterwards make an appropriation to the prejudice of the rights of the surety which have accrued to him. Indeed, he cannot do so even before, as the surety is entitled to the benefit of every security held by the creditor, at the time when the contract of suretyship was entered into. The question is not whether the surety has a remedy against the principal debtor but whether he has any right against the creditor in respect of the securities held by him. A surety for a part only of a debt is on payment of that part entitled pro tanto to the security held by the creditors as cover for the debt as a whole. AIR 1944 Mad 195 (204, 205) = ILR (1944) Mad 304 (DB).

(4) The language of Section 140 of Contract Act makes it plain that even without the necessity of a transfer, the law vests in the surety all the rights which the creditor has against the principal debtor. AIR 1968 SC 1432 (1437) = (1968) 3 SCR 724.

(5) Word "invested" dispenses with necessity of any written assignment. AIR 1925 Bom 547 (559).

(6) The word "invested" in Section 140, Contract Act, denotes that there is an automatic vesting of the rights of the creditor in the surety. There is no need for a formal assignment by the creditor in favour of the surety for the purpose of his acquiring the rights which the creditor had at the time of payment. (1947) 52 Mys HCR 325 (328) (DB).

(7) A surety's rights against debtor arise only when the surety is requested by the debtor to take responsibility — An indemnifier cannot sue in his own name without an assignment from the promisee while a surety can. AIR 1926 Mad 544 (553) = 49 Mad 156 (DB).

(8) A and B referring dispute to arbitration — C who stood surety for A paying amount to B awarded against A — Agreement of reference discovered to be void — Suit by C against A to recover amount paid under award — There being implied contract between A and C, C was held entitled to recover amount from A. AIR 1939 Lah 187 (188).

(9) A surety for the appearance of a judgment-debtor is not entitled to recover any sum forfeited under the surety bond either from the actual person for whom he stood surety or from any person who induced him to so stand. AIR 1932 Lah 23 (23).

(10) Surety for the appearance of one of several judgment-debtors jointly and severally liable under decree can recover the amount paid by him from them. His right is on a higher footing than one for contribution. AIR 1921 Mad 530 (531) (DB).

(11) Bankruptcy of debtor — Surety's right to the security in the hands of the creditor cannot be enforced before payment of the entire debt. Where the surety guarantees the whole debt he is entitled to exemption to that portion for which dividend has been allowed; but where he guarantees only a part he cannot get any dividend until the creditor is discharged in respect of the whole debt. AIR 1930 Cal 17 (20) = 57 Cal 764 (DB).

(12) A executing a pronote in favour of B, C being the surety — A selling his property and asking vendee to discharge the debt — The debt having been collected from the surety, held that the surety can sue A and the vendee as he

141. Surety's right to benefit of creditor's securities.—A surety is entitled to the benefit of every security which the creditor has against the principal debtor at the time when the contract of suretyship is entered into, whether the surety knows of the existence of such security or not; and, if the creditor loses, or, without the consent of the surety, parts with such security, the surety is discharged to the extent of the value of the security.

(1) The expression 'security' in Section 141 is not used in any technical sense; it includes all rights which the creditor had against the property at the date of the contract. The surety is on payment of the amount due by the principal debtor entitled to be put in the same position in which the creditor stood in relation to the principal debtor. If the creditor has lost or has parted with the security without the consent of the surety, the latter is by the express provision contained in Section 141, discharged to the extent of the value of the security lost or parted with. AIR 1967 SC 1105 (1108, 1109) = (1967) 1 SCR 266  AIR 1968 SC 1432 (1437) = (1968) 3 SCR 724.

(2) The value of the security must mean the value of the security at the time when it was given to the creditor. Therefore, the words 'the surety is discharged to the extent of the value of the security' must mean that if the value of the security is less than the liability undertaken by the surety then the surety must be held to be discharged to the extent of the value of the security and that he will still be required to discharge the liability which exceeds the value of the security. But if the value of the security given is far in excess of the liability, then it is clear that the surety must be held to be discharged wholly. AIR 1968 Mys 56 (60) = (1967) 2 Mys LJ 168 (DB).

(3) Under Section 141, security can be parted with not only by positive action of creditor but even by his inaction. AIR 1967 SC 1105 (1109) = (1967) 1 SCR 226.

(4) Section 141, prima facie, has reference to the simple case of a surety for a single debt for which the creditor holds a security or securities. AIR 1944 Mad 195 (201) = ILR (1944) Mad 340 (DB).

(5) Provisions of Section 141 apply equally to a case of continuing guarantee. AIR 1968 Mys 56 (60) = (1967) 2 Mys LJ 168 (DB).

(6) Section 141 does not cover a case where there had been a loss due to an act of God or enemies of the State or due to unavoidable accident. AIR 1957 Punj 310 (311) = ILR (1957) Punj 656 (DB).

(7) Section 141 of the Indian Contract Act has limited the surety's right to securities held by the creditor at the date of his becoming surety and has modified the English rule that the surety is entitled to the securities given to the creditor both before and after the contract of surety. But subject to this variation, Section 141 of the Indian Contract Act incorporates the rule of English law relating to the discharge from liability of a surety when the creditor parts with or loses the security held by him. AIR 1968 SC 1432 (1437) = (1968) 3 SCR 724.

(8) The surety is entitled to demand all the securities held by the principal debtor at the time of payment whether they had been received simultaneously with the loan advanced or subsequently. Section 141 only means that a surety cannot complain if before payment the creditor loses or parts with a security obtained by him after the contract of suretyship was entered into. Section does not enable the creditor to withhold from the surety any security actually held by him at the time when the debt is paid or in any other way to detract from the rights of the creditor as declared by Section 140. Section 141 only gives him liberty of action in respect of securities not held by him at the time of the contract of suretyship provided he exercises it before payment. AIR 1944 Mad 195 (200, 201) = ILR (1944) Mad 340 (DB).

(9) Contract by State of M. P. for sale of "felled trees" — Consideration was payable in instalments — A, standing surety for purchaser — Payment of first instalment — Removal of entire quantity of trees without payment of subsequent instalments — Proceedings against surety for recovery of amount of unpaid instalments — Held, security of the State under terms of contract to prevent removal of trees and right to sell them for non-payment of price, coupled with charge on the goods was lost when State permitted removal of trees by purchaser — Under Section 141, Contract Act, therefore, surety stood discharged of his liability to the extent of the security lost. AIR 1967 SC 1105 (1109) = (1967) 1 SCR 266.

(10) Agreement by A to advance certain sum to B and as security for that B to mortgage to A certain properties — Sureties — Subsequent agreement between A and B varying amounts to be advanced and properties to be mortgaged — Consent of sureties not obtained — Sureties are discharged from original contract. AIR 1932 Bom 168 (174) = 56 Bom 101 (DB).

(11) Property under attachment — Surety for judgment-debtor — Attachment released by creditor — Surety discharged to the extent of the property released. AIR 1934 All 616 (616, 617).

(13) Suit by mortgagee against principal debtor and surety on mortgage for more than Rs. 100 — Statement by mortgagee in plaint that he was suing on mortgage only as money bond, giving up his mortgage right — Except such statement, no other act of relinquishment, oral or documentary, giving up mortgage right — Mortgage right not being extinguishable except by registered document under Section 17 (i) (b) of Registration Act, mortgage right held was not extinguished by such statement — Surety, therefore, held was not discharged. AIR 1937 Mad 501 (502, 503).

(14) One of joint promisors paying entire debt — He is not surety nor entitled to subrogation in place of creditor in respect of securities held by latter. AIR 1933 Mad 39 (42) = 55 Mad 949 (DB).

(15) Surety for sum that may be decreed — Suit decreed — Execution stayed on judgment-debtor furnishing security as condition precedent — It does not amount to giving time — Release of security does not release surety to that extent — In releasing security granted for stay, there was nothing inconsistent with the decree-holder's duties to the surety within the meaning of Section 139 — Section 139 must be read with S. 141 and not in such a way as to abrogate it when it applies. AIR 1949 Mad 194 (195).

(16) A standing surety for B for loan granted to B by Government — Both A and B mortgaging their properties as security — B committing default and A paying off debt — A is entitled to a charge on properties of B which were mortgaged by virtue of Section 95, T. P. Act and Section 141, Contract Act. (1947) 52 Mys HCR 325 (328) (DB).

(17) A creditor is not bound to insist on any particular kind of security. It is only when he takes some security from the principal debtor that the surety can claim a right to the benefit of that security. If the creditor takes security from the principal debtor, it is his duty to see that that security remains enforceable against the principal debtor and if any formalities are required by law in connection with that security, it would be his duty to see that such formalities are observed. But more than this the credi-

(1) The expression "keeping silence" in Section 143 of the Contract Act implies intentional concealment as distinguished from mere non-disclosure. The withholding must be fraudulent which necessarily must be the case when a material circumstance is intentionally concealed. (1891) 15 Bom 585 (591) (DB).

(2) The mistake which invalidates a contract under Section 143 must be occasioned either by means of a misrepresentation made by the creditor or with his knowledge and assent concerning a material part of the transaction or by the creditor keeping silence as to a material circumstance. There is nothing in law to indicate that sureties are entitled to evade their contract of guarantee because of a mistake induced by the principal debtor. (1906) 33 Cal 713 (755) (FB).

(3) To justify the application of the rule enacted by S. 143, Contract Act, it must be proved not only that there was silence as to a material circumstance but that the guarantee was obtained by means of such silence. (1883) 6 Mad 406 (408) (DB).

(4) Contract of service — Continuing guarantee for honesty of servant already

(5) There is a difference between fiduciary guarantees and guarantees by persons in favour of banks. In the former case there may be a duty to disclose all material facts, there is no such duty in the case of a bank which takes a guarantee from a person to disclose the indebtedness of the person guaranteed at the date of the guarantee. Where, therefore, the suretyship is with regard to an advance to be made by a bank, the latter need not disclose part indebtedness to the surety. But if it gives wrong information when asked for, the suretyship is annulled. AIR 1930 Mad 874 (879) = 53 Mad 826 (DB)  AIR 1940 Mad 437 (439) = ILR (1940) Mad 757 (DB).

(a) B is indebted to C, and A is surety for the debt. C demands payment from A, and on his refusal sues him for the amount. A defends the suit, having reasonable grounds for doing so, but is compelled to pay the amount of the debt with costs. He can recover from B the amount paid by him for costs, as well as the principal debt.

(b) C lends B a sum of money, and A, at the request of B, accepts a bill of exchange drawn by B upon A to secure the amount. C, the holder of the bill, demands payment of it from A, and, on A's refusal to pay, sues him upon the bill. A, not having reasonable grounds for so doing, defends the suit, and has to pay the amount of the bill and costs. He can recover from B the amount of the bill, but not the sum paid for costs, as there was no real ground for defending the action.

(c) A guarantees to C, to the extent of 2,000 rupees, payment for rice to be supplied by C to B. C supplies to B rice to a less amount than 2,000 rupees, but obtains from A payment of the sum of 2,000 rupees in respect of the rice supplied. A cannot recover from B more than the price of the rice actually supplied.

(5) The liability of the principal debtor to pay the surety cannot arise from a mere implied promise to indemnify the surety, contained in Section 145 but must be the result of a contract between the surety and the creditor to which the debtor also is a party. AIR 1917 Mad 83 (86) = 39 Mad 965 (DB).

(18) A payment in order to be a rightful payment must be one in conformity with what is right or just or fair or equitable. If the claim of the creditor is barred by time against both the surety and the debtor, the payment, made by the surety to the creditor would not be right or just. The burden of proving that this payment even though it was after the expiry of the period of limitation was yet rightful is on the plaintiff. AIR 1959 Madh Pra 297 (298) = 1959 MPLJ 140.

(19) The liability of the principal debtor to pay to the surety whatever sum the latter has rightfully paid under the guarantee will not arise until the creditor has recovered from the surety the amount due under the award or decree passed against both the principal debtor and the surety and such contingent and future liability is obviously not within the purview of the proceedings under the Madras Debt Conciliation Act, and cannot be affected by the discharge of the principal debtor's liability to the creditor under Section 10 (2) of the Act. (3) A guarantee drawn up in the plural number but signed by one surety only is binding on the surety who signed it unless he can show that he was to be liable only if the other surety or sureties signed. AIR 1926 Mad 62 (63).

(4) A surety is liable to allow, co-sureties the benefit of any counter-security he has received from the debtor. AIR 1924 Mad 848 (848).

(5) Surety paying in excess of his share — Suit against co-surety and principal debtor is maintainable — All that the co-surety is entitled to claim is that he shall share proportionately in the proceeds of the security when it is realised. He is not in a position to insist that his liability is to be postponed until the security is realized and its extent ascertained on the ground that the property which has been conveyed to the plaintiff surety by the mortgagee on his paying the mortgage amount under the mortgage-deed is unrealized. AIR 1938 Cal 405 (408, 409).

(6) Where the sureties are bound by the same instrument as the principal debtor, a suit by one surety against another for contribution is a suit on an implied contract, and, therefore, within the jurisdiction of a Court of Small Causes. ('79-80) 4 Bom 321 (323) (DB).

SECTION 148 — SYNOPSIS

1. Bailment — General.

2. Delivery of possession.

3. Effect of transfer of ownership.

4. Bankers.

5. Carriers.

6. Explanation.

1. Bailment — General. — (1) 'Bailment' is a technical term of the Common Law though etymologically it might mean any kind of handing over. AIR 1954 Trav-Co 305 (308) = ILR (1954) Trav-Co 208 (DB).

(2) A 'bailment' has been aptly defined by Chancellor Kent, as a delivery of a thing entrusted for some special object or purpose upon a contract, express or implied, to conform to the object or purpose for the trust. AIR 1928 Sind 106 (107) = 23 Sind LR 13 = 29 Cri L Jour 431 (DB)  (1946) 36 Trav LJ 410 (413) (DB).

(3) Bailments are of two kinds: voluntary and involuntary. When the bailee dies and the goods bailed pass into the hands of a person representing him, that person becomes an involuntary bailee. AIR 1921 Cal 416 (418)  AIR 1968 Tripura 63 (67). (Seizure of goods under Section 178, Sea Customs Act (1878) cannot fall under definition of bailment, either voluntary or involuntary.)

(4) The Contract Act does not recognise the variations of bailment recognised by the Roman Law. (1946) 36 Trav LJ 410 (413) (DB).

(5) Bailment is established only when there is delivery of goods by one person to another for some purpose upon a contract that they shall, when the purpose is accomplished, be returned or otherwise disposed of according to the directions of the person delivering them. AIR 1937 Lah 572 (576) = ILR (1937) Lah 380 (DB)  AIR 1954 Trav-Co 305 (308) = ILR (1954) Trav-Co 208. (There may however be cases where there is no enforceable obligation to redeliver or deal with the goods as directed.)  ('46) 36 Trav LJ 410 (413) (DB)  AIR 1959 SC 1394 (1398) = (1960) 1 SCR 401. (Bailee's duty is to deal with goods according to the directions of the bailor.)  AIR 1968 Tri 63 (67)  AIR 1966 Mad 177 (179) = (1966) 1 Mad LJ 6 (FB).

shall, when the purpose is accomplished, be returned or otherwise disposed of according to the directions of the person delivering them. The person delivering the goods is called the "bailor". The person to whom they are delivered is called the "bailee".

Explanation.—If a person already in possession of the goods of another contracts to hold them as a bailee, he thereby becomes the bailee, and the owner becomes the bailor of such goods, although they may not have been delivered by way of bailment.

[*] As to bailments to carriers, see the Carriers Act, 1865 (3 of 1865); the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (9 of 1890); Carriage by Air Act, 1934 (20 of 1934), Chap. III; Carriage of Goods by Sea Act, 1925 (26 of 1925); Merchant Shipping Act, 1958 (44 of 1958).

(6) "For some purpose" does not indicate that bailee is to make use of goods deposited. (1935) 18 Nag L Jour 97 (99).

(7) There is an implied contract in bailment to return articles in reasonable time after the purpose is served. AIR 1930 Oudh 395 (396) = 6 Luck 80 (DB).

(8) In order to constitute bailment there must be a contractual obligation on the bailee to return the specific goods delivered to him by the bailor. AIR 1951 Ajmer 24 (24, 25). (Advance of money to B for depositing it as security with Government — Person advancing has no interest in specific coins and currency notes advanced and hence B's agreement to repay does not amount to a contract to return specific goods.)

(9) "Directions" contemplated by Section 148, according to which goods are to be disposed of, cover the case of directions given after the purpose is accomplished. AIR 1922 Nag 127 (128).

(10) The bailee is not under the control of the bailor like a servant under his master's control. Madh BLJ 1955 HCR 1465 (1466).

(11) Entrusting a person with goods for safe custody is a species of bailment. AIR 1942 Mad 299 (300)  AIR 1937 All 255 (257). (Custodian is not agent of true owner.)

(12) Ornaments borrowed on agreement to return after short time — Transaction is bailment and not sale. (1946) 36 Trav LJ 410 (412) (DB).

(13) Where A hired a camel of B intending it for the use of C to reach a certain place and then being returned to B at the destination and B delivered the camel to C as directed by A it was held that though the contract of hire itself was between A and B there came into existence a contract of bailment between B and C when the former delivered the camel to C at the instance of A for special use. 1946 Jaipur LR 148 (150) (DB).

(14) Where an agreement provided that A was to advance money and purchase goods for B and hold them with himself as security for the money, and that B should pay interest on the amount and also rent to A it was held that it was a case of bailment for security. AIR 1958 Pat 174 (176) (DB).

(15) Company depositing promissory note with Government as security in respect of private warehouse — Government becomes bailee and must return note without demand on termination of license. AIR 1939 Cal 746 (748) = ILR (1939) 2 Cal 52 = 41 Cri L Jour 134.

(16) Issue of water-proof coat to railway servant on condition of renewal, at his cost, on damage or loss, is bailment. AIR 1934 Rang 41 (42) = 35 Cri L Jour 788.

(17) The true legal relation between the guest and hotel keeper in respect of the furniture used by the former is that of bailor and bailee as defined by Sec. 148. The bailment is one of hire; the guest hires not only the rooms which he occupies but the furniture which they contain. (1900) 22 All 164 (166) (DB).

(18) Where property is deposited with Court in pursuance of its order there is no contractual relationship and hence no bailment also. AIR 1956 All 75 (78) = ILR (1957) 1 All 94 (DB).

(19) Stolen property recovered by Government is not property made over to Government under any contract whatsoever and hence the Government is not in the position of a bailee in respect of that property. AIR 1950 All 206 (207) = ILR (1951) 1 All 135  AIR 1937 Lah 572 (577) = ILR (1937) Lah 380 (DB)

(20) There can be bailment and the relationship of bailor and bailee in respect of specific property without there being an enforceable contract. (21) When a person travels by a road-way bus the mere fact that the passenger is allowed free allowance of certain luggage and the luggage is to be kept at a specific place (on the roof of the bus in this case) does not make it a case of any implied contract of the return of the luggage at the destination. It is not a case of entrustment of luggage or a case of bailment creating a liability of the carrier under Section 148 of the Contract Act. AIR 1963 All 70 (70) = 1963 All WR (HC) 136.

(22) Where the manager of a tea estate company sent tea to the clearing agent who stored it awaiting instructions the company, the agent was in the position of a bailee and not a mere servant of the company. AIR 1961 Ker 84 (86) = 1960 Ker LT 743.

(23) Per P. Chatterjee J.:— Agreement between retailer and Government for distribution of food through fair price shop — Held, that elements of bailment were satisfied in following way (a) there was delivery of goods, (b) Goods were delivered by Government to retailer, (c) purpose was to enable retailer to sell to consumers and (d) contract was that when so sold, retailer would get price and Government would get money deposited by retailer. AIR 1967 Cal 568 (583, 584) = 1967 Cri LJ 1599 (FB).

(24) Where the plaintiff was filed on a definite averment that the storing agent did not deliver certain goods and the plaintiff, claimed a specific amount towards their value, the burden lies at the outset, on the plaintiff to prove its case. The burden will shift to the defendants after the plaintiff discharges the onus. AIR 1969 Tripura 26 (31).

(25) The transaction known as a hire-purchase agreement partakes of the nature of a contract or bailment with an element of sale added to it. AIR 1962 SC 53 (58) = (1962) 2 SCR 644.

(3) Under the Indian law like English law the person who is in de facto control of the property would normally be treated as the person who is in possession of the same. AIR 1952 Hyd 78 (79) = ILR (1952) Hyd 152 = 1952 Cri L Jour 707.

(4) Where one has mere custody without possession, like a servant, or a guest, using as the case may be either the master's goods or the host's goods, is not a bailee. Madh BLJ 1955 HCR 1465 (1467)  AIR 1954 Trav-Co 305 (308) = ILR (1958) Trav-Co 208 (DB).

(5) There must be the putting into the possession of the bailee or of his agent of the goods in question — Merely putting into possession of documents of title does not constitute bailment of goods. AIR 1934 All 568 (568, 569).

(6) Plaintiff arranging with defendant to get made certain jewels from goldsmith working in defendant's house — Every evening plaintiff receiving from goldsmith half made jewels, putting them in box given by defendant for her use, keeping box in room and taking key in possession — Defendant, held was not bailee, since there was no delivery of goods, the key remaining with plaintiff. AIR 1954 Trav-Co 305 (308, 309) = ILR (1954) Trav-Co 208 (DB).

(8) Where under an agreement A provided B with some elephant and mahuts to work in his forest on daily wages and B merely had a right to give directions to the mahuts who have been sent or later on substituted by A it was held that there was no transfer of the mahuts or elephants and hence no bailment of the elephants to B. (4) Railway company allowing goods to be placed in their premises for transportation is liable as bailee to consignor. AIR 1936 All 69 (72) = 58 All 576 (DB).

(5) The railway is liable as a bailee for the goods entrusted to it whether for the purpose of carriage or for being kept in custody in the cloak room. The only difference is in the source of that liability that is to say while in the former case it arises out of its character as a carrier; in the latter case it arises under a pure and simple contract of bailment. AIR 1949 Cal 591 (593) = ILR (1950) 1 Cal 173.

(6) Looked at only from the provisions made applicable under Section 72, Railways Act, there can be little doubt that the Railway accepts the consignment as a bailee only from the consignor, who is a bailor. AIR 1965 Andh Pra 263 (264) = (1965) 1 Andh WR 342  AIR 1967 All 549 = ILR (1967) 1 All 398.

(7) Carriage of goods by air inland — Liability for damage to goods — Law applicable — Not governed by Carriers Act (1865), or Contract Act (1872), but by English Common Law as administered in India. AIR 1961 Cal 383 (386).

(8) A common carrier is liable to the owner for loss or damage to any property delivered to such carrier to be carried whether such loss or damage has arisen from the negligence of the carrier or any of his agents or servants. The term 'at the owner's risk' used in the goods receipt only means that the owner would be liable for any loss or damage to the goods, which are lying with the Company if such loss or damage was not caused by any negligence on the part of the carrier. AIR 1964 Punj 318 (319) = 1963 Cur LJ 256.

(9) It is true that, for purposes of delivering postal articles or receiving money payable therefor, the Post Office may be the agent of sender or the addressee, but that is not the same thing as saying that there is, in such cases, a contract between the sender and the Post Office or that the postal service is a common carrier. 1969 MPWR 100 (102).

149. Delivery to bailee how made.—The delivery to the bailee may be made by doing anything which has the effect of putting the goods in the possession of the intended bailee or of any person authorized to hold them on his behalf.*

[*] Cf. Sale of Goods Act, 1930 (3 of 1930), S. 33.

150. Bailor's duty to disclose faults in goods bailed.—The bailor is bound to disclose* to the bailee faults in the goods bailed, of which the bailor is aware, and which materially interfere with the use of them, or expose the bailee to extraordinary risks; and if he does not make such disclosure, he is responsible for damage arising to the bailee directly from such faults.

Section 148 — Note 5 (contd.)

(10) Port trust accepting delivery of goods from ships — Port trust is bailee of ship-owner or consignor but certainly not of consignee — Madras Port Trust Act (II of 1905), Sections 39, 40. (1968) 2 MLJ 199 (201). ((1963) 2 SCR (Suppl.) 915 and (1967) 2 MLJ 594, Foll.)

6. Explanation. — (1) After order of redelivery judgment-debtor and decree-holder become bailor and bailee. AIR 1929 Lah 386 (387).

(2) The explanation to Section 148, Contract Act, makes it clear that a seller can become a bailee if he contracts to hold the goods as a bailee. AIR 1961 Cal 54 (58) (DB).

(3) Where the conditions of auction sale provided that loss would be at risk and expense of purchaser from the moment sale is declared and that cash in full was to be paid at the fall of hammer and delivery was to be taken within fifteen days, the conditions were inconsistent with the position of there being any relationship of bailor and bailee. AIR 1961 Cal 54 (58) (DB).

(4) Where the bailor by a letter requested the bailee to have the pledged goods to remain in his possession and promised to hold the same in trust for the bailee and to give possession to the bailee whenever he demanded the same, the bailor's continuance in possession was the possession of the bailee. AIR 1966 Andh Pra 163 (166) = (1965) 2 Andh WR 518 (DB).

(5) Elephant taken on hire for one month — Elephant retained beyond one month — Measure of damages equal to hire. 1963 Ker LJ 1079 (1081, 1082).

Section 149 — Note 1

(1) There can be no delivery of possession in the legal sense of the word unless the receipt of the goods by the bailee is his conscious act. AIR 1955 Mad 505 (510) (DB).

(2) When the goods have not been put in possession of railway company mere acceptance of consignment notes is not acceptance of goods. AIR 1929 Pat 296 (299) = 8 Pat 808 (DB).

(3) In order to constitute a delivery of goods under Section 149 of the Act there must be an actual tender of the goods by the bailor and acceptance of the same by the bailee. Therefore, the mere marking of the serial number by the goods clerk on the forwarding note unaccompanied by any such tender to and acceptance of the goods on behalf of the railway would not render the railway liable as a bailee for the loss of the goods. AIR 1923 All 449 (450) = 45 All 235 (DB).

(4) The omission to observe certain formalities, like the granting of a receipt, would not detract from the efficacy of an actual delivery of the goods by the consignor and the acceptance of the same by an employee on behalf of the railway as a legal delivery sufficient to constitute a bailment in the eye of the law. AIR 1958 Assam 5 (9) (DB)  AIR 1922 All 9 (11, 12) = 44 All 218 (FB)  AIR 1953 Bom 46 (49, 50) = ILR (1953) Bom 242 (DB).

(5) Lady handing over jewels to goldsmith to be melted for making new jewels — Every day lady receiving half-made jewels and keeping them in box in goldsmith's house with key in her possession. Held, there was no delivery to goldsmith who could not therefore, be regarded as bailee. AIR 1938 Mad 32 (33).

(6) It is not always necessary that bailee himself should be in physical possession of goods. Delivering them to a person authorised to hold them on behalf of bailee is also sufficient delivery. AIR 1966 Andh Pra 163 = (1965) 2 Andh WR 518.

(7) Where bailor requested bailee to have pledged goods to remain in bailor's possession and promised to hold same in trust for bailee and to give possession to bailee whenever he demanded, it was held that there was constructive delivery or delivery by attornment to bailee. Bailor's continuance in possession was possession of bailee. AIR 1966 Andh Pra 163 (166) = (1965) 2 Andh WR 518 (DB).

Section 150 — Note 1

(1) In the case of hire of specific chattel where the hirer does not depend upon the skill and judgment of the bailor there is no question of implied warranty of fitness of the chattel for particular purpose. AIR 1958 Ker 380 (383) = ILR (1957) Ker 542.

If the goods are bailed for hire, the bailor is responsible for such damage, whether he was or was not aware of the existence of such faults in the goods bailed.

(a) A lends a horse, which he knows to be vicious, to B. He does not disclose the fact that the horse is vicious. The horse runs away. B is thrown and injured. A is responsible to B for damage sustained.

(b) A hires a carriage of B. The carriage is unsafe, though B is not aware of it, and A is injured. B is responsible to A for the injury.

[*] Cf. Transfer of Property Act, 1882, S. 55(1)(a).

*151. Care to be taken by bailee.—In all cases of bailment the bailee is bound to take as much care of the goods bailed to him as a man of ordinary prudence† would, under similar circumstances, take of his own goods of the same bulk, quality and value as the goods bailed.‡

[*] The responsibility of all the Trustees of the Port of Madras constituted under the Madras Port Trust Act, 1905 (Mad. Act 2 of 1905), in regard to goods has been declared to be that of a bailee, under Sections 151, 152 and 161, without the qualifying words "in the absence of any special contract" in Section 152—See S. 40(1) of that Act.

SECTIONS 151 & 152 — SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.

1A. Common carriers — General.

1B. Carriers by air.

2. Carriers by sea.

3. Carriers by railway.

4. Inn-keeper's liability.

5. Negligence of servant.

6. Standard of care.

7. Special contract.

8. Burden of proof.

1. Scope. — (1) "Loss" in Section 152 denotes loss to goods distinct from loss to owner. AIR 1928 Lah 774 (776) = 10 Lah 360 (DB).

(2) Bank taking possession of document of title only is responsible for safe custody of document and not of goods. AIR 1934 All 568 (569).

(3) Section 151 which refers to all kinds of bailment includes also pledges. Hence a pledgee is also liable to the incidents of a bailment such as the duty to take requisite care and return the goods pledged when the debt is paid off.

AIR 1952 Nag 8 (8) = ILR (1952) Nag 49.

(4) The right of the bailor to claim damages from the bailee for wrongful detention of the goods bailed or for their loss, destruction or deterioration, if the bailee has not taken the amount of care of the goods as described in S. 151, Contract Act, is a "sanctioning right" which is not contemplated as a pecuniary liability in sub-section (6) of Section 2 of the Displaced Persons (Debts Adjustment) Act (1951). AIR 1961 Punj 340 (347) = 63 Pun LR 275 (FB).

1-A. Common carriers — General. —

(1) A common carrier is a person who professes himself ready to carry goods for everybody. Common carriers are considered to be in the position of insurers with regard to the goods entrusted to them. AIR 1959 Mad 285 (287, 288) = (1959) 2 Mad LJ 373. (Express stipulation between parties that the carrier is not a common carrier — Sections 151 and 152 will apply — Parties can enter into contract reducing liability of private carrier.)

(2) A common carrier is liable to the owner for loss or damage to any pro-

erty delivered to such carrier to be carried, whether such loss or damage has arisen from the negligence of the carrier or any of his agents or servants. AIR 1964 Punj 318 (319) = 1963 Cur LJ 256.

(3) The legal liability of the common carriers to make good the loss or damage to the goods in transit to the bailor of goods is insurable interest. AIR 1964 Cal 209 (214 to 217).

1-B. Carriers by Air. — (1) Carriage by Air Act (20 of 1934), does not apply to carriage of goods by air within India. Matter in respect of carriers and consignees of goods by air in India has to be decided on principles of ordinary law, that is, those contained in the Contract Act and the principles of English law which have been held to be applicable to common carriers in India. AIR 1959 Mad 285 (287) = (1959) 2 Mad LJ 373.

(2) The liability of the internal carrier by Airways who is not governed by the Indian Carriage by Air Act, 1934, or by the Carriers Act, 1865, is governed by the English Common law since adopted in India and not by the Contract Act. Under the English common law, the carrier's liability is not that of a bailee only, but that of an insurer of goods. AIR 1960 Assam 71 (72, 73, 75, 76) = ILR (1957) 9 Assam 443 (DB). (Contract giving carrier complete immunity from liability — Not hit by Section 23, Contract Act — View of Sankaran Nair J. in ILR 32 Mad 95 (FB), Dissented from.)  AIR 1964 Cal 396 (398, 399). (Carrier has absolute freedom to contract out of his liability even in cases of negligence.)  AIR 1962 Cal 290 (294) = 65 Cal WN 949 (DB). (Special contract with Air Lines Corporation — Company not liable for damages to goods contracted to carry — Contract is governed by common law of England.)

2. Carriers by sea. — (1) In India the liabilities of a carrier are governed by the English Common Law. (1891) 18 Cal 620 (625) = 18 Ind App 121 (PC). (3 Bom 109, Overruled.)  AIR 1931 Sind 124 (125) = 25 Sind LR 222  AIR 1919 Upp Bur 17 (18) = 3 Upp Bur Rul 120. (Licensee of ferry is common carrier.)  AIR 1918 Cal 824 (824) (DB). (Liability is that of insurer.)  (1911) 38 Cal 28 (41) (DB). (Do.)

(2) Where contract to carry passenger was made by foreign Company in Calcutta, they were bound by provisions of S. 151 of the Contract Act. (1881) 6 Cal 227 (235) (DB).

[But see (1905) 28 Mad 400 (403) (DB). (Carriers by sea for hire are common carriers by the common law of England and where the contract is made in Calcutta, whatever be the nationality of the carriers they will be governed by the lex loci contractu, which is the common law of England.)]

(3) Owners of lighter carrying goods are liable for loss of and damage to goods as bailees under Section 152 if in using lighter, they did not take amount of care described in Section 151. AIR 1917 Sind 47 (49) = 11 Sind LR 1.

(4) Under Section 39 (3), Madras Port Trust Act, 2 of 1905, a shipping company is relieved of its liability in regard to the goods carried by it as soon as it delivers them to the Port Trust and obtains their receipt. Thereafter the Port Trust itself under Section 40 (1) of that Act becomes a bailee within the meaning of Sections 151, 152 and 161 of the Contract Act and hence it cannot escape liability for the loss of the goods unless it is able to show that it had taken as much care of the goods as a man of ordinary prudence would take of his own goods under similar circumstances. ILR (1957) Mad 840 (844)  AIR 1970 Mad 48 (56) (DB). (On facts the Board was held negligent.)  AIR 1963 Mad 347 (347, 348) (DB). (5) Under Section 112 (1) of the Calcutta Port Act, the Commissioners are liable for the loss, destruction or deterioration of goods which are landed and remain in the possession or under the control of the Commissioners and the standard of liability is the same as that of a bailee. 1964 Cal LJ 56 (57) (DB).

(6) Carriage of goods — Bill of Lading — Clause providing for cesser of liability of carrier as soon as goods are free from ship tackle — Clause cannot relieve carrier or his agents from prime obligation of delivering goods to consignee, unless there was custom to the contrary in port. AIR 1965 Ker 51 (52, 53) = 1964 Ker LT 78.

3. Carriers by railway. — (1) The railway company cannot be treated as insurers in regard to the goods consigned for carriage. AIR 1918 Cal 892 (893, 894) (DB)  ILR (1953) 1 Cal 268 (270).

(2) The liability of the railway for the goods delivered to them for transmission is that of bailee under Sections 151 and 152. AIR 1958 Assam 5 (7). (Mere fact that a receipt had not been granted by the railway would make no difference.)  AIR 1958 Bom 238 (239). (Partial loss of goods due to negligence or misconduct of servants — Railway liable as bailee.)  AIR 1957 Cal 190 (194)  AIR 1957 Madh Pra 192 (193, 194). (Liability is subject to provisions of Act 9 of 1890.)  1886 Pun Re Civ. No. 97, p. 240 (241) (DB). (Liability is however subject to provisions of Act 9 of 1890.)  AIR 1960 SC 233 (238) = (1960) 2 SCR 75. (Goods consigned from Quetta in Pakistan to New Delhi in India — Goods carried by Pakistan Railway and Indian Railway — No treaty between two countries regarding liability for loss of goods in case of through traffic — Liability of Forwarding Railway shall, subject to the provisions of the Railways Act, be that of a bailee under Sections 151, 152, 161 of Contract Act.)  AIR 1970 Madh Pra 55 (59) = 1969 MPLJ 737 (DB). (Mere fact that rain water entered the wagon and caused damage, held would not fix liability on Railways.)  AIR 1969 Bom 401 (406) (DB). (Consignment lost from railway warehouse after expiry of time allowed for delivery free of wharfage — Wharfage charges recovered — Railway held liable for damages or for loss.)  AIR 1959 Pat 337 (339) = ILR 37 Pat 1355 (DB).

[See also (1884) 10 Cal 210 (214) (FB). (It is doubtful whether Section 151 and Section 161, Contract Act, apply to carriers by rail. But even so the railways can protect themselves from liability by special contract as they were entitled to do before the Carriers Act was passed.)  1961 MPLJ 920 (923) (DB). (Coal of colliery company lying on railway platform — Coal neither accepted by railway nor delivered to it for transport — Railway is not bailee and not responsible for loss of coal.)]

(3) Railway Company which is in the position of a bailee, should take as much care as an ordinary prudent man would take in respect of his own property. AIR

1917 All 172 (173)  AIR 1957 Bom 276 (278) = ILR (1957) Bom 647. (Railway administration delivering consignment to person other than endorsed on self-consigned railway receipt cannot escape its liability.)  AIR 1963 Mad 394 (394, 396) = (1964) 2 Mad LJ 329 (DB). (The liability of the railway is not confined to closed wagons alone. It equally extends to open wagons so that the railway cannot disown the liability by contending that the goods were loaded in open wagons.)  AIR 1963 Raj 162 (167 to 170) = 1963 Raj LW 135 (DB)  AIR 1961 Madh Pra 251 (253) = 1961 MPLJ 484 (DB). (Railway Administration cannot be expected to take extra-ordinary care of goods.)  AIR 1961 Raj 211 (213) = 1961 Raj LW 148 (DB). (Failure to put locks on the wagons is failure on the part of Railway to take care of goods as a bailee and amounts to wilful neglect.)  AIR 1959 Pat 337 (339, 340) = ILR 37 Pat 1355 (DB). (Misdelivery — Parcel clerk without carefully comparing entries on railway receipt with those in delivery books giving delivery of goods to person producing railway receipt on behalf of consignee — Entries in receipt not tallying with those in the book — Clerk cannot be said to have acted as an ordinary prudent man in doing so.)  AIR 1957 Madh Pra 192 (193, 194) = 1957 MPLJ 636.

(4) In judging the question of the amount of care to be taken by a railway administration, it will be quite proper and reasonable to take note of the opportunities and means that are properly and reasonably available to the railway administration for safeguarding the interests of the consignee. AIR 1963 Raj 162 (167, 168, 169, 170) = 1963 Raj LW 135 (DB)  AIR 1959 Pat 337 (339, 340) = ILR 37 Pat 1355 (DB). (Amount of care to be taken by railways or their employees, depends upon circumstances of each case.)

(5) The railway which has misdelivered goods cannot escape its liability by showing that the person entitled to its delivery had made no effort to retrieve the goods. AIR 1957 Cal 573 (576).

(6) Where loss is due to theft by a railway servant the company is liable; but when it is by an outsider railway company is not liable. AIR 1928 Cal 697 (700) (DB).

(7) Special contract in risk-note exempting Railway Company from liability in case of loss etc. — Company is not liable. (1893) 17 Bom 417 (421) (DB)  AIR 1955 Madh B 70 (73) (DB). (Risk note G obtained by railway lessens its liability as a bailee for loss arising out of negligence under Section 151, Contract Act.)  AIR 1955 Mad 274 (277). (Consignment despatched at owner's risk — Railway cannot be made liable for its destruction unless it is due to negligence which amounts to misconduct.)  ILR (1950) 2 Cal 477 (480). (Railway which is bound to deliver goods within reasonable time will be liable for loss or deterioration caused by unreasonable delay in transit or delivery of goods. But it can contract out of liability by suitable risk notes.)  AIR 1932 All 584 (585). (Exemption under risk-note form A and B is available only during transit on ordinary route.)  AIR 1917 All 338 (339) = 39 All 418 (DB). (Railway is not liable unless plaintiff shows that loss was due to theft or wilful neglect, of railway servants.)  (1903) 30 Cal 257 (261) (DB)  (1884) 10 Cal 210 (213) (FB).

(8) A Railway Company receiving goods for carriage is not bound to inquire into the apparent owner's title or to see that the risk note is read and understood by the person who delivers the goods. It is a contract binding on the consignor. In such a case the responsibility of the railway as bailee is governed by Sections 150 and 151, limited by the agreement referred to above. AIR 1928 Cal 170 (173) = 55 Cal 142 (DB).

(9) Goods referred to in Section 75, Railways Act (1890) sent on "risk note" and not complying with that section — Railway company is not liable for loss of the goods. (1912) 34 All 656 (657) (DB).

(10) Transit of horse by railway — Horse sustaining injuries — No agreement signed by sender under Section 10, Railways Act IV of 1879 — Company is liable. 1882 Pun Re No. 27 p. 375 (382) (DB).

(11) Railway Company accepting goods for carrying — "Bill of lading mentioning goods received in good condition" — Also providing that no English Common Law was applicable — Goods found damaged before being taken into custody by Company — Estoppel does not arise, as Railway Company's liability did not depend upon bill of lading or English

Common Law. AIR 1935 Sind 218 (219, 220).

(12) Section 11, Railways Act IV of 1879 — Payment of increased charge puts Company in the position of ordinary bailees. (1893) 17 Bom 723 (727).

(13) A passenger depositing his luggage in a railway cloak-room is entitled to recover from the railway, when the luggage is lost, the entire value of the goods lost but not any consequential damages. AIR 1949 Cal 591 (593, 594) = ILR (1950) 1 Cal 173.

(14) No doubt the failure of the party to take delivery of the goods within a reasonable time would relieve the railway of its liability as a bailee under the contract of carriage but in continuing to keep the goods with a right to collect wharfage charges from the party at the time of delivery it becomes liable as a bailee under a contract of bailment for warehousing the goods for the loss arising from the damages caused to the goods during such warehousing. AIR 1955 Cal 264 (265, 266, 267) (DB).

[But see ILR (1953) Punj 579 (593, 594). (Liability not terminated by laches of party.)]

(15) Consignor's suit for compensation for non-delivery is a suit in contract, and not in tort. AIR 1923 Pat 285 (286) = 2 Pat 442 (DB).

(16) Railway company is liable to compensate for loss of or damage to goods, though claim is not put forward till after delivery has been taken and "clear" receipt is granted. Receipt is only prima facie evidence of fact and raises presumption in favour of receipt of goods. Bailor is not precluded from proving that goods were really damaged or deficient in quantity when delivered to him. (1912) 39 Cal 311 (318) (DB).

(17) Absence of proof of negligence — Railway Company taking care of consigned goods with prudence — Loss of consigned goods — Railway Company was not responsible for loss. AIR 1934 Pat 583 (583) (DB).

(3) In the case of a master and servant, where the master is the bailee, and the servant is either dishonest or negligent, the master must be held liable, if the negligence of the servant is established and the master can be shown to have employed dishonest servants or not supervised their actions. AIR 1959 Madh Pra 77 (80) = 1958 MPLJ 694 (DB).

(4) Ordinarily, the bailee's liability extends to damage caused by the negligence of his servants acting in the course of their employment about the use or custody of the thing bailed; but it does not extend to damage caused by the acts or defaults of third person which he could not by ordinary diligence have foreseen or prevented. AIR 1955 Vindh Pra 30 (31)  AIR 1934 Cal 151 (154) (DB). (Same standard of care is required both from a gratuitous bailee and a bailee for hire.)

(3) In the Contract Act the duty of care in the case of bailee is uniform whether it is gratuitous or for hire or for gain. The consideration in the case of gratuitous bailment is the trust reposed in entrusting one's valuables to the care of another. AIR 1959 Madh Pra 77 (79) = 1958 MPLJ 694 (DB).

(4) No hard and fast rule can be laid down for fixing measure of care due from a bailee. That should variably depend upon the facts of each case. AIR 1957 Mys 55 (55, 56) = ILR (1956) Mys 281. AIR 1939 Bom 101 (101, 102, 103) (DB).

(8) Plaintiff entrusted driving beam of his sewing machine to defendant, who was a coppersmith, for repair. He wanted broken tip soldered with copper. Defendant undertook to do repair. He employed another coppersmith to do the work under his instructions. In the course of soldering excessive heat was applied, and other tip of driving beam was melted, rendering driving beam useless. Held, in a suit for damages, that Section 151 governed the case, which required from defendant care of skilled coppersmith. (10) Plaintiff sending uninsured jewelry by V. P. P. to save insurance fee — Defendant doing same, plaintiff not objecting — Plaintiff cannot urge that defendant's neglect to insure on a particular occasion was want of due care as laid down in Section 151. 1906 Pun Re No. 70, p. 260 (263) (DB).

(3) The clause in the contract intended to exempt the bailee from the statutory liabilities under Sections 151 and 152 must state the exemption in explicit terms. AIR 1924 Rang 356 (357). (Exemption from liability for servant's negligence must be explicit.)

(4) The law of England unlike the law of the United States of America does not forbid a carrier to exempt himself by contract from liability for the negligence of himself and his servants and the only condition which he has to observe is to provide for such exemption in express, plain and unambiguous terms. The same principles prevail in India as well. (1909) 32 Mad 95 (104, 107) (SB). (Per White C. J. and Wallis J. AIR 1956 Nag 145 (146) = ILR (1955) Nag 786.

(8) Consignment at railway risk — Railway as bailee is bound to return goods at destination — Failure to deliver goods at destination — Railway cannot take advantage of provisions of S. 152 by showing that it had taken all possible care of consignment during its transit — Since the risk of railway is a special condition of booking Section 152 which applies in the absence of special contract, would not be attracted. (10) Cash box of bank permitted to be kept in police custody by Police authorities with reservation that the police authorities were not responsible for the contents of the box — Box stolen — Held the reservation made by the Inspector General of Police did not operate to limit the responsibility of the bailee under the contract of bailment and thereby bailee was not absolved from liability to take such care as required by Section 151 of Contract Act. 1965 Jab LJ 243 (246) (SC).

8. Burden of proof. — (1) When the goods bailed are lost, the burden of proof of showing that the goods are lost is on the bailee who is in the better know of the circumstances. AIR 1957 Mys 55 (56) = ILR (1956) Mys 281.

(9) Goods sent at owner's risk — By elimination of risk notes and by reason of new Section 74-A, Railways Act, the onus of proof of negligence or misconduct would be upon railway except in a case where goods are carried at owner's risk — But where the damage cannot be attributed either to defective condition of goods or the defective packing of goods, the two contingencies mentioned in Section 74-A, the primary onus of a bailee to show that he had taken such care of goods as a man of ordinary prudence would take in case of his own goods must be discharged by railway administration for denying relief to plaintiff. 156. Effect of mixture without bailor's consent, when the goods can be separated.—If the bailee, without the consent of the bailor, mixes the goods of the bailor with his own goods, and the goods can be separated or divided, the property in the goods remains in the parties respectively; but the bailee is bound to bear the expense of separation or division, and any damage arising from the mixture.

But, if, on the faith of such loan made for a specified time or purpose, the borrower has acted in such a manner that the return of the thing lent before the time agreed upon would cause him loss exceeding the benefit actually derived by him from the loan, the lender must, if he compels the return, indemnify the borrower for the amount in which the loss so occasioned exceeds the benefit so derived.

160. Return of goods bailed on expiration of time or accomplishment of purpose.—It is the duty of the bailee to return, or deliver according to the bailor's directions, the goods bailed, without demand, as soon as the time for which they were bailed has expired, or the purpose for which they were bailed has been accomplished.*

2. Railways.
3. Liability of bailee.

1. Scope. — (1) In the very nature of the contract of bailment, the duty should normally be laid on the bailee to deliver back the goods bailed even if the purpose of bailment is not accomplished. AIR 1958 Ker 380 (383) = ILR (1957) Ker 542 (DB).

(2) The use of the words 'without demand' indicates that the directions referred to in the section are the directions before the purpose of the pledge has been accomplished. AIR 1922 Nag 127 (128).

(3) Section 160 does not contemplate direction by the pawnee's assignee but by the pawnor himself about the delivery of the pawned property. AIR 1922 Nag 127 (128).

2. Railways. — (1) Railway Company is bound to deliver goods as per reasonable instructions of consignor, and also of consignee if latter's name appears on Railway receipt. AIR 1929 All 960 (960) = 52 All 126 (DB).

(2) Section 160 provides for the return of goods bailed not only to the bailor but also according to his directions. Therefore, a consignee, who is not the owner but to whom the goods are consigned for sale on commission basis, is entitled to maintain the suit against Railways for damage caused to the goods in transit. AIR 1956 All 338 (341) = ILR (1956) 1 All 526 (FB).

[But see AIR 1966 Guj 6 (14) = (1964) 5 Guj LR 879 (DB).]

(3) Consignment at railway risk — In absence of proof of damages due to accident or vis major railway is liable to pay damages to the bailor. AIR 1962 Pat 384 (390) = 1962 BLJR 480 (DB).

(4) Liability of railway as bailee is as that of an ordinary man of prudence under Sections 151, 152, 160 and 161 of the Contract Act — In judging question of amount of care, note must be taken of means and opportunities available to railway administration for safeguarding interests of consignee. AIR 1963 Raj 162 (168, 169, 170) = 1963 Raj LW 135 (DB). (Duty to compare Railway Receipt with Junction or Through Invoice before effecting delivery is involved in taking reasonable and proper care of goods entrusted for transport — Traffic Manual of B. B. and C. I. Railway, Chap. XI, Booking of Goods Traffic Rules 32, 45 — Prevailing practice or mischance of documents having been sent to Accounts Officer earlier is no answer to claim on misdelivery.)

(5) From the mere omission of Section 160 of the Contract Act in Section 72 (1) of the Railways Act it cannot be inferred that it is not the duty of the railway administration to return or deliver the goods consigned. The obligation to return or deliver the goods is implicit in Section 72, Railways Act read with Section 161, Contract Act. AIR 1953 Punj 184 (185) (FB).

(6) A case of non-delivery of goods is a case of breach of duty which is laid upon a railway as a bailee by Section 160 of the Contract Act, which is not one of the sections mentioned by Section 72, Railways Act, and hence the railway in such a case cannot even limit its liability by a special agreement. AIR 1928 Lah 774 (777) = 10 Lah 360 (DB).

[See however AIR 1931 Nag 29 (31) = 27 Nag LR 230. (Railway can by agreement only limit its responsibility for the goods delivered for carriage. It cannot completely repudiate its responsibility.)]

(7) The railway carrier's duty to deliver the goods is subject to their right to

*161. Bailee's responsibility when goods are not duly returned.—If, by the default of the bailee, the goods are not returned, delivered or tendered at the proper time, he is responsible to the bailor for any loss, destruction or deterioration of the goods from that time.†

[°] Section 161 has been declared to apply to the responsibility of the Trustees of the Port of Madras as to goods in their possession—see the Madras Port Trust Act, 1905 (Mad. Act 2 of 1905). See also Bombay Port Trust Act (Bom. Act 6 of 1879); Calcutta Port Act (Beng. Act 3 of 1890); Cochin Port Trust Act (Mad. Act 8 of 1925) and Tuticorin Port Trust Act (Mad. Act 2 of 1924); Major Port Trusts Act, 1963 (38 of 1963), S. 43(1)(ii) for similar provisions.

[†] As to railway contracts, see the Indian Railways Act, 1890 (9 of 1890), S. 72.

retain goods until they receive due remuneration for services they have rendered in respect of them. During all that period the liability to take care of the goods continues on them. AIR 1957 Madh Pra 192 (194).

(8) There is nothing in the bailment sections of the Contract Act, which lay any obligation on the bailor to take delivery from the bailee when he offers it. Normally, as the property in the goods entrusted to a carrier remains with the owner, he is bound to take delivery, even if they are damaged, his remedy being to claim compensation; nor can he cast upon the bailee responsibility for further custody as a bailee without payment of shortage or demurrage dues. But no hard and fast rule can be laid down in this respect; each case has to be decided on its own facts. AIR 1953 Mad 217 (218) = ILR (1953) Mad 916 (DB).

(9) Consignee is liable for demurrage if he unjustifiably refuses to take delivery. But that liability ceases from the date of notice that goods will be sold by the company if delivery is not taken. AIR 1918 Cal 824 (826) (DB).

3. Liability of bailee.—(1) In the case of a bailee for hire, there is implied warranty, of fitness of goods. In case of breach of warranty, there is no liability to pay hire. Bailee can leave the article where it is and give notice to bailor that there has been a breach of the warranty. AIR 1921 Bom 191 (191) = 45 Bom 1017 (DB).

(2) Where the company has deposited with Government, as security, in respect of ware-house, Government promissory note the Government is liable to return note without demand after termination of license as bailee. AIR 1939 Cal 746 (748) = ILR (1939) 2 Cal 52 = 41 Cri L Jour 134.

(3) It is unreasonable for person, who borrowed ornaments for use in ceremony to detain them after ceremony, and after the owner has demanded their return. AIR 1930 Oudh 395 (396) = 6 Luck 80 (DB).

(4) A bailee becomes liable for conversion when he refuses to redeliver the goods even upon a mere demand of the bailor. But before any such liability can arise it is essential that there should be a contract of bailment as between the plaintiff and the defendant himself which must be alleged and proved by the plaintiff. Where the plaintiff's allegations amount at the most only to a bailment as between the defendant and a third party there is no case upon which the plaintiff could succeed against the defendant. ILR (1951) 1 Cal 443 (468, 469).

[See also AIR 1960 J & K 141 (143, 144) (DB). (Held, on facts that the Trade Agent at Amritsar merely made arrangements for the transport of the goods of the traders to Srinagar and was looking after their interests under the instructions from the Jammu and Kashmir Government and that there was no contractual relationship of a bailor and bailee between him and the traders. There was, therefore, no obligation on him to re-deliver the goods.)]

(5) It is a rule in equity that if a creditor holding security sues for his debt, he is under an obligation on payment of the debt to hand over the security; and if having improperly made away with the security, he is unable to return it, to his debtor, he cannot have judgment for the debt.

This principle would not be applicable to securities like fixed deposit accounts with a Banking Company after liquidation. The rule will not apply to a case where the security is a debt due by the bank for which debt the bank's creditor would, by reason of the liquidation, have no cause of action against the bank. AIR 1959 Cal 746 (748, 749) = (1960) 30 Com Cas 473 (DB).

(6) In an action in detinue against an ordinary bailee it is good defence if he establishes that he had discharged the only duty which the law imposed on him, viz., to take reasonable care of the goods. ILR (1951) 1 Cal 443 (470).

(7) Bailee having parted with the goods bailed with the consent of the bailor cannot claim it back — No suit for recovery of such goods is maintainable. AIR 1917 Pat 129 (131) = 19 Cri L Jour 220.

SECTION 161 — SYNOPSIS

1. "By the default of the bailee".
2. "Goods not returned" etc. — Effect of.

Section 161 — Synopsis (contd.)

3. Remedy of the bailor.
4. Assessment of compensation.
5. Liability of Railway Company.
6. Liability of carrier by air.
7. Burden of proof.
8. Limitation.

1. "By the default of the bailee". —

(1) Payment of port charges before date fixed for sale — Sale by Commissioners — Suit for compensation : Held that as the sale took place owing to default of Commissioners under Section 161, Contract Act, Commissioners were responsible for the value of goods. AIR 1931 Rang 95 (96).

(2) Section 161 has to be read subject to Sections 160 and 173 and therefore, the default referred to in the section can arise only when the time for which the goods had been bailed has expired or the purpose for which they had been bailed has been accomplished. Therefore, in the case of a pledge which admittedly has no time-limit the default cannot arise until the debt is paid off or a proper tender of payment is made by the debtor. 1949 Bur LR (HC) 605 (613). (Since the rule of law is that the debtor must find his creditor the failure of the pawnee to intimate the debtor any change of his place would not amount to a default of a bailee within the purview of Section 161 read with Sections 160 and 173.)

2. "Goods not returned" etc. — Effect of.

(1) Section 161 lays down the common law rule that a bailee who retains goods after the period for which it has been bailed does so at his own risk and is liable for the loss, destruction or deterioration of the goods whether or not he was at fault. AIR 1937 Mad 411 (415) (DB)  AIR 1924 Cal 1056 (1057) (DB). (The substance of the rule enunciated by Sections 160 and 161 is what should be familiar to the students of archaic English law, namely, that trespass lies where the bailee has destroyed the bailed property or lost it, while where the bailee has been guilty of conversion of the bailed goods either by a user of it in a different manner or for a different purpose from that agreed upon or by failure to redeliver it or to deliver it over in accordance with the terms of the contract, the bailor may sue him in trover.)

(2) A bailee who wrongfully detains the goods of the bailor after the expiry of the period of bailment must answer for the loss or deterioration of the goods. 35 Pun LR 705 (708, 709) (DB)  1961 MPLJ 1282 = ILR (1960) Madh Pra 293 (297) (DB). (He cannot escape the liability by stating that goods were destroyed by fire.)

(3) Where the bailee sub-bails the goods with the authority of the bailor the sub-bailee becomes the bailee of the bailor himself and responsible to him under Section 161 for any loss, destruction or deterioration of the goods. ('57) ILR (1957) Punj 1 (15).

(4) Under Section 161 the bailor is entitled to the loss, destruction or deterioration of the goods but not to any consequential damages. ('55) Madh BLJ 1955 HCR 400 (405).

[See also ILR (1960) Madh Pra 293 (297) = 1961 MPLJ 1282 (DB). (The plaintiff was not entitled to any interest on the price of the cloth.)]

(5) "Deterioration" would also include the fall in value due to the fluctuations in price. AIR 1930 All 132 (134) = 52 All 238 (DB).

(6) Proper time in Section 161, Contract Act is not the same thing as reasonable time. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 84 (86) = (1959) 1 Andh WR 55.

3. Remedy of the bailor. — (1) There is in every case of bailment or pledge an implied contract for the return of the goods on demand and a refusal to return the goods is also unlawful. Therefore, an action could lie against the bailee in contract as well as in tort. AIR 1919 All 102 (103) = 41 All 643 (DB).

(2) A bailee unlawfully or negligently losing or parting with the property can be sued at the option of the bailor for wrongful conversion or in detinue. If the suit is for wrongful conversion judgment is given for the recovery of damages for the conversion. If the suit is in detinue judgment is given for the delivery of the chattel or for payment of its value and damages for detention. AIR 1958 SC 274 (278, 280) = 1958 SCR 781.

(3) Executor of deceased bailee is personally liable, if he refuses to return goods on due date. AIR 1916 Low Bur 93 (94) (DB).

(4) On bailee's death, his estate is liable for loss caused to bailor, his heir being constructive trustee — Section 161 is not exhaustive. AIR 1931 Oudh 15 (16) = 5 Luck 220 (DB).

(5) Master of ship landing goods and leaving them in charge of Port Trust — Legal effect — The port trust must be deemed to be the agent for the consignee — Liability of Port Trust in respect of goods is that of a bailee under Sections 151, 152 and 161 of the Contract Act. AIR 1959 Mad 367 (368) = (1959) 1 Mad LJ 149.

(6) The position of the port commissioner in respect of goods landed and remain in his possession or under his control is that of a bailee — His act of delivery or non-delivery of goods is an act done in official capacity — If a case is filed against him for damages for short delivery beyond three months from the date of cause of action, the provisions of Section 142, Calcutta Port Act

(1890) will be attracted and the suit will be barred. 1964 Cal LJ 56 (62) (SB).

(7) Consignor sending original way-bill through bank for acceptance and payment by draft — No valid pledge in favour of bank held created — Condition in way-bill that delivery of goods will be made on production of way-bill only — Carrier delivering goods to consignor himself in breach of condition — Held, assuming that the carrier was liable to the Bank his liability only extended to the value of the goods actually entrusted for carriage by the consignor to the carriers. The claim could not be for the amount advanced by the Bank to the Consignor on several drafts. AIR 1968 Mys 133 (139) = (1967) 1 Mys LJ 490 (DB).

4. Assessment of compensation. — (1) In an action for damages, full value of the chattels, at the time of the conversion, is the measure of damages. Bailor is not, however, entitled to more damages than value of goods, if he delays filing suit. AIR 1916 Low Bur 93 (94) (DB).

(2) The compensation awarded to a bailor under Section 161 is in the nature of damages awarded to compensate the loss of the goods to him. The Courts would not allow in addition interest on that amount because to do so would be to award damages upon damages which the Courts would generally never do. Madh BLJ 1955 HCR 400 (406).

(3) In an action in detinue against the hirer of a machine hiring charges per day are not the proper basis for estimating the loss of the owner during the period of detention where owing to the break-down of the machine the hirer himself has not been using it. In such a case even if the parties have agreed to pay such charges by way of penalty the Court would refuse to give effect to it and estimate the loss on the basis of a percentage on capital as representing a fair return on the investment by the owner. AIR 1958 Ker 380 (384) = ILR (1957) Ker 542 (DB).

(4) Court can draw presumption as regards value against pledgee, not producing property in his possession, or improperly disposed of by him. AIR 1930 Mad 364 (368) (DB).

(5) Bailee refusing to return goods at proper time — Suit for recovery of articles or its value maintainable — Value is the market value — If no market value their cost of replacement; if no market for replacement then the price offered by the buyer — When the articles has no saleable value parties should be restored to their original position. AIR 1966 Mad 184 (187) = (1966) 1 Mad LJ 154 (DB).

5. Liability of Railway Company. — (1) In the absence of a risk note or any thing to show a special agreement the ordinary rule applicable to a bailee would apply also to the railway and under Section 72, Railways Act, its liability would be governed by Section 161 of the Contract Act. AIR 1922 All 63 (64).

(2) The maximum liability of a railway as a carrier of goods is as defined under S. 72 Railways Act the liability of a bailee under Sections 151, 152 and 161 of the Contract Act. That liability can however be restricted by a contract between the parties. ILR (1951) 2 Cal 340 (342)  AIR 1969 Bom 401 (405, 406) (DB).

(3) The railway is bound to take such care of the goods which is enjoined on a bailee by Section 151 even during the period contemplated by Sections 160 and 161. It is only then that it can escape the liability for loss, destruction or deterioration of the goods under Section 152. AIR 1957 Madh Pra 192 (194)  AIR 1963 Raj 162 (170) = 1963 Raj LW 135 (DB). (Railway not only not taking proper care but acting negligently — Railway is liable for loss.)  AIR 1961 Madh Pra 251 (256) = 1961 MPLJ 484 (DB). (No negligence by Railway — Railway not liable.)  AIR 1961 Mad 398 (400) = (1961) 1 Mad LJ 348.

(4) Railway Administration cannot impose conditions to absolve them from responsibility as carrier without regard to standard of care required of them by statute. (1968) 2 Andh LT 269.

(5) A railway company which expresses its readiness to deliver the goods consigned only if an unjust or unreasonable condition is complied with by the party commits a default within the meaning of Section 161. AIR 1931 Nag 29 (31) = 27 Nag LR 230.

(6) Party not entitled to claim open delivery from Railway Administration — Right of party is to take delivery and claim damages. AIR 1966 Madh Pra 52 (55) (DB).

(7) Under Section 161, Contract Act the railway in the absence of any special contract would be responsible for the loss to the party which arises due to the delay in the delivery of goods by the railway. AIR 1922 All 63 (64)  AIR 1963 Orissa 68 (70) = ILR (1962) Cut 690  AIR 1959 Andh Pra 84 (86) = (1959) 1 Andh WR 55. (Railway is liable — Burden proving proper care as required by Section 151 of the Contract Act was upon Railway.)

(8) Railway carrier — Misconduct — Delay in delivery of consignment — Fall in market price as a result of price control — Consignee not entitled to compensation — Loss is too remote and indirect. AIR 1960 Madh Pra 289 (291) = 1960 MPLJ 1397 (DB).

(9) Where because of the deviation from the ordinary route of transit the railway has lost its protection under the risk notes its liability in regard to the goods consigned for transit has to be determined treating it as an ordinary bailee. Therefore, the railway which as an ordinary bailee should under Section 161 deliver the goods in proper time cannot be considered to have done so when it delivers due to the deviation much later than it could have if it had despatched the goods by the normal route. AIR 1927 Pat 354 (1) (354) (DB).

(10) If the goods continue to be with the railway only because of the failure of the consignor's representative to take delivery, the railway will cease to be liable as a bailee under the contract of carriage. AIR 1955 Cal 264 (266, 267) (DB).

(11) Where consignee refuses to take delivery, liability of railway for loss or damage as bailee remains. But consignee is liable to compensate the railway for necessary expenses. AIR 1948 Nag 65 (66, 67) = ILR (1947) Nag 335.

(12) Refusal by Railway authority to re-weigh goods — Consignee refusing to take delivery — Railway not liable for loss or damage — Rule 118 made under Indian Railways Act is discretionary. (1968) 70 Bom LR 254 = 1968 Mah LJ 539.

(13) Ownership of goods passes by the endorsement of a railway receipt to the endorsee and the endorsee is not only entitled to take delivery of the goods but is also entitled to sue the railway for non-delivery of the consignment. ILR (1953) Punj 579 (582). (AIR 1947 Bom 169, Dissented from.)

(14) An endorsee of a railway receipt, where the endorsement was made not to transfer the property in the goods to him but only to depute him as an agent of consignor to take delivery and hold the goods on behalf of the consignor, has no right to sue to recover from the railway the value of any goods lost, destroyed or deteriorated. AIR 1954 All 747 (749) (DB).

(15) Scope of Railways Act (1890), Section 72 (prior to amendment in 1961) — Suit against Railway — Right to maintain — Consignor alone competent — Bare consignee having railway receipt — Not competent — In view of Sec. 72 of Railway Act which refers to Sec. 161, Contract Act, in event of damage caused to goods the railway is responsible only to consignor. AIR 1962 Guj 266 (268).

(16) Goods consigned from Quetta in Pakistan to New Delhi in India — Goods carried by Pakistan Railway and Indian Railway — No treaty between two countries regarding liability for loss of goods in case of through traffic — Suit by consignee for compensation for non-delivery at New Delhi against Dominion of India — Liability of Forwarding Railway, under implied contract of bailment was that of a bailee under Sections 151, 152 and 161 of the Contract Act and in the absence of risk note the Forwarding Railway would be liable if it did not observe the standard of diligence required of an average prudent man. AIR 1960 SC 233 (238) = (1960) 2 SCR 75  ILR (1959) Cal 450 (455).

6. Liability of carrier by air. — (1) Air Lines Corporation as common carrier agreeing to carry goods from Bombay to Calcutta by air — Carrier Company under the Contract not to be liable for loss even at Company's fault or negligence of staff — Suit for damages to goods — Held, under the contract the carrier company was not liable. AIR 1962 Cal 290 (294) = (1961) 65 Cal WN 949 (958) (DB).

(2) Carriage by Air — Inland air consignment note — Clause exempting carrier from liability in case of damage, loss, pilferage or detention — 'Loss' means loss to carrier and not to consignor or consignee — Claim for compensation for non-delivery — Held, there would be no exemption under the clause if there was proof of misconduct — Bailee had statutory liability under Contract Act. AIR 1959 Cal 755 (757) = ILR (1960) 1 Cal 701.

7. Burden of proof. — (1) It is incumbent upon the bailor who under law is entitled to the return of the goods or value thereof to prove what that value was. Where he adduces no evidence on the point it cannot be assumed on his mere allegation that the goods were of the best quality and assessed as such. The rule to be followed in such a case is to assess the value of the goods on the assumption that it was of the cheapest quality. (1947) 52 Mys HCR 166 (171).

(2) The moment the default of the bailee is established, and the responsibility falls to be determined by S. 161, the burden shifts on to him to prove that the loss, for which he is sought to be made responsible, by the bailor occurred prior to the commencement of default on his part. AIR 1932 All 584 (585).

(3) Suit by consignee against Railway company as bailee for loss of goods — Article 30, Limitation Act applies — The burden is upon the Railway company who seek to non-suit the plaintiff on the ground of limitation to establish that the loss occurred beyond one year from the date of the suit. AIR 1960 SC 233 (239) = (1960) 2 SCR 75.

(4) Loss of goods by bailee — Burden of proving proper care as required is on the bailee. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 84 (86) = (1959) 1 Andh WR 55.

(5) Goods accepted for carriage — Proof of care taken by it — Mere fact

162. Termination of gratuitous bailment by death.—A gratuitous bailment is terminated by the death either of the bailor* or of the bailee.

[*] But if there are joint bailors or joint bailees, S. 42 would seem to apply.

163. Bailor entitled to increase or profit from goods bailed.—In the absence of any contract to the contrary, the bailee is bound to deliver to the bailor, or according to his directions, any increase or profit which may have accrued from the goods bailed.

Illustration

A leaves a cow in the custody of B to be taken care of. The cow has a calf. B is bound to deliver the calf as well as the cow to A.

164. Bailor's responsibility to bailee.—The bailor is responsible to the bailee for any loss which the bailee may sustain by reason that the bailor was not entitled to make the bailment, or to receive back the goods or to give directions, respecting them.

165. Bailment by several joint owners.—If several joint owners of goods bail them, the bailee may deliver them back to, or according to the directions of, one joint owner without the consent of all, in the absence of any agreement to the contrary.

166. Bailee not responsible on re-delivery to bailor without title.—If the bailor has no title to the goods, and the bailee, in good faith, delivers them back to, or according to the directions of, the bailor, the bailee is not responsible to the owner in respect of such delivery.*

[*] See the Indian Evidence Act, 1872 (1 of 1872), S. 117.

that rain water entered the wagon and caused damage, held would not fix liability on Railways. AIR 1970 Madh Pra 55 (59, 60) = 1969 MPLJ 737 (DB).

(6) Board taking charge of goods under Sections 39 and 40, Madras Port Trust Act (2 of 1905) — Its responsibility is that of bailee under Sections 151, 152 and 161 — Damage to goods, prima facie evidence of bailee's negligence — Bailee to disprove it. AIR 1970 Mad 48 (55) (DB).

8. Limitation. — (1) Article 145 of the Limitation Act (1908) governs suits for recovering deposit from an involuntary bailee. Fact of possession with bailee becoming wrongful, after demand is made, does not make Art. 49 applicable. AIR 1921 Cal 416 (419).

(2) Suit for return of goods is one for recovery of specific movable property — Article 49, Limitation Act (1908) applies — Possession becomes unlawful on failure or refusal to return the goods on demand. 1967 All WR (HC) 262 (263) = 1967 All LJ 934  AIR 1960 Madh Pra 175 (177) = 1960 MPLJ 429.

(3) Goods carried on by Pakistan Railway and Indian Railway — No treaty between two countries regarding liability for loss of goods in case of through traffic — Suit by consignee for compensation for non-delivery at New Delhi against Dominion of India — Liability of the forwarding Railway under implied contract of bailment was that of bailee under Sections 151, 152 and 161 of the Contract Act — Article 30 Limitation Act (1908) applies. AIR 1960 SC 233 (234) = (1960) 2 SCR 75.

Section 162 — Note 1

(1) The object of Section 162 is simply to bring out the general principle of law on the surface that the heir of a bailee, when the bailment is gratuitous, does not occupy on the death of such bailee the character of a bailee. The section does not do away with the principle of law that such an heir occupies the character of a constructive trustee in regard to the subject-matter of the bailment. AIR 1931 Oudh 15 (16) = 5 Luck 220 (DB).

[But see AIR 1921 Cal 416 (418).]

Section 163 — Note 1

(1) Old shares in a company pledged — New shares issued to share-holders out of dividend — Pledgee must deliver the new shares also as "increase or profit." AIR 1925 PC 86 (89) = 52 Ind App 187 = 49 Bom 283.

Section 165 — Note 1

(1) Rule as to validity of delivery by bailee to one of joint bailors is not general rule of Law of Contracts. (1910) 20 Mad LJ 709 (715) (DB).

Section 166 — Note 1

(1) Pledgee of goods, who without notice of plaintiff's title, delivered them to pledgor, in good faith, is not guilty of conversion. (1913) 37 Bom 122 (136, 137, 138) = 40 Ind App 1 (PC)  AIR 1923 Bom 155 (160) (DB). (Pledgee delivering according to directions of pledgor.)

167. Right of third person claiming goods bailed.—If a person, other than the bailor, claims goods bailed, he may apply to the Court to stop the delivery of the goods to the bailor, and to decide the title to the goods.

168. Right of finder of goods; may sue for specific reward offered.—The finder of goods has no right to sue the owner for compensation for trouble and expense voluntarily incurred by him to preserve the goods and to find out the owner; but he may retain the goods against the owner until he receives such compensation; and, where the owner has offered a specific reward for the return of goods lost, the finder may sue for such reward, and may retain the goods until he receives it.

169. When finder of thing commonly on sale may sell it.—When a thing which is commonly the subject of sale is lost, if the owner cannot with reasonable diligence be found, or if he refuses, upon demand, to pay the lawful charges of the finder, the finder may sell it—

- (1) when the thing is in danger of perishing or of losing the greater part of its value, or,
- (2) when the lawful charges of the finder, in respect of the thing found, amount to two-thirds of its value.

170. Bailee's particular lien.—Where the bailee has, in accordance with the purpose of the bailment, rendered any service involving the exercise of labour or skill in respect of the goods bailed, he has, in the absence of a contract to the contrary, a right to retain such goods until he receives due remuneration for the services he has rendered in respect of them.

(a) A delivers a rough diamond to B, a jeweller, to be cut and polished, which is accordingly done. B is entitled to retain the stone till he is paid for the services he has rendered.

(b) A gives cloth to B, a tailor, to make into a coat. B promises A to deliver the coat as soon as it is finished, and to give a three months' credit for the price. B is not entitled to retain the coat until he is paid.

Section 170 — Note 1

(1) Where there is an express contract, it must be performed in its entirety, and nothing can be claimed under it. So when a person agreed to repair an organ for a certain sum he cannot retain the organ, for remuneration of part of work done, when he refuses to repair it for any reason. (1884) 6 All 139 (141) (DB)  AIR 1926 Cal 464 (464, 465) = 53 Cal 174 = 26 Cri LJ 1505 (DB). (2) When under one contract goods are delivered at recurring periods, and in different consignments, the bailee has a lien on all the goods for charges in respect of any goods comprised in the contract. (1882) 8 Cal 312 (316, 317).

SECTION 171 — SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.
2. Banker's lien.
3. Factor's claim.
4. Wharfinger's lien.
5. Attorney's lien.
6. Agent's lien.

1. Scope. — (1) In the absence of any provisions in the Contract Act, English law, in the matter of liens, can be applied in India, on grounds of justice, equity and good conscience. AIR 1946 Nag 114 (116, 117) = ILR (1946) Nag 210.

(2) Lien is a right of defence, and not right of action and therefore there is no bar of limitation. AIR 1946 Nag 114 (115) = ILR (1946) Nag 210.

(3) In the absence of contract to contrary, bailee cannot sell goods pledged and if he sells he loses his lien. AIR 1930 Sind 36 (39) = 24 Sind LR 268.

(4) General lien confers on lien-holder the right to retain the goods until payment is made but it does not carry with it the right of sale to secure the debt or indemnity. It is merely a right to retain goods or chattel, and does not create right as in favour of a pledgee. AIR 1927 Lah 408 (410) = 8 Lah 373 (DB).

2. Banker's lien. — (1) Banker's lien can properly arise only over things which belong to the customer but which are held by the bank as security. If a thing is in the possession of the bank but the ownership is not in the customer then no right of lien can be exercised by the bank. AIR 1945 Mad 447 (449) = ILR (1946) Mad 200  AIR 1960 Punj 632

(636) = ILR (1960) 2 Punj 823 (DB). (A bank has no lien upon the deposit of a partnership for a balance due by one of the partners.)

(2) Where a banker has advanced money to another, he has a lien on all securities which come into his hands for the amount of his general balance, unless there is an express contract or circumstance to the contrary. AIR 1956 Punj 118 (119, 120) = ILR (1956) Punj 291 (DB). (Money is also a species of goods over which the banker can exercise his lien.)  AIR 1955 Punj 250 (251). (Defect in title of the customer or equities in favour of third parties cannot vitiate banker's lien over securities in his possession provided he had acted honestly without notice of the defect.)  AIR 1960 Punj 1 (2, 3) = 61 Pun LR 842 (DB).

(3) In the case of goods deposited or securities placed in the custody of a bank the ownership of them continues to be in the customer. AIR 1956 Mad 570 (573).

(4) A banker can look to his general lien as a protection against loss on account, overdraft or on loan. Money is a species of goods over which lien may be exercised. AIR 1956 Punj 118 (119, 120) = ILR (1956) Punj 291 (DB).

(5) Banker's lien covers all moneys of a particular customer, except those held in trust account. Profits placed in old overdraft account by Administrator-General through mutual error, did not give bank lien thereon, as Administrator-General acted in fiduciary character, and right to liquidate old overdraft was pari passu with general body of creditors. AIR 1934 Rang 66 (70, 71) = 12 Rang 25.

(6) The lien of a bank over the money of its customer does not extend to amounts which have been handed over to and accepted by it for a specified purpose by the customer. AIR 1926 Sind 225 (225) = 21 Sind LR 385 (DB). (Money paid in for transmission — Bank can have no lien on it even if the payee is the customer himself.)

(7) There is a distinction between a Banker's lien and the Bank's right to set off. A lien is confined to securities and property in Bank's custody. Set off is in relation to money and may arise from a contract or from mercantile usage or by operation of law. AIR 1960 Punj 632 (635) = ILR (1960) 2 Punj 823 (DB).

(8) Where money is placed in a bank as fixed deposit the ownership of the money passes to the bank and therefore the bank which is itself the owner of the money cannot exercise any lien over the money under Section 171. AIR 1956 Mad 570 (573)  AIR 1946 Nag 114 (115) = ILR (1946) Nag 210. (Money paid into bank to be credited in the current account of the customer does not constitute a case of bailment so as to attract the provisions of Section 171.)

(9) A bank may not be able to exercise any right of lien over the money deposited by the customer inasmuch as it itself becomes the owner of the money deposited but still it has the right to adjust such amounts against any debt due to it from the customer. The purpose of the lien in such cases is attained by the application of the principle of set-off. AIR 1945 Mad 447 (449, 450) = ILR (1946) Mad 200  AIR 1956 Mad 570 (573)  AIR 1965 Mad 266 (277, 278) = (1965) 2 Com LJ 37. (Whether the right of the bank is called a lien or set-off the said right can be exercised only by the bank by setting the funds deposited in its branch by the customer transferred to it with the consent of the customer. It is not open to the customer to call upon the bank to exercise any such lien or set-off.)

(10) Under the English law where a customer having two accounts with a bank owes to the bank on one of them, the bank can claim a lien on the other account and liquidate the debt due to it by transferring monies therefrom. This provision is equally applicable in India where there is no specific provision governing the question. AIR 1946 Nag 114 (116, 117) = ILR (1946) Nag 210  AIR 1955 Punj 250 (251).

(11) Banker's right to set off extinguishes after the money in his hand has been validly assigned, or, in any case, after he has been notified of the fact that there has been an assignment. AIR 1956 Mad 570 (574).

(12) General lien held by bank does not entitle it to appropriate the fixed deposit in "either or survivor's" account towards the debt due by one of them alone. AIR 1928 Lah 316 (316) (DB).

(13) The lien contemplated under the section in favour of bank does not confer on the banker any right to bring the property to sale. It is simply a possessory lien. AIR 1955 Bom 419 (428).

(14) The banker's lien is subject to any contract to the contrary, and the existence of such a contract must be proved by one alleging it. (1896) 19 Mad 234 (236) (DB).

(15) The rights of a creditor, who accommodates the customers by storing goods, for the purchase of which he has advanced money, are higher than those of an ordinary bailee, and he has a general lien under Section 171 of the Act, in so far that, in the former case, there is an implication, that the security shall, if necessary, be made effectual to discharge the obligation. AIR 1930 Lah 576 (577, 578) = 11 Lah 678 (DB)  AIR 1927 Lah 408 (410) = 8 Lah 373 (DB)  AIR 1920 Mad 664 (665) = 43 Mad 747 (DB). (Nathukottai Chetties who operate as Indian bankers in South India are entitled to exercise banker's lien under Section 171.)

3. Factor's claim. — (1) Factor is an agent entrusted with goods to be sold for principal. AIR 1926 Oudh 202 (202, 203) = 1 Luck 133 = 27 Cri LJ 328  AIR 1915 Mad 1001 (1003) (FB).

(2) A factor who besides selling the goods on behalf of his principal has also been advancing money to the principal on account is entitled to bring a suit for the balance due within the period of limitation prescribed by Article 85 of the Limitation Act. Article 88 of that Act has no application to the case. AIR 1915 Mad 1001 (1003) (FB).

(3) A factor who has advanced money against goods cannot sell these goods without owner's consent. But he can sue for the refund of the advance even before the goods are sold and in spite of the agreement for refunding the money advanced only from the proceeds of the sale. AIR 1920 Mad 183 (183) (DB).

(4) There is no rule of law giving a lien to the banian as against his employee nor is there any custom to that effect. (1891) 18 Cal 573 (597) = 18 Ind App 78 (PC).

(5) Secretaries and treasurers of company, who have made advances to the Company, and incurred expenses, and made disbursements on behalf of the company in the conduct of its business, are not "bankers factors . . . etc." and are not entitled to any lien on the property of the company in their possession. (1889) 13 Bom 314 (320, 321, 322).

4. Wharfinger's lien. — (1) Owners of a screwhouse who have a wharf as an accessory are not wharfingers. No general lien in their favour is created under the section. (1882) 8 Cal 312 (315).

5. Attorney's lien. — (1) Section 171 has not the effect of depriving attorneys of the passive or retaining lien which they possessed prior to the passing of the Contract Act. AIR 1934 Cal 341 (344) = 60 Cal 1442.

(2) The lien for costs possessed by an attorney over the property recovered by him is not a floating charge but only in the nature of a possessory security. Therefore in view of its very limited nature Courts have in order to protect the attorney from being deprived of the lien by any collusive arrangement between his client and the opposite party

Bailments of Pledges

172. "Pledge", "pawnor", and "pawnee" defined.—The bailment of goods as security for payment of a debt or performance of a promise is called "pledge". The bailor is in this case called the "pawnor". The bailee is called the "pawnee".

been passing either a charging order or a payment order for preventing the opposite party from entering into any such arrangement with the client. AIR 1949 Cal 505 (507, 508) = ILR (1945) 1 Cal 430 (DB).

[See also ILR (1950) 1 Cal 96 (101). (Attorney's costs — Charging order on property recovered, even when such property is immoveable property, can be made.)]

(3) Attorney has lien for his charges upon documents, moveables, etc., coming into his hands unless it comes for specific purpose inconsistent with right of retainer. AIR 1921 Cal 67 (68) = 48 Cal 817.

(4) Orders made for enforcing or protecting the solicitor's lien are in the nature of an equitable interference by the Court. Hence, the solicitor has to act promptly and interpose his lien before the successful party by whom he was engaged can receive any payment under the decree. AIR 1959 Bom 162 (169) = 60 Bom LR 999.

(5) In India the lien which a solicitor possesses for his fees arises either under the law of England in places to which it was applied and which was not abrogated by any legislation or under the Contract Act or rules of High Court. AIR 1956 Hyd 65 (75) = ILR (1956) Hyd 79 (FB).

(6) The rule at common law that a solicitor is entitled to a lien for his costs on property recovered or preserved by his exertion has always been applied by Courts in India as well. (10) 34 Bom 484 (485). (Partnership assets in the hand of receiver appointed in partnership suit — Solicitors appearing in suit entitled to claim prior charge over creditors on the property.)  AIR 1952 Him Pra 11 (13, 14). (Deposit made on application of party himself without any aid or exertion of solicitor — Solicitor cannot exercise any lien and retain the deposit towards his fees.)

(7) Solicitor who is discharged by his client has lien on papers entrusted to him, for his costs. The lien extends also to translations of documents made by Court translator at his expense. (1880) 4 Bom 353 (356).

(8) Mere order for costs fastens notice of solicitor's lien on third party. AIR 1927 Bom 542 (549) = 51 Bom 855 (DB).

(9) Section 73 of Civil P. C. has no application to solicitor's lien as they are not the attaching creditors. AIR 1927 Bom 542 (551) = 51 Bom 855 (DB).

(10) The principles which govern the solicitors in the matter of their lien on property recovered or preserved by their exertion applies also to pleaders in India as they not only plead but also act as the solicitors do in England on behalf of their clients. AIR 1952 Him Pra 11 (14).

(11) Barrister, on behalf of his client, paid into Court large sum in satisfaction of decree under protest, stating that owing to mistake in decree more money was deposited. In execution of another decree, this sum was attached while being deposited in Court. The Barrister claimed lien over portion of sum deposited. Held, that the Barrister had no lien against the sum under Sections 171, 217 and 221. Rule of solicitor's equitable lien in England did not apply to case, Barrister having obtained no decree in favour of his client and there being no fruits to obtain lien on. As Barrister had parted with possession of money without making any reference to his lien for fees, amount of fees could not be regarded as having been paid in under protest. AIR 1914 Low Bur 224 (224, 225) = 8 Low Bur Rul 70 (DB).

(12) A legal practitioner cannot claim under this section any lien for general balances. AIR 1952 Him Pra 11 (14).

6. Agent's lien. — (1) As to agent's lien on principal's property, see S. 221.

SECTION 172 — SYNOPSIS

1. Pledge.
2. Mortgage and pledge.
3. Delivery of possession.
4. Hypothecation.
5. Priority.
6. Rights of pawnee.
7. Suit to redeem pledge.

1. Pledge. — (1) To constitute a valid pledge there must be (a) a contract in relation to an identified chattel to be delivered to the pledgee as security, (b) actual delivery of possession of the identified chattel in pursuance of the contract. AIR 1955 Mad 505 (509) (DB).

(2) A pledge is the delivery of goods by the pledgor to pledgee by way of security upon a contract that they shall when the debt is paid or the promise is performed, be returned or otherwise disposed of according to the direction of the pledgor. AIR 1964 Andh Pra 201 (202, 203) = (1963) 1 Andh WR 394.

(3) Profits that would accrue from immovable property cannot be pledged, as pledge can be of movable property or goods, and such profits are neither movable property nor goods. AIR 1939 Lah 15 (16) (DB).

(4) In the absence of uniform and definite usage regarding the issue of way bills and their transfer on endorsement

as equivalent to pledge of goods the waybill cannot be treated as a document of title and the owner of goods cannot pledge the goods covered by the waybills unless the carriers are properly notified of the transfer and they agree to hold the goods as bailee for the pledgee i.e. the Bank. AIR 1968 Mys 133 (137) = (1967) 1 Mys LJ 490. (Bailment and pledge — Way bill issued by public carrier — Consignor sending original way bill through Bank for acceptance and payment of draft — No intimation to the carrier — No valid pledge in favour of Bank created.)

(5) A pledge is lost upon re-delivery of the pawn to the pawner unless the re-delivery be for a specified purpose — But even if the re-delivery be for a specified purpose, a bona fide purchaser of the property from the pawner in possession would be protected, but the pawner would in such a case be liable in conversion. AIR 1959 J and K 67 (69).

(6) The three transactions, namely, (1) the advancing of loan by the Bank, (2) the execution of the promissory note by the Firm and (3) the endorsement of the railway receipt in favour of the Bank together forming one transaction— Such a transaction was a pledge of goods covered by the railway receipt. AIR 1965 SC 1954 (1961) = (1965) 3 SCR 254. (AIR 1916 PC 7 and AIR 1934 PC 246, Rel. on.)

(7) If documents like insurance policies, bonds, promissory notes and scrips can form the subject matter of pledge, there is no reason for holding that a Savings Bank Book cannot validly be pledged. A Savings Bank Book falls within the definition of goods. The pledge of a Savings Bank Book must be held at least to stand on the same footing as pledge of a scrip unaccompanied by blank transfer. AIR 1959 J and K 67 (69).

(8) Per Tek Chand, J.:—The Contract Act of 1872 applies to all contracts in India and with regard to pawns and pledge it is a codification of the English common law. AIR 1960 Punj 98 (108) = ILR (1959) Punj 1990. (AIR 1947 Bom 217, Rel. on.)

(9) English law on pawning does not apply in India. In India pawn can be taken in though time is not fixed for repayment of loan on account of which goods are deposited as security. (1907) 6 Cri LJ 118 (119, 120) (Low Bur).

2. Mortgage and pledge.— (1) A 'pledge' or "pawn" as defined in Section 172 lies midway between a loan and a mortgage, which wholly passes the property in the thing conveyed. AIR 1918 Cal 947 (949) (DB)  AIR 1954 Madh B 6 (7).

(2) There can be a pledge of shares in India, and there can also be a mortgage of shares. Whether it is one or the other will depend on the intention of parties and the circumstances of each case. AIR 1956 Pat 32 (37) = 34 Pat 8  AIR 1960 Andh Pra 273 (277) = (1960) 1 Andh WR 234 (DB).

(3) A pledge is something between a simple lien and a mortgage. In the case of a lien there is no transfer of any interest. In the case of a mortgage, mortgagee has an absolute interest in the property subject to a right of redemption. But in the case of a pledge, the pledgee has only a special property in the pledge, while the general property therein remains in the pledgor. AIR 1959 J and K 67 (69).

(4) A pledge differs from a mortgage of movable property in important respects. A pledgee holds possession of the property for the purpose of securing to himself the advance which he had made. He has no right of foreclosure since he never had the absolute ownership at law. The pledgee has no property in the pawn but has merely a right to sell. AIR 1954 Madh B 6 (7)  AIR 1952 Madh B 196 (198) = ILR (1952) Madh B 136 (DB)  AIR 1964 Andh Pra 201 (205) = (1963) 1 Andh WR 394. (Loan secured on basis of transfer of shares of limited company without transfer of ownership — Transaction held a pledge and not a mortgage of movables.)  AIR 1960 Andh Pra 273 (277) = (1960) 1 Andh WR 234 (DB).

(5) Whether a particular transaction is a mortgage of moveable property or a pledge can only be determined by reference to the intention of the parties and other surrounding circumstances. AIR 1960 Andh Pra 273 (277) = (1960) 1 Andh WR 234 (DB).

(6) Distinct right to redeem is inseparable incident of mortgage and cannot be taken away by express agreement — Pledge confers special interest in the property of right to sell if loan be not repaid. Pledgee has no right of foreclosure. In mortgage right to property is transferred to creditor. In pledge, the pledgee has no property in the pawn. Parties to pledge by special agreement can introduce a clause so that on failure to redeem within certain time pledged property is to vest in pledgee. AIR 1939 Rang 413 (415, 416).

(7) Where ornaments are delivered for the purpose that they should be held as security for repayment of loan, it is a transaction of pledge in which possession has been delivered without passing the ownership in the ornaments. It is not a transaction of mortgage of movables. AIR 1949 Nag 368 (370) = ILR (1949) Nag 243  (1957) 27 Com Cas 65 (68) (Punj). (Delivery of share scrips and blank transfer deeds to bank — Held pledge of shares.)

(8) A purchasing goods for B and advancing its price — B agreeing that goods would remain with A who was to be paid interest on the money advanced as also arhat charges — Further agreement that if goods were not disposed of by B by certain time A was entitled to sell the same and to appropriate the sale proceeds to his dues — Held that the arrangement constituted a pledge. AIR 1958 Pat 174 (176) (DB).

(9) Agreement in respect of film under production — Party obliging himself to pay amounts in a particular manner and in addition giving camera as security — Instrument held not a mortgage but a bond as well as a pledge. AIR 1970 Mad 10 (11) (SB).

3. Delivery of possession. — (1) To constitute a pledge there must be delivery to pledgee of goods and retention by him. AIR 1932 Cal 524 (528) = 59 Cal 667 (DB)  AIR 1918 Cal 947 (949) (DB).

(2) In the case of pledge of goods delivery may not be simultaneous with money advanced. It may be actual or constructive. AIR 1932 Cal 524 (528) = 59 Cal 667 (DB)  AIR 1968 Mad 319 (324) = (1968) 2 Mad LJ 1 (FB)  1964 Ker LJ 119 (120) = 1964 Ker LT 124. (Case of constructive possession.)  AIR 1961 Mad 326 (328) = (1960) 2 Mad LJ 439 (DB). (To secure constructive possession, the essential test is whether the dominion over the goods pledged is retained and the physical possession by the pledgor is under the delegated authority of the pledgee or is independent.)  AIR 1959 Madh Pra 309 (312) = 1960 MPLJ 725. (No actual or constructive delivery of the film to the plaintiff — There was no pledge in favour of the plaintiff.)

(3) A transfer of title is not necessary to create a pledge. Simple delivery of possession is sufficient. AIR 1953 Cal 526 (527). (Pledge of shares.)

(4) A pledge in law is neither a mortgage nor a lien and does not pass property in the goods but only passes what is described as "special" property, that is, no title to the goods passes but the pledgee is allowed to retain the thing pledged till payment of the debt and in default of payment, to sell the thing pledged so as to pass the property to the vendee. AIR 1941 Mad 394 (395, 396, 397) = ILR (1941) Mad 419. (Reversed on another point in AIR 1943 Mad 74.)

(5) When a person delivers a share certificate to another to be held by him as security there is under the law of India a valid pledge which he can enforce. AIR 1943 Mad 74 (77) = ILR (1943) Mad 115 (DB). (AIR 1941 Mad 394, Reversed.)

[But see AIR 1918 Cal 947 (949) (DB). (A mere deposit of Government securities cannot constitute a valid pledge.)]

(6) Creditor advancing money for purchase of goods, and storing them in his godowns — It is quite likely that goods are security for advances, but such arrangement has to be proved. AIR 1928 PC 219 (220, 221).

4. Hypothecation. — (1) Apart from pledge and mortgage of immovable property mortgage of moveable property is also a recognised form of hypothecation. Such hypothecation, not accompanied by possession confers a good title upon the person in whose favour it is made and the law recognises the transaction as security and equity gives effect to it. AIR 1964 Andh Pra 201 (203) = (1963) 1 Andh WR 394  AIR 1966 Cal 405 (408).

(2) In the absence of fraud, there is no inherent illegality, immorality, or opposition to public policy in the non-possessory hypothecation of movables, and, therefore, a contract for such a hypothecation is a valid contract. It is a transaction which is customary throughout the country and is suited to the circumstances and business intercourse of the people. (1911) 7 Nag LR 72 (77).

(3) The method provided by S. 172 for the hypothecation of loose chattels is not the only method for creating security thereon. They may be hypothecated without transferring their possession. In such cases the only question is whether there was an intention to create a security. If so equity gives effect to it. AIR 1918 Cal 165 (166) (DB).

(4) In pledge the possession of the thing is actually delivered to the person for whose benefit the pledge is made. In hypothecation the thing pledged remains with the debtor. AIR 1960 Punj 42 (43) = 61 Pun LR 527 (DB).

(5) In a hypothecation the possession over the property is retained by the owner. It is only certain rights in that movable property that are transferred to the creditor. When the goods themselves are handed over to the creditor by way of security it becomes a pledge. AIR 1958 All 864 (865) (DB)  AIR 1969 Mys 280 (284).

(6) Hypothecation of not only movables existing on the premises at the time, but also in respect of movables which might be subsequently acquired and brought there is valid. AIR 1933 Cal 154 (159) = 59 Cal 1372 (DB).

(7) When there was a mortgage of certain shop goods then lying on the premises, and the mortgagor undertook to keep on the premises stock to the extent of the debt replacing sold goods by new goods it is not a mere license but an equitable mortgage of the substituted goods, and there is complete assignment of after-acquired property. (1912) 6 Sind LR 97 (99, 100).

(8) The distinction between a hypothecation and a hire purchase agreement is that while the former is the species of a pledge where possession is transferred from the pawner to the pawnee, a hire purchase is a bailment with an option to purchase. It will be wrong to assimilate it to a hypothecation of movable property. AIR 1960 Mad 328 (330, 331).

(9) Hire purchase agreements are movable properties, and are also to be regarded as title deeds. Where a party delivers such agreement to his creditor and specifically declares that the creditor as a pledgee can retain the properties with a lien against the repayment of the debt the transaction is to be treated as an agreement to pledge moveable property. AIR 1966 Mad 177 (179) = (1966) 1 Mad LJ 6 (FB).

5. Priority. — (1) Equity governs hypothecation. Accordingly, where the question is as to the priority between two instruments of hypothecation, the ordinary rule of qui prior est tempore potior est jure must prevail. (1936) 40 Cal WN 625 (626).

(2) A company had a lien over shares of a member. The member pledged his shares with a third person and then entered into an agreement with the Company whereby he incurred debt. It was held that the lien of the company had a priority over the pledge of the third person. AIR 1953 Cal 526 (529).

(3) Simple mortgage of movables with power of sale — Possession not delivered — Subsequent pledge in favour of another party — Pledge valid and takes priority. AIR 1932 Cal 524 (531) = 59 Cal 667 (DB).

(4) A subsequent incumbrancer, who has got possession of hypothecated movables is entitled to priority over a prior incumbrancer, without possession, unless the prior incumbrancer proves that the subsequent incumbrancer had notice. AIR 1931 Rang 201 (201) = 9 Rang 182 (DB).

(5) A bona fide incumbrancer, without notice, who is in possession of movable property, is to be preferred to an incumbrancer whose security is of prior date. AIR 1914 Low Bur 265 (265) = 7 Low Bur Rul 336 (DB).

(6) Pledge in favour of bank 'A' — Pledgor retaining possession on behalf of 'A' bank — Subsequent pledge in favour of bank 'B' who had notice of pledge in favour of bank 'A' — Bank 'A' is entitled to priority over bank B. 1964 Ker LJ 119 (121) = 1964 Ker LT 124.

(7) Subsequent pledgee without notice of prior pledge — No priority in favour of subsequent pledgee upon rule of estoppel. AIR 1961 Mad 326 (330) = (1960) 2 Mad LJ 489 (DB).

6. Rights of pawnee. — (1) Rights of a person in whose favour a hypothecation is made of a chattel are limited strictly to actual chattel hypothecated and do not extend beyond that. So when some animals are the subject of hypothecation, the young ones born, when under pledge with the pledgee, are not subject to hypothecation. AIR 1914 Lah 515 (516, 517) = 1915 Pun Re No. 10.

(2) The pledgee does not have the right of ownership. He has only the rights of possession but not that of enjoyment. A pledgee has a right of disposition which is limited to disposition of pledgee rights only and of a sale only after notice and subject to certain limitation. AIR 1964 Andh Pra 201 (203) = (1963) 1 Andh WR 394  AIR 1969 Delhi 313 (315) (DB).

(3) To show that a person is a pawn broker, it must be proved that he carries on the business of lending money, on the security of goods pledged to him, and that he holds himself out to lend money on such security and is in the habit of doing so. (1907) 6 Cri LJ 118 (120) (Low Bur).

(4) Where securities have been delivered with a view to cover the repayment of any overdraft by the pledgor Bank to the pledgee Bank and it is agreed that they are to be disposed of on the arising of a stipulated contingency only, then by the very fact of the delivery of the securities to the bailee the latter becomes a trustee in terms of the contract, not for all purposes, but only for the limited purpose indicated by the agreement. The pledgor in such a case only transfers his possession of the property to the pledgee who has a special interest in the property of enforcing his charge for payment of an overdraft, if any, whereas the property continues to be owned by the pledgor. If there is no overdraft, the pledgor Bank can ask for a return of securities at any time. And the securities having continued to be the property of the pledgor Bank, the pledgee Bank or its Managing Director has no right to deal with them. AIR 1956 SC 575 (582) = 1956 SCR 483 = 1956 Cri LJ 1116.

(5) A pledgee of a Savings Bank Book can effectively enforce the pledge by laying a proper action on it in a court of law although there may be some difficulty in his effectively exercising right of sale under S. 176, Contract Act as in the case of other tangible goods. AIR 1959 J and K 67 (69).

(6) Pledge of goods — Possession with the pledgee — Pledgee cannot maintain a suit for recovery of debt as well as retain the pledged property.

173. Pawnee's right of retainer.—The pawnee may retain the goods pledged not only for payment of the debt or the performance of the promise, but for the interest of the debt, and all necessary expenses incurred by him in respect of the possession or for the preservation of the goods pledged.

174. Pawnee not to retain for debt or promise other than that for which goods pledged. Presumption in case of subsequent advances.—The pawnee shall not, in the absence of a contract to that effect, retain the goods pledged for any debt or promise other than the debt or promise for which they are pledged; but such contract, in the absence of anything to the contrary, shall be presumed in regard to subsequent advances made by the pawnee.

175. Pawnee's right as to extraordinary expenses incurred.—The pawnee is entitled to receive from the pawnor extraordinary expenses incurred by him for the preservation of the goods pledged.*

[*] See S. 173 supra, for lien as to ordinary expenses.

176. Pawnee's right where pawnor makes default.—If the pawnor makes default in payment of the debt, or performance, at the stipulated time, of the promise, in respect of which the goods were pledged, the pawnee may bring a suit against the pawnor upon the debt or promise, and retain the goods pledged as a collateral security; or he may sell the thing pledged, on giving the pawnor reasonable notice of the sale.

If the proceeds of such sale are less than the amount due in respect of the debt or promise, the pawnor is still liable to pay the balance. If the proceeds of the sale are greater than the amount so due, the pawnee shall pay over the surplus to the pawnor.

AIR 1967 SC 1322 (1326) = (1967) 2 SCR 233.

7. Suit to redeem pledge. — (1) A suit for redemption of pledged articles is not a suit for specific performance of the contract. Jurisdiction of Small Cause Court to hear such a suit is not barred. AIR 1959 Madh Pra 97 (99) = 1959 MPLJ 57 (DB)  AIR 1962 Manipur 1 (2).

Section 173 — Note 1

(1) Section 173, Section 160 and Section 161 have to be read together, where there is no time limit to the bailments, the goods have to be returned by the bailee after the bailor pays the rent, and as a general rule it is the bailor who has to find the bailee. Unless there is a stipulation in the contract that the bailee should not leave the place where the goods were bailed without intimation to the bailor the failure by the bailee to give such intimation would not be a default of the bailee by which the goods were not returned or delivered or tendered at the proper time within the purview of Section 161 read with Sections 173 and 160. 1949 Bur LR (HC) 605 (617, 618).

(2) Pledgee in possession of goods pledged — Cannot maintain a suit for recovery of debt as well as retain the property. AIR 1967 SC 1322 (1326) = (1967) 2 SCR 233.

Section 174 — Note 1

(1) Pledge and subsequent advance raise a presumption that there is a contract to hold the pledge for such advances. Where the later advance is separately secured such presumption does not arise. AIR 1928 Bom 507 (508) (DB).

SECTION 176 — SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.
2. Pawnee's right to sue.
3. Right to sell.
4. Notice of sale.
5. Para (2).
6. Limitation.

1. Scope.— (1) The rights and duties of a pledgor and a pledgee are set out clearly in Sections 176 and 177. These sections were designed to prevent any clog in the way of redemption and they cannot override these statutory provisions by mutual agreement. 1948 Bur LR (HC) 182 (185)  AIR 1962 Manipur 1 (2).

(2) The rights of a pledgee are to sue for the moneys due while retaining the pledged articles as collateral security or to sell the articles after due notice to the pledgor. 1948 Bur LR (HC) 182 (185)  AIR 1969 Delhi 313 (315) (DB). (Pawnee has no right to the accretions to the goods pledged in absence of contract to the contrary.)  AIR 1969 Mys 280 (287)  AIR 1963 Cal 132 (134) = 67 Cal WN 58 (DB)  1961 Jab LJ 475 (476).

(3) Rights of pledgee to sue on debt or sell pledged property are concurrent. AIR 1918 Cal 947 (949) (DB)  AIR 1929 Bom 471 (474) = 53 Bom 819 **

Section 176 — Note 1 (contd.)

(1904) 27 Mad 528 (530) (FB)  (1895) 22 Cal 21 (23, 24) (DB).

[But see AIR 1932 Cal 524 (532) = 59 Cal 667 (DB).]

(4) If the pawnee loses the goods pawned without default on his part, he may still recover the debt, and the loss falls on the owner. 1949 Bur LR (HC) 623 (623, 624) (DB).

(5) Section 176 and Section 177 apply equally to cases where a time for the payment of the debt has been fixed in the original agreement of hypothecation and to cases where no such time is stipulated. AIR 1958 Cal 644 (648) (DB).

(6) Section 176 by defining the personal rights of the pledgee does not in any way cut down his rights to seek any remedy he may have through Courts. AIR 1945 All 299 (302) = ILR (1945) All 373 (DB)  AIR 1966 Andh Pra 163 (166) = (1965) 2 Andh WR 518 (DB).

2. Pawnee's right to sue. — (1) Section 176 gives, a clear right to the pawnee to institute a suit independently of the pawn. AIR 1918 Cal 947 (949) (DB).

(2) Neither absence of power to sell the goods, nor to recover the debt out of the sale proceeds bars the pawnee from suing for the debt under the contract of loan. AIR 1927 Nag 346 (347).

(3) Where a pawnee brings a suit for declaration of his right to sell the article pledged for satisfaction of his claim, the suit is one to enforce his charge upon the said article. (1895) 22 Cal 21 (23, 24) (DB)  AIR 1929 Bom 471 (475) = 53 Bom 819.

(4) Principle, that creditor cannot recover debt for which security is given, when he cannot return it, applies when the debtor and person giving security are same. AIR 1939 Mad 915 (916).

(5) Creditor having security for debt — Security dissipated — Creditor cannot sue to recover debt — Official Assignee of the insolvent creditor is in the same position. AIR 1935 Rang 201 (202).

(6) A suit on a pledge is an administration suit. It is a suit to ascertain, and declare and to give effect to respective rights of persons having interest in specified property by the Court in its administrative jurisdiction. AIR 1945 All 299 (302) = ILR (1945) All 373 (DB).

(7) Right of pawnee to sell the goods pledged — Pawnee's duty to inform pawner when the purchaser raises a dispute regarding quality of goods — First sale being good and not annulled, the pawnee cannot resell under Section 176. AIR 1969 Pat 385 (393, 394) (DB).

(8) Pledgee cannot maintain suit for recovery of debt as well as retain pledged property. AIR 1967 SC 1322 (1325, 1326) = (1967) 2 SCR 233  1962 All LJ 324 (329) (DB). (He cannot deny the pledge and still claim his money.)

3. Right to sell. — (1) The right of the pawnee to sue upon the debt or promise does not exclude or destroy his right to sell the pawn. The pawnee's rights to sue upon the debt or the promise or to sell the pawn are concurrent and not alternative rights. AIR 1963 Cal 132 (134) = 67 Cal WN 58 (DB)  AIR 1929 Bom 471 (474) = 53 Bom 819  ILR (1904) 27 Mad 528 (530) (FB)  ILR (1895) 22 Cal 21 (23, 24) (DB) [But see AIR 1932 Cal 524 (532) = 59 Cal 667 (DB).]

(2) Sale in Section 176 means the intended sale and not the sale that has been actually arranged by the pawnee. AIR 1958 Cal 644 (649) (DB).

(3) Word 'the' before word 'sale' in Sec. 176 does not mean actual sale because legislature in that event could have used the word 'actual' also in Section 176 as in Section 177. The word 'the' has got no special significance. It only refers to a sale. AIR 1963 Cal 132 (136) = 67 Cal WN 58 (DB).

(4) The provisions of the section are not, like other sections in the Act, subject to "contract to the contrary." Terms of the instrument of pledge giving an unqualified power of sale to the pledgee would be inconsistent with provisions of Section 176 and must, therefore, by virtue of Section 1 give place to the express provision of the Act. AIR 1947 Bom 217 (227, 231) = ILR (1948) Bom 1 (DB).

(5) The power of sale conferred on the pawnee is expressly for his benefit and he can exercise his discretion in favour of sale or otherwise. The mere fact that the pawnee gave a notice that he would sell the goods cannot possibly be a compelling factor for sale to be affected. AIR 1958 Punj 222 (227) = ILR (1958) Punj 1178 (DB)  AIR 1937 Bom 26 (27).

(6) A pledgee has no right of foreclosure and cannot sell the articles till the expiration of reasonable notice to the pledgor. 1948 Bur LR (HC) 182 (187)  AIR 1944 Pat 135 (136) = 45 Cri L Jour 633  AIR 1917 Lah 421 (423) (DB).

(7) A pawnee who has given a reasonable notice of sale under Section 176 can sell at any time and is not bound to sell within a reasonable time after the expiry of the period mentioned in the notice. AIR 1956 Punj 155 (156) (DB)  AIR 1950 Trav Co 66 (70) = 1950 Trav Co LR 289 (FB)  AIR 1958 Punj 222 (227) (DB)  AIR 1951 Nag 264 (265) = ILR (1950) Nag 556. (Such a duty upon the pawnee cannot be implied.)  AIR 1928 Mad

1022 (1024)  AIR 1960 Punj 98 (103, 104) = ILR (1959) Punj 1990 (DB). (Where on receiving notice under Section 176, the pledgor by letter seeks delay of the sale the fact that the pledgee does not immediately reply to the letter in itself is no evidence that the pledgee has withdrawn the notice to sell or has given up his right to sell, for the pledgee is not bound to sell immediately or even to reply to the pledgor's suggestion for delaying the sale.)

(8) Where the pawnor asks the pawnee to postpone the sale, he cannot afterwards turn round and say that the sale was delayed. AIR 1950 Trav Co 66 (71) = 1950 Trav Co LR 289 (FB).

(9) Where no period was fixed for the repayment of the loan in order to enforce the right of sale the pawnee should prove: (a) a demand for the amount due; (b) a default by the pawnor; (c) a notice of sale giving reasonable time to the pawnor to pay; and (d) an actual sale. AIR 1927 Lah 408 (410) = 8 Lah 373 (DB).

(10) Rights of creditor, accommodating customer by storing goods, for purchase of which he has advanced money, are higher than those of ordinary bailee. Such creditor is in a position of a pledgee and can resell goods stored by him. AIR 1930 Lah 576 (578) = 11 Lah 678 (DB).

(11) In case of an unauthorised sale by a pledgee the relief that the pledgor can seek is to file a suit for redemption by depositing the money, treating the sale as if it had never taken place, or where the suit for redemption is not filed, to ask for damages on the foot of conversion. AIR 1960 Andh Pra 273 (282) = 1960 Andh LT 66 (DB)  AIR 1955 Pat 288 (290) = 1954 BLJR 240 (DB).

(12) The remedy of pawnor for an improper sale of pawned property is damages. Measure of damages is loss actually sustained. AIR 1937 Bom 26 (27).

(13) In case of sale on default by pledgor, pledgee has to indemnify pawnor for price of goods not accounted for compensation to be calculated at rate prevailing in market, on which remaining goods were sold. 1961 Jab LJ 475 (476).

(14) Sale by pledgee to himself is void, and amounts to conversion. AIR 1944 Pat 135 (137) = 45 Cri L Jour 633  AIR 1930 Mad 364 (371) (DB). (Pledgor can recover damages or the property on payment.)  (1892) 19 Cal 322 (333, 334) = 19 Ind App 60 (PC). (Damages can be recovered by pledgor — Pledgee can resell the goods to third party.)

[But see AIR 1962 Punj 321 (323) = 64 Pun LR 500.]

(15) The abandonment of the right of sale cannot be implied, merely from the fact that the lawyer's notice issued on behalf of the pawnee long after the notice of sale makes no reference to the pawnee's right of sale but only to a suit in a Court of law to recover the amounts due. AIR 1950 Trav-Co 66 (70) = 1950 Trav-Co LR 289 (FB).

(16) Mere suit by pledgor for declaration that sale of shares by pledgee was contrary to law and did not affect his right of redemption claiming therein relief of injunction against company for restraining it from registering shares in name of purchaser is not maintainable. AIR 1960 Andh Pra 273 (282) = 1960 Andh LT 66 (DB).

(17) Sales of pledged goods by banks and return of balance to assessee — Sale by banks is not as agents of assessee but as pawnee. (1968) 21 STC 184 (185) (Mad) (DB).

(18) On default by the promisor a pledgee has right to sell the pledged thing for any amount that may be due but he cannot forfeit the pledged object. (1968) 2 Mad LJ 359 = 81 Mad LW 407 (410).

4. Notice of sale. — (1) A pledgee's power of sale under Section 176 is conditional on the notice being given to the pawnor. AIR 1950 FC 21 (28) = 1949 FCR 441  AIR 1966 All 134 (135) = 1965 All LJ 919. (Such notice must be clear and specific in its language and must indicate the intention of the pawnee to dispose of the security.)

(2) Notice is not necessary to make the debt due and recoverable. Notice is necessary only before the goods are sold. AIR 1933 Lah 536 (536).

(3) The provisions of the section relating to a "reasonable notice of the sale" are mandatory and supersede any contract to the contrary. AIR 1958 Cal 644 (649) (DB)  AIR 1958 Pat 174 (176) (DB)  AIR 1955 Pat 288 (290) (DB)  ILR (1954) 1 Cal 220 (232) (DB)  1948 Bur LR (HC) 830 (836) (DB)  AIR 1932 Cal 524 (532) = 59 Cal 667 (DB)  AIR 1917 Lah 421 (423) (DB)  AIR 1960 Andh Pra 273 (277, 278, 279) = 1960 Andh LT 66 (DB). (An agreement by pawnor to waive right of notice is inconsistent with provisions of Section 176.)

(4) Whether a time has been stipulated or not for the redemption of the pledged articles reasonable notice must be given to the pledgor before the sale. 1948 Bur LR (HC) 182 (186).

(5) The notice must refer to the debt for which the pledged goods are to be sold. AIR 1937 Bom 26 (27).

(6) The expression 'he may sell the thing pledged on giving reasonable notice of the sale' in Section 176 only means an intimation of the intention to sell and not that a sale should be arranged before hand and due notice of all details given to the pawnor. AIR 1950 Trav-Co 66 (68) = 1950 Trav-Co LR 289 (FB)  AIR 1958 Cal 644 (649) (DB)  AIR 1963 Cal 132 (134, 135, 136) = 67 Cal WN 58 (DB).

(7) A notice that 'failing which we shall arrange for the sale of hypothecated stock' is merely an intimation that arrangements will be made for a sale not a notice of the sale that is to be held. A notice as contemplated by law requires more definite particulars and what such particulars should be must depend upon the peculiar facts of each case. AIR 1955 Pat 288 (290) (DB)

[See however AIR 1960 Punj 98 (102) = ILR (1959) Punj 1990 (DB). (Notice stating that in case of default pledgor was going to send its representative to place where goods pledged were to sell them at market price — Notice is notice of actual sale and not only intimation of arrangement to sell.)]

(8) The reasonable notice of the sale under Section 176 does not require specification of the date, time and place of the sale. AIR 1958 Cal 644 (649) (DB)  AIR 1950 Trav-Co 66 (69) = 1950 Trav-Co LR 289 (FB)  AIR 1918 All 363 (364) = 40 All 322 (DB). (Fortnight's notice reasonable.)  AIR 1963 Cal 132 (135) = 67 Cal WN 58 (DB). (Observation of Tek Chand J. in AIR 1960 Punj 98, Dissented from. The reasonableness of a notice varies from case to case. The special circumstances of some particular case may require that a reasonable notice of sale should give such particulars but onus is upon pawnor to establish that such special circumstances exist.)  AIR 1960 Punj 98 (102, 103) = ILR (1959) Punj 1990 (DB). (Notice giving pawner six days for payment — Pawner knowing that pawnee had been pressing for clearance of account with it — Notice held not unreasonable — Fact that pledged goods were lying at distant place held irrelevant consideration in considering sufficiency of time.)

(9) Notice does not become invalid on failure to mention the specified amount payable. AIR 1943 Nag 162 (163, 164) = ILR (1943) Nag 234.

(10) No fresh notice is necessary for an adjourned sale. AIR 1932 Cal 524 (532) = 59 Cal 667 (DB).

(11) While a reasonable notice of the sale is a statutory requirement so far as the pawnor is concerned, there is no law which places a pawnor's guarantor in the same position as the pawnor himself with respect to notice.

AIR 1950 Trav-Co 66 (71, 72) = 1950 Trav-Co LR 289 (FB).

(12) Where a pledgee, before the sale of the pledged property which was shares, had consulted the pledgor who was agreeable to the transfer of the shares by the pledgee, the question of notice under Section 176 does not arise as the pledgor's consent to the proposed transfer is already obtained. AIR 1950 FC 21 (38) = 1949 FCR 441. (AIR 1947 Bom 217, Reversed.)

(13) Where no notice under Sec. 176 is given, the sale is invalid and cannot be upheld. AIR 1950 FC 21 (28) = 1949 FCR 441  AIR 1966 All 134 = 1965 All LJ 919. (Pawnee Bank authorised to sell securities pledged with it in case credit balance of pawnor fell below margin — Sale of securities without reasonable notice is not binding on pawnor.)

(14) If the goods are sold by the pawnee without a notice, they will be deemed to have been converted and an action for conversion of the same would lie against the pawnee. AIR 1958 Punj 222 (227) = ILR (1958) Punj 1178  1948 Bur LR (HC) 830 (838, 839) (DB). (Pledgor is entitled to his property back or its full value minus the debt and the extraordinary expenses incurred by the pledgee for their preservation.)

(15) Deposit of jewels as collateral security for pronotes — Sale of jewels without proper notice — Suit on pronotes — Deduction of value of jewels on date of suit can be claimed. AIR 1933 Rang 76 (79) (DB).

(16) Notice under Section 176 cannot be implied. AIR 1966 All 134 (135) = 1965 All LJ 919.

(17) A notice which makes a demand for payment of the amount for which the goods are pledged and in default informs the pledgor that the pledgee would sell the goods is not rendered invalid by reason of the fact that it refers to another debt and demands payment thereof. AIR 1960 Punj 98 (101, 102) = ILR (1959) Punj 1990 (DB).

(18) Sale taking place about seven months after date of notice. No inference can be drawn that notice should be taken to have been withdrawn. AIR 1960 Punj 98 (103, 104) = ILR (1959) Punj 1990 (DB).

5. Para. (2).— (1) The words "such sale" in the last para. of Section 176 are significant and mean that no liability can be fastened on the pawnor for loss if any, if the pawnee does not exercise his right of sale according to Section 176. AIR 1956 Madh B 74 (75).

(2) Under Section 176, the pawnee has been given a right to sell the goods

177. Defaulting pawnor's right to redeem.—If a time is stipulated for the payment of the debt, or performance of the promise, for which the pledge is made, and the pawnor makes default in payment of the debt or performance of the promise at the stipulated time, he may redeem the goods pledged at any subsequent time before the actual sale of them;^o but he must, in that case, pay, in addition, any expenses which have arisen from his default.

pledged after giving a reasonable notice to the pawnor. But in case he does not himself sell the property but allows his creditor to sell it and if any loss is sustained the pawnor will not be held liable to pay the balance. AIR 1956 Madh B 74 (75).

(3) Goods of defendant company taken possession of by Bank allowing overdraft to defendant and sold — Proceeds of sale of goods being less than the amount due: Held, that the company was still liable to pay the balance. 1902 Pun Re No. 57, p. 209 (217) (DB).

6. Limitation.— (1) The period of limitation for a suit for the recovery of money secured by a pledge is three years from the date of the loan under Article 57. (1906) 30 Bom 218 (219) (DB)  1881 Pun Re (Civ) No. 116, page 269 (274) (FB).

(2) In a suit on pledge Article 57, Schedule II, Limitation Act, governs relief for a personal decree; Article 120 applies for the sale of pledged goods. (1895) 22 Cal 21 (24) (DB)  (1904) 27 Mad 528 (530) (FB).

(3) Pledgee selling pledged property without pledgor's authority — Pledgee is guilty of unauthorized conversion — Pledgor is entitled to recover damages — Suit to recover damages is either governed by Article 145 or Article 115 of the Limitation Act — Article 36 has no application. AIR 1930 Mad 364 (371) (DB).

Section 177 — Note 1

(1) The rights and duties of pledgor and pledgee are set out in Sections 176 and 177 of the Act. The sections are designed to prevent any clog in the way of redemption and parties cannot override these statutory provisions by mutual agreement. 1948 Bur LR (HC) 182 (184).

(2) The provisions of the section are operative even though there is contract to the contrary. ILR (1954) 1 Cal 220 (231) (DB).

(3) Under the section pawnor has been given the right of redeeming the goods pledged, after notice and at any subsequent time before the actual sale of the goods. If no proper notice is given the pawnor cannot exercise his right of redemption. AIR 1955 Pat 288 (290) (DB).

(4) As an agreement to keep certain margin at a stipulated level in advances obtained by a constituent of a bank is a "promise" in respect of the goods pledged by him, within the meaning of Section 176 of the Act and "performance of the promise for which pledge is made" within the meaning of Section 177, application of Section 177 of the Act is attracted, even in case where entire debt is not sought to be realized. AIR 1958 Cal 644 (648, 649).

(5) Sections 176 and 177 apply equally to cases where a time for payment of the debt has been fixed in the original agreement and also to cases where no such time is stipulated. AIR 1958 Cal 644 (648, 649).

(6) Suit for redemption by pledgor without previous tender of money — Pledgee found willing to deliver property without suit — Suit should not be dismissed but pledgee should be awarded costs — But where it is found that tender of money would have been useless, say by the pledgee declaring his inability to hand over the property, the pledgor need not go through the useless ceremony of tender. AIR 1930 Mad 364 (370, 371) (DB).

(7) An action for redemption of a pledge on payment of whatever is due to the pledgee is maintainable even though the amount due was not previously tendered or paid. Such a conduct on the part of the pawnor may result in the payment of costs to the pledgee. (1949) 53 Mys HCR 73 (79) (DB).

(8) Where the pledgee sells pledged articles, without notice of sale to pawnor, the pledgee being guilty of unauthorized conversion, must pay the pawnor full value of the articles minus debt and also the extraordinary expenses incurred by him for preservation of the articles. 1948 Bur LR (HC) 830 (838) (DB).

(9) In case of unauthorised sale by pledgee, relief that pledgor can seek is to file a suit for redemption by depositing money, treating sale as if it had never taken place, or to ask for damages on foot of conversion. Mere suit for a declaration is incompetent. AIR 1960 Andh Pra 273 (282) = 1960 Andh LT 66 (DB).

(10) Right to redeem pledge can be lost by agreement. ILR (1955) 5 Raj 409 (411).

*[178. Pledge by mercantile agent.—Where a mercantile agent is, with the consent of the owner, in possession of goods or the document of title to goods, any pledge made by him, when acting in the ordinary course of business of a mercantile agent, shall be as valid as if he were expressly authorised by the owner of the goods to make the same; provided that the pawnee acts in good faith and has not at the time of the pledge notice that the pawnor has not authority to pledge.

Explanation.—In this section, the expressions “mercantile agent” and “documents of title” shall have the meanings assigned to them in the Indian Sale of Goods Act, 1930.]

(11) A suit for redemption of pledged articles is not one for specific performance of contract but for delivery of specific goods. AIR 1959 Madh Pra 97 (99) = 1959 MPLJ 57 (DB).

(12) A pledge is complete when money is advanced to the pawnor and the goods pledged are delivered to the pawnee and the rights of the parties thereafter are governed by Sections 172 to 181 of Contract Act. AIR 1962 Mani 1 (2)  AIR 1959 Madh Pra 97 (99) = 1959 MPLJ 57 (DB).

SECTION 178 — SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.
2. “Consent of the owner.”
3. Possession.
4. Goods.
5. Documents of title.
6. Pledge of documents of title.
7. “Expressly authorised.”
8. Proviso.

1. Scope.— (1) The section has been enacted in order to protect those persons who, in good faith, deal with persons whom they know to be mercantile agents, but the details of whose agency they are not and cannot be expected to be aware. AIR 1938 Rang 243 (244) = 39 Cri L Jour 784  AIR 1961 Mad 326 (330) = (1960) 2 Mad LJ 489 (DB). (Borrowers dealt with as owner — Section does not apply.)

(2) Even after the amendment of 1930, “regarding this section, the old rule that a person cannot give another a title,” higher than what he himself has, and which is subject to certain exceptions embodied in Sections 178 and 178-A continues to apply and the goods entrusted for safe custody cannot be the subject of valid pledge by the depositor. Section 178, which is confined to cases of mercantile agents only, does not apply to such case. AIR 1942 Mad 299 (300).

(3) Section 179 of the Act does not limit the scope of Section 178, but saves pledge to the extent of the pledgor's interest, notwithstanding the presence of invalidating conditions under Section 178. AIR 1917 Bom 152

(153) = 42 Bom 205 (DB). (Case before the amendment.)

2. “Consent of the owner.”— (1) It is immaterial in the case of a mercantile agent how the consent of the owner to the agent's possession was obtained. Consent, though secured by fraud, protects pledgee acting bona fide. AIR 1937 Rang 146 (147, 148) = 38 Cri L Jour 711  AIR 1934 Rang 198 (199) = 35 Cri L Jour 1375.

(2) Articles pledged with the pawn broker — Contravention of Sections 7 and 10 of the Madras Pawn Brokers Act (1943). The pledge is invalid and no relationship of pawnor and pawnee is created. Still the pawnee is entitled to safe custody of the article and cannot be taken away from him otherwise than under the provision of law. AIR 1966 Andh Pra 240 (248) = (1965) 1 An WR 233.

3. Possession.— (1) Possession required under the section is similar to that which is contemplated in Sec. 108 of the Act, that is to say, it must be juridical possession. AIR 1923 Rang 227 (229) = 1 Rang 199 (DB)  AIR 1931 Lah 526 (526) = 12 Lah 304 = 32 Cri L Jour 960.

4. Goods.— (1) ‘Goods’ includes share certificates. AIR 1925 Bom 314 (317, 318) (DB)  (1910) 12 Bom LR 870 (878, 879).

[But see AIR 1917 Cal 399 (401) (SB).]

5. Documents of title.— (1) Railway receipt is a document of title to goods within Section 178, Contract Act. AIR 1938 PC 52 (54) = 65 Ind App 75 = ILR (1938) Mad 360 = 32 Sind LR 313  AIR 1934 PC 246 (251) = 61 Ind App 416 = 58 Mad 181  AIR 1965 SC 1954 (1959) = (1965) 3 SCR 254 = 68 Bom LR 61  AIR 1959 Pat 438 (439).

6. Pledge of documents of title.— (1) A pledge by pledging document of title is valid. AIR 1933 Mad 207 (211) = 56 Mad 177 (DB).

(2) Pledge of a share by mere deposit of the share certificate is valid. AIR 1943 Mad 74 (77) = ILR (1943) Mad 115

(DB). (Reversing AIR 1941 Mad 394 = ILR (1941) Mad 419.)  AIR 1965 SC 1954 (1959) = (1965) 3 SCR 254 = 68 Bom LR 61. (Pledge of goods represented by railway receipt by transferring railway receipt by owner thereof is valid.)

7. "Expressly authorised."— (1) Selling agent pledging cotton and advancing money to principal, who knew about this practice — Agent becoming insolvent — Suit by principal for delivery of cotton — Pledgee held entitled to amount advanced before delivering cotton. AIR 1917 Bom 152 (153) = 42 Bom 205 (DB).

(2) Bailment for specific purpose — Bailee selling unauthorisedly — Bailment ends and purchaser does not get good title. AIR 1922 Mad 44 (46) = 45 Mad 173 (DB).

(3) As a mercantile agent commission agent is entitled under law to pledge the goods entrusted to him for sale. 1958-1 Andh WR 36 (38).

8. Proviso. — (1) Act is done in good faith when it is done honestly; whether it is done negligently or not is immaterial. AIR 1938 Mad 545 (547) (DB)  (1908) 30 All 165 (166, 167) (DB).

(2) Where a person was entrusted with a diamond as agent for obtaining offers for it, and if any such offer was approved by the owner, for selling it, and acting contrary to the instructions of the owner, the agent pledged it to persons who assumed that the agent was entitled to do so; Held that the pledge was valid. (1929) 31 Bom LR 414 (418).

(3) Shop-owner's employee in charge of the shop pawning articles in shop — Pawnee, receiving in good faith, is protected by Section 178. AIR 1923 Rang 227 (230) = 24 Cri L Jour 858 = 1 Rang 199 (DB).

(4) Pledge by manager of firm — Manager convicted for criminal breach of trust — Pledgee acting bona fide — Pledge, held, to be valid. AIR 1931 Lah 526 (526, 527) = 12 Lah 304 = 32 Cri L Jour 960.

(5) Pledgee advancing large sum of Rs. 19,600 — This fact alone will not establish his bona fides. (1863) 9 Moo Ind App 140 (166) (PC).

(6) Where the pawnee does not act in "good faith" within the meaning of the proviso and where circumstances are such as to raise a reasonable presumption in his mind that the agent pawning goods was acting improperly, pawnee cannot claim to hold the goods liable for a debt contracted by an unauthorised agent. 1882 Pun Re No. 199, p. 577 (583) (DB). (Case before 1930 amendment.)

(7) Pledgee taking goods from agent of whom he knows nothing cannot be said to have acted bona fide, and if such agent has no authority to pledge, pledge is invalid. AIR 1938 Rang 243 (244, 245) = 39 Cri L Jour 784.

(8) Where A and B, not being mercantile agents within the meaning of Section 2 (9), Sale of Goods Act, deposited ornaments with C, who received them not in good faith, and all of them were accused of criminal breach of trust but C was acquitted: Held, that C was not protected under Section 178, Contract Act, and hence, was not entitled to possession of property under S. 517, Criminal P. C., although the general rule is that on acquittal property, in relation to which accused is charged, should be returned to him. AIR 1937 Sind 33 (35) = 38 Cri L Jour 382.

(9) When it is alleged that circumstances exist whereby a transferee has obtained a better title to goods or documents than the transferor possessed, the person or persons relying on such transfer should be in a position to prove the circumstances. (1938) 67 Cal L Jour 276 (276) (DB).

(10) A, a mercantile agent, pledged motor vehicles with B. One of the vehicles was left with A for display. This vehicle was improperly sold by A without B's knowledge. When on A's failure to repay the loan, B demanded return of the vehicle, A sent to him a vehicle belonging to C which was also with him for display. B caused the vehicle to be sold in auction and it was purchased by D. C filed a suit challenging the sale as mala fide and invalid. During the pendency of this suit B was informed by C by a letter that the vehicle originally pledged with him was sold away and that he was the owner of the vehicle which was sold by B. The suit was settled out of Court and the terms of the settlement were to annul the sale held by public auction under which D became the purchaser, revive the pledge and security and finally in default of redemption within a time limit vesting the vehicles in B. Held, that as at the time when B was said to have become a pledgee once again under the compromise he had full notice of C's title by reason of the contents of C's letter he could not invoke the provisions contained in Sec. 178 for sustaining the pledge over C's vehicle and that B was guilty of conversion of C's vehicle by unlawfully effecting sale of it and appropriating the proceeds thereof. AIR 1955 Mad 505 (509) (DB).

*[178-A. Pledge by person in possession under voidable contract.—When the pawnor has obtained possession of the goods pledged by him under a contract voidable under Section 19 or Section 19-A, but the contract has not been rescinded at the time of the pledge, the pawnee acquires a good title to the goods, provided he acts in good faith and without notice of the pawnor's defect of title.]

[*] See Foot-note remark (°) under S. 178.

179. Pledge where pawnor has only a limited interest.—Where a person pledges goods in which he has only a limited interest, the pledge is valid to the extent of that interest.

Section 178-A — Note 1

(1) Where certain ornaments are merely handed over to the accused for use and on their being misappropriated and pledged, the accused were convicted: Held, that the ornaments should be returned to the owner, that the pledgee could not retain them as the owner had been deprived of them by a criminal offence, and that the fact that the owner delayed to bring proceedings could not alter the fact that she was deprived of her possession of the ornaments by a criminal offence. Section 178-A was not applicable to such a case as there was no contract. AIR 1935 Rang 205 (206) = 36 Cri L Jour 1106.

(2) A person who himself is a pledgee has no title to the property pledged with him. And if such a person pledges the said property his pawnee cannot claim the benefit of Sec. 178-A. AIR 1962 Mys 48 (51) = 39 Mys LJ 982 (DB).

(3) Fraudulently taking delivery of goods from railway authorities and pledging them to Y — Y acting in good faith paying consideration to pledgor — Held, right of railway to recover goods from Y is not defeated. Section 178-A has no application as the pledgee did not enter into transaction on representation of the railway. AIR 1967 All 549 (557) = ILR (1967) 1 All 398 (DB).

(1) Section 179 protects the bona fide pledgee and not the buyer. (1909) 11 Bom LR 926 (984, 985, 986).

(2) Section 179 is enabling section and must be read with Section 178. AIR 1940 Sind 177 (177) (DB).

(3) A property was pledged before the creation of trust. After the trust was created the settlor again pledged the same property representing it to be unencumbered. It was held that the settlor was entitled to compel trustees to redeem prior pledge and the subsequent pawnee was entitled to step into the settlor's shoes. AIR 1928 Mad 1201 (1206) = 42 Mad 465 (DB).

(4) Where there was a contract of sale of goods on credit and the property in goods and right to possession passed to the vendee but the vendor retained possession and pledged the goods to a third party without notice of the vendee's interest in the goods, it was held that the pledgee obtained no right or interest under Section 179. AIR 1929 Cal 497 (506) = 56 Cal 367.

(5) Where a mortgage of moveable property is allowed by the mortgagee to remain in possession of the mortgagor as ostensible owner, and the property is again mortgaged to a third party and sold, the first mortgagee cannot recover from second mortgagee unless he proves that second mortgagee had notice of prior mortgage. AIR 1940 Sind 177 (177, 178) (DB).

(6) Under a contract entered into between A, the pledgor Bank with B, the pledgee Bank, the securities owned by A of the face value of Rs. 75,000 were to be kept by B charged with the payment of such amount upto the limit of Rs. 66,150 as might from time to time have been advanced to A under an overdraft arrangement. There was to be a charge only when there was an adverse balance against A. At all material times A had not drawn any sum from B in pursuance of the agreement. It was held that if A had as a matter of fact operated upon the overdraft amount and had drawn any sum within the limit stipulated in the contract, B would have an interest within the meaning of Section 179 pro tanto in those securities. But so long as there was no overdraft, B had no such interest as it could in its turn pledge or sub-pledge to a third party. AIR 1956 SC 575 (581, 582) = 1956 SCR 483 = 1956 Cri L Jour 1116.

(7) If, the pledgee sub-pledged to another the ornaments which the pledgor had pledged to him, the pledgee having only a limited interest in them the pledge was valid only to the extent of the interest which he himself possessed in the ornaments. He could not give to the sub-pledgee rights superior to those of his own. The only right he had in the ornaments was to retain them as security for the satisfaction of the loan which he had himself advanced. If this right of his came to an end on the satisfaction of his debt, the sub-pledgee could not claim a higher right simply because he had advanced a larger amount to the

Suits by bailees or bailors against wrong-doers

180. Suit by bailor or bailee against wrong-doer.—If a third person wrongfully deprives the bailee of the use or possession of the goods bailed, or does them any injury, the bailee is entitled to use such remedies as the owner might have used in the like case if no bailment had been made; and either the bailor or the bailee may bring a suit against a third person for such deprivation or injury.

181. Apportionment of relief or compensation obtained by such suits.—Whatever is obtained by way of relief or compensation in any such suit shall, as between the bailor and the bailee, be dealt with according to their respective interests.

CHAPTER X—AGENCY

Appointment and authority of agents

pledgee on the security of the ornaments. Once, therefore, the debt of the pledgee was satisfied, the original pawnor became entitled to get back the ornaments without payment of any further amount. The sub-pledgee could not fix upon him the liability for the larger amount which he had himself advanced to the pledgee. AIR 1958 All 66 (67) (DB)  AIR 1962 Mys 48 (51) = 39 Mys LJ 982 (DB).

Section 180 — Note 1

(1) Either a bailor or bailee of a chattel may maintain an action in respect of it against a wrong-doer; the latter, by virtue of possession, the former, by virtue of his property. AIR 1916 Cal 788 (790) = 43 Cal 733 (DB)  AIR 1965 Raj 121 (123) = 1965 Raj LW 56.

(2) Under Section 180 the bailee is entitled to maintain an action against a third party who does not claim under the bailor. As a bailee, he is not the agent of the bailor and can sue and claim the full damages for loss due to the alleged negligence of the defendant without prejudice to the rights of the bailor to adjust with the bailee amount of damages when recovered. AIR 1933 Bom 465 (467) = 58 Bom 189.

(3) Where a bailee who is in possession of goods and who is bound to deliver them to the owner at his own risk, entrusts them to a carrier, it may be inferred that the bailee has employed the carrier on his own account, and the bailee may then sue the carrier on the contract of employment. AIR 1958 Cal 730 (733).

(4) The agent who was entrusted with goods for forwarding by boat was authorised by the principal to effect insurance in respect of those goods. The agent effected insurance and paid premia thereon and also freight. It was held that he was a bailee in respect of the goods and was entitled to sue the insurance company in his own name. AIR 1951 Bom 347 (350).

(5) Per Majority — A pledge being a bailment of goods as security for payment of a debt, under Section 180 the pledgee will have the same remedies as the owner of the goods would have against a third person for deprivation of the said goods or injury to them. AIR 1965 SC 1954 (1960, 1961) = (1965) 3 SCR 254 = 68 Bom LR 61. (A Bank if it be a pledgee though had advanced to the owner Rs. 20,000 only can maintain a suit against the railway or the recovery of the full value of the consignments amounting to Rs. 35,000).

(7) "Wrongfully deprives" — Money advanced by Bank to Sugar Company — Sugar bags pledged — Sugar bags seized under order of State Government issued under Section 3, Essential Supplies (Temporary Powers) Act, 1946 — Sugar bags sold and sale proceeds attached by Cane Commissioner for arrears of cane cess due from Sugar Company — Claim of Bank on sale proceeds in respect of its dues — Seizure of sugar and its sale being lawful remedy of Bank is only against directors of Sugar Company and not against State Government through Cane Commissioner. AIR 1963 Pat 344 (347, 348) = 1964 BLJR 309 (DB).

1. Scope.
2. Broker.
3. Del credere agent.
4. Commission agents.

person for whom such act is done, or who is so represented, is called the "principal".

[°] Cf. The Powers of Attorney Act, 1882 (7 of 1882), Ss. 2 and 3.

Section 182 — Synopsis (contd.)

5. Pakka adatia and cutcha adatia.

6. Manager of joint Hindu family and guardian of minor.

7. Illustrative cases.

1. Scope. — (1) Definition of agent given in Section 182 is wider than in English law. It does not limit the employment to one by the principal only. AIR 1941 Cal 643 (655) (DB). (Common manager appointed under Section 95, Bengal Tenancy Act, is agent within the definition.)

(2) The rule as to agency is expressed in the maxim qui facit per alium, facit per se. It is founded on a contract either express or implied by which one of the parties confides to the other the management of some business to be transacted in his name or on his account and by which the other agrees to do the business and render an account of it. AIR 1957 Madh Pra 223 (223) = ILR (1957) Madh Pra 165.

(3) It is only when a person acts as representative of the other in business negotiations, that is to say, in the creation, modification or of termination of contractual obligations between that other and third persons, that he is an agent. AIR 1955 Mad 648 (650) (DB).

(4) Definition of agent given in Section 182 is very wide and embraces a servant pure and, simple. AIR 1938 Nag 254 (255).

(5) A servant is also a kind of agent. Agents are of two kinds, distinguishable as servants and independent contractors. When the agent is an independent contractor, his employer is not in general answerable for the torts either of the contractor himself or of his servants. But when the agent is a servant, his employer will answer for all torts committed in the course of the employment, whether or not the employer has obtained any benefit thereby. The distinction between a servant and an independent contractor is that the former is to obey his employer's orders from time to time and works under the supervision and direction of his employer, whereas the latter is to exercise his own discretion as to the mode and time of doing work for which he has been engaged; he is bound by his contract but not by his employer's orders. AIR 1962 Pat 384 (389) = 1962 BLJR 77 (DB).

(6) The concept of a servant may, in a sense, involve an element of agency but on that account a servant is not to be regarded as an agent and an agent is never a servant. AIR 1967 Mad 143 (145) = (1966) 2 Mad LJ 473 (DB).

(7) Use of word "agent" in general way, loosely without specifying purpose of agency does not help to determine, as a matter of fact, whether person is agent. (1913) 14 Mad L Tim 249 (255) (DB).

(8) Person acting voluntarily for candidate in election — Consent of candidate is necessary — Consent need not be express nor is written document necessary. AIR 1959 Assam 200 (203) = 19 Ele LR 175 (DB).

(9) Unless authority to act is conferred and accepted, the mere settlement of the terms of remuneration does not constitute a contract of agency. AIR 1918 Sind 1 (3) = 12 Sind LR 93.

(10) Whatever might be the words used in the pleadings, the relationship between the parties is to be determined upon the real character of the contract between them. AIR 1933 Cal 204 (206) (DB).

[See also 1930 Mad WN 729 (746) (DB). (Question of agency is mixed question of fact and law.)]

(11) Even where the word "agent" is used, the relationship between the parties may be still of two principals contracting with each other. The actual status of the parties must be determined with reference to all the circumstances, and not merely with reference to the word used. AIR 1963 Pat 407 (410, 411) = ILR 40 Pat 950 (DB).

(12) A bare allegation of agency is not sufficient and the specific scope of the agent's power must be proved. What is material is whether the incidence of contract as disclosed by the evidence would justify a finding of agency. The mere fact that a person offers advice or writes letters to another in matters of business does not establish the relationship of agency. ILR (1965) 1 Mad 334 (DB).

(13) The relationship of principal and agent is to be determined not by name but by conduct of the parties and the purport of their dealings. (1965) 35 Com Cas 706 = 69 Cal WN 369 (376) (DB).

(14) Agency need not be created expressly by any written document and can be inferred from the circumstances and the conduct of the parties. AIR 1931 All 372 (372, 373) (DB)  AIR 1957 Madh Pra 114 (118) = ILR (1957) Madh Pra 253 (DB)  AIR 1951 Pat 209 (214) = 29 Pat 581 (DB)  AIR 1950 Hyd 52 (53) = ILR (1951) Hyd 202 (DB)  1947 Marwar LR (Civ) 21 (22)  AIR 1960 Bom 548 (550) = 62 Bom LR 304 (DB).

(15) The relationship of principal and agent may be constituted either by express appointment by the principal or by implication of law or by subsequent ratification by the principal of the acts done on his behalf. The agent within the ambit of his authority deputises for his principal. Law does not ordinarily require a contract of agency to be created in writing. The agent carrying out his undertaking within the scope of his authority binds his principal as the agent's acts are deemed to be those of his principal. AIR 1962 Punj 56 (58, 59) (DB).

(16) There may not be an express agency proved. Law recognises agency by estoppel, that is to say, if a person allows another to transact with third parties on his behalf and makes them believe that that person who is transacting with third parties is doing so on his behalf then such person who allows third parties to believe that a person was acting on his behalf will be bound by the transactions entered into by the ostensible agent. AIR 1952 Hyd 79 (80) = ILR (1952) Hyd 341 (DB)  AIR 1960 Pat 271 (275, 276) = 1959 BLJR 769.

(17) The word 'agent' does not of itself imply full authority to bind the principal, in same way that a partner can bind his co-partner. Sections 186 and 187, Contract Act, show that the authority of an agent is to be gathered from either "words" or "circumstances" and is not implied in the mere fact that he is an agent. AIR 1924 Bom 232 (233) = 48 Bom 20 (DB).

(18) A person does not become an agent on behalf of another merely because he gives him advice in matters of business. Agency is founded upon contract express or implied between the parties. (1907) 6 Cal L Jour 580 (585) (DB).

(19) Every act of agent in course of his employment on behalf of principal and within apparent scope of his authority binds principal unless agent is in fact unauthorised to do that act and person dealing with him has notice of same. AIR 1914 Cal 687 (690) (DB).

(20) Agent empowered to pledge his principal to one kind of arbitration can pledge him to another, if it arises out of same transaction. (1910) 34 Bom 13 (49)  AIR 1925 Cal 541 (544) (DB).

(21) The word 'person' in Section 182 includes a joint family — An agent appointed by the manager of the family is the agent of the family and not of the manager. AIR 1934 All 553 (556) (DB).

(22) Where the term of an agency for sale has expired, a subsequent execution thereof by the agent is invalid unless the term has been extended.

AIR 1916 Cal 964 (969) = 43 Cal 833 (DB).

(23) The distinction between a servant and an agent is that a servant acts under the control and supervision of the master and is bound to conform to all reasonable orders given to him in the course of his work, an agent though bound to exercise his authority in accordance with all lawful instructions which may be given to him by his principal is not subject to the direct control or supervision of the principal. AIR 1956 SC 149 (153) = 1955-2 SCR 1035 = ILR (1956) 1 All 76 = 1956 Cri L Jour 322  AIR 1954 SC 364 (367) = 1955 SCR 393  AIR 1954 Hyd 156 (158) = ILR (1954) Hyd 338 (FB)  AIR 1957 Bom 238 (238). (Cattle pound moharrir in service of Janapada Sabha remunerated by commission — Is servant of local authority within S. 14 (b-1) of C. P. and Berar Panchayats Act and not an agent.)  AIR 1946 Mad 530 (532) = ILR (1947) Mad 170 (DB). (The difference between the relationship of master and servant and that of principal and agent is that a principal has the right to direct what work the agent has to do; but a master has the further right to direct how the work is to be done.)

(24) An agent is not a servant, but a servant is generally for some purposes his master's agent to the extent of the agency depending upon the duties or position of the servant, and in some cases an independent contractor may also be an agent. AIR 1965 Madh Pra 66 (70) = 1965 (1) Cri LJ 301 = (1965) MPLJ 179 (DB).

(25) In order to constitute the relation of agency it is essential that goods should be sold to customers introduced by the agent not on behalf of the agent but on behalf of the principal. If the goods are sold on behalf of the alleged agent and if the alleged agent is to be treated as the purchaser he ceases to be an agent and becomes a principal. AIR 1956 Cal 188 (194) (DB)  1955 Andh WR 83 (86).

(26) Customer giving bills to bank for collection — Relationship is that of principal and agent. AIR 1959 Punj 100 (101, 102) = 60 Pun LR 412.

(27) Agency is founded upon a contract, either express or implied, by which one of the parties confides to the other management of some business to be transacted in his name or in his account, and by which the other assumes to do the business and to render an account of it. ILR (1951) 1 Cal 82 (85).

(28) A licensee is a person to whom rights have been given by a license and when a person acts as the licensee, he acts in the exercise of those rights on his own account and not as an agent of another. ILR (1951) 1 Cal 420 (424)

  AIR 1963 Pat 216 (217) (DB).

(29) The essence of agency to sell is delivery of goods to a person, not as his own property but as the property of his principal and who is therefore liable to account for the sale proceeds. AIR 1958 Pat 414 (416) = 37 Pat 711 (DB).

(30) Goods sent by seller to buyer by V. P. P. through Post Office — Post Office became agent of the buyer for recovery of price. AIR 1959 SC 1394 (1397) = (1960) 1 SCR 401. (AIR 1957 Madh B 64, Reversed.)

(31) There is nothing in law which would prevent an agent undertaking to be an insurer of goods consigned to his care provided that there is consideration for that insurance and this consideration would have to be something outside the terms of employment at the ordinary rate. AIR 1930 Rang 332 (2) (333) = 32 Cri L Jour 149.

(32) Insurance Agent collecting premiums from the insured does not act as the agent of the insurance company — This principle, is applicable not only to life insurance but other insurance also. (1969) 1 Com LJ 153 (Cal).

(33) An agent is an intermediary who has the power to create legal relationship between the principal and third parties. A benamidar is not an agent. (1967) 10 Law Rep 756 (763).

(34) The relationship of an agency is contractual relationship. The mere fact that a person is employed to do an act for another does not make the former an agent for the latter. Nor can the name which the parties may give to a transaction be the sole criterion for holding that there is an agency or not. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 352 (355) = (1959) 1 Andh WR 44 (DB). (Reversed on another point in AIR 1965 SC 1773.)

(35) The word 'Dalal' in Gujarati meant a broker or agent and when the agreement in terms said that the applicants were appointed Dalals for sale of cloth manufactured by the company, it was impossible to hold that the applicants were not brokers or agents appointed by the company but were employees of the company. (1967) 1 Comp. LJ 92 = 8 Guj LR 345.

(36) A servant acts under the direct control and supervision of his master and is bound to conform to all reasonable orders given to him in the course of his work. An independent contractor is entirely independent of any control and merely undertakes to produce a specified result employing his own means to produce that result. Agent is not subject to direct control of his master in execution of master's instructions. Agent is not servant. Servant is for some purposes his master's agent. Independent contractor in some cases may also be an agent. AIR 1965 Madh Pra 66 = 1965 (1) Cri LJ 301 = 1965 MPLJ 179 (DB).

(37) The relationship of principal and agent may be constituted — (a) by express appointment by the principal, or by a person duly authorised by the principal to make such appointment; (b) by implication of law, from the conduct or situation of the parties or from the necessity of the case, or (c) by subsequent ratification by the principal of acts done on his behalf.

There is nothing in the West Bengal Cement Control Act or in the various Orders promulgated under the Act which make a stockist of cement an agent of Government. All that the Act and the orders effect is to bring the stockists under the control and supervision of Government. AIR 1963 Cal 79 (81, 82, 83, 84) = 66 Cal WN 861.

(38) According to the definition in Section 182 an agent never acts on his own behalf but always on behalf of another. He either represents his principal in any transaction or dealing with a third person, or performs any act for the principal. In either case, the act of the agent will be deemed in law to be not his own but of the principal. The crucial test of the status of an agent is that his acts bind the principal. AIR 1967 All 308 (311) (DB).

(39) There is a distinction between a person employed to do an act for another and a person who does an act at the bidding of another. In the first place the act done is not that of the person employed but of him who employs him. In the second, the act is that of the person himself. Again, in the first case, the person employed is an agent of the employer; in the second, he merely acts at the request of another. Then again in the first case, under S. 222 the person is entitled to be indemnified against the consequences of all lawful acts done by him in the exercise of his authority as an agent; in the latter, he is entitled to be indemnified only if there is a contract of indemnity to this effect. AIR 1967 All 308 (312) (DB).

(40) In determining legal nature of relationship between the alleged principal and agent the use or omission of the word 'agent' is not conclusive. The Court must examine the true nature of the agreement and the subsequent dealings between the parties, and then decide whether it establishes a relationship of agency under the law. AIR 1967 All 308 (310) (DB).

(41) An agent in law may be either general or special. A general agent has authority to act for his principal in all matters, or in all matters concerning a particular trade or business or of a particular nature; or to do some act in the ordinary course in his trade, profession or business as an agent, on behalf of his principal. On the other hand a special agent has only authority to do some particular act or represent his principal in some particular transaction. AIR 1962 Punj 325 (330, 331) = 1962 (2) Cri LJ 92 = ILR (1962) 2 Punj 201 (SB).

(42) Assessee a resident of Hyderabad State appointed agent of a non-resident company of Bombay — Assessee also advancing money to the company for purchases of goods in Hyderabad — Interest paid on advances — Payment of interest does not derogate from assessee's character as agent. AIR 1960 Andh Pra 502 (505, 506) = (1960) 11 STC 705 (DB).

(43) Government of India appointing defendant as agent for purchasing paddy and not for milling the paddy — Defendant to have full responsibility for milling of such paddy — Defendant is not agent of Government for purpose of milling but is only contractor — Contract between defendant and millowner cannot be deemed to have been entered as an agent of the Government of India. AIR 1960 Pat 19 (25) = 1959 BLJR 527 (DB).

(44) It is true that in commercial usage, especially in modern contracts, the expression 'agent' or 'agency' has acquired an extended meaning; often the so-called agent is merely a buyer who has been given favourable terms in a particular area to sell the manufacturer's or supplier's goods. The use of the expression 'agency' in an agreement has therefore no special importance. (1962) 13 STC 292 (SC).

(45) Food Procurement Order and Notifications made thereunder — Mill owners appointed as licencees to buy and sell paddy and rice at rates fixed by Government — If agents of Government. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 352 (355 to 358) = (1959) 1 Andh WR 44 (DB). (Reversed on another point in AIR 1965 SC 1773.)

(46) The agent's custody can be constructive. When under his instructions, the goods are despatched to his sub-agents and the latter is having custody thereof that would be deemed to be the custody of the principal. AIR 1961 Andh Pra 143 (152) = (1960) 2 Andh WR 115 (DB).

(47) Defendant No. 1 as agent of plaintiff requesting defendant 2 to arrange for re-shipment of goods from Rangoon to Calcutta — Defendant 2 agreeing with plaintiff — Privity of contract held established between plaintiff and defendant 2 — Defendant 1 not liable for negligence of defendant 2.

AIR 1963 Cal 163 (169, 170) = 1963 Cal LJ 43.

2. Broker. — (1) A broker is the agent of the person for whom he acts. He is not entrusted with the custody and the apparent ownership of the goods, but he is to effect business on commission. AIR 1917 All 466 (468) = 39 All 81 (DB)  AIR 1954 Nag 148 (150) = ILR (1954) Nag 355 (DB).

(2) Broker is the agent of party who first employs him. To make him agent of the other party there must be some words or conduct by which authorization to act on behalf of the party is expressed or is to be positively inferred. (1910) 8 Ind Cas 601 (603) (Low Bur).

(3) A broker is the agent, primarily and for some purposes, of the party by whom he was originally employed. He is also generally the agent of each of the two parties for whom he negotiates. But if he departs from the business of mere negotiation and making himself the agent of his undisclosed principal to sell or buy, enters into a contract of sale or purchase, he would be liable. AIR 1916 Cal 548 (550, 551) = 42 Cal 1050 (DB).

(4) The broker's duty is simply to bring the parties together, to arrange a transaction and to get the contract completed. The performance of the contract is a matter between the promisor and promisee. The broker need not look for the fulfilment of the contract for earning his remuneration. AIR 1935 Pesh 56 (56, 57) (DB)  AIR 1930 All 545 (548) = 52 All 688 (DB)  (1923) 38 Cal L Jour 139 (141)  AIR 1961 Andh Pra 408 (410, 411) = 1960 Andh LT 882 (DB).

(5) Broker can claim commission if he brings about sale or even agreement to sell. (1921) 60 Ind Cas 727 (728) (Lah).

(6) To entitle a broker to his commission, he must prove either that the transaction has been completed or that if it is not, the non-completion was due to default on the part of the principal. AIR 1922 Bom 433 (434)  AIR 1919 Low Bur 126 (127) = 10 Low Bur Rul 15.

(7) The main office of a loan broker is to bring the borrower and the lender together, and when he has done that he has done all that is necessary for him to do and earn his commission. There must be in the lender the willingness to open negotiation upon a reasonable basis. AIR 1928 Bom 270 (273) = 52 Bom 627.

(8) In the absence of a contract to the contrary brokerage is only payable on the completion of a deed of conveyance, it being the broker's duty to introduce a person willing and able to complete the purchase. AIR 1944 Sind 168 (169) = ILR (1944) Kar 42 (DB).

(9) Calcutta jute market — Brokers are liable to buyers and sellers in all "principal contracts" — In the case of breach of contract the broker is entitled to go to arbitration under a clause to that effect. AIR 1923 Cal 419 (422) = 50 Cal 12.

(10) The broker to earn his commission on a contract must be the direct cause in the chain of causation and not a mere preceding link out of many but for which the causa causans could not become operative. Thus property obtained by litigation is not property obtained as fruits of broker's labours. In such a case, broker's labours or efforts are not the efficient cause. The question is not one of hardship but of the actual terms of the contract of employment with the broker. AIR 1956 Cal 232 (234).

(11) A broker, when once he brings two parties together and receives his remuneration for it, has nothing more to do with the transactions between the parties. AIR 1961 Andh Pra 143 (152) = (1960) 2 Andh WR 115 (DB).

3. Del credere agent. — (1) Del credere agent is one who guarantees performance of contract in consideration of extra remuneration. He is also party to contract. A dubash is not a del credere agent for contracts entered into without his intervention. AIR 1926 Mad 544 (551) = 49 Mad 156 (DB).

(2) The certified brokers of the Bombay Native Stock and Share Brokers' Association are del credere agents of their constituents. AIR 1922 Bom 303 (315) = 46 Bom 489 (DB).

(3) A factor, when he sells goods on credit (for an additional commission called a del credere commission) and guarantees the solvency of the purchaser is known as a del credere agent. AIR 1954 Nag 148 (150) = ILR (1954) Nag 355 (DB).

(4) A delivers goods to B for re-sale in U. K. — Price fixed in contract of sale — Contract fixing the quality of goods on seller — Time made essence of the contract — B, held, was not a del credere agent of A and the contract was one of sale and not of agency. AIR 1967 SC 181 (183, 184) = (1966) Supp SCR 1.

(5) Del credere agent arranging for purchase of coal from colliery under priority certificate obtained in name of consumers under Colliery Control Order, 1945 and charging commission — Not "dealers" within Bombay Sale Tax Act but only agents. AIR 1961 SC 1106 (1107) = (1961) 2 SCR 367.

(6) Where, by a contract, the defendants expressly undertook the responsibility for paying the price of the consignments of coal to be supplied by the plaintiff to the buyer, the position of the defendants is in the eye of law, not that of mere del credere agents, and they are liable to the plaintiff for damages for breach of contract. The circumstance that the coal was supplied under the provisions of the Colliery Control Order, 1945 will not make any difference because those provisions do not override the express terms of the contracts. The liability of the agent is for the full price of the goods supplied. AIR 1960 Pat 364 (366) = 1960 BLJR 452 (DB).

(7) Where the purchasers purchase the goods from the sole selling agent, get the bills from him, the mere fact the goods were despatched by the Company to the purchasers directly on advice of the agent does not make him a del credere agent of the Company. 1969 BLJR 680 (DB).

4. Commission agents. — (1) A person who receives goods from another as a commission agent and then sells them for him is an agent up to a certain point, that is, upto the date of the sale, and thereafter may be a debtor pure and simple. The test to know the relation is this: Has the commission agent, when he sells, authority to sell in his own name; has he authority in his own right to pass a valid title. If he has, then he is acting as a principal vis-a-vis the purchasers and not merely as an agent and, therefore, from that point on, he is a debtor of his erstwhile principal and not merely an agent. Whether this is so or not must of course depend upon the facts in each particular case. AIR 1938 Nag 254 (255)  1955 Andh WR 83 (86).

(2) Commission agent is not legally agent of all persons and firms, whom he occasionally transacts business for. Agency is only with reference to specific sales or purchases made under directions of principal. AIR 1918 Sind 1 (3) = 12 Sind LR 93.

(3) Per Mahajan J. — Contracts with commission agents do not follow a single pattern and the preliminary necessity in each instance is to ascertain with precision what are the express terms of the particular contract under discussion. AIR 1950 SC 15 (20) = 1950 SCR 30 = ILR (1951) 1 Cal 511.

(4) When a commission agent agrees to obtain for the principal the goods which the latter wants, the contract between them is not one of sale but of agency. AIR 1956 All 710 (713) (DB).

(5) The fact that arhat or commission is entered in the accounts is by itself no proof that the plaintiff was only a commission agent and not a principal for it is possible for a principal to charge arhat as well as to account for profit and loss. ILR (1954) 4 Raj 346 (349) (DB).

5. Pakka adatia and cutcha adatia. — (1) A pakki adat is a speculative transaction and not a wager and a pakka adatia has a right to be indemnified by the seller. AIR 1917 PC 101 (102) = 45 Ind App 29 = 42 Bom 373  AIR 1954 Sau 99 (102) (DB). (Pakki Adat dealings are legitimate mode of conducting commercial business.)

(2) Pakka adatia is something more than commission agent and very like ordinary del credere agent, receiving orders from constituents and placing them in open market; but he can allocate his principal's contracts to himself when it suits him to do so. (1913) 15 Bom LR 85 (96)  AIR 1952 Vindh Pra 51 (56).

(3) Where there is a contract between a pakka arhatiya and a constituent, the pakka arhatiya is himself responsible to his constituent. The fact that he did or did not enter into a contract with a third party in pursuance of the order of his constituent makes no difference. For all practical purposes, the pakka arhatiya himself and his constituent act as principal parties. A contract between a pakka arhatiya on one side and his constituent on the other is a contract between them as principals and the pakka arhatiya does not act, in such cases, as an agent of his constituent. AIR 1940 All 182 (183) = ILR (1940) All 136  AIR 1940 Lah 195 (196). (The only claim of constituent against dukka arhatiya is for liquidated sum.)  AIR 1937 Lah 581 (585) = ILR (1937) Lah 683 (DB).

(4) A pakka adatia can become principal to enforce any contract entrusted to him as agent by his original principal against that principal. AIR 1919 Bom 137 (137).

(5) Pakka adatia enters into contracts under instructions from his employer, principal. But constituent is not concerned with method in which his instructions are carried out. So it is open to constituents to set up plea of wagering contracts. (1913) 37 Bom 347 (350).

(6) In pakka adatia agency cases, place of payment is primarily place where constituent resides, but payment may be made in any other place if constituent so chooses. Mere fact that principal has to bear charges on account of remittance and exchange does not sufficiently show that place of payment is place whence agent remits money. Liability of pakka adatia ceases when hard cash has come into his constituent's hands. (1909) 33 Bom 364 (368) (DB).

(7) Rule of English law that payment of commission is conclusive proof of existence of agency does not equally apply to pakka adatia dealing in Bombay. (1909) 11 Bom LR 926 (943).

(8) Even where the contract purports to give an agent absolute discretion, just as pakka adatias in Bombay have discretion as to calling for margin, it is incumbent on him to show that circumstances exist for the reasonable exercise of that discretion. AIR 1927 Bom 125 (126, 127) (DB).

(9) When a cutcha adatia enters into transaction under instructions from and on behalf of his up-country constituent with a third party in Bombay, he makes privity of contract between the third party and the constituent, so that each becomes liable to the other, but also he renders himself responsible on the contract to the third party. He does not ordinarily communicate the name of his constituent to the third party, but he informs the constituent of the name of the third party. The position, therefore, as between himself and the third party is that he is agent for an unnamed principal with personal liability on himself. His remuneration consists solely of commission, and he is in no way interested in the profits or losses made by his constituent on the contracts entered into by him on his constituent's behalf. Hence a contract of cutcha adatia agency is not a wagering contract. AIR 1926 PC 119 (120) = 51 Bom 1 = 53 Ind App 241  AIR 1940 All 182 (183) = ILR (1940) All 136  AIR 1954 All 789 (794) (DB).

(10) A kutcha Arhatia acts as an agent on behalf of his constituent and never acts as a principal to him. Although the kutcha Arhatia may not communicate the name of his constituent to the third party, he informs the constituent of the name of the third party. In the case of a pukka Arhatia, the agent makes himself liable upon the contract not only to the third party, but also to his constituent and he does not inform his constituent as to the person with whom he has entered into a contract on his behalf. AIR 1950 All 352 (355).

(11) There is a marked distinction between a Kutcha and a Pakka Arhatia. The position of a Kutcha Arhatia is that he acts as an agent with personal liability on himself, so far as the third party is concerned. His remuneration consists solely of his commission and is in no way interested in the profit or loss made by his constituent. In the case of a Pakka Arhatia he is generally himself responsible to his constituent and he may act as a principal. ILR (1961) 11 Raj 390 (DB).

(12) (Per Lokur J.) — A pakka adatia is an agent of his constituent only up to a certain point only for the purposes of ascertaining and giving a correct quotation of the price. But thereafter when the transaction takes place, he ceases to be an agent and assumes towards his constituent the character of a principal, and the transaction must be regarded as a contract between principal and principal. AIR 1947 Bom 343 (345) = ILR (1947) Bom 28 (FB).

(13) Pakka adatia is a person who has been entrusted with the goods of his principal to dispose of to the best advantage. He has a general power to deal with them without reference to his principal. AIR 1956 Hyd 180 (185) = ILR (1956) Hyd 191 = 1956 Cri L Jour 1320.

(14) Where the constituent in the case of the pucca adatia has no voice in the action of the third party and the constituent has only to look to the pucca adatia for the performance of the contract and is liable to the pucca adatia alone the employment of the pucca adatia by the constituent is not merely collateral to the main purpose of effecting the transaction. The pucca adatia has an interest larger than that of an agent and he cannot claim commission and indemnity from the constituent on the ground of his claim being collateral to the void agreement with the third party. AIR 1951 Kutch 50 (51).

(15) A pukka adatia unlike a kutchha adatia acts as a principal in relation both to his constituent and to the opposite party with whom he deals on the instructions of his constituent. He is very like an ordinary "del credere" agent, but he is that and more. A pukka adatiya has a certain amount of discretion left to him in carrying through the transactions and in acting in a manner so as to minimise the liability for loss. He has a right in exercise of his discretion to keep a contract outstanding till due date or to cover it with a cross contract. When he receives a second order from the constituent to enter into a cross contract to cover his first order, he is not bound to carry out the second order and what he is bound to do is to inform the constituent so that he may put through his order through some other pakka adatia. AIR 1948 Nag 173 (175, 176) = ILR (1948) Nag 409 (DB).

[See however AIR 1956 Nag 164 (166) = ILR (1955) Nag 1095 (DB). (It cannot be said that a pakka adatia is in every circumstance free to disregard the second order of up-country constituent by covering up his first order.)]

(12) Authority for negotiating and completing sale for specified price within particular time includes authority to enter into contract for sale. AIR 1946 Mad 42 (44) = ILR (1946) Mad 465 (DB).

(18) Where a person wrongfully converts goods and receives the amount, the owner of the goods may either sue in tort or may waive the tort and recover the proceeds in an action for money had and received. AIR 1953 Madh B 38 (39).

(19) Where it was sought to prove that D had an implied authority to settle a lease on behalf of B, a shebait, and where the lower Court found that D was acting as if he was the real shebait, it was held that the finding was insufficient to prove implied authority. It was necessary to find that D had been authorized to do some work of this class to which the contract belonged. If this authority to settle the lease could be inferred from the facts and circumstances, it would have been more than enough; or if it could be established that he had authority generally to make all settlements, that also would have been sufficient; or if the settlement of this lease was necessary in order to do an act which D was authorised to do, that also would have sufficed. But in the absence of any such proof the authority cannot be held to be proved so as to bind the principal. AIR 1933 Cal 109 (113) = 60 Cal 111 (DB).

(20) Bank going into liquidation — Depositor's liability in respect of withdrawals effected by another person on his behalf — Implied authority cannot be inferred — Particulars must be furnished. AIR 1963 Orissa 42 (44) = ILR (1962) Cut 554 (DB).

AIR 1952 Punj 263 (264).

(2) It is not necessary that the principal, to be liable should benefit by the unauthorised act of the agent. All that is required is that the agent should hold himself out as having such authority and his principal by his conduct induce the third party to reasonable belief that he is authorised to do the act he does. (1949) 53 Cal WN (1 DR) 93 (97) (DB).

(3) Where a document executed jointly by two persons creating equal liability for both is altered by one of them acting as agent of another whereby the liability is reduced equally for both of them such an alteration must be regarded as unsubstantial and not otherwise than beneficial to the surety. The alteration does not save the surety from liability arising under it as it has not been altered in such a manner as to change its nature. AIR 1963 SC 746 (754) = (1963) Supp 1 SCR 63.

(4) The mere fact that the act falls within the scope of the usual or apparent authority of an agent will not bind another person as his principal when the act itself was unauthorised and not ratified by the latter, and the third party was dealing with the agent treating him as principal himself and not as an agent. AIR 1958 Bom 445 (450) = ILR (1958) Bom 1035.

(5) Before a purchase made by a civil servant can bind the State, it should be established that the purchase was authorised by the State or the purchase is an

(15) If the insurer allows his agent to collect monies and issue to the payer due receipts for the amounts so collected he must be deemed to have held out his agent as a person authorised to collect. Where the printed form of contract contains terms of agency to the effect that an agent is not entitled to collect any premium or debts payable to the Insurance Company such terms do not hinder the company from authorising the agents to collect.

Further, the agent's authority to receive payments from the policy holders may also be an implied one. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 562 (563, 565) (DB).

3. Agent carrying on business. — (1) Every agent who is authorised to conduct a particular business has implied authority to do whatever is incidental to the ordinary conduct of such business and whatever is necessary for the proper and effective performance of his duties but not to do anything outside the ordinary scope of his employment and duties. (7) An authority is generally construed in case of doubt according to the usual course of dealing in business to which it relates, partly because this may be presumed to be the real intention and partly because the third person may attribute to the agent such authority as agents in the like business usually have. Where a party admitted that sometime himself and sometimes his Munim worked in the shop, it was held Munim had the authority to receive money and pass valid receipt. Madh BLJ 1954 HCR 140 (140, 141).

(9) If power of attorney does not authorise agent to carry on business except with limitations, any act done by him in excess of such power will not bind principal. AIR 1918 Mad 706 (707) (DB).

(10) Where agent was authorised by power-of-attorney to direct, superintend, manage and control business of defendants and there was stipulation to the effect that agent was not to enter into speculations in "gunnies, opium, shares or exchange." Held, that contract for purchase of sugar was outside scope of prohibition, that words "as carried on by defendants in Singapore and elsewhere" were merely descriptive and not limiting articles of agent's business and that mere imprudence of act did not render act unauthorised. (1912) 39 Cal 568 (577, 578)

(DB)  (1911) 10 Ind Cas 895 (897) (Cal).

(11) Landlord appointing Tahsildar to manage agricultural lands — Tahsildar letting out lands on bhag for proper cultivation — Transaction within scope of Tahsildar's authority — Implied holding out by landlord — Landlord bound by Tahsildar's acts. (12) Scope — Act done in the usual way of business of the kind — Partner entering into transaction of purchase of goods in his own name — Firm, not bound — The mere fact that the act falls within the scope of usual or apparent authority of an agent will not bind another person as his principal when the act itself was unauthorised and not ratified by the latter, and the third party was dealing with the agent treating him as principal himself and not as an agent. AIR 1958 Bom 445 (448, 450) = 1958 Cri LJ 722.

(13) Managing Director of company having by Articles of Association full power to enter into contract — Managing Director entering into contract — Condition that contract was to be confirmed by Board of Directors — Condition would not make the contract void ab initio, on account of failure of Managing Director to get the confirmation — Contract being within scope of authority of the Managing Director, was valid. (1960) 1 Assam LR 255.

4. Power of attorney.— (1) Where an act purporting to be done under a power-of-attorney is challenged as being in excess of the authority conferred by the power, it is necessary to show that on a fair construction of the whole instrument, the authority in question is to be found within the four corners of the instrument either in express terms or by necessary implication. The limits of necessary implication are indicated by Section 188, Contract Act. AIR 1938 Mad 966 (969) (DB).

(2) Where authority is conferred by special power, any act in excess of it will not bind principal. In such cases terms of power should be construed strictly. AIR 1917 Pat 234 (238) = 2 Pat L Jour 600 (DB).

(3) According to Section 188, power-of-attorney should be construed strictly. Such construction does not disable attorney from exercising all powers incidental to execution of powers expressly enforced on him or from exercising powers necessarily implied, and termed 'medium powers'. (1912) 23 Mad L Jour 595 (598) (DB).

(4) Power of attorney must be strictly construed as giving only such authority as they confer expressly or by necessary implication. Power to compromise does not entitle agent to refer a case to arbitration. AIR 1969 Andh Pra 211 (212).

(5) Whenever the very act of the agent is authorised by the terms of the power, it is binding on the constituent, as to all persons dealing in good faith with the agent; such persons are not bound to enquire into facts aliunde. (7) Where a person was appointed as agent under a power-of-attorney for the purpose of selling certain property of the principal and the power-of-attorney also provided for other purposes and the words conferring powers for the other purposes were quite general. Held, that the governing object of the power was the dealing with or disposing of the property by sale and the other purposes for which the power was executed must therefore, be read as ancillary to this object. Even the general words conferring these powers must be so construed as to restrict them to what may be required for the performance by the agent of his duty to sell. AIR 1948 Oudh 54 (61) = 22 Luck 93 (DB).

(8) Power-of-attorney in suit empowers a person to file appeal and to take out execution and conduct all proceedings arising out of the litigation — Such person is competent to apply in execution for mesne profits. AIR 1933 Lah 876 (878).

(9) When general terms "to commence and prosecute all such legal and other proceedings deemed to be fit" followed special powers in a power-of-attorney, it was held that such words should be construed as limited to what is necessary for the exercise of the special powers, and as enlarging these powers only when necessary for carrying out the purpose for which the authority was given. AIR 1950 Bom 130 (136).

(10) Where an agent compromises a suit in excess of the powers conferred upon him by the power-of-attorney the act will not bind the principal. AIR 1914 Lah 112 (113) = 1914 Pun Re No. 96 (DB).

5. Authority to borrow. — (1) The general provisions of Sections 187 and 188 of Contract Act would authorise an agent to borrow money if necessary. But such provisions are subject to modifications in particular cases, specially where transactions do not prove anything in favour of an implied authority to borrow. When an agent had no such implied authority to borrow and the principal did not subsequently ratify the act of borrowing, the principal cannot be made liable. (1906) 33 Cal 343 (347, 348) (DB).

(2) Agent has no power to borrow when expressly prohibited in power-of-attorney. AIR 1932 Nag 27 (28) = 27 Nag LR 324.

(3) The agent of a firm can sign a promissory note on behalf of the firm. AIR 1957 Mad 8 (10) (DB).

(4) When agent having no authority to borrow money does so and such borrowing is neither justified by necessity nor it is in the usual course of his business, the principal is not liable. AIR 1938 Mad 966 (969) (DB).

[See also (1906) 33 Cal 343 (347, 348) (DB).]

(5) Where in money lending business an agent is expressly authorised to borrow and lend money to clients, such authority implies authority to pledge principal's credit for borrowing. AIR 1915 PC 121 (123, 124) = 43 Ind App 48 = 43 Cal 527 = 8 Low Bur Rul 536.

(6) An agent has implied authority to pledge the credit of his principal for what is necessary to the successful management of the business and, as usual, an agent in charge of a business has implied authority to bind his principal by raising a loan for the purposes thereof, only if his act is necessary or is usual in the management of the particular business or is justified by an emergency. AIR 1927 Oudh 44 (45) = 2 Luck 253 (DB).

6. Authority to collect debts. — (1) Agent authorised only to collect debts cannot realise their value or any part of it by selling them. AIR 1919 Mad 957 (959) = 41 Mad 923 (DB).

(2) Power-of-attorney given to agent to collect outstandings includes also power to collect debts due under decrees, obtained even before date of power. AIR 1914 Mad 632 (633).

7. Authority to receive payments. — (1) Where an agent is authorised to receive money it might be presumed that he had the authority to do every lawful act which was necessary in connection with that e. g., accepting money in payment of a particular instalment or waiving the default made in paying an overdue instalment. AIR 1917 Oudh 235 (236) (DB).

(2) The authority to collect the bills or receive payments in connection with them does not ipso facto signify that the power to collect those bills no longer remained with the holder or drawer of the bills. AIR 1954 Assam 23 (25) = ILR (1953) 5 Assam 115 (DB).

(3) Where an agent is authorised to receive payment due to the principal and the amounts were neither transferred nor assigned to him the agent has no authority to institute suit for its recovery. AIR 1939 All 623 (626).

8. Authority to purchase. — (1) A commission agent purchasing goods for merchant and consigning them by ship and insuring them under instructions from merchant has insurable interest in goods and can recover money under policy of insurance in case of loss of goods. (1912) 36 Bom 484 (488, 489).

(2) Where goods were purchased on credit and payment of interest was contemplated, the agreement to pay reasonable interest by the agent will be binding on the principal. AIR 1915 Mad 1162 (1163).

(3) Where A agrees to serve as an agent of the Government for the purchase of paddy and rice, the relation of agent and principal will exist between him and the Government by implication for the ancillary purpose of purchasing gunny bags for storage and supply of the grains. AIR 1957 Orissa 228 (229) = ILR (1957) Cut 428.

9. Authority to sell. — (1) When an agent is authorised to negotiate and complete a sale for a specified price within a particular time, it gives him authority to enter into a contract for sale whether it be for immovable or movable property. AIR 1946 Mad 42 (44) = ILR (1946) Mad 465 (DB).

(2) An authority to sell for cash will enable the donee of the power to sell not merely for prompt payment of cash but also for deferred payment. The only condition appended to the authority is that the sale must be for the best price — An authority to sell must certainly include an authority to agree to sell also. AIR 1953 Trav-Co 161 (164) (DB).

(3) Where a person is authorised to sell salvage lying in particular area the effecting of such sale within his authority does not give a mandate to him to act outside his authority and sell salvage lying in a different area. AIR 1947 Cal 307 (311) (DB).

(4) A consignee who is not the owner of the goods but only a commission agent for the sale of the goods is entitled to bring in a suit for loss in respect of damage caused to the goods in transit. AIR 1956 All 338 (341) = ILR (1956) 1 All 526 (FB).

(5) Obiter: — It is doubtful whether a seller can in law act as the agent of the buyer for the purpose of taking actual delivery of the goods sold. AIR

1960 All 62 (67) = (1960) 11 STC 34 = 1959 All LJ 545 (DB).

(6) The plaintiffs sold some cotton bales to defendants. One X was the agent of the plaintiffs for the sale of the bales. The defendants did not pay the price of the goods in cash. But instead there was a havala entry in their account books in favour of the creditor of X.

Held, that though X was authorised to receive payment from the defendants as the law requires that payment must be made in cash unless otherwise directed by the principal, the defendants had to show that the payment of the price was made in cash or that the plaintiffs had authorised the defendants to make payment otherwise. In the absence of such proof the havala entry unless it was ratified by the plaintiffs could not bind them. The liability of the defendants could not be regarded as discharged. AIR 1959 Bom 309 (313) = 60 Bom LR 898 (DB).

(7) Where in a case in which the property is put into the hands of the agent to dispose of for the owner and the agent accepts the employment, and it may be expends money and time in endeavouring to carry it out, it may be implied that the principal will not withdraw the authority he has given after the agents has incurred substantial outlay. 1968 MPLJ 510 = 1968 Jab LJ 609 (DB).

10. Broker. — (1) A broker is also in the position of an agent and it is his duty in ordinary course of business to negotiate and make contracts for sale and purchase of goods and other property of which he is not entrusted with the possession or control. The authority of such an agent, therefore, does not extend to all matters relating to the transaction so as to bind the principal. Where there is no express authority, the authority of an agent, not entrusted with the custody of the goods, does not go to the extent of receiving payments on behalf of the principal, specially where the principal is a disclosed principal. In such cases there must be an express authority to receive payment of the price: nor can the agent, of his own accord, alter the material terms of the contract without the knowledge of the principal. ILR (1956) 8 Assam 268 (275).

(2) The position of a broker is that of an agent. When a man is authorised to do a certain act, it must be presumed necessarily that he has been authorised to do all such acts which must be performed to complete the transaction. AIR 1951 Hyd 47 (47) = ILR (1951) Hyd 440.

(3) Stock broker is bound to retain equivalent number of shares and not necessarily specific shares purchased for his client. AIR 1938 PC 23 (24).

189. Agent's authority in an emergency.*—An agent has authority, in an emergency, to do all such acts for the purpose of protecting his principal from loss as would be done by a person of ordinary prudence, in his own case, under similar circumstances.

(4) If a broker is authorised to effect contract on behalf of his principal and the contract is completed by the broker such contract is binding on the principal. AIR 1962 Punj 56 (58, 59) (DB).

11. Estate agent.— (1) House or estate agent is in a different position from a broker at the stock exchange owing to the peculiarities of the property with which he is to deal, which does not pass by a short instrument as stock and shares do but has to be transferred after investigation of title as to which various special stipulations which might be of particular concern to the owner may have to be inserted in a concluded contract relating to such property. The parties, therefore, do not ordinarily contemplate that the agent should have the authority to complete the transaction in such cases. AIR 1950 SC 15 (17) = 1950 SCR 30 = ILR (1951) 1 Cal 511.

12. Counsel.— (1) The counsel, whether he be barrister, advocate or a pleader, has inherent powers to compromise without the authority or consent of the client unless his powers in this behalf have been expressly countermanded. ILR (1954) Hyd 694 (709).

(2) Without the express authority of the client, a pleader cannot compromise his case. ('98) 21 Mad 274 (277) (DB).

(3) An act of the agent is in law an act of the party — Offer to be bound by special oath — Offer can be made by counsel and need not come from party himself. 1964 Jab LJ 51.

13. Solicitor.— (1) A solicitor has no implied authority as such to receive payment of mortgage debt though he may be authorised to receive interest. He cannot enter into agreement to release portion of mortgaged property from lien. Nor can he, where he is authorised to receive payment, receive cheque instead of cash. (1909) 10 Cal L Jour 150 (171) (DB).

(2) Solicitors are not, in the absence of specific authority, agents of their clients to conclude a contract for them. AIR 1952 Nag 220 (225) = ILR (1949) Nag 581.

14. Public agent.— (1) The consideration applicable to the cases of a private principal and agent will not hold good in cases of a public officer doing duty under Government. AIR 1953 Trav. Co 392 (393).

(2) In case of public agents, the Government or other public authority is not bound unless it manifestly appears that the agent is acting within the scope of his authority or he is held out as having the authority to do the act or is employed in his capacity as public agent to make the declaration or representation for the Government. AIR 1947 Mad 74 (76).

15. Power to carry on litigation.— (1) When a litigation is carried on by a person in the name of an agent, the agent can certainly continue to carry the litigation till the last stage. But the principal can step in at any time to carry on the litigation in his own name. AIR 1954 Cal 615 (617) = ILR (1956) 1 Cal 493 (DB).

(2) An agent who has some interest in property can maintain an action to protect that interest even if it is a qualified interest. AIR 1950 Pat 222 (226).

Section 189 — Note 1

(1) The authority of the so-called agent under Section 189 is an authority which the law has granted to person who was acting, not as an agent ex contractu, so far as that particular transaction was concerned, but outside the scope of his employment by the principal. Status, and not contract, is the determining factor in such a case. 1949 Bur LR (SC) 64 (70).

(2) Agents are ordinarily bound to carry out principal's instructions in all respects. If, however, goods are perishable or perishing, agent is entitled to deviate from his instructions as to time or place at which they are to be sold. AIR 1940 Lah 412 (415) (DB).

(3) Agent expressly prohibited from disposing principal's property — Agent in possession of wreckage of launch belonging to principal — Agent having no means available of communicating with principal as to what should be done in respect of it — Agent held came within definition of agent within Section 189. 1949 Bur LR (SC) 64 (71).

(4) Agent purchasing certain goods for the principal and intimating that in default to remit the purchase price, the

Sub-Agents

190. When agent cannot delegate.—An agent cannot lawfully employ another to perform acts which he has expressly or impliedly undertaken to perform personally, unless by the ordinary custom of trade a sub-agent may, or, from the nature of the agency, a sub-agent must, be employed.

191. "Sub-agent" defined.—A "sub-agent" is a person employed by, and acting under the control of, the original agent in the business of the agency.

192. Representation of principal by sub-agent properly appointed.—Where a sub-agent is properly* appointed, the principal is, so far as regards third persons, goods would be sold — Principal failing to remit purchase money in time — Agent held had implied authority to sell the goods at the market value and be reimbursed for the loss. AIR 1927 Lah 493 (494) (DB).

(5) Express instructions to ship "Soonest" at New York — Impossibility to avoid delay at New York — Goods cannot be shipped at another port without promisee's previous consent as there was ample time to obtain such consent. AIR 1925 Cal 609 (611) (DB).

(6) In emergency, bailee has same power to act as agent under Section 189, Contract Act, and in cases of difficulty he is under same duty as has been cast upon agent under Section 214 of Act which makes it incumbent on agent to use all reasonable diligence in communicating with his principal and in seeking to obtain his instructions. AIR 1933 All 158 (159) (DB).

(7) Change of polling station — Requirement of previous approval of Election Commission — Change proposed on eve of polling day — Change approved by Election Commission, on polling day — Approval received by Returning Officer next day — Change shown necessitated by case of urgency — Change held not without legal authority. AIR 1966 Madh Pra 255 (261) = 1966 MPLJ 77 (DB).

(1) As a general rule an agent cannot without authority from his principal devolve upon another obligations to the principal which he has himself undertaken to personally fulfil. But in special circumstances, it is permissible for the agent to appoint a substitute who would be responsible to the principal in the same way as the agent himself. Such a substitute is not a sub-agent but an agent of the principal. AIR 1939 All 188 (189).

(2) Authority to appoint sub-agent may be presumed from facts and the nature of the agency. AIR 1923 Rang 84 (85) = 11 Low Bur Rul 326 (DB).

Section 191 — Note 1

(1) Agent and sub-agent — A while writing letters to B about sales or about steps being taken by him in regard to disposal of B's goods sent to him almost invariably sending copies of these letters to C — Held that though this fact by itself might not establish conclusively that C was B's agent and A was sub-agent it probalised the fact. AIR 1961 Andh Pra 143 (147) = 1960 Andh LT 524 (DB).

(2) Where a constituent of a Bank draws a bill for collection at a place where the bank has neither a branch nor any agent and appoints therefore at the same time an agent of his own, the collection of money by such agent would not bind the Bank as the said agent is in no sense a sub-agent of the Bank, and on default by the agent the constituent cannot claim back the bill amount from the Bank. AIR 1961 Andh Pra 346 (350) (DB).

(3) 'X' purchased flowers from 'A' for sale in another State. In Railway receipt 'X' was shown both as consignor and consignee. 'X' asked 'A' to send railway receipt to 'B' who was supposed to sell flowers on behalf of 'X' if 'B' had not stood surety for the liability of 'X' to 'A'. B did not become an agent of 'A' but only a substituted agent. AIR 1966 Pat 61 (64) = 1965 BLJR 367 (DB).

(4) A petitioner gave Treasury bills to his Bank for collection but the Bank passed them on to another Bank for collection. The other Bank collected the bills from treasury before it went into liquidation. The liquidator and the petitioners came to an understanding that petitioner should receive only fifty per cent of his dues as a preferential claim—Held that the relationship between the petitioner and the first bank were those of principal and agent while the bank in liquidation was only a sub-agent. AIR 1959 Punj 100 (102) = 60 Pun LR 412.

(1) There is no privity of contract between the principal and the sub-agent. AIR 1915 Mad 509 (513) (DB)  AIR 1952 Punj 172 (174) = ILR (1952) Punj 189 (DB).

(2) Authority to appoint sub-agents does not discharge agent's liability to principal for acts of sub-agent, nor creates a privity between principal and sub-agent nor brings the case under Section 194 i.e. procuring an agent. AIR 1930 Sind 247 (250, 251) = 25 Sind LR represented by the sub-agent, and is bound by and responsible for his acts, as if he were an agent originally appointed by the principal.

Agent's responsibility for sub-agent.—The agent is responsible to the principal for the acts of the sub-agent.

Sub-agent's responsibility.—The sub-agent is responsible for his acts to the agent, but not to the principal, except in case of fraud or wilful wrong.

[°] See Ss. 190 and 194.

193. Agent's responsibility for sub-agent appointed without authority.—Where an agent, without having authority to do so, has appointed a person to act as a sub-agent, the agent stands towards such person in the relation of a principal to an agent, and is responsible for his acts both to the principal and to third persons; the principal is not represented by or responsible for the acts of the person so employed, nor is that person responsible to the principal.

(3) Every agent who employs a sub-agent is liable to the principal for money received by the sub-agent to the principal's use, and is responsible to the principal for the negligence and other breaches of duty of the sub-agent in the course of his employment. AIR 1930 PC 274 (275)  AIR 1917 Bom 19 (31) (DB).

(6) Receiver to an estate appointing tahsildar — Tahsildar may be regarded as sub-agent liable to Receiver and not to the principal. (1908) 8 Cal LJ 114 (115) (DB).

(7) It is open to a person to contract out of his liability under Section 192. AIR 1952 Punj 172 (175) = ILR (1952) Punj 189 (DB).

(8) A in foreign country remitting money through its bank in foreign country to person in India — Contract contemplating appointment of sub-agent — Indian branch of Bank instructing another Bank to make payment to payee after observing certain formalities as to due identification, etc. — There was held no privity of contract between A and the Bank making payment — Latter was held not liable to A even if negligence of its servants was proved. AIR 1952 Punj 172 (174) = ILR (1952) Punj 189 (DB).

(9) If a person is initially appointed as agent and if he engages his own sub-agent for carrying through certain transactions, the mere circumstances that the sub-agent corresponded not with his employer but with the main principal does not divest the main agent of his character as such. AIR 1961 Andh Pra 143 (150) = 1960 Andh LT 524 (DB). (60 ER 428; AIR 1930 PC 274, Rel. on.)

(10) The agent's custody can be constructive. When under his instructions the goods are despatched to his sub-agent and the latter is having custody thereof that would be deemed to be the custody of the principal. AIR 1961 Andh Pra 143 (152) = 1960 Andh LT 524 (DB).

(11) A sub-agent is responsible only to his principal namely the agent but not to the principal. But the position is different if he is guilty of fraud or wilful wrong. This is not only on the general principles but by reason of third paragraph of Section 192. AIR 1961 Andh Pra 143 (153) = 1960 Andh LT 524 (DB).

(12) Bank transmitting constituent's bill for collection under his instructions to his agent at place where Bank has no branch or agent — Agent not sub-agent of Bank — Bank not liable for collection by agent. AIR 1961 Andh Pra 346 (350) (DB).

(13) The sub-agent is responsible for his acts to the agent, but not to the principal except in case of fraud or wilful wrong — Even if it be held that negligence on the part of the sub-agent is a 'wilful wrong' the right of recourse to the sub-agent does not exclude the principal's normal right of recourse to his agent — In fact, the total effect of Section 192 is to give an option to the principal where a fraud or wilful wrong is committed by the sub-agent. AIR 1963 Cal 163 (172) = 1963 Cal LJ 43.

(1) The true test to determine whether the person appointed by the agent authorised in that behalf to perform part of the business of agency is a substituted agent of the principal or the sub-agent of the agent is to see if there is a privity of contract between the principal and the person so appointed, and the test to be applied is the same whether the case falls within Section 194 or whether the person so appointed is nominee of the principal, although there is difference in the obligation undertaken by the agent. (2) Plaintiff who was owner of houses appointed a banking concern to lease out his houses. In the course of the correspondence, plaintiff wrote to bank's agent thus: "In any case you need not enquire from me about renting the cottages. You have full authority to accept anything". The banking concern appointed defendant as agent on behalf of plaintiff to rent the houses: Held that the plaintiff had given very wide powers to the banking concern and the power to appoint an agent under these circumstances might well be inferred. A banking concern usually is not expected to go about in search of tenants and plaintiff must have known that other agencies would have to be employed in order to find suitable tenants for the houses. Under these circumstances the bank had authority to appoint defendant as agent and the latter was accountable to plaintiff. AIR 1939 All 188 (189).

(3) Where a person appoints one branch of a bank as his agent for the purchase of certain goods and that branch instructs another branch of the same bank to pay for and take delivery of the goods for such person the latter branch becomes a substituted agent of the person and is bound to carry out all the instructions of the principal in respect of the transaction. The Court cannot take judicial notice of a mercantile custom at variance with the statutory rights of a party to the contract when it has been neither pleaded nor proved. AIR 1929 Lah 536 (538) (DB). (4) English mortgage — Mortgagor granting power-of-attorney to mortgagee to collect rents as mortgagor's agent — Power-of-attorney giving authority to mortgagee to appoint substitute — Substitute so appointed is agent of mortgagor and not of mortgagee. AIR 1936 Pat 211 (217) = 14 Pat 560 (DB).

(5) Where A, a Commission agent of B, employed C to carry on forward transaction business on behalf of B and B accepted the transactions as well as the profits thereof, C is an agent of B for that part of the business of the agency as was entrusted to C and privity of contract arises between B and C as principal and substitute. AIR 1958 SC 269 (272) = 1958 SCR 937 = ILR (1958) Punj 731.

(6) Goods consigned from Quetta in Pakistan to New Delhi in India— Goods carried by Pakistan Railway and Indian Railway — No treaty between two countries regarding liability for loss of goods in case of through traffic — Suit by consignee for compensation for non-delivery at New Delhi against Dominion of India. In the situation the authority in the Receiving Railway as an agent must necessarily be implied, to appoint forwarding railway to act for the consignor and the forwarding railway would be an agent of the consignor. AIR 1960 SC 233 (297) = (1960) 2 SCR 75.

(7) The difference between the relations of master and servant and of principal and agent is that a principal has the right to direct what work the agent has to do; but a master has the further right to direct how the work is to be done. An agent has to be distinguished on the one hand from a servant and on the other from an independent contractor. A servant acts under the direct control and supervision of his master. An agent though bound to exercise his authority in accordance with all lawful instructions which may be given to him from time to time by his principal, is not subject in its exercise to the direct control or supervision of the principal. AIR 1960 SC 1269 (1271, 1272) = (1960) 3 SCR 546.

(8) Section 194 embodies the theory of what is generally known as substituted agency. What this section envisages is an agent nominating another person to act for the principal in the business of the agency with the knowledge and consent of the principal. The naming of the person does not amount to delegation of the duties of the principal. In such a

195. Agent's duty in naming such person.—In selecting such agent for his principal, an agent is bound to exercise the same amount of discretion as a man of ordinary prudence would exercise in his own case; and, if he does this, he is not responsible to the principal for the acts or negligence of the agent so selected.

Illustrations

(a) A instructs B, a merchant, to buy a ship for him. B employs a ship-surveyor of good reputation to choose a ship for A. The surveyor makes the choice negligently and the ship turns out to be unseaworthy and is lost. B is not, but the surveyor is, responsible to A.

(b) A consigns goods to B, a merchant, for sale. B, in due course, employs an auctioneer in good credit to sell the goods of A, and allows the auctioneer to receive the proceeds of the sale. The auctioneer afterwards becomes insolvent without having accounted for the proceeds. B is not responsible to A for the proceeds.

case, direct relations are established between the principal and the person nominated and the latter becomes an agent substituted for the person who was authorised to nominate another. 8 Ch D 286, Rel. on. The mere fact however that the principal had accepted the terms on which the sub-agent would sell the goods and advance money against goods would not ipso facto put an end to the relations between the principal and the agent. (9) Defendant No. 1 as agent of plaintiff requesting defendant 2 to arrange for reshipment of goods from Rangoon to Calcutta — Defendant 2 agreeing with plaintiff to do so — Defendant 2 held to be nominee of plaintiff — Privity of contract held established between plaintiff and defendant 2 — Defendant 1 not liable for negligence of defendant 2. AIR 1963 Cal 163 (169, 170, 171) = 1963 Cal LJ 43.

Held, that the position of the M Bank was that of the sub-agent appointed under the authority of the defendant firm, but there was no privity of contract between them. (2) That the P. N. Bank was guilty of negligence in dealing with the business of collecting the draft through the M Bank. (3) That the banker was bound to do not only what was legally imperative but also what was prudent in the interests of his customer. The onus of proving the absence of negligence is on the banker. Section 195 — Note 1

(1) It cannot be said that as the agent is responsible to the principal for negligence in the relation of a substituted agent, his hands would be tied as soon as he made the nomination and cannot revoke it although he may later discover that the person appointed by him was unworthy of his choice. Section 195 itself implies the power of revocation in an agent in the case of a substituted person. AIR 1944 Bom 76 (85).

SECTION 196 — SYNOPSIS

1. Ratification — Essentials of.
2. Acts done without authority.
3. Ratification — Effect of.
4. Ratification by quondam minor.
5. Acts which cannot be ratified.

1. Ratification — Essentials of. — (1) The first essential to the doctrine of ratification, with its necessary consequence of relating back, is that the agent shall not be acting for himself, but shall be intending to bind a named or ascertainable principal. AIR 1936 PC 193 (197)  AIR 1936 Cal 87 (92) (DB)  AIR 1927 Mad 805 (811). (Man can ratify that which purported to be done for him, but cannot ratify thing done for somebody else.)  AIR 1917 Mad 250 (253) (DB)  (1908) 35 Cal 420 (429) = 35 Ind App 48 (PC)  (1908) 8 Cal LJ 458 (467) (DB)  (1881-82) 6 Bom 463 (466) (DB).

(2) Ratification in the proper sense of the term is applicable only to acts done on behalf of the person who ratifies. (1908) 8 Cal LJ 458 (467)  ILR (1967) 3 Mad 80 (DB)  1962 All LJ 678  AIR 1960 Pat 19 (25) = 1959 BLJR 527.

(3) Section 196 refers to contracts which have been entered into by persons on behalf of others without their knowledge or authority but not to contracts which have been expressly forbidden either by those persons who are alleged to have ratified them later or by law. AIR 1939 Mad 957 (960) = ILR (1939) Mad 928 (DB)  1966 Raj LW 500 = ILR (1967) 17 Raj 483. (Municipal Board cannot be held responsible for the act of the chairman which is not part of the duty of the Board.)

(4) Effective ratification necessarily involves knowledge of all the material facts on the part of him who ratifies. AIR 1930 PC 278 (281)  1958-2 Andh WR 134 (148)  AIR 1957 All 311 (316)  AIR 1948 Oudh 54 (75) = 22 Luck 93 (DB)  AIR 1936 Cal 87 (92) (DB)  AIR 1930 Oudh 312 (314) = 6 Luck 19 (DB)  AIR 1927 Mad 478 (485) (DB). (Full knowledge of facts must be proved.)  AIR 1915 Cal 54 (58)

(DB)  (1964) 68 Cal WN 786. (No full knowledge on the part of principal.)  1962 All LJ 678  1959 Andh LT 39 = (1958) 2 Andh WR 134.

(5) The ratification, in order to be effective, can only be by an authority that is in existence on the day the transaction was entered into and it should also be competent to ratify. AIR 1960 Andh Pra 340 (342) = ILR (1959) Andh Pra 1272 (DB).

(6) In order to ratify something it is necessary that that thing must exist. AIR 1926 Cal 1215 (1217) (DB).

(7) It is possible for the act of an agent done within time to be subsequently ratified by the principal. AIR 1934 Pat 290 (292) (DB).

(8) A principal cannot ratify a transaction in part and repudiate it in part. AIR 1915 Cal 54 (58) (DB)  AIR 1924 Pat 25 (27).

(9) In determining whether the principal ratified an act of the agent the question is not what the principal intended to do but what he did. That is, his acts are conclusive evidence of his intention. AIR 1927 Mad 478 (483) (DB).

(10) An option of ratification is capable of being exercised within a reasonable time of the act purported to be ratified and not after the expiry of the period for which the option was open. AIR 1939 Mad 957 (960) = ILR (1939) Mad 928 (DB).

(11) There can be no ratification of a contract unless it is communicated to the other side or that subsequent actions show an approbation of the contract. AIR 1938 Nag 482 (482) = ILR (1940) Nag 29 (DB)  AIR 1954 Nag 357 (359) = ILR (1954) Nag 558 (DB).

(12) Ratification is different from consent. Consent is an express or implied agreement to waive the right to avoid an act and precedes the transaction. Ratification is subsequent in point of time to the transaction which is voidable. AIR 1927 Nag 180 (182).

(13) Agent fraudulently drawing bill of exchange on behalf of principal — Bills dishonoured — Agent acting within scope of his authority — Act of agent ratified by principal — No collusion between payee and agent — Principal is liable — It is not the business of the bank in whose favour the bill was drawn to enquire about the motive of the agent, as long as he had authority to draw the bill. AIR 1963 Andh Pra 348 (351, 352) = (1963) 1 Andh WR 180 (DB).

(14) Ratification of order of authority which is improperly constituted — Does not amount to ratifying authority passing the order as original order under powers vested in it by statute — If there is exercise of power by agent in excess of scope of his agency, ratifications thereof be made by principal, but where appointment of agent is invalid there can be no question of ratification of any act purporting to have been done by such agent. AIR 1967 Andh Pra 291 = (1968) 1 Andh LT 165 (DB).

(15) Agent for sale — Defendant not paying in cash — Havala entry in favour of creditor of agent — Such entry unless it was ratified by the principal would not bind them — Liability of defendant could not be regarded as discharged. AIR 1959 Bom 309 = 60 Bom LR 898 (DB).

(16) Change of polling station on grounds of urgency — Change approved by Election Commission on polling day — Change held not without legal authority. AIR 1966 Madh Pra 255 (261) = 1966 MPLJ 77 (DB).

(18) Person taking house on rent for starting hospital for women. Held, principal (i.e. hospital) being undisclosed and not being legal body in absence of registration, person was personally liable for rent under Section 230 — Not even any subsequent ratification by the company, when it comes into existence, can relieve the personal liability of the agent. AIR 1963 Pat 131.

(19) Contract entered into by Government Official not complying with provisions of Section 175 (3), Government of India Act (1935) — Subsequently Government agreeing to accept goods at reduced rate from the contractor in pursuance of terms of contract and entering into arbitration with him dragging on for a long time — Arbitrators not objecting on ground of non-compliance with Section 175 (3) — Such objection raised after a very long time — Facts held amounted to ratification of the contract — Plea of ratification held involved not only question of law but also question of fact — Plea not raised — Defect of non-compliance with Section 175 (3) held not cured by reason of ratification. AIR 1961 Punj 5 (7) = 63 Pun LR 186.

2. Acts done without authority. — (1) In order to establish a case of ratification, it is essential that the party ratifying should be conscious that an act beyond the authority of the agent had been done, and further after notice of that fact, the party consciously by an overt act agreed to be bound by it or by acquiescence in the situation arising.

thereafter allowed the business to continue. In either event, consciousness of the act done by the agent without authority must be proved, and, secondly, it should be proved that, after notice of such unauthorized act the principal adopted the transaction. AIR 1936 Bom 62 (69) = 60 Bom 326 (DB).

(2) An act done by an agent of the Government, though in excess of his authority can be ratified by the Government and on being ratified is equivalent to previous authority. (3) Where goods were illegally seized by Prohibition Sub-Inspector and sold by the District Prohibition Officer, such sale cannot be treated as an act of the Government ratifying the seizure. It is only an act done in the ordinary course of the discharge of the duties prescribed under the statute. AIR 1957 Mad 190 (191).

(4) By affirming or accepting the validity of a transaction made by the limited owner, a particular reversioner may preclude himself from challenging the same. AIR 1956 Cal 211 (213) (DB).

(5) When a dispute was referred to arbitration by an unauthorised agent and the principal was aware of the arbitration proceedings and ratified the agent's action, he cannot question the validity of the award later. (1897) 24 Cal 469 (472) (DB).

(6) Where a dispute was referred to arbitration by one of the partners without the authority of other partners, such reference is not illegal if ratified by other partners. AIR 1952 Punj 234 (236)  AIR 1949 East Punj 46 (47).

(A reference to arbitration through Court under Section 21, Arbitration Act, by one partner alone, cannot, be legalised by subsequent acquiescence and ratification by other partners.)]

(8) A mortgage executed by a general agent holding a power-of-attorney, which did not authorise him to execute mortgages is operative if acted upon and ratified by the principal. AIR 1922 All 197 (199) = 44 All 77 (DB).

(9) Where an act of an agent done in excess of his authority is ratified by the principal, the personal liability of the agent to the principal ceases. AIR 1927 Mad 478 (482) (DB).

(10) The principal might not have authorised or ratified a transaction entered into by his agent but still he would become answerable to the extent of the benefit derived by him under the transaction. AIR 1930 Nag 42 (42). (Unauthorised borrowing applied to pay off principal's legal debt.)  AIR 1937 Lah 570 (571). (Money received through wrongful or unauthorised act of agent — Principal benefiting by the money becomes jointly liable with agent to restore it.)

(2) Ratification relates back to the time of inception of the transaction and has a complete retroactive efficacy. AIR 1936 Cal 87 (92) (DB)  AIR 1934 Pat 290 (292) (DB)  AIR 1968 Delhi 292 = (1968) 70 Pun LR (D) 148.

(3) Since an act done by a person not authorised to do it can be ratified, it follows that such act is not void but voidable. If it is not ratified, it will become void; but if it is ratified, it is validated. AIR 1938 All 369 (373) = ILR (1938) All 614 (DB).

(4) Though an unauthorised act of an agent binds the principal because the principal, though undisclosed, has ratified it, it cannot be said that a person is bound by the act of another with whom a third party deals as principal though that act is in fact unauthorised and is not ratified by that person, merely on the ground that the act falls within the scope of the usual or apparent authority of the other. AIR 1958 Bom 445 (450) = ILR (1958) Bom 1035.

(5) Ratification once deliberately made upon full knowledge of all the material circumstances becomes at once obligatory and cannot afterwards be revoked or recalled. AIR 1914 Mad 174 (189, 190) = 38 Mad 997 (DB).

(6) Mere ex post facto submission not amounting to ratification does not amount to estoppel. AIR 1919 Oudh 95 (97) (DB).

4. Ratification by quondam minor. —

(1) In order that an act may amount to a ratification, there must be after majority and after the late minor has acquired full knowledge of the nature and effect of the transaction, some promise or other act, which shows an internal acknowledgment of his liability in respect of the act done on his behalf during minority. Where, therefore, a person, two months after attaining majority, renews the promissory note executed by the late agent of his mother guardian and such agent at the time of the renewal is in the employ of the person in whose favour the promissory note is executed, it cannot be said that the act of the minor amounted to a ratification of the act of his mother guardian and the plaintiff must prove that there was a legal necessity. AIR 1935 Nag 127 (128) = 31 Nag LR 243  AIR 1938 Nag 68 (72) (DB).

(2) As a general rule, a person or a body of persons not competent to authorize an act cannot give it validity by ratifying it. Where the minor was not in a position to give authority at the date when the acts were performed for the reason that a minor cannot contract or perform other legal acts based on a contract, he cannot subsequently ratify these acts. Subsequent acknowledgments by minor on attaining majority do not amount to ratification of acknowledgment given by his de facto guardian during his minority. AIR 1948 Nag 293 (295) = ILR (1947) Nag 710 (DB).

(3) The question of ratification in minors' cases can arise only with respect to the actions of guardians. Such actions are ordinarily binding until set aside by the minor on attaining majority or by someone on his behalf before that. Therefore, on the minor's attaining majority if he does not repudiate the actions of his guardian within a reasonable time or if he elects to ratify them, he is bound by his election. AIR 1937 Nag 390 (391) = ILR (1937) Nag 458.

(4) In order to ratify the transaction of a lease by guardian, it would not be enough to show that the rent was received by the am-mukhetar unless it was further shown that the am-mukhtear was given the power not only to collect rent from tenants but also for ratifying contracts which his master could avoid. AIR 1927 Cal 796 (800) (DB).

(5) Sale deed by minor's guardian — Minor on attaining majority ratifying that transaction by deed — Latter deed does not require registration. AIR 1943 Nag 263 (264) = ILR (1943) Nag 574.

(6) Where minor's property was mortgaged by the guardian for his own good and not for minor's benefit, there can be no ratification. AIR 1940 Pat 661 (662) (DB).

Revocation of Authority

201. Termination of agency.—An agency is terminated* by the principal revoking his authority; or by the agent renouncing the business of the agency; or by the business of the agency being completed; or by either the principal or agent dying or becoming of unsound mind; or by the principal being adjudicated an insolvent under the provisions of any Act for the time being in force for the relief of insolvent debtors.

[*] Two other modes of terminating agency are: (1) where the subject-matter of agency ceases to exist (See S. 56); and (2) where the principal's power over the subject-matter comes to an end. Cf. Powers of Attorney Act, 1882, S. 3.

(6) Either a power in a promoter to represent or commit the unborn corporation or a power in the company subsequently to ratify the act cannot be spelt out by Sections 196 to 200 of the Act. ILR (1967) 3 Mad 80 (DB).

SECTION 201 — SYNOPSIS

1. Termination of agency.
2. Revocation.
3. Completion of business.
4. Death of principal or agent.
5. Unsoundness of mind.
6. Insolvency.

1. Termination of agency.— (1) Section 201 is not exhaustive. It does not mention all the circumstances in which an agency can be terminated. The section is really illustrative and the question whether in particular circumstances an agency can be deemed to have terminated will have to be decided upon the general principles of law. AIR 1951 Nag 313 (314) = ILR (1951) Nag 90 * AIR 1968 Cal 492 = 68 ITR 310 (DB)  1966 Ker LJ 487 (DB).

(2) A firm is an artificial person and upon dissolution it ceases to exist. Therefore, a contract of agency entered into by a firm would stand terminated upon its dissolution. AIR 1951 Nag 313 (314) = ILR (1951) Nag 90.

(3) Termination of agency is question of fact depending on usage and terms of contract. It does not necessarily terminate on the return of the agent from the foreign place to which he was sent. AIR 1917 Mad 398 (398) (DB).

(3-A) In all indefinite merchantile or commercial contracts, the question whether the relationship of principal and agent can be terminated by a reasonable notice or only by mutual consent, is one of construction, subject to the rules of law. There is no general rule of performance. AIR 1969 Mad 423 (425) = (1969) 1 Mad LJ 605.

(4) In case of an agency for fixed period if the agent is allowed to continue as an agent even after expiry of the fixed period, the agency is not terminated upon the expiry of the period but continues on the basis of old agreement. There is no creation of fresh agency. AIR 1917 Mad 455 (455, 456) (DB).

(5) Once the Court takes charge of the property in a suit by the appointment of a Receiver or otherwise, rights of management or service which other persons may possess by virtue of any contract with the original owners will cease. But this is not an absolute rule of law but will depend upon the circumstances of each case. AIR 1936 Mad 980 (982) (DB).

(6) Where the agent of the original owner is appointed as the Receiver and he works as an agent of his master notwithstanding his appointment as receiver, his agency does not cease. AIR 1936 Mad 980 (983, 984) (DB).

(7) Power-of-attorney executed by a certificated guardian in favour of a person to act for the minor can terminate only under this section or under other relevant sections of the Act and not merely by attainment of majority by the minor. AIR 1946 All 1 (2, 3) = ILR (1945) All 882 (DB).

(8) Counter-claim and set off — Distinction — Counter-claim maintainable only if defendant is entitled to bring independent action for same relief — Suit by principal against agent for rendition of accounts — Counter claim by Agent asking for accounts in respect of an anterior contract of agency separate from suit contract on the ground that earlier principal was plaintiff's mother whose property plaintiff had inherited — Counter-claim not maintainable as agent cannot sue principal for accounts except under exceptional circumstances which were held to be non-existent — Agency held not continuous. AIR 1965 Andh Pra 18 = (1964) 1 Andh WR 194.

(9) In the absence of anything to show that the power of attorney agent has done anything to free himself from the obligation to act as an agent under the existing power the presumption would be that he acted as an agent of the principal, i.e., the plaintiff, and there was relationship of landlord and tenant between the plaintiff and the defendant. AIR 1961 Assam 13 (14) = ILR (1958) 10 Assam 34 (DB).

(10) The original special provision of the Negotiable Instruments Act which enables an endorsee to sue on the instrument on the foot of an endorsement, creates an exception to the ordinary law of agency, and the principle adumbrated in the Indian Contract Act is so far as Agency, in general is concerned and in particular Section 201, thereto, cannot be telescoped into this enactment so as to interpret its intendment. AIR 1968 Mad 260 (262) = (1969) 2 MLJ 148.

2. Revocation.— (1) Agency, unless it is for a fixed term continues and can be terminated at principal's pleasure — Agency is personal. AIR 1943 Sind 197 (203) = ILR (1943) Kar 49 (DB).

(2) A, B and C jointly advancing loan to S — Three-fourth loan contributed by B and C — Estate of S taken over by Haisiyat Court — A filing claim for outstanding debt — Claim accepted — B and C filing suit for declaration that they were entitled to receive three-fourth amount — Held there was express revocation of authority of A to realise share of B and C by the suit for declaration. ILR (1952) 2 Raj 459 (469).

(3) An agency is determined when the agent ceases to represent the principal, though his liability in respect of acts done by him as agent may continue and hence where, in obedience to a telegram sent to him by his principal, an agent hands over the charge to another, his agency terminates that very day as his authority is revoked. AIR 1916 Mad 281 (282) = 39 Mad 376 (DB).

(4) Where a letter of agency to purchase was immediately followed by a telegram revoking the order, the telegram operated as revocation of order contained in the letter. (1900) 24 Bom 403 (406) (DB).

(5) An agency is terminated by the dismissal of the agent and if the agent continues to be in possession of the principal's house after the dismissal, it cannot be treated as the possession of the principal. AIR 1928 Nag 284 (286) = 24 Nag LR 148 = 29 Cri L Jour 902.

(6) Agent entrusted with power of management of property and with direction to pay income, after deducting expenses to principal — Not an agency coupled with interest — Principal can revoke power of attorney and lease out property to third person — Agent cannot claim title by adverse possession. 15 LR 376 = (1968) 2 Mys LJ 179.

3. Completion of business.— (1) The agency of an agent for sale of goods does not terminate on the sale of goods but continues until he pays to the principal all sums received on his account. (1890) 12 All 541 (545) (DB)  (1899) 26 Cal 715 (724).

(2) Agency of Bank collecting moneys and sending drafts terminates on despatching drafts. AIR 1915 Lah 214 (215) = 1915 Pun Re No. 79 (DB)  (1950) 54 Cal WN 747 (748).

(3) A banker employed to collect and remit money is under a fiduciary obligation to account for and to pay the money to his principal according to directions. Ordinarily, the agency does not terminate on collection but continues until payment. If in the absence of any instruction from the principal the banker remits the draft, the principal may accept the draft as a conditional payment. If the draft is honoured and the money is paid, the business of the agency is completed; if not, the original obligation of the banker to pay the money is revived and the agency continues. The parties may agree that the banker may use the money collected for his own purposes under an obligation to repay an equivalent to the principal instead of remitting the money to the principal in cash. So soon as the banker, becomes entitled to use the money as his own, a debt is created and the fiduciary obligation and the agency terminate. AIR 1955 Cal 91 (91).

(4) If the banker is employed to collect money and to issue a draft for the amount collected, the business of the agency terminates as soon as the draft is issued. By the express direction of the principal, the banker then may issue the draft in lieu of making payment in cash. By the issue of the draft, in such circumstances, the banker accounts for the money collected to the satisfaction of the principal. The fiduciary obligation to account for and to pay the amount collected ceases and henceforth the banker is under an obligation to honour and pay the draft according to the tenor thereof. If the banker issues a draft contrary to instructions or in the absence of instructions or does not issue a draft at all, the agency continues until the money collected is paid to the principal. The issue of a draft in the absence of such instructions does not terminate the agency simply because the draft is said to be issued in the ordinary course of business. AIR 1955 Cal 91 (91).

(5) In case of bills, cheques, etc., entrusted to a banker for collection, the banker acts as an agent of the person who entrusts such bills for collection and as soon as a banker has disbursed the money so received by him, as the collecting agent of his customer, in accordance with his instructions, the business of the agency must be deemed to have concluded and the agency terminated. AIR 1949 East Punj 88 (90) = ILR (1948) East Punj 191.

(6) A vakil may be bound or entitled to act for his client in a suit even after decree without a fresh vakilpatra. (1883) 7 Bom 518 (519).

(7) Once an agency is terminated any claim arising thereafter will only be an ordinary claim and not a trust or preferential claim. If, however, the claim arose before the agency is terminated, it is a trust claim payable preferentially. So, when a customer gives specific instruction to his Bank to collect Bills and remit the proceeds by Demand Draft, it creates an agency and the agency continues to exist till the instructions are carried out. Once the instructions are carried out, the agency comes to an end on the completion of the business by sending the Demand Draft to the customer. Thereafter, the relationship between the customer and the Bank is that of creditor and debtor. AIR 1967 Bom 279 = 68 Bom LR 500.

(8) Bank collecting money from customer of plaintiff and remitting amount to plaintiff by draft — Draft dishonoured for want of sufficient credit of the bank — Bank going into liquidation — Plaintiff is entitled to rank as preferential creditor — Fiduciary relationship between Bank and Plaintiff held did not end upon sending draft. AIR 1962 Punj 121 (125) = ILR (1962) 1 Punj 747 (DB).

4. Death of principal or agent. — (1) Under the section an agency is terminated by either the principal or agent dying. AIR 1922 Cal 53 (54) (DB)  AIR 1933 Lah 876 (878). (Power given by decree-holder to execute decree ceases on his death and fresh power from legal representatives is necessary to execute the decree.)

(2) Payment made by an agent after the death of his principal cannot give a fresh starting point for limitation. 1880 Pun Re No. 78, p. 175 (176) (DB).

(3) Agency created by two principals of the firm jointly does not terminate on the insolvency of one of them where the firm itself continues to exist. AIR 1937 Nag 314 (316) = ILR (1937) Nag 28. (Case arising before the Partnership Act of 1932.)

(4) Where there are two or more principals and they are joint and several and one of them dies, the agency terminates only as regards the representatives of the deceased principal, but it continues as regards the surviving principals. AIR 1936 Cal 650 (652, 653)  AIR 1917 Cal 436 (440) (DB).

(5) Where a power of attorney has been executed by several principals in favour of a person, and one of the principals having distinct interest in the subject-matter of the power of attorney dies, the death of principal terminates the power of attorney. AIR 1938 Mad 542 (544, 545).

(6) Where two principals appoint an agent to take charge of some matter in which they are jointly interested, the death of one of them terminates the authority of the agent, not merely as regards the deceased but also as regards the surviving principal. AIR 1917 Cal 436 (441) (DB).

(7) Agent appointed by karta of joint family is agent of family and not of karta and as such agency does not cease on death of karta. AIR 1934 All 553 (556) (DB).

(8) Where two or more agents are employed for a business, on the death of one of them, the contract of agency terminates only so far as the deceased is concerned, but not as regards the surviving agents. AIR 1917 Cal 52 (62) (FB)  (1913) 17 Cal L Jour 201 (204) (DB).

(9) Section 201 will not become applicable merely because the servant employed by a master was performing some of the duties of an agent, so as to terminate the agency upon death of any one of them. AIR 1954 Orissa 241 (242, 243).

5. Unsoundness of mind. — (1) Power given to attorney terminates on principal's insanity. AIR 1940 PC 211 (214) = 1941 Rang LR 355.

6. Insolvency. — (1) The question of termination of agency on insolvency of one of the principals, who jointly with the other created the agency, is to be determined with reference to the true intention of the parties and the attending circumstances. AIR 1937 Nag 314 (316) = ILR (1937) Nag 28.

(2) Agent having general power to do all acts besides carrying on trade — Power does not terminate on presentation of petition in bankruptcy — He can defend on behalf of the principal. AIR 1916 Mad 144 (147) = 39 Mad 693 (DB).

Section 202 — Note 1

(1) Junior member of a Malabar tarwad who has been given power-of-attorney by the karnavan to collect rents of the tarwad property has an interest in the property within Section 202. AIR 1932 Mad 70 (71).

(2) Agent having interest in subject-matter of agency — Agency cannot be revoked. AIR 1964 All 441 (441, 442) (DB). (Reversed on another point in AIR 1969 SC 73.)  AIR 1968 Mad 333 = [1968] 2 Mad LJ 74  ILR (1967) 3 Mad 161.

(3) The mere arrangement that an agent's salary be paid from the rent he collected does not give the agent any interest in the property. (1881) 5 Bom 253 (256) (DB).

(4) Where a contract was to the effect that the consignee shall have authority subject-matter of the agency, the agency cannot, in the absence of an express contract, be terminated to the prejudice of such interest.

Illustrations

(a) A gives authority to B to sell A's land, and to pay himself, out of the proceeds, the debts due to him from A. A cannot revoke his authority, nor can it be terminated by his insanity or death.

(b) A consigns 1,000 bales of cotton to B, who has made advances to him on such cotton, and desires B to sell the cotton, and to repay himself, out of the price, the amount of his own advances. A cannot revoke this authority, nor is it terminated by his insanity or death.

to sell the goods at his discretion, and repay himself the advance out of the proceeds, drawing on the consignor in the event of a shortfall, the consignee had an interest within the meaning of Section 202 and the authority to sell could not be revoked to the prejudice of such interest except in accordance with an express contract reserving such power to the consignor. ('97) 20 Mad 97 (105, 106) (DB).

(5) Mortgage by deposit of title-deeds — Mortgagee put into possession to realise profits and appropriate the same towards interest — Mortgagee is one having an interest in the agency and it cannot be terminated before repayment of loan. AIR 1919 Low Bur 145 (146) = 9 Low Bur Rul 172 (DB).

(6) Where the authority of an agent is given for the purpose of effectuating any security or of protecting or securing any interest of the agent, it is irrevocable during the subsistence of such security or interest. The primary object of the power-of-attorney was to recover on behalf of the principal the fruits of his decree. It contained incidentally a provision for the employment of the agent, in order to realise that decree. It provided that his remuneration was to be one-half of the proceeds. It contained an indemnity clause against any out-of-pocket expenses which the agent was entitled also to recover from the amount of the decree. But the power-of-attorney was not for the purpose of protecting or securing any interest of the agent. That part of the agreement was purely incidental. Held, that the agency was not one coupled with interest under Section 202 of the Contract Act. AIR 1946 Mad 9 (10) = ILR (1946) Mad 121 (DB).

(7) Agent for sale of goods entitled to retain part of the sale-proceeds in lieu of remuneration has no interest in the goods within Section 202. AIR 1932 Nag 34 (35, 36) = 27 Nag LR 378.

(8) Section 202 makes no departure from English law — Agency in plaintiff's favour wherein he has individual interest — Court will not grant injunction to restrain defendant from preventing plaintiff in acting as agent, when it would involve specific enforcement of contract, which cannot be so enforced. AIR 1944 Bom 76 (85, 86).

(9) The principle of Section 202, Contract Act, applies only to cases, where authority is given for the purpose of being a security or a part of the security, and not to cases where the interest of the donee arises afterwards and incidentally; in such cases, there is no authority, coupled with an interest but an independent authority, and an interest subsequently arising. AIR 1938 Mad 542 (545).

(10) Agency created by an ordinary power-of-attorney for the management of an endowment can be revoked even though the endowment is made for the spiritual benefit of the person creating the endowment and the members of the family including the agent for such spiritual benefit cannot amount to an interest within the meaning of Section 202. AIR 1930 Mad 231 (233) (DB).

(11) Where A under a document agreed that the debts raised by B for her (A) were to be realized out of the collections made by him (B) from certain estate, that in substance amounts to an allocation of the funds to be appropriated towards the repayment of the debts, and all the elements that are necessary to constitute an agency of an irrevocable character are present in that document, even though that may not be described as such. The right accrues to B on the very date when the document is executed. AIR 1956 Pat 233 (237, 238) (DB).

(12) Mortgagee exercising power of sale is not authorised by Section 69 (3) and (4), T. P. Act to purchase property for himself, either directly or indirectly — To such case Sections 215 and 202, Contract Act, have no application. 1948 Bur LR (HC) 148 (155, 157) (DB).

(13) Power of attorney in favour of Bank to execute decree — Execution by Bank — Objections to maintainability of application by Bank and to jurisdiction of Court — Objections entertainable at appellate stage having been based on legal grounds — Power of attorney, not revocable. AIR 1969 SC 73

203. When principal may revoke agent's authority.—The principal may, save as is otherwise provided by the last preceding section, revoke the authority given to his agent at any time before the authority has been exercised so as to bind the principal.

204. Revocation where authority has been partly exercised.—The principal cannot revoke the authority given to his agent after the authority has been partly exercised so far as regards such acts and obligations as arise from acts already done in the agency.

Illustrations

(a) A authorizes B to buy 1,000 bales of cotton on account of A, and to pay for it out of A's moneys remaining in B's hands. B buys 1,000 bales of cotton in his own name, so as to make himself personally liable for the price. A cannot revoke B's authority so far as regards payment for the cotton.

(b) A authorizes B to buy 1,000 bales of cotton on account of A, and to pay for it out of A's moneys remaining in B's hands. B buys 1,000 bales of cotton in A's name, and so as not to render himself personally liable for the price. A can revoke B's authority to pay for the cotton.

(14) Where under a mortgage deed certain shares of a Bank and the right to the dividend on the same were all charged in favour of the mortgagee, and the mortgagee was further authorised to receive directly from the Bank any dividend declared, appropriating the same towards interest due on the mortgage, it was held that an agency contemplated by Section 202 was created in favour of the mortgagee and is not liable to be terminated by the principal alone. AIR 1957 Trav-Co 174 (175, 176).

(15) Where reversioners executed a power of attorney in favour of a stranger authorising him to conduct a suit on their behalf and providing that when the property, the subject-matter of the suit, would be recovered he would be entitled to certain share in it, it was held that such authority was not coupled with interest and hence Section 202 did not apply. AIR 1938 Mad 542 (545).

(16) Agent entrusted with power of management of property and with direction to pay income, after deducting expenses to principal — Not an agency coupled with interest — Principal can revoke power of attorney and lease out property to third person — Agent cannot claim title by adverse possession. Section 203 — Note 1

(1) Instructions received by plaintiff by letter to buy cotton as agent to X — Telegram revoking authority sent after receipt by plaintiff of letter — No action taken in pursuance of the authority by letter by plaintiff till receipt of telegram — Held, that the telegram revoked the authority. (2) Where authority is conferred on an agent by two or more principals

(3) Where the agent is authorised or directed by his principal to pay to a third person money existing in his hands to the use of the principal, and he expressly contracts with such third person to pay him, or to hold the money on his behalf or for his use, he is personally liable to pay such third person. AIR 1935 Mad 115 (116) (DB).

(4) Where authority was given to an agent to execute a decree and when the principal found that agent was delaying execution he revoked the authority given to the agent — Held, that under Section 203 the authority given to the agent was validly revoked. AIR 1921 Mad 599 (603) = 44 Mad 919 (FB).

205. Compensation for revocation by principal, or renunciation by agent.—Where there is an express or implied contract that the agency should be continued for any period of time, the principal must make compensation* to the agent, or the agent to the principal, as the case may be, for any previous revocation or renunciation of the agency without sufficient cause.

[*] As to measure of compensation, see S. 73 supra.

206. Notice of revocation or renunciation.—Reasonable notice must be given of such revocation or renunciation; otherwise the damage thereby resulting to the principal or the agent, as the case may be, must be made good to the one by the other.

(2) The power to revoke an authority given to an agent, after the authority has been partially exercised, has been recognised by Section 204. The revocation cannot have the effect of invalidating acts and obligations already done in the exercise of that authority as an agent. AIR 1952 Mad 515 (524) = ILR (1952) Mad 218 (DB).

(3) A endorsed a pro-note in favour of his bank and delivered it to them. Later on he sent a letter to the Bank through B asking them to collect the money due under the note and pay it to B and also relinquishing his right, title and interest in the note. The bank when the letter was produced by B and at his request advanced him some money against the note. Subsequently A revoked his previous instruction and demanded the amount due under the note. It was held that A was not entitled to revoke his instructions after the bank had acted upon his instructions to its detriment. AIR 1956 Punj 78 (79) = ILR (1955) Punj 200.

(4) Sections 202 to 204 of the Act and the illustrations thereto make it clear that the power of sale conferred upon the mortgagee is an agency coupled with interest and therefrom cannot be revoked so as to nullify the effects of the act done by the agent, the mortgagee, to secure his interests. ILR (1967) 3 Mad 161.

(1) Agent terminating his agency before the fixed period without sufficient cause must compensate principal. AIR 1915 Sind 30 (32) = 9 Sind LR 77 (DB).

(2) An agreement provided that the respondent was to be the agent of the appellants for a period of one season certain; with an option to continue for two seasons more, and "that said agent shall not during the continuance of this agreement purchase second-hand clothing from any other dealer except from the principals; nor shall he during the continuance of this agreement act as agent for any other rival trader or traders" — Held, there was a clear contract between the parties that the respondent was to be employed as the agent for the appellants for a particular period and that the latter were not at liberty to revoke the contract. If the latter were at liberty during the period the contract was in force to, or not to, supply goods to the respondent, the whole contract becomes meaningless and it is futile to describe the respondent as the agent of the appellants. AIR 1922 Sind 25 (26, 27, 29) = 15 Sind LR 140 (DB).

(3) Under Section 205, in the absence of any contract, the period of time to be implied depends on the particular circumstances of the case. (1904) 8 Cal WN 831 (837).

(4) Principal company appointed another company as managing agents for fixed term in view of latter's commercial reputation — Subsequently agent's reputation completely lost and principal suffering by its association — Held, there was sufficient cause for principal to terminate managing agency before fixed period. AIR 1929 All 87 (94) (DB).

(5) The right to vote by proxy is a contractual right. The restriction on the power to vote by proxy when created is absolute. But the power of revocation is an incident of the contract of agency and unless excluded under the articles of association, exists. AIR 1952 Mad 515 (523) = ILR (1952) Mad 218 (DB).

(6) The liability to pay compensation arises only when the agency is terminated without sufficient cause. 1966 Ker LJ 487 (DB).

(7) Agreement of agency — Trader appointed selling agent of medicines — Trader though not holding whole-saler's licence at time of agreement obtaining licence subsequently — Agreement is not void — Termination of agency by trader before expiry of stipulated period — Suit for damages is maintainable. AIR 1970 Bom 128 (131) (DB).

Section 206 — Note 1

(1) What the section means to say is that when there is no express or implied contract that the agency should continue for any fixed period, reasonable notice must be given of the revocation or renunciation of the agency etc.

207. Revocation and renunciation may be expressed or implied.—Revocation and renunciation may be expressed or may be implied in the conduct of the principal or agent respectively.

Illustration

A empowers B to let A's house. Afterwards A lets it himself. This is an implied revocation of B's authority.

208. When a termination of agent's authority takes effect as to agent, and as to third persons.—The termination of the authority of an agent does not, so far as regards the agent, take effect before it becomes known to him, or, so far as regards third persons, before it becomes known to them.

Illustrations

(a) A directs B to sell goods for him, and agrees to give B five per cent commission on the price fetched by the goods. A afterwards, by letter, revokes B's authority. B after the letter is sent, but before he receives it, sells the goods for 100 rupees. The sale is binding on A, and B is entitled to five rupees as his commission.

(b) A, at Madras, by letter, directs B to sell for him some cotton lying in a warehouse in Bombay, and afterwards, by letter, revokes his authority to sell, and directs B to send the cotton to Madras. B, after receiving the second letter, enters into a contract with C, who knows of the first letter, but not of the second, for the sale to him of the cotton. C pays B the money, with which B absconds. C's payment is good as against A.

(c) A directs B, his agent, to pay certain money to C. A dies, and D takes out probate to his will. B, after A's death, but before hearing of it, pays the money to C. The payment is good as against D, the executor.

If the phrase "such revocation or renunciation" is to be taken as referring back to Section 205, it makes no meaning of the section. AIR 1931 Cal 676 (678, 679) = 58 Cal 1153 (SB).

(2) In determining the reasonableness of the notice a very important element to be taken into consideration is the nature of the employment. In cases of an exceptional nature such as when a chief agency of an insurance company which had done good business ranging over 47 years, is to be terminated, two years' notice is reasonable. AIR 1944 Bom 166 (169, 170) = ILR (1944) Bom 637 (DB).

(3) When there is no stipulation as to the duration of the agency the agency can be terminated by reasonable notice. AIR 1946 PC 6 (9) = 72 Ind App 315 = ILR (1946) Bom 159 = ILR (1946) Kar (PC) 2.

(4) The effect of want of notice to the agent does not invalidate the revocation or termination of his authority but makes the principal liable for any damage that results to the agent by reason of such want of notice. AIR 1952 Mad 515 (524) = ILR (1952) Mad 218 (DB).

(5) Termination of agency inequitable or working unjust hardship on agent — Reasonable notice is necessary. AIR 1969 Mad 423 (425) = (1969) 1 MLJ 605.

Section 207 — Note 1

(1) The doctrine of implied revocation or renunciation cannot be invoked

209. Agent's duty on termination of agency by principal's death or insanity.—When an agency is terminated by the principal dying or becoming of unsound mind, the agent is bound to take, on behalf of the representatives of his late principal, all reasonable steps for the protection and preservation of the interests entrusted to him.

210. Termination of sub-agent's authority.—The termination of the authority of an agent causes the termination (subject to the rules herein contained regarding the termination of an agent's authority) of the authority of all sub-agents appointed by him.

Agent's duty to principal

211. Agent's duty in conducting principal's business.—An agent is bound to conduct the business of his principal according to the directions given by the principal, or, in the absence of any such directions, according to the custom which prevails in doing business of the same kind at the place where the agent conducts such business. When the agent acts otherwise, if any loss be sustained, he must make it good to his principal, and, if any profit accrues, he must account for it.*

Illustrations.

(a) A, an agent engaged in carrying on for B a business, in which it is the custom to invest from time to time, at interest, the moneys which may be in hand, omits to make such investment. A must make good to B the interest usually obtained by such investments.

(b) B, a broker, in whose business it is not the custom to sell on credit, sells goods of A on credit to C, whose credit at the time was very high. C, before payment, becomes insolvent. B must make good the loss to A.

SECTION 211 — SYNOPSIS

1. Duty to follow directions of principal.
2. Duty to follow custom.
3. Fidelity to principal.
4. Pucca Adatia and Kuccha Adatia.
5. Remedies of principal.
6. Extent of agent's liability.

Section 211 (contd.)

1. Duty to follow directions of principal. — (1) Agent is bound to carry out his principal's directions. Even if sub-agents are appointed, agent is bound to act as prudent man. AIR 1930 Lah 974 (975, 976) (DB).

(2) Agent infringing principal's directions cannot hold principal liable for non-fulfilment of contract. AIR 1925 Lah 332 (332).

(3) Agent, whether he acts as gratuitous agent or not, negligently omitting to comply with principal's instructions is guilty of gross negligence and is responsible for any loss caused to principal. AIR 1931 Lah 302 (306).

[See also ILR (1963) Bom 583 (585).]

(4) Where an agent exceeds instructions given to him and acts, he cannot escape liability hiding under any fault on the part of his principal. AIR 1925 Lah 332 (332).

(5) Where loss sustained by the principal is due to disregard on the part of the agent of directions issued to him regarding the conduct of business, even though such disregard may have been due to nothing worse than negligence or over-confidence in the honesty of others, such misconduct on the part of an agent is clearly actionable. AIR 1950 Orissa 241 (244) = ILR (1950) Cut 174 (DB).

(6) Where a party directs a Bank to collect certain amount on his behalf and send it to him and there is no direction to send it by a cheque or draft, it is the duty of the Bank as agent of the party to use care in sending the amount. AIR 1960 Cal 475 (476, 477) (DB).

(7) Per Coutts-Trotter C. J. — When an agent uses money entrusted to him for other purpose than that for which it is entrusted to him, he stands in the position of trustee in respect to that money. AIR 1927 Mad 478 (481) (DB).

(8) British Indian rupees were substituted for Baroda Babashai rupees. Government undertook to accept genuine Babashai rupees at rate of 100 British Indian for 130 Babashai. Defendant shroffs who were employed at treasuries to scrutinize coins and to pass only genuine Babashai passed Shikkai coins as genuine Babashais and mint officers kept and used these Shikkai for Government. Secretary of State sued defendants for damages for loss caused to Government. It was held that the defendant's contract implied a term that if he passed any other coin as Babashai and Government suffered loss, he should make it good. (1911) 35 Bom 12 (16, 17, 18, 19) (DB).

(9) A sub-agent who is also a financier or even an agent who advances money against goods could purchase the goods with the consent and approval of the principal but it is essential that either they should be offered for sale by the principal to the agent or the offer made by the agent for purchasing the goods should be accepted by the principal. Without either of the two conditions the agent or the sub-agent could not acquire any title to the goods. AIR 1961 Andh Pra 143 (153, 154) = 1960 Andh LT 524 (DB).

(10) Post Office Act (1898), Sections 44 and 48 — Rules, under Section 43, Rule 297 — Money order amount in course of transmission in hands of postal authorities — Payee has no attachable interest — Privity of contract exists between remitter and postal authorities. (1962) 3 Guj LR 987.

(11) As an agent the Pucca Adatia is bound to carry out the directions of his constituent and is always liable to render accounts to his constituent on demand, as provided in the Contract Act. AIR 1967 Raj 151 (158).

(12) Sale of pawned goods by pawnee — Purchaser raising dispute regarding quality of goods — It becomes duty of pawnee to use all reasonable diligence in communicating to pawner seeking their instructions. AIR 1969 Pat 385 (392, 393).

2. Duty to follow custom. — (1) Agent mixing up the principal's goods for sale with others goods in accordance with mercantile usage is not liable to the principal for loss. AIR 1929 Lah 591 (592) (DB).

(2) Where plaintiff purchased goods on behalf of defendants and sold them without being authorised to do so by the defendants, it was held, that in the absence of a mercantile custom authorising the plaintiff's actions, he will be liable for the losses sustained by the defendants by the unauthorised sale. AIR 1929 Lah 666 (667) (DB).

(3) Agent instructed by telegram to purchase gold — No time and price intimated — Agent must act immediately according to business custom — Agent making purchase on date next to receipt of telegram — Principal suffering loss — Agent is liable in damages — Measure of damages is difference in prices prevailing on these two dates. 1960 Raj LW 29 = ILR (1959) 9 Raj 938.

3. Fidelity to principal. — (1) Neglect of duty by an agent does not cease to be such by repetition, and if there be any doctrine of lulling to sleep, it must depend upon and can only be another way of expressing estoppel or ratification. AIR 1930 PC 278 (281).

(2) Under agreement two of the five brothers agreed to manage joint property for five years for improvement and upkeep of estate. Held, that relationship of principal and agent was created by agreement and that managers were under legal duty to exercise reasonable care and diligence in management of estate. AIR 1916 Cal 593 (594) (DB).

(3) Agent who while acting as agent deals as principal without knowledge of other contracting party acts contrary to Sections 211-214. Onus of proof lies on agent to show that transaction is not disadvantageous to principal. AIR 1935 Sind 38 (43) (DB).

(4) Agent, while acting on behalf of the principal joining a combination of speculators and artificially inflating the rate and then settling on the basis of these rates, acts in flagrant breach of his duty to his principal as the agent is in a fiduciary position towards his principal and cannot make any secret profits or do any act in which his personal interest may conflict with his duty to the principal. AIR 1928 Lah 196 (200) = 9 Lah 7 (DB).

(5) Agent to collect rents though not entitled to sue is liable for damages if by his negligence he does not bring to the notice of the principal that certain arrears would be barred. Such a claim for damages for laches can be included in a suit for accounts by principal against agent. AIR 1919 Cal 423 (424) (DB).

(6) Commission agent to sell and purchase for principal cannot deal with himself under fictitious name without principal's knowledge. Principal can repudiate such transactions as there is conflict between agent's duty and personal interest. Principal is bound where no such conflict exists and also if there is trade usage to that effect. But such usage is to be strictly pleaded and proved. AIR 1917 Sind 5 (9, 10) = 10 Sind LR 86.

4. Pukka Adatia and Kuccha Adatia.—

(1) The distinction between kaccha arhita and pukka arhita properly so called, is that the former is a general type of agent while the latter is of a special type pledging his credit and for certain purposes acting as the principal. This English counterpart is a del credere agent. AIR 1952 Vindh Pra 51 (56).

(2) The incidents of a pakka adat may be stated thus: Firstly, the pakka adatiya can, in dealing with third parties on behalf of his constituent, use his own name, secondly, he is not an agent of his constituent in all respects but is in certain respects, a person employed for profit; thirdly, there being necessarily no privity of contract between the constituent on the one side and the third party on the other, to whom his name is not disclosed, the pakka adatiya is, as it were, a guarantor to both, on the one hand, that delivery should, on due date be given, and on the other hand, it should be taken at the price at which the order was accepted, or the party concerned will pay up the difference in price. AIR 1961 Madh Pra 57 (60) = 1960 MPLJ 1217 (DB).

(3) A Pakka Adatia is entitled to substitute his own goods towards the contract made for the principal and buy the principal's goods on his personal account. Even when the transactions are made with third parties, they are recorded in the banker's own name and there is no privity of contract established between the actual contracting parties. In other words, the Adatiya figures as principal to principal and is responsible to both the contracting parties. In order to prove a transaction entered into by the principal with the Pakka Adatiya, the latter is not bound to prove the corresponding transactions entered into with third parties. AIR 1957 Madh Pra 194 (195, 196)  AIR 1950 East Punj 92 (102, 103) = ILR (1949) East Punj 547 (FB)  1957 MPC 657 (658)  AIR 1967 SC 986 (990) = 1967 Cri LJ 946 = (1967) 1 SCR 138.

(4) It may be that, if the pukka adatia carries out the instructions issued by the constituent even without receipt of goods he may have certain rights in law against the constituent. But mere fact that consignee is a 'pukka Adatia' does not entitle him to institute suit for damages, unless he shows that the goods represented by the railway receipt had been transferred to him as owner or any interest therein had been created in his favour. AIR 1966 Guj 6 (15) = (1964) 5 Guj LR 879 (DB).

(5) Pukka Adatia who could not make any profits due to stringent market conditions is not responsible to the principal for profits. AIR 1927 All 617 (618) (DB).

(6) Pukka Adatiya entering into teji mandi contract on behalf of up-country constituent is not bound, without further instructions from constituent, to exercise option on his behalf on due date and to enter into requisite cross contract, in absence of course of dealing between parties to that effect. AIR 1939 Bom 225 (227).

(7) A share broker can re-sell the shares as soon as he finds that the constituent clearly intends not to honour the agreement on the walida day. The only conditions are that the anticipatory breach should be clearly set out; and the fact and the circumstances of resale should be notified to the constituent. AIR 1961 Madh Pra 57 (61) = 1960 MPLJ 1217 (DB).

(8) It is the duty of the Kaccha Adatiya to tell the defendant as to from

212. Skill and diligence required from agent.—An agent is bound to conduct the business of the agency with as much skill as is generally possessed by persons engaged in similar business, unless the principal has notice of his want of skill. The agent is always bound to act with reasonable diligence, and to use such skill as he possesses; and to make compensation to his principal in respect of the direct consequences of his own neglect, want of skill or misconduct, but not in respect whom the purchases had been made and to whom the sales had been made. He ought to prove also as to what amount he actually paid to the sellers and what amount he received from the purchasers in the defendant's account. AIR 1958 Raj 255 (256).

5. Remedies of principal.— (1) There is nothing in Section 231 which would prevent a principal from seeking his remedy under Section 211, if he can bring his case under that section. AIR 1934 Cal 721 (722) = 61 Cal 504 (DB).

(2) Where an agent fails in his duty towards the principal, the remedies of the principal against the agent are: (1) to recover damages for want of skill and care and for disregard of the terms of the mandate; (2) to obtain an account and payment of secret and illicit profits which have come to the hands of the agent as an agent and finally the principal's right to resist the agent's claims for commission and for indemnity against liability incurred as mandatory by showing that the agent has acted as a principal himself and not merely as an agent. Where the agent has made secret or illicit profits, the contract with the third party would not be rendered void. But the principal can recover the illicit gain from the agent. This and the other two remedies are available to the principal under the ordinary law of contract and where agent happens to be a public servant, the contract itself would not be binding on the principal if there is contravention of the provisions contained in Section 175 (3) of the Government of India Act, 1935, which now corresponds to Article 299 of the Constitution. AIR 1955 Assam 33 (45) (DB)  AIR 1947 Bom 135 (139) = ILR (1947) Bom 378.

6. Extent of agent's liability.— (1) The measure of damages, in a case where an agent sells goods below the price fixed by his principal, is the loss which the principal sustains by the sale and if he has not sustained any loss, the principal can only ask for nominal damages. (1896) 20 Bom 633 (635) (DB).

(2) It is essential to a cause of action that the act complained of should be the real or effective cause of the injury or loss sustained. The measure of damages in an action by a principal against his agent for negligence or any other breach of duty by the agent in course of the agency is the loss actually sustained by the principal, provided that it was the natural and probable consequence of the breach or such loss as in the particular circumstances the agent might reasonably have expected to result from such negligence or breach of duty. AIR 1963 Cal 163 (176, 177) = 1963 Cal LJ 43.

(3) The liability imposed upon an agent by Section 211 to make good the loss when he had not acted according to the direction of the principal is in cases where the loss is the direct result of the failure to carry out the directions of the principal. In other words, the loss must be due to the disobedience to comply with the dictates of the principal. The measure of damages in such cases is only the actual loss. ILR (1963) 1 Ker 195.

(4) When agent failed to insure goods in violation of agreement and goods were destroyed by fire, it was held that the agent was liable to pay the principal damages by reason of his breach of duty. AIR 1951 SC 144 (150) = 1950 SCR 979.

(5) Contract Act as to law of agency is not exhaustive — Agent making mistake can rectify his mistake so long as principal is not affected — Agent selling by mistake at loss principal's shares of company can rectify his mistake by purchasing fresh shares of company and keeping them for benefit of principal. AIR 1926 Oudh 576 (577, 578) = 2 Luck 198 (DB).

(1) Under Section 212 the agent is always bound to act with reasonable diligence and to use such skill as he possesses and to make compensation to his principal in respect of the direct consequences of his own neglect. AIR 1958 J and K 25 (27).

(2) An agent is to be distinguished on the one hand from a servant, and on the other, from an independent contractor. An agent, though, bound to exercise his authority in accordance with all lawful instructions which may be given to him from time to time by his principal, is not subject in its exercise to the direct control or supervision of the principal. An agent, as such, is not a servant but a servant is generally for some purposes his master's agent the extent of the agency depending upon the duties or position of the servant and in some cases an independent contractor may of loss or damage which are directly or remotely caused by such neglect, want of skill or misconduct.

Illustrations.

(a) A, a merchant in Calcutta, has an agent, B, in London, to whom a sum of money is paid on A's account, with orders to remit. B retains the money for a considerable time. A, in consequence of not receiving the money, becomes insolvent. B is liable for the money and interest from the day on which it ought to have been paid, according to the usual rate, and for any further direct loss—as e.g., by variation of rate of exchange—but not further.

(b) A, an agent for the sale of goods, having authority to sell on credit, sells to B on credit, without making the proper and usual inquiries as to the solvency of B. B, at the time of such sale is insolvent. A must make compensation to his principal in respect of any loss thereby sustained.

(c) A, an insurance broker employed by B to effect an insurance on a ship, omits to see that the usual clauses are inserted in the policy. The ship is afterwards lost. In consequence of the omission of the clauses nothing can be recovered from the underwriters. A is bound to make good the loss to B.

(d) A, a merchant in England, directs B, his agent at Bombay, who accepts the agency, to send him 100 bales of cotton by a certain ship. B, having it in his power to send the cotton, omits to do so. The ship arrives safely in England. Soon after her arrival the price of cotton rises. B is bound to make good to A the profit which he might have made by the 100 bales of cotton at the time the ship arrived, but not any profit he might have made by the subsequent rise.

(3) Deed — Construction — Language of agency used in loose manner — Effect — Relationship between parties — Whether of principal and agent or of buyer and seller — Distinctive test — The seller remains the owner of the property until the property in the goods passes to the buyer. As between agent and a principal the property in the goods vests in the principal and the risk remains with him though the agent must take proper care of the same as a bailee — Agreement in question held as one between buyer and seller. ILR (1961) Cut 331 (337-338).

(4) It is agent's obligation to use all reasonable diligence in the interest of his customer. The banker must act with good faith and without negligence. AIR 1960 Punj 590 (593) = 62 Pun LR 720 (DB).

(5) Misconduct and negligence on part of agent — Agent's liability for loss — Measure of damages corresponds to actual loss sustained by principal provided that it was the natural and probable consequence of the breach or it was such a loss as in the particular circumstances the agent might have reasonably expected to result from such negligence or breach of duty. AIR 1963 Cal 163 (177) = 1963 Cal LJ 43  AIR 1960 Punj 590 (594) = 62 Pun LR 720 (DB).

(6) Principal is entitled to sue his agent for damages for loss caused to him by negligence of agent, but if agent proves that he used reasonable skill and diligence, which persons of common prudence are accustomed to use about their own business affairs, he cannot be made liable because agent cannot ordinarily be deemed insurer for any loss which could not have been prevented by exercise of reasonable skill and diligence. Paramount and vital principle of all agencies is good faith and loyalty to principal; if agent establishes this, he cannot be held liable. (1911) 13 Cal L Jour 165 (181) (DB).

(7) Principal's rights are to recover damages for want of skill and care and disregard of mandate or to obtain account and payment of secret and illicit profits or to resist agent's claim for commission and indemnity by showing he acted as principal. AIR 1947 Bom 135 (139) = ILR (1947) Bom 378  AIR 1955 Assam 33 (45) (DB).

(8) When agents did not insure goods as directed and collected the premiums from the principal for the insurance, and goods were destroyed by fire, the loss sustained by the principal was held to be directly arising from the negligence and misconduct of the agent. AIR 1951 SC 144 (148) = 1950 SCR 979.

(9) Reasonableness as between agent and principal depends upon usual course of conduct and trade custom. Agent accustomed to send goods by rail uninsured is not liable for loss due to non-insurance. AIR 1925 Mad 46 (48).

213. Agent's accounts.—An agent is bound to render proper accounts to his principal on demand.

(10) Agent exercising reasonable skill and diligence is not responsible for loss caused due to an error of judgment. AIR 1915 Sind 30 (31) = 9 Sind LR 77 (DB).

(11) Where the shipping documents which were not in strict conformity with the mandate contained in the letter of credit were accepted by the bank and made payment, it was held that the accepting banker acted negligently in honouring the draft against defective documents and so it could not be said that he acted in good faith so as to be indemnified for the loss. AIR 1966 Punj 303 (309) (DB).

(12) Principal and agent — Plaintiff purchasing through defendants' agency — Directions to defendants after purchase to despatch the goods to a particular place — Goods sent to a wrong place — Defendants are liable in damages if negligence is proved. (1910) 7 All L Jour 732 (733, 734).

(13) Liability to make compensation — A's claim against B for recovery of his share of sale proceeds of property in Ceylon — Disabilities under Ceylon Exchange Contract Act — B, held not liable to pay A's share in rupees in India. AIR 1965 Mad 314 (315) = 77 Mad LW 626 (DB).

(14) Agent who was instructed to send goods by railway sent them in open trucks at owner's risk. The goods were destroyed. It was held that the agent was negligent and liable for the same. AIR 1930 Lah 280 (280) = 11 Lah 227 (DB).

(15) Where a commission agent, authorised to realise moneys on behalf of the principal, collected as much as he could from a merchant who had also dealings with the principal, giving credit for the balance and the merchant became an insolvent: Held, that the agent did not fail in any way to exercise due prudence and was not guilty of any negligence. AIR 1933 Lah 841 (842) (DB).

(16) If the loss sustained by the principal is due to the agent's negligence or his overconfidence in the honesty of others, such misconduct on the part of the agent is actionable. AIR 1950 Orissa 241 (244) = ILR (1950) Cut 174 (DB).

(17) An expert with special skill engaged for reward to perform a particular job, is bound to exercise his skill in the performance of the job and not rely on the statement of others. (1909) 13 Cal WN 59 (61).

(18) The standard applied to architects and engineers in England is not to be followed in India with regard to supervisors of buildings. Their liability to the employer is measured in the light of the agreement between them. AIR 1926 Cal 988 (989) (DB).

(19) Plaintiffs, grain dealers at Hathras, ordering defendants, agents at Karachi, to purchase goods — Plaintiffs paid some money and defendants despatched goods by rail — Railway receipt delayed and plaintiffs not able to receive goods — Defendants instructing carriers not to deliver goods till their money was paid — Plaintiffs, in the meanwhile, paying defendants — Carrier's refusal to deliver goods to plaintiffs, in view of instructions — Fall in price of goods resulting in loss to plaintiffs — Suit for compensation — Held, that this was a proper case for relief under Section 212. (1912) 34 All 49 (53) (DB).

(20) The relation of a banker and customer is, as far as the passing of a forged cheque is concerned, that of an agent and principal. It requires the agent banker to use skill and prudence required in the ordinary course of business to identify the signature of the customer and detect imitations and make payment in good faith and without negligence. Otherwise the customer is entitled to recover the amount of the forged cheque from the bank. AIR 1954 Mad 1001 (1005).

(21) Where the defendant bank was employed by the plaintiff for collecting the price of goods sold to a third party, and the plaintiff suffered a loss due to the negligence of the defendant in presenting the draft sent by the plaintiff after a considerable delay, it was held that the plaintiff could only claim damages from the defendant for the loss caused by his negligence but could not recover the price of the goods from him. AIR 1958 J and K 25 (27).

SECTION 213 — SYNOPSIS

1. Agent's duty to account.
2. Legal representatives of agent, liability of.
3. Suit for accounts.
4. Suit by agent.

1. Agent's duty to account.— (1) The right of a principal to have an account taken in equity rests upon the trust and confidence reposed in the agent and it is the duty of every agent to render just and true account of his agency to the principal. AIR 1956 Madh B 77 (79) (DB).

(2) If the agent purports to act as such and in that capacity enters into a transaction on behalf of the principal he will have to render an account to the principal if the latter chooses to require him to give an account on the footing of his being an agent. AIR

1961 Andh Pra 143 (153) = 1960 Andh LT 524 (DB).

(3) N as contractor of Government — R taking a sub-contract from N — N agreed that he would pay 90 per cent. of the bill presented by R to him every month whether he received money from Government or not—Government increased the rates of contract considerably and paid N at increased rates — R also claiming at the increased rate — Held there was no relationship of principal and agent between N and R — In the absence of privity of contract between R and Government R had nothing to recover from Government and therefore he could not appoint N as his agent to recover anything from the Government — Hence R could not require N to account even on that basis. AIR 1959 Punj 92 (93) = 60 Pun LR 444 (DB).

(4) A right of a principal to call upon his agent to render account is not a mere right to sue within the meaning of Section 6 (6) of the T. P. Act but an actionable claim which is assignable as such. (1967) 9 Law Rep 400 (407).

(5) An agent will not discharge himself from the duty of accounting, by merely delivering to his employer a set of written accounts without attending to explain them, and without producing vouchers by which the items of disbursements are supported. AIR 1925 Cal 1069 (1071) = 52 Cal 766 (DB)  ('81) 6 Cal 754 (756) (DB)  (1911) 15 Cal WN 930 (939) (DB)  (1969) 1 MLJ 557 = 82 Mad LW 379  (1965) 2 MLJ 207 = (1965) 78 Mad LW 418  AIR 1961 Raj 143 (144, 145) = 1961 Raj LW 572  1959 MPC 222.

(7) Where no matter appears to have been in controversy, merely by the principal not signifying anything with regard to the account submitted, this additional duty cannot be deemed to be still hanging over the head of the agent for an unconscionable length of time. (1969) 1 MLJ 557 = 82 Mad LW 379.

(8) If an agent receives money on his principal's behalf under an illegal or void contract, the agent must account to principal for the money so received and cannot set up the illegality of the contract as a justification for withholding payment — Per Hidayatullah J., Kaushalendraro J. contra. AIR 1954 Nag 306 (313) = ILR (1954) Nag 514.

(9) Principal writing "seen" on account books: Held, this was not by itself sufficient to prove that agent has rendered accounts. AIR 1934 All 553 (556) (DB).

(10) Principal is entitled to final account between himself and agent on termination of agency and agent can rely upon casual accounts settled between themselves as being prima facie correct. (1912) 13 Ind Cas 642 (642) (DB) (All).

(11) If illegal gratifications are given by agent he must, in account suit, show that they reached their destination and when account is being taken, no item can be passed without voucher or clear account of facts. (1909) 13 Cal WN 212 (216, 217) (DB).

(12) Agent, suspected of misappropriation, kept under supervision is still agent and liable to account for realisations during such period. AIR 1942 Pat 108 (111) (DB).

(13) Where an agent who is entrusted with the principal's money for being employed in a specified manner, makes use of the money for other purposes, the agent's liability in respect of such money is that of a trustee. AIR 1927 Mad 478 (481) (DB).

(14) Where money is advanced to an agent for work to be done on the understanding that a bill is to be sent subsequently, agent must account for the money. AIR 1921 Mad 609 (609) (DB).

(15) When a person acting as agent used to take money from the principal's chest and put it to his own use, he was held to be liable for money which was found deficit on taking accounts. (1909) 31 All 429 (438, 439) (DB).

(16) Audit of company's account does not preclude it from calling upon agents for rendition. AIR 1918 Lah 218 (219) = 1917 Pun Re No. 86 (DB).

(17) When an agent is appointed by more than one principal, he is liable to them jointly. He is not bound to account separately to any one of them and if he does so, he is not absolved from his liability to the others. AIR 1933 Lah 93 (94).

(18) Section 213, Contract Act, imposes the duty "on demand" by the principal. If anything, these words suggest that the demand should be made on the agent at his place of business. AIR 1940 Mad 588 (589)  AIR 1932 Bom 42 (44).

(19) Agent is liable for interest for moneys retained after demand. AIR 1918 Mad 606 (606) (DB).

(20) An agent does not owe the same duty to the guarantor which he owes to the principal in the matter of proving the transaction. The agent is not bound to prove the transaction to the guarantor, but he has got to prove the amount of the liability for which the surety stood guarantee. AIR 1941 Bom 108 (113) = ILR (1941) Bom 273.

(21) A pakka adatiya does, for certain purposes, act as a principal in relation to his constituent and he also acts as a principal in carrying through the orders of his constituent. This does not, however, in every case absolve the "pakka adatiya" from the liability to account. That would depend upon the particular character in which he acted and on the terms of his employment. There need not be a special agreement about accountability. That may be the legal effect of the terms of the agreement between the parties. 1947 Nag L Jour 533 (539).

(22) Pucca adatia — Relationship between pucca adatia and his constituent is a dual one. The statutory provisions of the Contract Act defining the rights and obligations of an agent vis-a-vis the principal, will continue to apply to him with full force. As an agent he is always liable to render accounts to his constituent on demand. Making good the loss or accounting for profit does not make any difference about the duty to render accounts. AIR 1967 Raj 151 (158) = 1967 Raj LW 87.

(23) A pacca arhatia not being bound to enter into contract with third parties is absolved from liability to account on the stringent duty of an ordinary agent. He is not liable to disclose his covering contracts or to account for the profit or loss made by him out of those covering contracts. AIR 1950 East Punj 92 (103) = ILR (1949) East Punj 547 (FB).

2. Legal representatives of agent, liability of.— (1) After the death of an agent, his estate in the hands of his legal representatives continues to be liable to the principal for sums found due on account from the deceased agent. But the legal representative cannot be called upon to render account in the technical forensic sense in which the agent himself would be liable in an ordinary suit for rendition of accounts. In a suit for accounts filed by the principal against the deceased agent's legal representative, the burden of proof primarily lies upon the plaintiff and it is for the Court to take an account on such materials as are laid before it by the parties and determine what amount, if any, was due to the plaintiff from his deceased agent. AIR 1945 Bom 21 (23)  (1912) 16 Cal L Jour 282 (284 to 287) (DB).

(2) Legal representative of agent is bound to furnish accounts and is liable for money found due on account which come to his hands. (1912) 16 Cal L Jour 288 (292, 293) (DB).

(3) Legal representative of deceased agent is liable to the extent of the assets of the agent in his hands for negligence or misfeasance of the agent. (1913) 17 Cal WN 5 (8) = 16 Cal L Jour 282 (DB).

(4) The death of the agent pending a suit for accounts against him does not exonerate his legal representatives from liability. Only the plaintiff would have to advance strict proof of the monies collected by the agent and not accounted for and a decree for the amount due should be passed against the assets of the deceased agent. AIR 1918 Cal 276 (277) (DB).

(5) A suit brought against an agent for rendition of accounts can be continued against the legal representatives of the agent. AIR 1950 East Punj 250 (251)  AIR 1951 Cal 182 (190).

(6) In a suit for accounts by principal against agent and after his death his heirs the agent is liable to account not only for sums actually received by him but also those which he has failed to collect. AIR 1921 Mad 407 (408) = 44 Mad 214 (DB).

(7) Liability of an agent is personal and the deceased agent's legal representatives cannot be required to render accounts in the same sense in which the agent himself might have been called upon to do. AIR 1950 Dacca 13 (2) (15).

(8) A suit for accounts pure and simple without any claim for any specific sum of money against the legal representatives of a deceased agent is not maintainable. AIR 1951 Cal 182 (190).

3. Suit for accounts.— (1) A suit for accounts is founded on the right of the plaintiff to receive an accounting from the other party; such a right can only arise if the parties are in a fiduciary relationship to each other. AIR 1938 Nag 254 (255).

(2) Section 213 of Contract Act gives a right to the principal to demand accounts from the agent. This is a statutory right and cannot be defeated by saying that the principal should sue for specific amount. Thus a suit for account by the principal against the agent is maintainable, though the suit is not for specific amount. (1964) 66 Punj LR 453. (AIR 1933 Sind 247 and AIR 1941 Oudh 622, Dist.)

(3) Suit for money found due on an account being taken and a suit for rendering an account cannot be distinguished. (1912) 16 Cal WN 1042 (1044) (DB).

(4) Under Section 213, Contract Act, every principal has a statutory right to claim accounts from his agent; this right is, however, subject to one qualification, namely, that if the accounts between the principal and agent are settled or stated, there is no right to claim accounts any longer. AIR 1947 Bom 135 (136, 138) = ILR (1947) Bom 378  (1969) 1 MLJ 557 = 82 Mad LW 379  (1964) 77 MLW 458 (2).

(5) An agent is liable to render accounts to his principal but the principal cannot pick up some items in the accounts and file a suit for recovery of the amounts covered by those items as if they are amounts due and payable by the agent to the principal. The suit should be in the form of a suit for accounts. 78 Mad LW 418 = (1965) 2 Mad LJ 207.

(6) It is true that as between a principal and an agent, the only suit which the law generally permits is a suit for general accounts and a principal ought not to be allowed to select and single out capriciously certain items out of the business of agency and seek relief therefor. But this rule that a suit for general accounts alone would lie would not apply to a case in which the agent had rendered accounts but the principal takes exception to certain specific items. ('64) 77 Mad LW 458 (2).

(7) Settlement of account necessarily involves consideration of credit as well as debt entries — Accounts sent containing only debit entries and not credit entries — Though debit entries are accepted as correct that would not amount to settlement of accounts. AIR 1966 Andh Pra 256 (259).

(8) An unsigned account sent by one party to another which the latter accepts becomes an account stated which furnishes a cause of action for instituting a suit even though there are other unsettled accounts remaining between the parties. 1965 Raj LW 523 (527) = ILR (1965) 15 Raj 1023.

(9) It is not open to any principal who has got all the accounts of his agent in his possession, to employ the machinery of the Court for examining his accounts on the off-chance of making his agent liable for any sum which on such examination may be found due from him. AIR 1929 Cal 418 (421) (DB).

(10) In a suit by the principal for profits made by the agent, the onus of proving that no profits were made lies on the agent where he pleads non-receipt of any profits. 1901 Pun Re (Civ) No. 46, p. 152 (154).

(11) A suit by a principal for accounts because the defendant, his agent, has not rendered any account is different from a suit in which a principal alleges that the defendant, his agent has rendered accounts but prays to have them re-opened or to surcharge and falsify them on the ground of fraud or material error. In the former, if agency is established a preliminary decree for accounts must follow as a matter of course, if account has not been already rendered. In the 2nd class of cases, the fraud must be specifically alleged and proved if the accounts are to be re-opened on the ground of fraud and if the principal seeks to surcharge and falsify, the particular grounds of such relief must be specifically stated and substantial errors pointed out. (1910) 13 Cal L Jour 165 (173).

(12) Where a single item complained of was a fraudulent item, the proper order to make was to open the accounts altogether, but where the item complained of is not a fraudulent item, and the accounts are of some years' standing, the proper order is only to give liberty to surcharge and falsify. If the impeached accounts contain errors of considerable extent both in number and amount, whether caused by mistake or fraud, the Court will order such accounts to be opened and will not merely give liberty to surcharge and falsify. But if a fiduciary relation exists between the parties, then the Court would make a similar order if such accounts are shown to contain less number of errors, or if they contain any fraudulent entries. AIR 1956 Madh B 77 (79) (DB)  AIR 1948 All 138 (140) = ILR (1947) All 424.

(13) Where the plaintiff's instructions to defendant who was a commission agent, to reship goods to India were not carried out and accounts were not rendered to him, in a suit for rendition of accounts it was held that plaintiff's relief was by way of damages. AIR 1933 Sind 247 (250) (DB).

(14) A decree can be passed in favour of an agent in a suit brought by principal for rendition of accounts. But it cannot be laid down that a decree must be passed in favour of the defendant. AIR 1938 Lah 723 (724).

(15) A suit for account lies against a servant on a fixed salary but the nature of whose employment is that of an agent. AIR 1930 Sind 142 (143).

(16) Co-sharer zamindars appointing Naib — Naib, after payment of revenue etc., to remit realised amount according to shares of co-sharers, to render accounts and explain accounts to co-sharers according to their shares — Suit by one co-sharer for accounts after dismissing Naib — Other co-sharers impleaded as defendants on their refusal to join as plaintiffs — Principals held were joint and several principals — Joint and several accounting not to be objected — Suit as framed held maintainable. AIR 1949 Cal 656 (657).

(17) In law, a "pakka Arhatia" is not an agent but a principal. No suit by the constituent therefore lies against him for rendition of account. AIR 1948 Lah 14 (16).

(18) Where a principal files a suit against an agent for settlement of accounts the suit should refer to all the dealings of the agent as an agent of the principal. But it is open to a Pakka Adatia, that is a commission agent, to file a suit against his principal in respect of the moneys due to him in respect of any of the transactions. Such a suit is maintainable although it does not include all the transactions between the parties. AIR 1962 Guj 68 (70, 71) = (1962) 3 Guj LR 418 (DB).

(19) When the relationship of agency was established, the determination of the actual liability in any particular amount should be as a result of an order to take an account, that is to say, a preliminary decree would be the proper one to pass in a suit for accounts. But it would be different if the case of the agent was that an account had already been furnished and accepted. (1969) 1 MLJ 557 = 82 Mad LW 379.

(20) Suit against agent for moneys collected by him — Starting point of limitation is the date of the termination of agency. AIR 1968 Raj 14 (17) = 1967 Raj LW 570 (DB).

(21) Suit for accounts against agent — Set off — Claim of agent in respect of losses incurred by him in transactions put through by agent's branch at some other place on behalf of principal — Agent has right to equitable set off to the extent of losses by him: AIR 1966 Raj 229 (230) = 1965 Raj LW 346.

(22) Accounts — Transactions between parties not of the nature of agency but of outright sale — No evidence of fraud, mistake or any other sufficient equitable ground — Finality of the accounts cannot be reopened. AIR 1967 SC 181 (188) = (1966) Supp SCR 1.

4. Suit by agent.— (1) This section lays down that agent is bound to render accounts to his principal, but it is nowhere laid down in the Act that it is the duty of principal to render account to agent. 1899 Pun Re (Civ) No. 60, p. 267 (268) (DB)  AIR 1925 Lah 100 (100)  AIR 1927 Lah 701 (702). (Must sue for specific amount.)  AIR 1937 Cal 359 (360) = ILR (1937) 2 Cal 259 (DB)  AIR 1937 Sind 51 (53, 54) = 30 Sind LR 371 (DB).

(2) As the right of a principal to have an account from his agent is founded on the statute, i.e., Section 213, Contract Act, a suit by principal would always lie. But that does not warrant the unqualified proposition that a suit by an agent for an account against his principal can never lie. AIR

1954 Nag 300 (304) = ILR (1954) Nag 435 (DB).

(3) Where it is equitable from the particular circumstances and the relations of the parties that one should account to the other, a suit for an account by the agent will lie. AIR 1937 Sind 51 (53, 54) = 30 Sind LR 371 (DB)  AIR 1933 Lah 483 (484) = AIR 1967 Andh Pra 109 (111) = (1966) 1 Andh WR 423  AIR 1965 Andh Pra 18 (19, 20) = (1964) 1 Andh WR 194. (Such exceptional circumstances would exist where the agent is unable to know the amount due to him without examining the accounts which are in the possession of his principal and which he is not able to get at, or where his remuneration depends upon the extent of the dealings entered into between his principal and third parties of which he is not aware.)  AIR 1960 Punj 15 (15, 16). (Agent not in position to know state of accounts — He can maintain suit for rendition of accounts at his place of business.)  AIR 1960 Punj 607 (607, 608) = (1961) 31 Com Cas (Ins) 27  AIR 1960 Andh Pra 13 (14) = (1959) 1 Andh WR 384  AIR 1959 All 546 (550) (DB). (It should be made clear that the exceptional circumstance of the agent not being able to claim a specific sum without the principal's accounts being gone into exists.)

(4) Though an agent has no statutory right for an account from his principal, nevertheless there may be special circumstances rendering it equitable that the Principal should account to the agent. Such a case may arise where all the accounts are in the possession of the Principal and the agent does not possess accounts to enable him to determine his claims for commission against his principal. The right of the agent may also arise in an exceptional circumstance where his remuneration depends on the extent of dealings which are not known to him or where he cannot be aware of the extent of the amount due to him unless the accounts of his principal are gone into. AIR 1967 SC 333 (336) = (1966) Supp SCR 38.

(5) Where A worked as an agent for B, a book-seller, on commission basis, canvassing in certain area for the sale of B's books and did not know how many books were sold through his efforts as he could not keep any accounts of the transactions entitling him to the commission, and those accounts were admittedly kept by B.

Held, that in these circumstances A could maintain an action for accounts against his principal B. AIR 1954 Nag 300 (304) = ILR (1954) Nag 435 (DB).

Right of principal when agent deals, on his own account, in business of agency without principal's consent.—If an agent deals on his own account in the business of the agency, without first obtaining the consent of his principal and acquainting him with all material circumstances which have come to his own knowledge on the subject, the principal may repudiate the transaction, if the case shows either that any material fact has been dishonestly concealed from him by the agent, or that the dealings of the agent have been disadvantageous to him.

(b) A directs B to sell A's estate. B, on looking over the estate before selling it, finds a mine on the estate which is unknown to A. B informs A that he wishes to buy the estate for himself, but conceals the discovery of the mine. A allows B to buy in ignorance of the existence of the mine. A, on discovering that B knew of the mine at the time he bought the estate, may either repudiate or adopt the sale at his option.

AIR 1929 All 87 (94) (DB).

(1) The section imposes a penalty on the agent who converts himself into a principal, without due disclosure to the principal. The operation of the section in no way depends upon the principal having suffered in any manner. This is so because the agent holds a fiduciary position and if he makes some profits in that capacity he should make good the same to the principal, even if the agent has spent his own money in the transaction. AIR 1916 Mad 1133 (1136) (DB).

(8) First mortgagee in possession of mortgaged property and authorised to collect profits in lieu of mortgage money — Second mortgagee selling property in exercise of his power of sale under the mortgage and first mortgagee purchasing same and obtaining fresh lease of land owned by second mortgagee on which mortgaged property stands — First mortgagee cannot be said to be agent of mortgagor in the purchase and mortgagor cannot take benefit of same nor is the mortgagor entitled to the benefit of assignment of a subsequent mortgage. AIR

(9) Property purchased in Court auction by agent acting on his own account contrary to principal's directions — Principal cannot ratify so as to derive benefit as it was not an act done in the course of the agency. AIR 1917 Mad 252 (253) (DB).

(10) No broker, unless specially authorised, is entitled to get commission from both sides. AIR 1933 Rang 184 (184).

(11) Section 216 is merely enabling and confers upon principal right to claim from his agent benefit of transaction to which agency business related where agent, without knowledge of principal has dealt with business on his own account, instead of on account of latter. Principal is free to exercise that right or not. (1910) 34 Bom 292 (303, 304) (DB).

(12) Agent entrusted with principal's moneys to be employed in a specified manner — Agent making use of these moneys for other purposes — Agent's liability in respect of such moneys is that of a trustee. AIR 1927 Mad 478 (481) (DB).

(1) The agent is entitled to a lien or retainer upon monies of his principal which are in his hands, for all expenses properly incurred. In such cases there is no question of limitation. AIR 1923 Rang 84 (86) = 11 Low Bur Rul 326 (DB).

(2) The right of retainer and lien conferred on the agent does not make the amount received by the agent on behalf of the principal any the less the property of the principal. The principal is the full owner and his complete control over his properties in the hands of the agent is subject only to the latter's statutory right of retainer and lien. AIR 1953 SC 140 (143) = 1953 SCR 520.

(3) An agent who has received monies on behalf of his principal is accountable to the latter for the payment thereof and he is under a legal obligation to do so subject of course, to the provisions of Section 217 and Section 221. This obligation on the part of the agent subsists even if the monies received by him are the fruit of a void or an illegal contract. AIR 1960 Raj 296 (302) = ILR (1960) 10 Raj 412.

(4) The word 'business' in Section 217 must mean a continuing business or the same business as that for which agent had been agent before. Hence, an agent cannot retain sums received on account of his principal in one business, on account of remuneration due to him for

(Pleader realizing money for his client in one cause — Money cannot be retained as fees in another cause.)

(5) A pleader was entrusted with certain shares in his private capacity for being sold but appropriated sale proceeds to fees due to himself: Held, that he had no right to pay himself for his fees out of sale proceeds of shares irrespective of his client's wishes. He had no lien or right of retainer under S. 217 or Section 221. (1912) 13 Cri L Jour 513 (517-520) = 5 Sind LR 222 (DB).

(6) Where the amount of the promissory note was not an amount advanced by way of loan but an amount which, at the request of his client the pleader disbursed for out-fees in the suit in which he was retained as vakil it was held that independently of the promissory note, the pleader was entitled to recover the out-fees advanced by him and under Section 217 of the Contract Act, he was entitled to retain the same out of the sums received by him to the credit of his client. (1904) 27 Mad 512 (517) (DB).

(7) Order under Section 185, Companies Act, 1913, against managing agent — Managing agent should be allowed to retain such amounts as he is entitled to under Section 217 or the terms of the managing agency agreement or the Articles of Association. AIR 1937 Mad 401 (402) (DB).

(1) Any person acting in the character of an agent, when he collects money professing to receive it on behalf of his principal is bound to render a proper account to the principal. The fact that master could not have enforced the payment does not enable the agent to keep it for his own use. (1903) 30 Cal 1011 (1014) (DB).

(2) When a person wrongfully converted the goods of another person and received the amount the owner of the goods may sue for the recovery of the money on the basis of an implied contract of agency, the defendant being fictitiously assumed to have rightfully received the money as the plaintiff's agent and to have failed to pay it over to the principal. AIR 1953 Madh B 38 (39).

(3) An agent recovering money on behalf of his principal under an illegal or void contract must account to the principal for the money so received. He cannot set up the illegality of the contract as a justification for withholding payment in an action by the principal when the illegality had been waived by other contracting party by paying the money. (1903) 25 All 639 (641) (DB)  AIR 1960 Bom 548 (551) = 62 Bom LR 304 (DB)  AIR 1960 Raj 296 (302) = ILR (1960) 10 Raj 412.

(4) If an agent in the course of the agency transactions commits a crime he cannot be made liable to pay the profits of such crime to the principal. 1957-2 Andh WR 226 (232).

(5) The principal can sue for accounts the sub-agent appointed by him for collecting rents, though the sub-agent was to pay over the collections to the agent. AIR 1927 Cal 917 (918) (DB).

(6) When a Hindu father incurs liability to pay a debt as an agent of another, the son becomes liable to pay it. The liability of the son arises at the same time as that of the father. The son is not absolved from such liability by the mere fact that the father subsequently misappropriated the sum or made himself criminally answerable. (1909) 19 Mad L Jour 759 (759) (DB).

(7) The suit properties were agreed to be sold to the plaintiff for the purposes of discharging certain debt due by the family of the defendants, but as there was some delay in completing the sale transaction the plaintiff was requested to pay off the creditors even before the execution of the sale-deed and he was assured that the amount so paid might be adjusted towards the sale price and that if the plaintiff had to pay to the creditors anything in excess of the sale price the same would be made good to him with interest. The plaintiff managed to get a transfer of the documents held by the creditors on payment of smaller amount than was actually due under those documents and he claimed that he was entitled to get the benefit of the remission given by those creditors: Held, that in making disbursements out of the agreed sale price the plaintiff was only acting as the agent of the defendants and he was not entitled to retain for his own benefit any remission that he obtained from the creditors. AIR 1937 Mad 810 (810) (DB).

(8) A party took up a contract with military authorities and deposited security money in a recognised Bank, according to rules. The Bank went into liquidation and the money was lost. (10) Plaintiffs entering into forward transaction through defendants as commission agents — Transaction covered by cross-contract prior to due date under first transaction — Rights and liabilities of parties (plaintiffs and defendants) become crystallised on date of second cross-contract — Defendants cannot be heard to say that because due date under prior transaction had not arrived, plaintiffs cannot claim profits earned. AIR 1960 Raj 296 (303) = ILR (1960) 10 Raj 412.

(1) A broker's duty is to simply bring the parties together, arrange a transaction and to get the contract completed. The performance of that contract is a matter between the promisor and the promisee and the due fulfilment of the conditions is not the sine qua non for the earning of the commission. AIR 1935 Pesh 56 (57) (DB)  AIR 1928 Bom 270 (273) = 52 Bom 627.

(2) Contracts with commission agents can fall in three classes, viz., (1) in which the agent is promised a commission by his principal if he succeeds in introducing to his principal a person who makes an adequate offer usually an offer of not less than the stipulated amount; (2) in which the property is put into the hands of the agent to dispose of for the owner and the agent accepts the employment, and, it may be, expends money and time in endeavouring to carry it out; (3) where the agent is promised his commission only upon completion of the transaction which he has endeavoured to bring about between the offerer and his principal. AIR 1959 All 29 (31) (DB).

(3) Broker employed to sell is entitled to his commission when sale is completed in favour of purchaser found by broker though actual negotiations or completion of sale did not take place through direct intervention of broker. AIR 1930 All 545 (548) = 52 All 688 (DB)  ILR (1953) Madh B 331 (337, 338).

(4) A broker, to be entitled to his commission, must prove either that the transaction has been completed or that the non-completion was due to default of the principal. AIR 1922 Bom 433 (434)  AIR 1934 Bom 158 (160)  ILR (1951) Mys 178 (183).

(5) Broker engaged to purchase house — Brokerage is payable only on completion of conveyance in absence of agreement. AIR 1944 Sind 168 (169) = ILR (1944) Kar 42 (DB).

(6) Broker who has negotiated a contract is entitled to his commission, even though a modification of its term is made by the parties. (1896) 20 Bom 124 (128) (DB).

(7) Where one party is employed by another to do a certain act, the real test to determine whether he is entitled to commission is to see whether the party so employed has done that act or not. AIR 1928 Bom 270 (273) = 52 Bom 627.

(8) When agent is employed for commission to sell certain property and agent succeeds in finding purchaser but principal declines to sell, agent is entitled to reasonable remuneration for his work and labour. (1912) 15 Cal L Jour 312 (320, 321)  (1910) 8 Mad L Tim 40 (46).

(9) Where the parties have made an express contract for remuneration, the amount of remuneration and the conditions under which it will become payable must be ascertained by reference to the terms of that contract; no implied contract can be set up to add to or vary such terms. If, therefore, the broker had complied with the terms of the contract and fulfilled his part of it, he was entitled to the entire amount payable to him under the contract. Evidence about compensation or actual loss was in the circumstances entirely unnecessary and his suit cannot fail for want of it. AIR 1959 All 29 (30, 31) (DB).

(10) An agent has no right to receive remuneration from his principal unless there is a contract express or implied to that effect. In order to entitle the agent to receive his remuneration he must have carried out that which he bargained to do, and all conditions imposed by the contract must have been fulfilled. Section 219, Contract Act, does not prevent the parties from contracting that the payment will not be due until some event takes place. AIR 1959 Andh Pra 370 (373) (DB).

(11) Where the remuneration of an agent is payable upon the performance by him of a definite undertaking, he is entitled to be paid as soon as he has substantially done all that he undertook to do, even if the principal acquires no benefit from his services, except where there is an express agreement or special custom to the contrary. (1912) 15 Cal LJ 40 (44, 45) (DB)  AIR 1950 SC 15

(12) The principle of quantum meruit does not apply to agreement limiting commission to goods delivered. AIR 1927 Bom 225 (227).

(13) Where a contract is merely to procure a loan by the agent for the principal and the latter procures the same but only on certain conditions which the principal does not assent to, the agent will not be entitled to any commission, the terms of the contract being simply to procure a loan without any condition whatever. (1912) 15 Cal LJ 40 (47) (DB).

[See however AIR 1928 Bom 270 (273) = 52 Bom 627. (Agent engaged to procure loan on security of immovable property — Agent procuring a lender — Principal borrowing money from same lender through another agent — Former agent is entitled to commission.)]

(14) Where an agent introduces a customer to his principal and the latter undertakes to pay him a fixed commission "after the satisfactory expiry and conclusion of the business," the payment is to be made on the completion of the contract, which takes place after the goods have been delivered and the buyer has paid the price. AIR 1944 Mad 546 (547, 548) = ILR (1945) Mad 338 (DB).

[See also ILR (1951) Mys 178 (183). (Test applied is whether the agent's act is the effective cause of the sale.)]

(15) Where there are separate outstanding transactions with different provisions as to deposit and margin and the Pakha Adatia makes demand for margin money with reference to all outstanding transactions, he cannot close these transactions on non-compliance with demand. AIR 1941 Bom 211 (217) = ILR (1941) Bom 441.

(16) Insurance agent — Contract entitling agent to commission on completed business i.e., such business as is accepted by company and on which the first year's premium has been received in full — Insurance policy effected substantially through efforts of agent though its technical completion such as signing of policy, was actually brought about by another person: Held that the agent was entitled to commission on such policy. (1942) 23 Pat LT 318 (320, 321) (DB).

(17) Agent is entitled to a commission on the whole lot bargained for though a part of goods is not supplied to his principal. (1950) 3 Sau LR 120 (124) (DB).

(18) Prima facie, the right of an agent to commission ceases on the termination of his employment except in cases in which the whole of the work necessary to earn the commission has been done by the agent before his employment ceases. Where, therefore, a good deal of work has to be done by the agent to prevent policies from lapsing and the payment of renewal premiums does not follow automatically from the original issue of the policy, the agent is not entitled to commission on renewal premiums on termination of his agency. AIR 1946 PC 6 (9) = 72 Ind App 315 = ILR (1946) Bom 159 = ILR (1946) Kar (PC) 2.

(19) Insurance company appointing P as chief agent for 10 years — Due to financial crisis, company's business ran as "closed fund" and taken over by new company — Old company held not bound to continue business for 10 years — Whole contract depended on company being able to run for the entire period — If agency terminated, upon company stopping work for bona fide reasons no breach of contract is committed — Agent held not entitled to damages for being prevented from earning remuneration. AIR 1946 Mad 20 (23, 25).

(20) Commission agent employed to sell — Commission to be paid on completion of sale before certain date — Term as to capacity of principal to complete sale can be implied — Non-completion of sale due to inability of principal to produce necessary papers — Subsequent completion of sale after production of papers, but beyond stipulated time — Agent held entitled to damages for being prevented to earn his commission by default of principal in not producing papers within stipulated time. (1949) 84 Cal LJ 214 (234, 235).

(21) If there be no agreement as to remuneration between the parties and one is made to work under another for remuneration, the principles by which Court would be governed would be analogous to those which regulate assessment of remuneration for services as between principal and agent. (1954) 94 Cal LJ 203 (216) (DB).

(22) In a suit by a broker for commission, if it is proved that he had acted as broker, he is entitled to commission; and even if he fails to produce evidence to show the rate of commission, a reasonable amount ought to be awarded to him as such commission. AIR 1933 Lah 784 (784).

(23) When an agreement entered into by a pucca adatia with a third party is void, he cannot claim any commission from his constituent on the ground that the agreement under which he was appointed was collateral to the agreement which is void. AIR 1951 Kutch 50 (51, 52).

B recovers 1,00,000 rupees and lays out 90,000 rupees on good security, but lays out 10,000 rupees on security which he ought to have known to be bad, whereby A loses 2,000 rupees. B is entitled to remuneration for recovering the 1,00,000 rupees and for investing the 90,000 rupees. He is not entitled to any remuneration for investing the 10,000 rupees, and he must make good the 2,000 rupees to B.

221. Agent's lien on principal's property.—In the absence of any contract to the contrary, an agent is entitled to retain* goods, papers and other property, whether movable or immovable, of the principal received by him, until the amount due to himself for commission, disbursements and services in respect of the same has been paid or accounted for to him.

(1) Forfeiture of commission or remuneration is the result of the misconduct of the agent and not of loss arising therefrom. Agent's claim to remuneration will be affected even though he is willing to make good the loss. AIR 1940 Mad 299 (301) (DB).

(2) Agent representing himself to be the principal which fact is not known to the latter — Former cannot claim from the latter remuneration as agent. ILR (1937) 1 Cal 757 (761).

(3) Where the vendee is not completing sale due to vendor's defective title, he (vendee) need not pay the brokerage. AIR 1925 Sind 220 (221) (DB).

(4) Whether the agent has been guilty of misconduct has to be decided in each case on its own facts and circumstances. Hence, when the undertaking between the principal and his agent is that the agent will sell either to a third party or to himself and that in either case he is to get the commission, the agent cannot be held to have been guilty of misconduct, by selling to himself. He has not thus brought himself within the mischief of Section 220. (1956) 60 Cal WN 853 (854, 856) (DB).

(5) The principle underlying this section is that a principal is entitled to have an honest person as his agent and not a person whose actions are calculated to prejudice his interest and it is only an honest agent who is entitled to commission. AIR 1961 Andh Pra 143 (157) = 1960 Andh LT 524 (DB). (AIR 1940 Mad 299, Rel. on.)

Section 221 — Note 1

(1) Agent's lien to commission is restricted to certain specific property or things. He is not in the position of a mortgagee who can remain in possession until he is paid. (1928) 110 Ind Cas 23 (25) (DB) (Oudh).

(2) Agent holding property for special purpose — Property cannot be subjected to lien inconsistent with such purpose. AIR 1933 Sind 235 (238).

(3) Agent incurring expenditure before winding up order of the company — Unless the agreement between the company and the agent excludes the operation of this section, the Court has no authority under Section 149 of the Companies Act, to deprive him of the right to be in possession. (1908) 31 Mad 123 (124) (DB).

(4) The lien of the agent extends only to retention of the property till his dues are paid. He cannot sell the property without principal's consent and satisfy his lien. AIR 1926 Lah 94 (95)  AIR 1929 Lah 666 (667) (DB)  AIR 1957 Madh B 20 (22) (DB).

(5) An agent, pure and simple, may not be justified in selling his principal's goods without his authority; but where he has spent money from his pocket in purchasing the goods on behalf of the principal he is in the position of a tacit pledgee and can recover as much of his outlay as possible by selling the goods which are in his custody. AIR 1928 Lah 747 (750) (DB)  AIR 1957 Madh B 20 (22) (DB).

(7) Agent for purchaser delivering goods to the railway company with request to treat the latter as consignor and consignee — Held, he lost the lien over the property so delivered. AIR 1930 Sind 130 (133).

(8) If agent pays for the goods purchased for the principal and the property has vested in the principal the agent has a lien on the property. If the property is lost in transit under circumstances beyond control the agent loses his lien — His right to recover the money from the principal is not lost. AIR 1964 Andh Pra 17 (20) = ILR (1962) Andh Pra 431 (DB).

(9) Sums advanced and expended by the agents do not come within the meaning of "disbursements and services in respect of" in Section 221 so as to entitle them to a lien over the property of the principal. (1889) 13 Bom 314 (322).

(10) When an agent by contracting renders himself personally liable for the price of goods, the property in the goods vests in the agent, and his rights with respect to them are identical with those of the principal, enabling him to resell or stop in transit, if the principal does not act according to Section 222. AIR 1929 Bom 260 (261) (DB).

(11) The right of retainer and lien conferred on the agent does not make the amount received by the agent on behalf of the principal any the less the property of principal. The principal is the full owner and has complete control over his properties in the hands of the agent subject only to the latter's statutory right of retainer and lien. The scope of the agent's lien is not vast enough to include his right to retain even those goods, papers and other property of the principal which were the subject of different and separate transactions in the absence of a contract to that effect. (17) Agent's lien is lost by his parting with possession. If goods are lost in transit due to circumstances beyond the control of the parties, the agent loses his lien as an agent and the principal loses his property in the goods. If the loss of price of goods is paid by agent as money-lender the principal is liable to pay. AIR 1950 Pat 481 (483) (DB).

If the obligation to transfer is frustrated by local legislation or Governmental action of the country where the account is kept, the remaining implied obligation to pay at the branch or office where the account is kept cannot be substituted automatically by an unconditional obligation of the principal to pay elsewhere by resorting to S. 226. After 1908 no forward contracts were entered in accounts though munim carried on transactions with plaintiff who did not know that munim was acting in his own behalf. Defendant asked plaintiff for information about goods bought and sold through them. They supplied same some days after demand and brought suit for balance due on contracts: Held that defendant was bound by transaction entered into by munim both before and after 1908 upto 1911. 227. Principal how far bound, when agent exceeds authority.—When an agent does more than he is authorized to do, and when the part of what he does, which is within his authority, can be separated from the part which is beyond his authority, so much only of what he does as is within his authority is binding as between him and his principal.*

Illustration

[°] As between principal and third parties, see S. 237.

Section 229 — Note 1

SECTION 230 -- SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.
2. Agent having interest in the contract.
3. Contract to the contrary.
4. Principal resident abroad.
5. Undisclosed principal.
6. Where principal cannot be sued.

1. Scope. — (1) An agent is not entitled to personally enforce nor is he bound by a contract entered into by him on behalf of a disclosed principal in the absence of a contract to that effect. AIR 1919 Pat 143 (143)  AIR 1914 Mad 97 (98)  (1882) 6 Bom 326 (362, 363)  AIR 1952 Vindh Pra 51 (56)  1961 Jab LJ 91.

Presumption of contract to contrary.

Such a contract shall be presumed to exist in the following cases :—

- (1) where the contract is made by an agent for the sale or purchase of goods for a merchant resident abroad;
- (2) where the agent does not disclose the name of his principal;*
- (3) where the principal, though disclosed, cannot be sued.

[*] See Section 236 also.

(2) Where the bought and sold notes clearly indicate that the appellant was acting for the disclosed principal, the fact that he (the agent) did not add the relevant description to his signature, or used the word 'we' in the operative portion of the letters would not materially alter the fact spoken to by the notes. The letters must be presumed to be consistent with the notes; and so it would be unreasonable to attach undue importance to the signature and to the use of the relevant words 'we' and 'you'. AIR 1962 SC 538 (543, 544, 546) = 1962 Supp (1) SCR 81.

(3) Where an elder brother signed a contract in his own name mortgaging his sister's property but the body of document described him as authorised agent, he was not personally liable. AIR 1938 Mad 146 (147).

(4) Defendant who was an organiser of the company received deposit from plaintiff promising to appoint the latter a selling agent of the company. Company went into liquidation. Held, that defendant received deposit as agent and so cannot be sued for refund of the same. 1942 Nag LJ 515 (517, 518) (DB).

(5) It is quite a common thing for a broker to act for both the parties in the sale of produce, and if he does not exceed the limits of his authority, he incurs no personal liability. (1910) 8 Mad LT 353 (354).

(6) The fact that the agent agrees to pay the principal for the goods supplied by the principal and not paid for by the purchaser will not entitle him to sue the purchaser, when the order was not placed through the agent. And the fact the purchaser made him believe that he will be paid will not override the provisions of S. 230. AIR 1937 Lah 607 (608).

(7) Payment of money by agent which purchaser is legally bound to pay — Suit for reimbursement by agent — S. 230 has no application as the suit is not by the plaintiff as an agent to enforce the contract entered into by him on behalf of the principal. (1967) 2 Mys LJ 499 = 12 Law Rep 423.

(8) Where the principal sends goods to his agent and consigns them to railway but they are not delivered to agent, the agent has no locus standi to sue railway for damages, for railway receipt sent to him by principal does not confer upon him the ownership of the goods. AIR 1929 Lah 590 (590).

(9) When a railway receipt is issued by railway administration on consignment of goods there is no tripartite contract between the railway administration, the consignor and consignee. The consignee, unless he is the owner of the goods consigned, is only an agent of the consignor to receive the goods and so cannot sue the railway administration for damages. AIR 1957 Bom 276 (280) = ILR (1957) Bom 647.

(10) Plaintiff on the request of a party A purchased and sent goods to the defendants. The defendants appropriated the goods for themselves and wrote to the plaintiff that they will pay him in a few days. A was declared insolvent. Plaintiff sued the defendant for the price of the goods. It was held that the defendants were only agents of A and had no personal liability. AIR 1917 Lah 404 (405) (DB).

(11) Ordinarily speaking, the words "pacca arhtia" convey that the so-called agent is acting as a principal on behalf of the person with whom he buys or sells the commodities in question. There can, therefore, be no question of the application of Section 230, Contract Act. AIR 1938 Lah 253 (254) (DB).

(12) On a contract both principal and agent cannot be sued in the same suit. AIR 1952 Cal 859 (861).

(13) Promise enforceable against principal cannot be enforced against agent. AIR 1927 Mad 1102 (1103).

(14) Where an agent disclosed his principal and signed a promissory note as the agent of that principal, the agent is not liable for the debt personally. AIR 1957 Orissa 86 (89) = ILR (1956) Cut 393.

(15) When a party contracted to act as common carriers over their own transport system and transport goods over other transport systems as the agent of such other systems, it was held that they were not liable as agents of other systems. AIR 1949 Assam 25 (27).

(16) Where the plaint merely discloses a contract between the plaintiffs and the agent of a disclosed principal, the agent cannot be sued. Where there is a matter of doubt as to the liability of the agent or the principal in a contract, the usual course is to sue both defendants alleging that the principal was the principal to the contract and, in the alternative, suing the agent for breach of warranty of authority. AIR 1934 Pat 269 (270) (DB).

(17) When a purchaser wants return of deposit made to an auctioneer on a consideration which had failed, he is not seeking to enforce the contract against the agent. He is not relying on the contract at all. The suit is for money had and received. Section 230 has no application. AIR 1942 All 90 (94).

(18) Personal liability of auctioneer — Auctioneer forfeiting earnest money on default by purchaser to pay balance — Transaction of sale falling through by earlier sale by seller in favour of third party — No agreement for forfeiture of earnest money — Suit by purchaser only for refund of money — Auctioneer is stake holder and is bound to refund money had and received — Seller not liable — Section 230, not applicable. AIR 1965 All 533 (535) = ILR (1965) 1 All 773 (DB).

(19) 'Claiming under the party' in Section 34, Arbitration Act (1940) includes agent of party entering into contract under Section 230 — Mere employee of contracting party not included. AIR 1962 Cal 177 (179).

(20) Ordinarily, an agent contracting in the name of his principal and not in his own name is not entitled to sue nor can he be sued on such contracts. But the question, whether an agent, apart from the cases specially mentioned in Section 230, is personally liable, depends on the intention of the parties and the contract between the principal and the agent. AIR 1961 Pat 107 (112).

(21) Agent, who is — Person merely signing letters purporting to emanate from Military Secretary of Ex-Ruler "for the Military Secretary" — Held, he was not acting as the agent of the ex-Ruler but was performing the ministerial act of signing the letters on behalf of the Military Secretary — This could not be said to have constituted him an agent. AIR 1962 SC 73 (76) = (1962) 1 SCR 702.

(22) Section 230 of the Contract Act or the principles on which it is based show that an agent cannot inter alia personally enforce a contract when there is a contract to the contrary and when the principal's name is disclosed by the agent. Where the terms of the bill of lading show the contract to the contrary and also the non-disclosure of the name of the principal, the agent can enforce a contract of carriage of goods by sea. AIR 1959 Cal 479 (489) (DB).

(23) Auctioneers of property signing agreement of sale in their own name without qualification — Auctioneers must be understood to contract personally and not as agents. (1961) 65 Cal WN 881.

(24) Vendee holding power of attorney from H. E. H. the Nizam — Vendee held personally located as vendee — His capacity has to be ascertained from the sale deed. AIR 1966 Andh Pra 361 (365) = (1966) 2 Andh WR 121.

2. Agent having interest in the contract.

— (1) An agent having an interest in the contract may sue in his own name, he being virtually a principal to the extent of his interest in the contract. AIR 1938 Lah 673 (674) (DB)  AIR 1929 Oudh 417 (418) = 5 Luck 201 (DB)  AIR 1925 Bom 547 (558)  AIR 1920 Lah 196 (197)  (1901) 24 Mad 130 (135, 136) (DB).

(2) Transaction by one of directors of company — Suit on — Plea that it was on behalf of principal not raised in written statement — Suit against him personally held not barred. AIR 1959 All 29 (30).

(3) Though an auctioneer is classified as an agent, the nature of his duties invest him with certain rights which differentiate him from an ordinary agent. In his capacity as an auctioneer he has an interest in the goods entrusted to him for auction sale. He has a lien upon them for the charges and advances. His custody of the goods is not the bare custody of an ordinary agent, but he, by virtue of the auction of the principal's goods, acquires a special property in the goods which are in his possession for the purpose of the auction sale. He can, therefore, sue in his own name for the value of goods sold at an auction-sale. AIR 1926 Sind 6 (7) = 20 Sind LR 287.

(4) Partner — Borrowing power — Liability of firm — Partner can bind firm — Section 230, Contract Act not applicable. (1965) 67 Pun LR 12.

3. Contract to the contrary. — (1) The three cases mentioned in Section 230 in which contract to that effect may be presumed are by no means exhaustive. AIR 1929 Oudh 417 (418) = 5 Luck 201 (DB).

(2) The question whether an agent, who has made a contract on behalf of his principal, is to be taken to have contracted personally, or merely on behalf of his principal, and, if personally, what is the extent of his liability on the contract, depends on what appears to have been the intention of the parties to be deduced from the nature and terms of the particular contract and the surrounding circumstances. AIR 1941 Cal 643 (652) (DB)  ILR (1951) 1 Cal 82 (85).

(3) The latter part of Section 230 says that in certain cases a contract to the effect that the agent shall be personally liable shall be presumed. The case in which, though disclosing the name and identity of the principal, the agent who contracts personally is not one of them, but there being a specific contract to that effect there is no need for any presumption. ILR (1945) 1 Cal 565 (571).

(4) The agent who may be sued under Section 230 (3) is not sued on the basis of the agreement alone. He is no party to the agreement. Because he fails to enter in the contract in such a way that the principal could be bound by it he is sued as a substitute. The liability is more statutory than contractual. AIR 1955 Assam 86 (95) (DB).

(5) Man who is agent and describes himself as such, may still be contracting in his personal capacity but the mere fact that he fails to specify his capacity as an agent in signing a contract does not raise any such presumption when the terms of the contract itself are clearly to the contrary. AIR 1920 Lah 484 (485) (DB).

(6) When a contract was entered by a person on behalf of a syndicate and later it was proved that the syndicate was only an assumed name of that person it was held that he may be made liable personally. 1957 Ker L Tim 925 (926).

(7) An agent who contracts in his own name does not cease to be contractually bound because it is proved that the other party knew when the contract was made that he was acting as agent. So the agreement which is made in his name does not cease in that event to contain the names of contracting parties. In such a case, the agent as well as the principal can sue on the agreement. 54 Cal WN 770 (776) (PC).

(8) Where there is nothing in the agreement raising implication that agent purports to render himself personally liable, the use of the word 'agent' negatives personal responsibility. AIR 1930 Bom 569 (572).

(9) Where the "principal contract" form is employed, the custom accepting the incident of broker's responsibility ob- disclosed. The contract on the face of tains even though the names are in fact it being between the buyers and the unnamed sellers and the language adapted accordingly, there is a good custom entitling the brokers to enforce the contract. AIR 1923 Cal 419 (421, 422) = 50 Cal 12.

(10) Evidence of a custom in the gunny market in Calcutta whereby brokers are made personally liable though they had no principals is admissible. Sections 230 and 236 do not apply to such case. AIR 1917 Cal 587 (588).

(11) If on the face of a contract an agent appears to be personally liable, he cannot escape his liability by evidence of disclosure of principal's name apart from the contract. (1880) 5 Cal 71 (79, 80).

(12) Under the agreed usage of the market the broker was liable to deliver to the buyer rubber coupons without disclosing the principal and the buyer was liable to pay the price to the broker. The broker may sue for damages for breach of promise to pay. AIR 1946 PC 63 (65).

(13) Every agent who undertakes personal responsibility for payment is personally liable and can be sued in his own name on the contract, unless the other contracting party elects to give exclusive credit to the principal. AIR 1952 Vindh Pra 51 (56).

(14) The opening words of Section 230 make it quite clear that there may be a contract to the effect that an agent is personally liable and in a case of non-disclosure of contract an inference will be drawn to that effect making both principal and agent liable. (1961) 65 Cal WN 504 (533) (DB).

4. Principal resident abroad. — (1) Presumption in Section 230 (1) is a rebuttable presumption. The fact that the principal is abroad does not absolve the personal liability of the agent if the other contracting party looked to him alone for performance. (1922) 67 Ind Cas 157 (158) (DB) (Lah).

(2) Where corporate company is resident abroad, it must be presumed that agent is personally liable under contract of sale entered into with third party. But this presumption of law can be rebutted, when the foreign principal himself is, in writing, made the contracting party and contract is made directly in his name. (1904) 27 Mad 315 (333) (DB).

(3) Where plaintiff entered into a contract direct with the foreign merchant, the defendant only acting as a post office in the matter, the latter is not personally liable under the contract though he would be if he acted as agent for the foreign merchant. AIR 1923 Lah 296 (297) (DB).

(4) Where plaintiffs' indent was not accepted by the defendants, commission agents, but by a merchant residing abroad and the defendants did not undertake any primary liability, held, that Section 230 (1) of the Act was not applicable to the case and the plaintiffs were not entitled to sue the defendants for any claim regarding their indent. 1905 Pun LR No. 138, p. 488 (489).

(5) Agent of foreign State is personally liable for contracts entered into on behalf of principal where the contracts do not come under S. 86, Civil P. C. and permission to sue need not be applied for. AIR 1928 Sind 189 (190).

(6) For the personal liability of the home agent to accrue, it must be shown that he entered into the contract by or on behalf of his principal, by signing on behalf of his principal, or in some other way proving the fact that the contract was one between the merchant here and the home agent on behalf of a foreign principal. Where the contract is between two principals in form and substance, the inconvenience of suing the foreign principal here, the fact that the merchant ordering the goods, might not have looked to the credit of performance of the foreign principal but of the home agent, etc. would be extraneous and irrelevant. In such a context, Section 230 itself would not apply, and hence the liability under sub-section (1) of Section 230 would not arise. This will be a question of fact in each case. AIR 1960 Mad 452 (455) (DB).

(7) Plaintiff agreeing to purchase goods from firm situate in United States through agent in India and paying money in advance — Agreement however exonerating agent for breach of contract Held, agent was not liable for damages for breach of contract but was liable in respect of the advance paid by plaintiff. AIR 1964 Mad 113 (114, 115) (DB).

5. Undisclosed principal.— (1) When an agent does not disclose the name of his principal, the agent would be personally liable. AIR 1932 Nag 27 (28) = 27 Nag LR 324.

(2) Where a contract for the sale of shares between brokers did not refer to the existence of principals nor to the fact that the contract was signed as agents on behalf of some others, the parties can sue in their own name in respect of the contract. AIR 1948 Mad 216 (217).

(3) An agent while entering into a contract of charter-party mentioned the name of the ship and its registration number. Held, that though he did not disclose the name of the principal, benefit of Section 230 could not be given. The ship's name and number was sufficient indication of the identity of the principal. The essential point is the knowledge and not the declaration. (1881) 5 Bom 584 (589).

(4) Where one party to a contract knows that the other is only acting as an agent for a person known to him, a formal disclosure of the principal is unnecessary to make the principal liable. (1922) 65 Ind Cas 473 (474) (DB) (Lah).

[See also AIR 1933 Sind 34 (35) = 26 Sind LR 85 (DB). (It is not necessary that an agent should have disclosed himself as an agent in the contract to enable the agent to prove that contracts entered into in his name were entered into on the principal's behalf.)]

(5) A principal cannot be said to disclose himself if the other party gets knowledge about him not from the principal himself but from some other source. AIR 1929 Bom 177 (178) = 53 Bom 110 (DB).

(6) Where an agent does not disclose the name of his principal, the presumption is that he contracts to be held personally liable as well. Such a presumption, however, is rebutted where the agent signs the contract expressly as "Agent and Manager." AIR 1925 Oudh 641 (641, 642).

[See also AIR 1929 PC 254 (255, 256).]

(7) Where an agent does not disclose the name of the principal, he is personally responsible for the result of any fraud or wrong committed. So much of the money as is necessary to compensate for the loss caused thereby must be refunded, though the amount has been paid over to his principal. ('97-01) 2 Upp Bur Rul 341 (344).

(8) Agent entering into a contract on behalf of a principal who is disclosed but who is a minor is not personally liable on the contract to the third party. AIR 1930 Oudh 312 (314) = 6 Luck 19 (DB).

(9) Presumption under Section 230 will not arise when broker brings his principal vendor face to face with purchaser. But where purchaser has been making payments only to broker and does not know the name of vendor, broker can sue purchaser for balance of purchase money. AIR 1929 Nag 170 (171) = 25 Nag LR 81.

(10) A broker who gives to the buyer a note in the form "bought by your order and for your account from our principal" is not an agent of the undisclosed principal for sale to make him liable under Section 230. AIR 1916 Cal 548 (550) = 42 Cal 1050 (DB).

(11) Plaintiff entered into contract as principal, and sued as a principal — Plea that he was an agent not taken by defendant at an early stage but after evidence of plaintiff — Held, that even if the plaintiff was an agent he could sue in his individual capacity under Section 230. 1881 Pun Re No. 64, p. 148 (149) (DB).

(12) Where defendant, as manager of Banaili Raj, got some work done by the plaintiff and name of Raja was not disclosed — Held, defendant was not personally liable to plaintiff for work done by him for the Raj. AIR 1914 All 253 (254) (DB).

(13) When in a court-auction a property is sold, the auction-purchaser is one party to the contract, but the other party to the contract is not the judgment-debtor or the decree-holder but the Court itself. In selling property in court-auction, the Court acts under the statutory powers given to it by the Civil P. C. and not as the agent of any party and the contract that is made, when the bid is accepted and confirmed by the Court, is one between the Court on the one side and the auction-purchaser, whose bid is accepted, on the other, and therefore before cl. (2) of Section 230, Contract Act, can be excluded, it must be alleged and proved by the party wishing to take advantage of Section 230, Clause (1) that when making the bid or before doing so he had informed the Court or the Court-officer conducting the sale that he was making the bid only as the agent of some named third party. It would then be open to the Court-officer, the Nazir, either to accept his bids or decline them, if he is not fully satisfied that he had a proper power of attorney to make the bid. Where the auction-purchaser is accepted by the Court as agent, he is liable personally for deficit on re-sale. AIR 1924 Mad 476 (477) (DB).

(14) The person liable is one whose name appears on the face of the bill. No other person can be held liable under a bill unless it is clearly indicated on the face of the instrument that an agent is acting in his behalf. AIR 1937 Pat 428 (429).

(15) A rented a house from B for a school. B sued A to recover possession of the house and arrears of rent. A contended that he was merely a secretary acting for a society in London which ran the school and was not personally liable: Held, that on the form of the contract and from receipts passed it could not be inferred that the contract was made on anybody's personal credit except that of A. (1898) 22 Bom 754 (756, 757).

(16) Agent cannot sue in his own name unless the name of principal is undisclosed — Same rule applies to counter claim. AIR 1951 All 596 (598) (DB).

(17) An agent of an undisclosed principal is entitled to bring a suit personally to enforce the contract made on behalf of the principal. AIR 1955 Punj 189 (190) (DB)  (1912) 39 Cal 802 (807) (DB).

(18) Auctioneer is entitled to maintain a suit for the recovery of the price of goods sold against purchaser at auction. 1884 Pun Re No. 86, p. 241 (242).

(19) The form of a sold note was as follows: "Sold this day by order and for account of G, to my principal, G. P. Notes for Rs. 20,000 at Rs. 98-11-0." The note was endorsed "X for principal". Held, there was nothing in the note to rebut the personal liability of the person. (1890) 17 Cal 449 (454) (DB).

(20) Where the managing members of an ancestral trading firm enter into a contract, without disclosing the names of the other members, it is competent for them to sue on the contract without impleading the undisclosed members of the firm. The managing members are in the position of agents for undisclosed principals. (1905) 27 All 361 (362, 363) (DB)  (1910) 32 All 183 (186) (DB)  AIR 1938 Mad 739 (740) (DB).

(21) Where a person had taken a house on rent for the purpose of starting a hospital for women, the principal, i.e., hospital, not having come into existence, he had entered into the contract on behalf of an undisclosed principal. He would, therefore be personally liable under the contract. AIR 1963 Pat 131 (135).

6. Where principal cannot be sued. — (1) Where the liability of the principal and the agent is concurrent, it is not joint, or joint and several, but is alternate. (2) A person sued an unregistered union of employees and a member of the said union as the person who signed the contract on behalf of the union. Held, that under the law an unincorporated body could not be sued as such for recovery of a debt or on a contract. Only those persons who signed the contracts on behalf of the union and those who adopted them could be sued. Other persons who were members of an unincorporated body could not be proceeded against. (3) When a Government officer entered into a contract on behalf of the Government but the contract was not in the proper form prescribed by the statute, the principal, the Government, cannot be sued due to the technical defect. AIR 1954 SC 236 (243) = 1954 SCR 817.

(4) Clause 3 of Section 230 is not applicable to a case where a contract is entered into by an unincorporated society. It is not that an unincorporated society cannot be sued at all, but that it cannot be sued except in the name of all the members. 1891 Pun Re No. 15 p. 93 (99, 101) (DB).

(7) Contract not in strict compliance with Section 175 (3), Government of India Act (1935) — Not enforceable against Government but binding upon officer making it under S. 230 (3). AIR 1962 Pat 372 (375) = 1962 BLJR 480 (DB).

(8) Government of India Act (1935), Section 175 (3) — Contract not expressed to be made by Governor-General — It is not binding on the Union of India — Arbitration Clause contained therein is not binding — Section 230 (3), Contract Act not applicable. AIR 1959 Cal 287 (289, 290) (DB).

231. Rights of parties to a contract made by agent not disclosed.—If an agent makes a contract with a person who neither knows, nor has reason to suspect, that he is an agent, his principal may require the performance of the contract; but the other contracting party has, as against the principal, the same rights as he would have had as against the agent if the agent had been principal.

If the principal discloses himself before the contract is completed, the other contracting party may refuse to fulfil the contract, if he can show that, if he had known who was the principal in the contract, or if he had known that the agent was not a principal, he would not have entered into the contract.

Section 231 — Note 1

(1) Section 231 deals with the rights (a) of the principal and (b) of the third party in cases when the contract is entered into by the agent without disclosing the principal — The first clause refers to the general case and the rule is that the third party shall have, as against the undisclosed principal the same rights which he would have against the agent if the agent had been the principal. The second clause deals with the particular case where the principal discloses himself before the contract is completed. The second clause should be read as governed by the first clause. (1908) 32 Bom 356 (361, 362) (DB).

(2) Even where a railway receipt is granted in the name of servant or agent, the real owner of the goods can claim for their value if lost. (1926) 92 Ind Cas 1007 (1008) (All).

(3) Undisclosed principal selling goods through agent can enforce purchaser to pay purchase money. 1909 Pun Re No. 71, p. 230 (236) (DB).

(4) Except in special cases, the general rule of law is that the principal can enforce the contract entered into by his agent with a third party even though the agent had not disclosed the name of the principal. This principle is embodied in Section 231 of the Contract Act which lays down that the principal can enforce the contract even when the third person neither knows nor has reason to suspect that the person with whom he entered into contract was an agent. AIR 1968 Raj 81 (83) = 1968 Raj LW 62.

(5) If one partner enters into a contract in his own name still if he is acting as the agent of the firm, his co-partners will be in the position of undisclosed principals. They can be sued on the contract and may join as plaintiffs in suing. (1908) 10 Bom LR 306 (311)  AIR 1928 Cal 57 (59)  AIR 1925 Cal 29 (31) (DB)  (1908) 31 Mad 45 (46) (DB).

(6) A railway company entered into a contract with a person in the belief that he was the only person interested in the contract. They did not know that he had another partner. Subsequently the person who contracted with the company died. The defendant partner sued the company claiming payments and amounts due to the firm under one of the contracts. Held, that the right to claim performance rested with the deceased partner during his life time and that the dormant partner could not sue the contracting party after the death of the partner entering the contract. (1908) 10 Bom LR 306 (313).

(7) Business done by a commission agent in his own name though for the benefit of an undisclosed principal, who is liable to indemnify the commission agent against loss, is not business done by such undisclosed principal through the agent, but business done by the agent. AIR 1929 Sind 24 (26) = 23 Sind LR 229.

(8) An agent contracting in his own name without mentioning the agency can sue and be sued upon the contract. AIR 1915 Mad 509 (516) (DB).

(9) Under Section 231 a principal can, as against the agent, claim the full benefit of the contract entered into by the agent in his own name and as against the party contracting with the agent, the principal is bound by the equities arising between the agent and the contracting party. AIR 1915 Mad 509 (511) (DB).

(10) A simple creditor can derive no advantage out of the circumstance that an agent is held out as the owner of the property. It is only a person who has obtained any sale, pledge, mortgage or other disposition for value of the property from the agent whom he believed to be the principal that can derive any advantage from such holding out. 1936 Mad-WN 1015 (1016) (DB).

(11) Where principal can bring his case under Section 211, Section 231 does not debar him from seeking his remedy under that section — Contract for undisclosed principal — Breach by reason of agent's default — Principal can proceed only against other contracting party under Section 231 and not against agent. AIR 1934 Cal 721 (722) = 61 Cal 504 (DB).

(12) An agent entered into a contract in his own name with a third party, brought a suit against him for damages for breach of the terms of the contract and successfully obtained a decree. The principal brought a suit against the agent subsequently for declaration of title to the decree — Held, that the suit was not maintainable because the principal might have adopted the contract made by his

232. Performance of contract with agent supposed to be principal.—Where one man makes a contract with another, neither knowing nor having reasonable ground to suspect that the other is an agent, the principal, if he requires the performance of the contract, can only obtain such performance subject to the rights and obligations subsisting between the agent and the other party to the contract.

Illustration

A, who owes 500 rupees to B, sells 1,000 rupees' worth of rice to B. A is acting as agent for C in the transaction, but B has no knowledge nor reasonable ground of suspicion that such is the case. C cannot compel B to take the rice without allowing him to set off A's debt.

233. Right of person dealing with agent personally liable.—In cases where the agent is personally liable, a person dealing with him may hold either him or his principal, or both of them, liable.

Illustration

A enters into a contract with B to sell him 100 bales of cotton, and afterwards discovers that B was acting as agent for C. A may sue either B or C, or both, for the price of the cotton.

agent and sued on it or he might have either commenced the action himself or intervened at any stage in the action begun by his agent. (1913) 40 Cal 335 (340, 341) (DB).

(13) The words "discloses himself" in Section 231 must be construed strictly. The third party's right to repudiate the contract arises only where the principal himself makes the disclosure; it cannot arise when the disclosure is made by some other person or the information reaches him from other person. (1908) 32 Bom 356 (363) (DB).

(14) Unlike a Kucha Arhatia who acts as an agent on behalf of his principal and brings about a privity of contract between him and the third parties with whom he enters into contracts on his behalf the pucca arhatia deals with the constituent as a principal and becomes personally liable to perform his contracts with him. Similarly, the constituent has to look to him alone for the performance of the contracts. AIR 1950 All 352 (355).

(15) The second paragraph of S. 231 has to be read in the context of the first paragraph of Section 231 and the expression 'if the principal disclosed himself before the contract is completed' in paragraph 2, must be read in the context where the agent made the contract with a person who did not know or had reason to suspect that he was an agent. AIR 1960 Cal 752 (760, 761) = ILR (1961) 1 Cal 799 (DB).

(1) An undisclosed principal has a general right to enforce a contract entered into by his agent. Under S. 232, this general right of the principal to require performance is subject to the rights and obligations that existed between the agent and the other contracting party. Thus, Section 232 is to be read as a qualification of the first portion of para. 1 of Section 231. (1879-80) 4 Bom 447 (455).

Section 233 — Note 1

(2) Person managing business as agent of his father — Father is liable for the money borrowed for the business. (1958) 71 Mad LW 50 (2).

(3) Section 233 enacts substantive law, laying down who shall be held liable and not adjective law, defining the procedure by which the liability may be enforced. AIR 1917 Bom 268 (270, 271).

(4) Section 233 cannot be construed as meaning only that the plaintiff might sue both the principal and the agent in the alternative, but that he cannot get judgment against both of them jointly for the amount sued for. AIR 1939 Mad 520 (523) = ILR (1939) Mad 282 (DB)  AIR 1926 Oudh 41 (42)  AIR 1917 Bom 268 (271)  AIR 1952 Vindh Pra 51 (57).

234. Consequence of inducing agent or principal to act on belief that principal or agent will be held exclusively liable.—When a person who has made a contract with an agent induces the agent to act upon the belief that the principal only will be held liable, or induces the principal to act upon the belief that the agent only will be held liable, he cannot afterwards hold liable the agent or principal respectively.

235. (9) Debtor paid money to creditor's agent who failed to credit it. In the suit by the creditor debtor remained ex parte and suit was decreed. Debtor paid money and sued for the recovery of money paid to the agent. Held, he could not succeed, as he did not raise the plea of discharge in the former suit. AIR 1923 Mad 551 (552).

(10) Del credere agent — Agent expressly undertaking to pay price of goods — Agent's position is not that of del credere agent — Goods intercepted under Control Order by Government authority and price paid to agent — Liability of agent is not limited to the amount which he received from such authority but he is liable for the full price of the goods supplied. (11) Where because of non-disclosure of a contract between the principal and agent an inference can be drawn that the agent is personally liable both the principal and agent can be sued. ('61) 65 Cal WN 504 (533) (DB).

(1) The principal is always liable on a contract made on his behalf by his agent, whether, or not there is a contract which fastens the liability on the agent also, and that liability does not cease except when there is an election or some form of estoppel by the contracting party. To enable the principal (or the agent) to claim exemption from liability two essential conditions must be satisfied: Firstly, the contracting party should have induced a belief in one of them that he is going to hold the other alone liable; secondly, this belief should have resulted in a course of action which would not have happened otherwise. AIR 1952 Vindh Pra 51 (56).

(2) Where in a contract of sale of goods by A to C through A's agent B, C sends a notice to B alleging that B had represented to him that the contract would be by sample and that B would be held responsible for any loss if the goods were not according to the sample, without making A liable, C cannot subsequently make A liable for any loss caused to him. AIR 1950 Orissa 42 (46) = ILR (1949) 1 Cut 453 (DB).

(1) There is no distinction in principle between the case of a man who represents that he has authority from another when he has no authority whatever, and the case of a man who represents that he has certain authority from another when he has authority of another description. In neither case can the man who makes the representation be said to be the authorised agent of the other with reference to the matter on which he has no authority. Section 235 of the Contract Act is intended to apply to both classes of cases. (1912) 34 All 168 (171) (DB).

(4) An untrue representation of agency under this section need not necessarily be made in express and literal words; it may be conveyed by any words spoken or written combined with acts and omissions which would induce another person into the belief that he has such authority — The untrue representation must be one of fact and not merely of law — The fact that he made the representation under the belief that he had such authority does not affect his liability under this section except in cases where he would be prosecuted under Section 208. (1904) 17 CPLR 67 (71, 72).

(5) The words "if his alleged principal does not ratify his acts" in Section 235 appear to indicate a named principal. AIR 1933 Sind 207 (209).

(12) Under a charter-party when a person untruly represents himself to be the authorised agent of the master to enter into contracts on his behalf he is personally liable for damages to the other party, and he is not liable for a greater amount than could have been recovered from the alleged principal and the fact that the master or principal is also liable would not make any difference in the liability of the agent. Section 236 — Note 1

(4) In order that principle of "holding out" should apply to act done by agent and relied upon to bind principal, it must be an act of that particular class of acts which he has general authority on behalf of his principal to do. (1910) 14 Cal WN 381 (387, 389) (PC).

(5) In order to bind one with the transaction entered into on his behalf by another there must be evidence from which an implied authority in the other to enter into the transaction can be inferred. There must be evidence either of facts and circumstances from which such authority can be inferred or of a general authority granted to the person entering into the transaction which is wide enough to cover the transaction or which shows that the transaction was necessary to enable him to do something which he was authorised to do. Mere general evidence showing the nature of the work done by him in connection with the estate of the one who is sought to be bound is not sufficient to attract the operation of Section 237. [THE] COOCH-BEHAR (ASSIMILATION OF LAWS) ACT, 1950 (ACT LXVII OF 1950)

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

"With effect from the 1st January, 1950, the former Indian State of Cooch-Bihar has been merged into and constituted a district of West Bengal by the States' Merger (West Bengal) Order, 1949. This merger, however, did not by itself effect any change in the body of laws to which the former Indian State of Cooch-Bihar was subject before the commencement of the Order. Consequently, the laws in force in Cooch-Bihar continue to be the same as before, that is, either the laws of the former State of Cooch-Bihar or the laws applied by Orders made under the Extra-Provincial Jurisdiction Act, 1947, after the date on which the administration was taken over and before the 1st January, 1950. This position is highly unsatisfactory and it is obviously desirable to assimilate the laws in force in Cooch-Bihar to the laws in force in the rest of West Bengal. Hence, this Bill.

2. This Bill covers matters relating to the Union and Concurrent Lists. It is clear that a complete assimilation of laws can only be effected by simultaneous legislation by the Centre and the State of West Bengal. It is also desirable that the Central Act and the State Act should come into force on the same day. Necessary steps are being taken in this behalf and the Government of West Bengal will be requested to bring their corresponding legislation into force on the 'appointed Day'."

—Gaz. of Ind. 12-8-1950, Part II-Sec. 2, p. 301.

[7th December, 1950.]

An Act to assimilate certain laws in force in Cooch-Bihar to the laws in force in the rest of West Bengal.

BE it enacted by Parliament as follows :—

[*] For Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gaz. of India, 12-8-1950, Part II-Section 2, page 301.

1. Short title and commencement.—(1) This Act may be called THE COOCH-BEHAR (ASSIMILATION OF LAWS) ACT, 1950.

(2) It shall come into force on such date* as the Central Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint.

[*] The Act came into force on 1-1-1951; See Gaz. of Ind., 30-12-1950, Part II-Section 3, page 1109.

2. Interpretation.—In this Act,—

(a) "appointed day" means the date appointed under sub-section (2) of Section 1 for the coming into force of this Act;

(b) "Cooch-Bihar" means the merged territory of Cooch-Bihar in the State of West Bengal;

(c) "law" means so much of any Act, Ordinance, Regulation, Rule, Order or Bye-law as relates to any of the matters enumerated in Lists I and III in the Seventh Schedule to the Constitution.

3. Assimilation of laws.—(1) Save as provided in sub-section (2), all laws which immediately before the appointed day extend to, or are in force in, the State of West Bengal, but do not extend to, or are not in force in, Cooch-Bihar shall, as from that day, extend to, or as the case may be, come into force in, Cooch-Bihar; and all laws which, immediately before the appointed day, are in force in Cooch-Bihar, but not in the rest of West Bengal, shall on that day cease to be in force in Cooch-Bihar, except as respects things done or omitted to be done before that day.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1), the Muslim Personal Law (Shariat) Application Act, 1937, shall come into force in Cooch-Bihar only on such date as the State Government may, by notification in the Official Gazette, appoint; and Cooch-Bihar Act 2 of 1897, known as the Muhammadan Inheritance Act, 1897, shall continue in force in Cooch-Bihar until that date, and shall on that date cease to be in force except as respects things done or omitted to be done before that date.

Note.—It is clear from S. 2 (c) that the Act covered matters relating to Union and concurrent Lists. Complete assimilation of laws could only be effected by simultaneous legislation by the Centre and the State of West Bengal. It was desirable that the Central Act and the State Act should come into force on the same day, i.e. "the appointed day," namely 1-1-1951. The West Bengal legislature, in pursuance of this policy, passed Act 63 of 1950 known as the Cooch-Bihar (Assimilation of State Laws) Act, 1950. This State Act also came into force on 1-1-1951 according to Notification No. 7497 J., D/- 18-12-1950 published in the Calcutta Gazette, D/- 28-12-1951, Part I, page 2605.

4. Provision for removal of difficulties.—If any difficulty arises in relation to the transition under Section 3 from one law or group of laws to another law or group of laws, the Central Government may, by order notified in the Official Gazette, make such provision as it considers necessary for the removal of such difficulty.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

"When the Bill, which subsequently became the Act of 1904,* was published, the following remarks were made in the Statement of Objects and Reasons:— "Legislation is called for not only in order to lay down the fundamental conditions, which must be observed; but, also with a view to giving such societies a corporate existence, without resort to the elaborate provisions of the Companies Act; but it is thought that legislation should be confined within the narrowest possible limits. The Bill has, therefore, been drawn so as to deal with those points which the Government consider to be essential and its provisions have been expressed in simple and general terms, a wide rule-making power being reserved to Local Governments, so that what is felt to be of the nature of an experiment may be tried in each Province or part of a Province on such lines as seem to offer most promise of success;" and these principles were followed in the Act as passed.

2. The adequacy of the existing Act was examined at a conference of Registrars of Co-operative Credit Societies in 1909, and it was held that, the Act still remained in many ways unduly restricted, and that it also required certain alterations in detail which had been suggested by experts since 1904. The conference of Registrars drew up proposals for the amendment of the Act, and after consulting Local Governments on these proposals the Government of India have prepared the Bill now published. The chief changes, contemplated by the Government of India, are four in number:—

(i) The Act of 1904 applies to societies for the purpose of co-operative credit only and not to co-operative societies of other kinds, such as those established for production or distribution. It has in practice been found that the establishment of credit societies has led to the founding of other classes of co-operative societies also, and it is advisable that the privileges, extended by the Act to co-operative credit societies, should be extended to these other societies. It is proposed, therefore, that the Act, as now revised, should be made applicable to all classes of co-operative societies — vide clause 1 (i) and Clause 4 of the Bill.

(ii) In the Act of 1904, societies were classified according as they were "Urban" or "Rural" and the principle was laid down that, as a general rule, rural societies should be with unlimited liability. This basis for distinction was adopted, mainly because it represented a classification which had already been recommended and put in force in the initiation of co-operative credit societies in certain parts of India, but it was at the time criticised as unsuitable by experts, and it has in practice been found artificial and inconvenient. The real distinction is between societies with limited and those with unlimited liability and it is proper in the new Bill to maintain this distinction only while retaining the principle that agricultural credit societies must as a general rule be with unlimited liability — see Clause 4 of the Bill.

(iii) The Act of 1904 did not contemplate that societies with unlimited liability should distribute profits. It is still felt that such societies do not represent the best form of co-operation for agricultural communities, but this form of societies has, in practice been for some time in existence in several Provinces, and societies of this character, though not of the orthodox type, are recognized to be capable of useful work. Although therefore, it is not intended to give them undue encouragement, it is proposed to legalize their existence and to permit an unlimited society, with the sanction of the Local Government to distribute profits — see Clause 28 of the Bill (now see Section 33).

(iv) A cardinal principle which is observed in the organization of co-operative societies in Europe is the grouping of such societies into Unions and their financing by means of Central Banks. This stage of co-operation had not been fully realised or provided for in the Act of 1904, but such grouping of societies has already been found feasible in most Provinces, and it is now considered desirable to legalize the formation of co-operative credit societies of which the members shall be other co-operative credit societies — vide Clauses 5 (1), 6 and 10 (3) of the Bill (now see Secs. 6 and 8.)

3. In addition to carrying out the main alterations above described the present Bill contains the several changes of detail and it has been found advisable to recast the Bill in order to improve the drafting and to incorporate the changes now contemplated”

(7) It is noteworthy that Clause (d) of Section 2 says that an officer 'includes' a chairman and so on and not that it 'means' a chairman. There is a difference between 'includes' and 'means'. The first is ordinarily illustrative, the second exhaustive. Thus the categories enumerated in this clause are not exhaustive. AIR 1960 All 289 (289).

(3) Section 3 of the Co-operative Societies Act, 1912, spoke of the conferment of powers of the Registrar under the Act only and not under the bye-laws framed under Section 43 (2) (c) of the Act. Bye-laws made under Section 43 (2) (c) were quite different from the Rules made under the Act

4. Societies which may be registered.—Subject to the provisions hereinafter contained, a society which has as its object the promotion of the economic interests of its members in accordance with co-operative principles, or a society established with the object of facilitating the operations of such a society, may be registered under this Act with or without limited liability:

Provided that unless the *[State] Government by general or special order otherwise directs—

- (1) the liability of a society of which a member is a registered society shall be limited;
- (2) the liability of a society of which the object is the creation of funds to be lent to its members, and of which the majority of the members are agriculturists, and of which no member is a registered society, shall be unlimited.

[*] Substituted for "Provincial" by A. L. O., 1950 (26-1-1950).

5. Restrictions on interest of member of society with limited liability and a share capital.—Where the liability of the members of a society is limited by shares, no member other than a registered society shall—

- (a) hold more than such portion of the share capital of the society, subject to a maximum of one-fifth, as may be prescribed by the rules; or
- (b) have or claim any interest in the shares of the society exceeding one thousand rupees.

6. Conditions of registration.—(1) No society, other than a society of which a member is a registered society, shall be registered under this Act which does not consist of at least ten persons* above the age of eighteen years and, where the object of the society is the creation of funds to be lent to its members, unless such persons—

- (a) reside in the same town or village or in the same group of villages; or,
- (b) save where the Registrar otherwise directs, are members of the same tribe, class, caste or occupation.

(2) The word "limited" shall be last word in the name of every society with limited liability registered under this Act.

[*] See Section 40.

7. Power of Registrar to decide certain questions.—When any question arises whether for the purposes of this Act a person is an agriculturist or a non-agriculturist, or whether any person is a resident in a town or village or group of villages, or whether two or more villages shall be considered to form a group, or whether any person belongs to any particular tribe, class, caste or occupation, the question shall be decided by the Registrar, whose decision shall be final.

8. Application for registration.—(1) For purposes of registration an application to register shall be made to the Registrar.

(2) The application shall be signed—

- (a) in the case of a society of which no member is a registered society, by at least ten persons qualified in accordance with the requirements of S. 6, sub-section (1); and and were not part of the Act. Hence the investment of the Joint Registrar by the Government with all the powers of the Registrar under the Act by the notification under Section 3 could not make the approval given by the Joint Registrar to the resolution of the Managing Committee a valid approval under the bye-law. The resolution in pursuance of which the petitioner was dismissed must, therefore, be held to be illegal. AIR 1960 Madh Pra 273 (275,

Section 5 — Note 1

(1) 'Society with limited liability' in sub-Rule (3) under Section 85, Punjab Co-operative Societies Act (25 of 1961) — Meaning — Expression covers even societies having no share capital, but where members undertake to pay only a fixed sum in the event of the society being wound up. (1967) 69 Pun LR 164 = ILR (1967) 2 Punj 338.

(b) in the case of a society of which a member is a registered society, by a duly authorised person on behalf of every such registered society, and where all the members of the society are not registered societies, by ten other members or, when there are less than ten other members, by all of them.

(3) The application shall be accompanied by a copy of the proposed by-laws of the society, and the persons by whom or on whose behalf such application is made shall furnish such information in regard to the society as the Registrar may require.

9. Registration.—If the Registrar is satisfied that a society has complied with the provisions of this Act and the rules and that its proposed by-laws are not contrary to the Act or to the rules, he may, if he thinks fit, register the society and its by-laws.

10. Evidence of registration.—A certificate of registration signed by the Registrar shall be conclusive evidence that the society therein mentioned is duly registered unless it is proved that the registration of the society, has been cancelled.

11. Amendment of the by-laws of a registered society.—(1) No amendment of the by-laws of a registered society shall be valid until the same has been registered under this Act, for which purpose a copy of the amendment shall be forwarded to the Registrar.

(2) If the Registrar is satisfied that any amendment of the by-laws is not contrary to this Act or to the rules, he may, if he thinks fit, register the amendment.

(3) When the Registrar registers an amendment of the by-laws of a registered society, he shall issue to the society a copy of the amendment certified by him, which shall be conclusive evidence that the same is duly registered.

RIGHTS AND LIABILITIES OF MEMBERS

12. Member not to exercise rights till due payment made.—No member of a registered society shall exercise the rights of a member unless or until he has made such payment to the society in respect of membership or acquired such interest in the society, as may be prescribed by the rules or by-laws.

13. Votes of members.—(1) Where the liability of the members of a registered society is not limited by shares, each member shall, notwithstanding the amount of his interest in the capital, have one vote only as a member in the affairs of the society.

(1) When an amendment of the bye-law is within the power of the society but had been irregularly made, the certificate of the Registrar is conclusive and the validity of the bye-law cannot be questioned on the ground of the irregularities. AIR 1954 Mad 955 (959).

(2) What is contemplated under the Act is that after the failure of the society to carry out the orders of the Registrar under Section 11 (4) as amended by C. P. and Berar Co-operative Societies (Amendment) Act, 1949, there should be an exchange of views between the Registrar and the society before a final action is taken under sub-section (5) of Section 11. The failure of the Registrar to give an opportunity to the Society to explain its point of view for rejecting certain proposed amendments to the bye-laws under Section 11 (4) vitiates his order under Section 11 (5). AIR 1958 Bom 330 (331) = ILR (1958) Bom 1047.

Section 12 — Note 1

(1) The disqualification under Sec. 12 attaches not only to non-payment in respect of membership but also to other defaults as may be prescribed by the rules or bye-laws, which may prevent his acquiring an interest as a member. The term 'default' is not restricted or qualified in R. 14-A of the M. P. Rules and is, therefore, wide enough to cover the case of non-payment of the sum due to the society for purchases, provided the period covered by the default exceeds twelve months. AIR 1954 Nag 203 (204) = ILR (1954) Nag 76 (DB).

(2) Where the liability of the members of a registered society is limited by shares, each member shall have as many votes as may be prescribed by the by-laws.

(3) A registered society which has invested any part of its funds in the shares of any other registered society may appoint as its proxy, for the purpose of voting in the affairs of such other registered society, any one of its members.

14. Restrictions on transfer of share or interest.—(1) The transfer or charge of the share or interest of a member in the capital of a registered society shall be subject to such conditions as to maximum holding as may be prescribed by this Act or by the rules.

(2) In case of a society registered with unlimited liability a member shall not transfer any share held by him or his interest in the capital of the society or any part thereof unless—

- (a) he has held such share or interest for not less than one year; and
- (b) the transfer or charge is made to the society or to a member of the society.

DUTIES OF REGISTERED SOCIETIES

15. Address of societies.—Every registered society shall have an address, registered in accordance with the rules, to which all notices and communications may be sent, and shall send to the Registrar notice of every change thereof.

16. Copy of Act, rules and by-laws to be open to inspection.—Every registered society shall keep a copy of this Act and of the rules governing such society, and of its by-laws, open to inspection free of charge at all reasonable times at the registered address of the society.

17. Audit.—(1) The Registrar shall audit or cause to be audited by some person authorised by him by general or special order in writing in this behalf the accounts of every registered society once at least in every year.

(2) The audit under sub-section (1) shall include an examination of the assets and liabilities of the society.

(3) The Registrar, the Collector or any person authorised by general or special order in writing in this behalf by the Registrar shall at all times have access to all the books, accounts, papers and securities of a society, and every officer of the society shall furnish such information in regard to the transactions and working of the society as the person making such inspection may require.

(1) Under Section 6 (2) of the Co-operative Credit Societies Act, 1904, it was held that the chairman of a society had no right to institute a suit against a member of the society in his own name, but that the suit should be one by the society itself. (1911) 10 Ind Cas 570 (570) (DB) (Cal).

(2) Section 18 makes the co-operative society a body corporate. It is a separate entity and not a branch of the Government, nor does the cancellation of the registration convert the assets of the society into the assets of the Government. AIR 1957 All 492 (494).

19. Prior claim of society.—Subject to any prior claim of the *[Govern-ment] in respect of land-revenue or any money recoverable as land-revenue or of a landlord in respect of rent or any money recoverable as rent, a registered society shall be entitled in priority to other creditors to enforce any outstanding demand due to the society from a member or past member—

- (a) in respect of the supply of seed or manure or of the loan of money for the purchase of seed or manure—upon the crops or other agricultural produce of such member or person at any time within eighteen months from the date of such supply or loan;
- (b) in respect of the supply of cattle, fodder for cattle, agricultural or industrial implements or machinery, or raw materials for manufacture, or of the loan of money for the purchase of any of the foregoing things—upon any such things so supplied, or purchased in whole or in part from any such loan, or on any articles manufactured from raw materials so supplied or purchased.

20. Charge and set-off in respect of shares or interest of member.—A registered society shall have a charge upon the share or interest in the capital and on the deposits of a member or past member and upon any dividend, bonus or profits payable to a member or past member in respect of any debt due from such member or past member to the society, and may set-off any sum credited

(6) A co-operative society is a legal person and its debts are distinct from liability of its members and they can be reached in winding up proceedings only. (1937) 20 Nag L Jour 6 (8) (DB).

(7) If a corporate body is not registered with limited liability, the members are liable to the full amount of the corporation's debts, but the liability, however, is a liability to contribute with others and such liability can only be enforced upon the winding up and no execution can proceed against a member. AIR 1931 Pat 321 (323) = 11 Pat 174 (FB).

(8) The liability of a co-operative society duly registered cannot be equated to the liability of the members of its managing committee. Nor are the members of the managing committee competent to represent the co-operative society. A suit filed against the members of managing committee of a co-operative society in respect of amounts due from the society is not maintainable when the society is not made a party. 21. Shares or interest not liable to attachment.—Subject to the provisions of Section 20, the share or interest of a member in the capital of a registered society shall not be liable to attachment or sale under any decree or order of a Court of Justice in respect of any debt or liability incurred by such member, and neither the Official Assignee under the Presidency-towns Insolvency Act, 1909, nor a Receiver under the *Provincial Insolvency Act, 1907, shall be entitled to or have any claim on such share or interest.

[*] See now the Provincial Insolvency Act, 1920 (5 of 1920).

22. Transfer of interest on death of member.—(1) On the death of a member a registered society may transfer the share or interest of the deceased member to the person nominated in accordance with the rules made in this behalf, or, if there is no person so nominated, to such person as may appear to the committee to be the heir or legal representative of the deceased member, or pay to such nominee, heir or legal representative, as the case may be, a sum representing the value of such member's share or interest, as ascertained in accordance with the rules or by-laws:

Provided that—

- (i) in the case of a society with unlimited liability, such nominee, heir or legal representative, as the case may be, may require payment by the society of the value of the share or interest of the deceased member ascertained as aforesaid;
- (ii) in the case of a society with limited liability, the society shall transfer the share or interest of the deceased member to such nominee, heir or legal representative, as the case may be, being qualified in accordance with the rules and bye-laws for membership of the society, or on his application within one month of the death of the deceased member to any person specified in the application who is so qualified.

(2) A registered society may pay all other moneys due to the deceased member from the society to such nominee, heir or legal representative, as the case may be.

(4) The period of two years mentioned in Section 23 is to run backwards not from the date on which the award of the liquidator is made but from the date of the dissolution of the Society, that is, the date on which its registration was cancelled. AIR 1941 Lah 284 (286) = ILR (1942) Lah 379 (DB).

(5) No doubt Section 23 limits the liability of a past member for the debts of the registered society, but there is no limitation either in the Act or in the rules under the Act for a debt of a past member due to a registered society. AIR 1935 Lah 947 (947).

(6) Under Sections 23 and 24 the liquidator cannot award anything against the estate of a deceased or the past member. 41 Pun LR 269 (270).

(7) A member's liability to make good the debts of a society does not arise till liquidation. This liability of a member to contribute to the assets of a society, which arises on its liquidation and cannot be enforced by an order before realising its assets, is not extinguished if the process of realisation of the assets by the liquidator is prolonged for one reason or another beyond two years of the cessation of membership. So, the crucial date to fix the liability of a member is the date of the order of liquidation, not the date of the order of contribution. AIR 1955 Nag 262 (264) = ILR (1956) Nag 51 (DB).

(1) Section 24 is restricted to proceedings in liquidation under Section 42 of the Act. AIR 1925 Cal 203 (204) (DB).

(2) It does not matter whether a member dies before or after liquidation. His estate is liable for a year after his death, but only for the debts as they existed at the date of his death. AIR 1946 Nag 317 (318) = ILR (1946) Nag 474.

(3) Under Section 24 the estate of a deceased member which devolves by inheritance on his widow under the Hindu Women's Rights to Property Act, is liable to the same extent as it would have been had he been alive. AIR 1946 Nag 317 (318, 319) = ILR (1946) Nag 474.

(4) Under Section 24 the limitation of one year for a suit by the liquidator against the heirs of a deceased member in possession of his estate for contribution due from him, starts from the date of death of the member and not from the date of liquidation. Provided that, with the general or special sanction of the Registrar, a registered society may make loans to another registered society.

(2) Save with the sanction of the Registrar, a society with unlimited liability shall not lend money on the security of moveable property.

(3) The °[State Government] may, by general or special order, prohibit or restrict the lending of money on mortgage of immovable property by any registered society or class of registered societies.

[°] Substituted for "Provincial" by A. L. O., 1950 (26-1-1950).

30. Restrictions on borrowing.—A registered society shall receive deposits and loans from persons who are not members only to such extent and under such conditions as may be prescribed by the rules or by-laws.

31. Restrictions on other transactions with non-members.—Save as provided in Sections 29 and 30, the transactions of a registered society with persons other than members shall be subject to such prohibitions and restrictions, if any, as the °[State] Government may, by rules, prescribe.

[°] Substituted for "Provincial" by A. L. O., 1950 (26-1-1950).

(1) A contract by a Co-operative Credit Society to lend money to a non-member is illegal and cannot be enforced, but if the society pays moneys on the basis of such contract it can be recovered on the principle that the obligee at the time of taking the money made an implied contract to repay. AIR 1929 Lah 330 (331) (DB).

(2) Where a Co-operative Society advances a loan before its registration and subsequent to its registration the debtor acquiesces in the registration and makes payments towards the principal and interest, it must be inferred that the debtor agreed that the transaction entered into by him with the society before its registration should be binding upon him and the society after its registration. AIR 1940 Rang 145 (146) = 1940 Rang LR 77.

(3) A bye-law of a Co-operative Society to the effect that the Society shall not sell goods on credit to a non-member cannot have the force of law, but can be regarded only as a domestic matter and it cannot be brought in defence of him for recovery of balance standing against him. AIR 1926 Nag 463 (464).

(4) Where a society registered under the Act constructs a house for its member under the bye-law framed under Section 8 (3), the transaction does not amount to a loan. AIR 1938 Lah 8 (10) (DB).

32. Investment of funds.—(1) A registered society may invest or deposit its funds—

- (a) in the Government Savings Bank, or
- (b) in any of the securities specified in Section 20 of the Indian Trusts Act, 1882, or
- (c) in the shares or on the security of any other registered society, or
- (d) with any bank or person carrying on the business of banking approved for this purpose by the Registrar, or
- (e) in any other mode permitted by the rules.

(2) Any investments or deposits made before the commencement of this Act which would have been valid if this Act had been in force are hereby ratified and confirmed.

33. Funds not to be divided by way of profit.—No part of the funds of a registered society shall be divided by way of bonus or dividend or otherwise among its members:

Provided that after at least one-fourth of the net profits in any year have been carried to a reserve fund, payments from the remainder of such profits and from any profits of past years available for distribution may be made among the members to such extent and under such conditions as may be prescribed by the rules or by-laws:

Provided also that in the case of a society with unlimited liability no distribution of profits shall be made without the general or special order of the [State]* Government in this behalf.

[*] Substituted for "Provincial" by A. L. O., 1950 (26-1-1950).

34. Contribution to charitable purpose.—Any registered society may, with the sanction of the Registrar, after one-fourth of the net profits in any year has been carried to a reserve fund, contribute an amount not exceeding ten per cent of the remaining net profits to any charitable purpose, as defined* in Section 2 of the Charitable Endowments Act, 1890.

"2. In this Act, 'charitable purpose' includes relief of the poor, education, medical relief and the advancement of any other object of general public utility, but does not include a purpose which relates exclusively to religious teaching or worship."

Inspection of affairs

35. Inquiry by Registrar.—(1) The Registrar may of his own motion, and shall on the request of the Collector, or on the application of a majority of the

Section 33 — Note 1

(1) Where prima facie there has been no breach of any provision of the Co-operative Societies Act itself or any of its bye-laws, by a resolution passed at an annual general meeting of the share-holders of a co-operative society declaring payment of certain dividend on the preference shares such a resolution is not ultra vires, although it may be that the profits shown are apparent and not real profits, a considerable portion of them being unrealized interest income. AIR 1938 Cal 394 (397) = ILR (1938) 2 Cal 144.

Section 35 — Note 1

(1) The Registrar under the Co-operative Societies Act is given certain powers of general supervision over the Societies and he has power to hold enquiry in the constitution, working and financial condition of the society. But this power can only be exercised where the entire working of the Society is defective and it is given to protect the interests of the shareholders. AIR 1956 All 43 (45).

(2) The Registrar has no power to interfere in the day to day administration of the Society. The Registrar cannot be deemed to be the head of the Co-operative Society and he should not be deemed to have power to interfere in the matters of appointments and dismissals of its employees. The State Government has still less power to do anything in the matter. AIR 1956 All 43 (45).

committee, or of not less than one-third of the members, hold an inquiry or direct some person authorised by him by order in writing in this behalf to hold an inquiry into the constitution, working and financial condition of a registered society.

(2) All officers and members of the society shall furnish such information in regard to the affairs of the society as the Registrar or the person authorised by the Registrar may require.

36. Inspection of books of indebted society.—(1) The Registrar shall, on the application of a creditor of a registered society, inspect or direct some person authorized by him by order in writing in this behalf to inspect the books of the society:

Provided that—

(a) the applicant satisfies the Registrar that the debt is a sum then due, and that he has demanded payment thereof and has not received satisfaction within a reasonable time; and

(b) the applicant deposits with the Registrar such sum as security for the costs of the proposed inspection as the Registrar may require.

(2) The Registrar shall communicate the result of any such inspection to the creditor.

37. Costs of inquiry.—Where an inquiry is held under Section 35, or an inspection is made under Section 36, the Registrar may apportion the costs, or such part of the costs as he may think right, between the society, the members or creditor demanding an inquiry or inspection, and the officers or former officers of the society.

38. Recovery of costs.—Any sum awarded by way of costs under Section 37 may be recovered, on application to a Magistrate having jurisdiction in the place where the person from whom the money is claimable actually and voluntarily resides or carries on business, by the distress and sale of any moveable property within the limits of the jurisdiction of such Magistrate belonging to such person.

Dissolution of society

39. Dissolution.—(1) If the Registrar, after an inquiry has been held under Section 35 or after an inspection has been made under Section 36 or on receipt of an application made by three-fourths of the members of a registered society, is of opinion that the society ought to be dissolved, he may cancel the registration of the society.

(2) Any member of a society may, within two months from the date of an order made under sub-section (1), appeal from such order.

(3) Where no appeal is presented within two months from the making of an order cancelling the registration of a society, the order shall take effect on the expiry of that period.

(4) Where an appeal is presented within two months, the order shall not take effect until it is confirmed by the appellate authority.

(5) The authority to which appeals under this section shall lie shall be the * [State] Government:

Provided that the * [State] Government may, by notification in the * [Official Gazette] direct that appeals shall lie to such Revenue authority as may be specified in the notification.

[*] Substituted for "Provincial" by A. L. O., 1950 (26-1-1950).

40. Cancellation of registration of society.—Where it is a condition of the registration of a society that it should consist of at least ten members, the Regis-

Section 39 — Note 1

(1) For the purposes of Section 4, 1912, shall be deemed to die when it is dissolved; see Securities Act, 1920, Section 4(4).
Securities Act, 1920 a body incorporated under the Co-operative Societies Act, trar may, by order in writing, cancel the registration of the society if at any time it is proved to his satisfaction that the number of the members has been reduced to less than ten.

41. Effect of cancellation of registration.—Where the registration of a society is cancelled, the society shall cease to exist as a corporate body—

- (a) in the case of cancellation in accordance with the provisions of Section 39, from the date the order of cancellation takes effect.
- (b) in the case of cancellation in accordance with the provisions of Section 40, from the date of the order.

42. Winding up.—(1) Where the registration of a society is cancelled under Section 39 or Section 40, the Registrar may appoint a competent person to be liquidator of the society.

(2) A liquidator appointed under sub-section (1) shall have power—

- (a) to institute and defend suits and other legal proceedings on behalf of the society by his name of office;
- (b) to determine the contribution to be made by the members and past members of the society respectively to the assets of the society;
- (c) to investigate all claims against the society and subject to the provisions of this Act, to decide questions of priority arising between claimants;
- (d) to determine by what persons and in what proportions the costs of the liquidation are to be borne; and
- (e) to give such directions in regard to the collection and distribution of the assets of the society, as may appear to him to be necessary for winding up the affairs of the society.

SECTION 42 — SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.

2. Appointment of liquidator.

3. Sub-section (2) — Powers of liquidator.

4. Contribution by members.

4-A. Sub-section (4-A) (as inserted by U. P. Act (3 of 1919)).

5. Costs of litigation.

6. "Direction in regard to collection."

7. Sub-section (3) — Evidence.

8. Sub-section (5) — Enforcement of order.

9. Sub-section (6) — Jurisdiction of Civil Court.

1. Scope. — (1) Co-operative Society is a legal person — Its debts are distinct from members' liability — Members can be reached by corporation's creditors only in winding up proceedings. AIR 1938 Nag 434 (436) = ILR (1938) Nag 604 (DB).

(2) Even though the members of a co-operative credit society are subject to a statutory liability to contribute to the debts of the society, that liability can only be enforced by the procedure of winding up contained in the Act and not directly by a suit of the creditor. AIR 1933 Bom 191 (194) = 57 Bom 319 (DB).

(3) Section 42 deals separately with contributions to be made by the members etc., with costs of liquidation and with collection and distribution of assets of a society. AIR 1954 All 646 (647).

2. Appointment of liquidator. — (1) When the Registrar appointed as liquidator the holder of a particular office, and subsequently another person was appointed to that office, the contention that the second individual is not appointed as liquidator under Section 42 (1) cannot prevail in view of General Clauses Act, Section 15. AIR 1955 Nag 262 (264) = ILR (1956) Nag 51 (DB).

(2) Paid manager of Co-operative Bank appointed liquidator — His duties are quasi-judicial and he is public officer as defined in Section 2 (17), Civil P. C., and requires notice under Section 80 of Code. AIR 1939 Nag 232 (233)  AIR 1942 Lah 287 (288) = ILR (1943) Lah 389 (DB).

(3) Where according to the order of the Registrar the chief group officer of the Central Bank was appointed to act as liquidator and at the time of passing the order A was the Chief Group Officer and after A ceasing to be such officer B was appointed in his place as Chief Group Officer, it was held that the objection that B himself was not appointed the liquidator under Section 42 (1) could not prevail in view of Section 15 of the General Clauses Act. AIR 1955 Nag 262 (264) = ILR (1956) Nag 51 (DB).

3. Sub-section (2) — Powers of liquidator. — (1) A person cannot be pro-

(3) Subject to any rules, a liquidator appointed under this section shall, in so far as such powers are necessary for carrying out the purposes of this section, have power to summon and enforce the attendance of witnesses and to compel the production of documents by the same means and (so far as may be) in the same manner as is provided in the case of a Civil Court under the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908.

(4) Where an appeal from any order made by a liquidator under this section is provided for by the rules, it shall lie to the Court of the District Judge.

(5) Orders made under this section shall, on application, be enforced as follows:—

(a) when made by a liquidator, by any Civil Court having local jurisdiction in the same manner as a decree of such Court;

(b) when made by the Court of the District Judge on appeal, in the same manner as a decree of such Court made in any suit pending therein.

(6) Save in so far as is hereinbefore expressly provided, no Civil Court shall have any jurisdiction in respect of any matter connected with the dissolution of a registered society under this Act.

ceeded against by the liquidator in a summary manner under Section 42 (2) (b) as a debtor to the society but as a member contributing to the assets of the society. AIR 1937 Lah 931 (932, 933) = ILR (1937) Lah 649 (DB).

(2) While deciding the matter of contribution under S. 42 (2) the liquidator has jurisdiction to decide whether the liability of the past member has ceased under S. 23. AIR 1935 Lah 330 (331).

(3) Liquidator cannot order that debtors are jointly and severally liable for each other's mortgage but may determine contribution to be made by several debtors to meet debts. AIR 1918 All 419 (420) = 40 All 89 (DB).

(4) Liquidator's order without notice to party against whom it is made is without jurisdiction and a nullity. AIR 1942 Lah 237 (240) = ILR (1943) Lah 553 (DB)  AIR 1955 Nag 262 (264, 265) = ILR (1956) Nag 51 (DB)  AIR 1954 Punj 268 (269) = ILR (1955) Punj 496.

(5) The power conferred on the liquidator under Section 42 (2) (b) is not an executive or an administrative power. The order passed by him thereunder is a judicial or at any rate a quasi-judicial act, and, therefore, a party is not to suffer in person or in purse without an opportunity of being heard. AIR 1955 Nag 262 (264) = ILR (1956) Nag 51 (DB)  (1954) 20 Cut L Tim 729 (732) (DB).

(6) The notice by the Registrar is not contemplated by the statute or the rules and the power given to him is of a limited nature more in the nature of a revising authority who can approve, modify or order further enquiry. The notice sent by him is therefore contrary to law and is ineffectual. AIR 1954 Punj 268 (270) = ILR (1955) Punj 496.

(7) Collection and distribution of assets — Only liquidator can collect assets of society from its members and distribute them rateably among creditors. AIR 1938 Nag 434 (439) = ILR (1938) Nag 604 (DB).

(8) Clause (e) of Section 42 (2) merely prescribes the administrative procedure for the manner in which the collection and distribution of the assets of the Society in winding up may be made. To give direction in regard to the collection and distribution of the assets of the Society does not empower to adjudicate upon disputes between the Society and others. AIR 1959 All 733 (736).

(9) Where a liquidator makes an assessment on a person, who is not a member, or has ceased to be a member for over two years before the dissolution of the society, or whose liability to contribute had otherwise been extinguished by operation of law, he acts in excess of his jurisdiction and his order is a nullity and, therefore, incapable of execution. AIR 1942 Lah 237 (239) = ILR (1943) Lah 553 (DB).

(10) Under Section 42 (2) (b) there is no power given to the liquidator to say that a member of a co-operative society is merely a benamidar. AIR 1957 All 492 (494).

(11) Where a liquidator passed a contributory order in respect of shares held by minor members and by the deceased members against the plaintiff who was also a member of a mill dissolved under the Act, it was held that the liquidator in making a contributory order in respect of the minor members acted beyond his jurisdiction. AIR 1957 All 492 (494).

(12) Though the liquidator is given certain powers which a Court has under the Civil Procedure Code, these are very limited powers and he does not act as a Court of law. The orders under Section 42 are in the nature of quasi-administrative orders. The liquidator is not included in the definition of "officers". The duty that he performs is a duty of private character and not a public duty. Section 80, Civil P. C., is not therefore attracted in his case. AIR 1957 All 492 (494).

(13) The claim to recover amounts on requisition being made by the Registrar, Co-operative Societies, can only be realisable under the U. P. Land Revenue Act, 1951, if the Registrar could ask for it under Section 42 (a), Co-operative Societies Act and that depends upon whether the sum could be properly ordered to be recovered as a contribution under Section 42 (2) (b). If the liquidator could not make such order that order could not be sent to the Collector, nor could the Collector realise anything under that order. AIR 1957 All 492 (495).

(14) The defendant had executed a mortgage in favour of a co-operative credit society. The society having gone in liquidation the liquidator passed a contributory order directing the defendant to pay the mortgage debt with interest. It was held that Clause (f) of Section 42 (2) added by C. P. and Berar Co-operative Societies Amendment and Liquidators' Orders Validation Act, 1945, was retrospective in operation and the order passed by the liquidator was in substance order under Clause (f) and as such was a valid order. AIR 1953 Nag 230 (230, 231) = ILR (1952) Nag 680 (DB).

(15) Provision in Section 42 (2) (f) (M. P. Amendment) includes the power to apply to the civil court to execute the order passed by the liquidator. AIR 1953 Nag 230 (231) = ILR (1952) Nag 680 (DB).

4. Contribution by members. — (1) Member means member at the date of dissolution of society. AIR 1939 Lah 275 (275).

(2) "Past member" means past member, liable for debts under S 23. AIR 1937 Lah 912 (912).

(3) "Past member" means person, who is alive at all material times, but who has ceased to be member of society, otherwise than by death. AIR 1946 Nag 317 (318) = ILR (1946) Nag 474.

(4) When the question is whether liability of past member is subsisting at the date of dissolution in winding up of society, the crucial date is the date of dissolution. AIR 1941 Lah 284 (286) = ILR (1942) Lah 379 (DB).

(5) The heirs of a Chairman of a Society, against whom a personal decree has been obtained cannot call in the provisions of Section 24 as an answer to the claim of the decree-holder to execute the decree, as that section applies only to a proceeding in liquidation under Section 42. AIR 1925 Cal 203 (203, 204) (DB).

(6) Section 42 (2)(b) is limited to members or past members and has no application to claim for contribution against the heirs of a deceased member. In such a case, the liquidator's only remedy is by way of a civil suit. AIR 1946 Nag 317 (319) = ILR (1946) Nag 474.

(7) "Contribution" presupposes existing liability. AIR 1942 Lah 237 (239) = ILR (1943) Lah 553 (DB).

(8) When a contributory order is made it must be shown what the assets and liabilities are and whether there is a deficit which has got to be made up by contributions from members. AIR 1949 Nag 25 (28) = ILR (1948) Nag 216.

(9) No claim can be made for contribution either against a member, a past member or the estate of a deceased member until the assets and liabilities of the society are determined. If it can pay off its debts from existing assets no claim for contribution can be made. That is only a last resort when all else fails. AIR 1946 Nag 317 (319, 320) = ILR (1946) Nag 474.

(10) Section 42 (2) (b): Contributory order made before assets of society are ascertained is ultra vires. First, the assets of the individual debtors should be realized. The contributory order made before such realization is ultra vires and cannot be executed. 1941 Nag L Jour 412 (414) (DB).

(11) The amended Rule 43 (f) framed under Section 43 by Madhya Pradesh was not made retrospective either expressly or by implication. It was only enabling and hence it could not validate the orders declared ultra vires. Rule 43 (f) did not validate the contributory orders passed before the decision in 1941 NLJ 412 and declared null and void by that decision. AIR 1956 Nag 183 (185) = ILR (1956) Nag 38 (FB)  ILR (1951) Nag 309 (312, 313).

(12) Clause (f) of Section 42 (2) covers only debts and liabilities but does not cover orders for contribution. Orders under Clause (b) of Section 42 (2) were not validated by C. P. and Berar Co-operative Societies Amendment and Liquidators' Orders Validation Act 10 of 1945. AIR 1956 Nag 183 (185) = ILR 1956 Nag 38 (FB).

(13) In Rule 43 (f) (M. P. rule) the insufficiency of the assets and realisations is a condition precedent to the passing of the contributory order. AIR 1956 Nag 183 (186) = ILR (1956) Nag 38 (FB).

(14) When a member of a joint family became a member of society and took a loan for family necessity, but the family as such was not brought on the list of members of the society, other members of the family are not liable to make contribution. AIR 1931 Nag 48 (49).

(15) A member of a Co-operative Society who is adjudicated insolvent and discharged, is not released from his statutory liability to contribute to the assets of the Society on its dissolution, subsequent to the discharge. AIR 1949 Lah 167 (170) = Pak LR (1949) Lah 192 (DB).

(16) The liability of a member of co-operative society to contribute to the assets of the society in the event of its being dissolved before or during insolvency of the member is a debt provable in insolvency and therefore the liquidator should either prove it or have it excluded from the schedule under Section 33, Provincial Insolvency Act, 1920, if it came within the provisions of that section. Where he does not do so, the member's liability for such debt ceases on his being granted a complete discharge by the insolvency Court as expressly provided in Section 44 (2) of that Act. The liquidator, therefore, has no jurisdiction to assess the contribution of the insolvent as a member of the society under Section 42 (2) of this Act after his complete discharge. AIR 1942 Lah 237 (238) = ILR (1943) Lah 553 (DB).

(17) Member applying in insolvency after society has gone into liquidation and obtaining his discharge — Decree passed by liquidator under Section 42 (2) (b) cannot be executed against the insolvent even if the liquidator was competent to make a decree and the liability could not be challenged by the executing Court because it was a decree made by a competent Court, and the liability must be deemed to have disappeared by force of Section 42 (2), Provincial Insolvency Act. AIR 1941 Lah 314 (315).

(18) Where certain members of a society are adjudged insolvents, before the society is dissolved, and a liquidator is not appointed until after the discharge of the insolvents, the liability of the insolvents as members of the society is not provable under the terms of Section 34 (2), Provincial Insolvency Act. Under Section 42 (b), it is the liquidator alone who can ascertain and fix the liabilities of the members. Therefore, until a liquidator is appointed, it cannot be said that there is any debt or liability, certain or contingent, which can affect the members. The liquidator is not, therefore, debarred from fixing the liability of the insolvents as members, under the provisions of the Provincial Insolvency Act. AIR 1939 Lah 275 (276).

(19) Order of liquidator under Section 42(2)(b) is not decree for money within meaning of Section 7 (iv-A), Court-fees Act (Madras Amendment)—Court-fee for suit for declaration that order is null and void is Rs. 100 under Schedule II, Art. 17-A (iii). AIR 1937 Mad 604 (605) = ILR (1938) Mad 63.

(20) The amounts due by a debtor to the society can be treated as assets of the society and not as contributions and hence they cannot be included in the contribution order. Further these amounts are not recoverable under sub-section (4A) (Allahabad amendment) of Section 42 as arrears of land revenue but can only be recovered by following the procedure laid down by Clause (a) of sub-section (5) of Section 42. AIR 1954 All 646 (647).

4-A. Sub-section (4-A) (as inserted by U. P. Act (3 of 1919)).— (1) The phrase 'contribution to the assets of Society' refers to the liability of members of the Society to contribute to its assets in the event of the winding up of the Society. The principle of contribution by present or past members to the assets of a Society in winding up has obviously been borrowed from the Company law. The members of a Society with limited liability are liable to contribute in the event of the winding up of the Society, to its assets subject to a maximum which is determined by the limit of the member's liability. AIR 1959 All 733 (735).

(2) Foundation of power to recover amount under Section 42 (4-A) wanting — Proceedings culminating in arrest of member are illegal and against Article 21 of Constitution. AIR 1959 All 733 (736).

(3) A member or a past member is not under any liability to contribute to the assets of the Society when his shares are fully paid up. AIR 1959 All 733 (736, 737).

5. Costs of litigation. — (1) The liquidator has the power to determine the costs of litigation and such costs can be recovered as arrears of land revenue under Section 42 (4-A) (Allahabad amendment). If the petitioner has any grievance that the costs of litigation have been determined incorrectly or on wrong basis, he can move the appropriate authorities. AIR 1954 All 646 (647).

6. "Direction in regard to collection". — (1) Sub-sections (2) (b) and (2) (e) must be read as a whole. The directions given in sub-section (2) (e) are mainly administrative. A liquidator has no power under sub-section (2) (e) to make an order having the force of a decree in respect of a debt due to a society in liquidation. Such a debt is not included in contributions mentioned in sub-section (2)(b). AIR 1941 Lah 355 (355).

7. Sub-section (3) -- Evidence. — (1) Powers given by Section 42 (3) are subject to rules under the Act. Applicability of Section 32, Civil P. C., is restricted by Rule 26 (e) framed by the Punjab Government under Section 43 (1). Liquidator summoning person has no power to ask security from such person or impose sentence of imprisonment or fine for failure to furnish security. AIR 1939 Lah 357 (358) = ILR (1939) Lah 192 = 40 Cri L Jour 791.

(2) Proceedings under Section 42 (2) (b) and (d) are quasi-judicial — Some evidence is necessary for determination of questions referred to in clauses (b) and (d). When the Procedure laid down in rules is not followed, application for execution of order is not competent. AIR 1933 Cal 631 (632) (DB).

(3) To determine the liability of a member the liquidator may summon evidence. But such evidence should not be one-sided for no quasi-judicial tribunal can act without hearing both sides. AIR 1954 Punj 268 (270) = ILR (1955) Punj 496.

8. Sub-section (5) — Enforcement of order. — (1) Proceedings under Section 42 (2) (b) and (d) are quasi-judicial. Some evidence is necessary for determination of questions referred to in clauses (b) and (d) — Procedure not followed — Application for execution is not competent. AIR 1933 Cal 631 (632) (DB).

(2) An heir of a deceased member of a co-operative society can be arrested for an arrear due from his deceased father by virtue of Section 2, U. P. Co-operative Societies (Amendment) Act, 1919, read with Rule 31 (4), (5), (8) and (10) framed by U. P. Provincial Government under Section 43, and Section 42 (4a) of the Act as inserted by U. P. Act and Section 146, U. P. Land Revenue Act. AIR 1928 All 128 (131) = 29 Cri L Jour 244.

(3) No appeal lies from Civil Court's order enforcing liquidators' order under Section 42. AIR 1918 All 419 (420) = 40 All 89 (DB).

(4) A contributory order passed by a liquidator being enforceable as a decree, an objection that the order was invalid because of the omission to give notice to a member before determining his liability cannot be entertained in proceedings for execution of the order. AIR 1955 Nag 262 (265) = ILR (1956) Nag 51 (DB).

(5) When on a requisition under Section 42 (2) (b), Co-operative Societies

Act a certificate is filed under Section 6, Bengal Public Demands Recovery Act, but the certificate is cancelled by the Collector in appeal the case is not a revenue case and Revenue Tribunal has no jurisdiction to revise order of the Collector under Section 53, Public Demands Recovery Act. AIR 1949 Assam 29 (30, 31) = ILR (1949) 1 Assam 346 (FB).

9. Sub-section (6) — Jurisdiction of Civil Court. — (1) A civil suit for refund of money realised under the provisions of Section 42 (4a) of the Act as amended by U. P. Act, 3 of 1919 with Section 149 of U. P. Land Revenue Act is barred by the provisions of Section 233 (m) of the U. P. Land Revenue Act. AIR 1927 All 532 (533) = 49 All 701 (DB).

(2) Decree on an award in favour of a certain Co-operative Bank — On requisition from Registrar of Co-operative Societies, trees belonging to judgment-debtor put to sale for realising the amount due — No objection to attachment and sale of trees by person claiming to be the real owner within the prescribed time — Suit in civil Court by such person is not maintainable as the amount was realised as arrear of land revenue under the Co-operative Societies Act. AIR 1937 Oudh 249 (250).

(3) Rule 15 framed in 1931 under Burma Co-operative Societies Act (6 of 1927) — Section 50, does not bar the jurisdiction of civil Courts in relation to proceedings of the Registrars or arbitrators in the same way as the jurisdiction of Civil Court is barred with respect to matters connected with the liquidation of society under Section 42 of the Co-operative Societies Act. AIR 1937 Rang 363 (364) = 1937 Rang LR 399.

(4) Civil Court in execution of order of liquidator cannot go behind it. If the order is thus enforced there is no error of jurisdiction on the part of the Civil Court and revision to High Court does not lie. AIR 1930 Rang 18 (18, 19) = 7 Rang 533.

(5) Bharatpur State Co-operative Societies Act (I of 1915), Section 41 (6) — Winding up — Jurisdiction of Civil Court is barred. AIR 1960 Raj 148 (150) = 1959 Raj LW 484.

(6) Civil Court's jurisdiction to examine order passed under Section 42, Co-operative Societies Act — Plaintiff claiming amount of award not properly assessed by liquidator — Civil Court has no jurisdiction. (56) 58 Pun LR 408.

(7) Where a liquidator fixes the contribution due by a member and the money is realised, a suit by the member for return of that money is not cog-nizable by the civil Court. AIR 1934 Oudh 431 (433).

(8) Suit for declaration by past member (who admits himself to be one) that he is not liable to pay the amount declared by the liquidator as his liability ceased under Section 23 — Liquidator, held, had jurisdiction to decide the amount of contribution under Section 42, sub-section (2) and the suit was not maintainable in civil Court. AIR 1935 Lah 330 (331).

Liability to contribution disputed.

(9) If the liquidator makes an assessment on a person who is not a member, or had ceased to be a member for over two years before the dissolution of the society, or whose liability to contribute had otherwise been extinguished by operation of law, he has clearly acted in excess of his jurisdiction and his order is a nullity and, therefore, incapable of execution. AIR 1942 Lah 237 (239) = ILR (1943) Lah 553 (DB).

(10) Liquidation of society — Civil Courts have jurisdiction to consider whether a person is liable as past member when a person is liable as past member when a person denies his liability as past member, liquidator cannot make him liable as past member. AIR 1936 Mad 574 (576) = 59 Mad 859 (DB)  AIR 1940 Mad 831 (836) = ILR (1940) Mad 929 (DB)  AIR 1937 Lah 912 (913). (Person claiming not to be past member.)  AIR 1933 Lah 422 (423) = 14 Lah 703 (DB). (Person disputing his membership.)  AIR 1937 Cal 643 (644) (Do.)

Action by non-member.

(11) Section 42 (6) is no bar to a civil suit by a member of the society against the purchaser for declaration that the property attached and sold for debt due from him was not liable to be sold. AIR 1927 Nag 217 (219) = 23 Nag LR 66.

(12) Where the liquidator sold and conveyed properties of a wound up society to a stranger, the Civil Court is not precluded from questioning the validity of the transfer since the matter is not connected with the dissolution in winding up of the society. AIR 1937 Rang 98 (98, 99). (Case under Section 49, Burma Co-operative Societies Act, 1927.)

(13) Section does not bar a suit between co-members as to their respective rights when the plaintiff's property has been utilised by the defendant. AIR 1925 Rang 38 (39) = 2 Rang 325.

(14) There is nothing in Section 42 (6), express or implied, to prevent the Court from entertaining the application of one of the debtors of a co-operative society, which is in liquidation, for being declared insolvent. The official liquidator can press his claim against the insolvent in the same way as the other creditors will do. AIR 1934 Pat 290 (290).

Action without jurisdiction.

(15) Executing Court can go behind the order passed by the liquidator under Section 42 (2) (b) and inquire if it has been passed within the limits of jurisdiction and can refuse to execute it, if it is found to be without jurisdiction. AIR 1942 Lah 237 (239) = ILR (1943) Lah 553 (DB)  1941 Nag L Jour 412 (414) (DB).

(16) Civil Court can intervene if liquidator's act or order is shown to be ultra vires. AIR 1931 Nag 48 (49, 50).

(17) If the Liquidator exceeds his power under Section 42, Court may determine its legality. Where a person was proceeded against by the liquidator as a debtor and not as a member, such person, may plead in Civil Court that he is not so liable. AIR 1937 Lah 931 (934) = ILR (1937) Lah 649 (DB).

(18) If the contributory order against a member is without jurisdiction, it may be challenged in a suit in a Civil Court. But such order cannot be questioned at the time of its execution in the Civil Court. AIR 1946 Nag 161 (162) = ILR (1946) Nag 60 (DB).

(19) The presence of sub-section (6) in Section 42 expressly barring the jurisdiction of the Court does not necessarily afford immunity from scrutiny by the Court. For, it is well settled that even if jurisdiction is so expressly excluded, the Civil Courts have jurisdiction to examine into cases not only where the provisions of the Act have not been complied with but also where the statutory tribunal has not acted in conformity with the fundamental principles of judicial procedure. AIR 1955 Nag 262 (265) = ILR (1956) Nag 51 (DB).

(20) Where the liquidator made an unqualified contributory order, it being not limited to the assets in the hands of the plaintiff it was held that the order being beyond the power of the liquidator Section 42 (6) was no bar to a civil suit. AIR 1957 All 492 (495).

(21) Under Section 42 (2) (f) of the Co-operative Societies Act, the Liquidator is no doubt quite competent to order payment of individual debts that a member might owe to a Co-operative Society. But if he does not care to look into the accounts and consider whether a debt is outstanding or is already satisfied and order a member to pay a non-existing debt, his order is illegal and ultra vires, and the Civil Court has jurisdiction to set it aside. AIR 1949 Nag 25 (29, 30) = ILR (1948) Nag 216 (DB).

Matters relating to dissolution.

(22) Correctness of amount assessed cannot be questioned by Court when

Rules

43. Rules.—(1) The *[State] Government may, for the whole or any part of the *[State] and for any registered society or class of such societies make rules to carry out the purposes of this Act.

(2) In particular and without prejudice to the generality of the foregoing power, such rules may—

- (a) subject to the provisions of Section 5, prescribe the maximum number of shares or portion of the capital of a society which may be held by a member;
- (b) prescribe the forms to be used and the conditions to be complied with in the making of applications for the registration of a society and the procedure in the matter of such applications;
- (c) prescribe the matters in respect of which a society may or shall make by-laws and for the procedure to be followed in making, altering and abrogating by-laws, and the conditions to be satisfied prior to such making, alteration or abrogation; award is passed by liquidator within his powers. AIR 1941 Lah 284 (286) = ILR (1942) Lah 379 (DB).

(23) Order of the liquidator under Section 42 (2) (b) and (e) directing contribution by members is final and cannot be questioned in a Civil Court even if the order is wrong, the matter being connected with dissolution of society. AIR 1926 Nag 379 (380) = 24 Nag LR 5.

(24) No question of validity of dissolution may be agitated in a Civil Court — No civil suit for declaration that order of contribution is null and void is maintainable. AIR 1944 Cal 245 (246) = ILR (1943) 2 Cal 186. (Assam Rules, Rule 41 (e), (f) and (j).)

(25) Court can question liquidator's jurisdiction in making award. (1939) 41 Pun LR 269 (270)  AIR 1934 Oudh 431 (433). (Where the money is realised a suit by member for its realisation is barred.)  AIR 1918 Oudh 112 (113) (DB).

(26) Civil Court cannot interfere in Liquidator's order to collect the assets of society from persons accountable to him. AIR 1920 Bom 62 (62) = 44 Bom 582 (DB).

(27) Civil Court cannot entertain suit by members of the Executive Committee to recoup the amount paid under liquidator's orders from ordinary members, since the matter is connected with dissolution of society. AIR 1927 Cal 578 (579) (DB).

(28) Court cannot refuse execution of liquidator's award under Section 42 (2) (f) though member against whom award was made, was discharged under Section 44, Provincial Insolvency Act. The matter is not one of lack of inherent jurisdiction but only a question of illegal exercise of jurisdiction. AIR 1940 Lah 280 (280).

1. Scope. — (1) The limits within which the rule-making powers of the Provincial Government could be exercised are contained in sub-section (1) of Section 43. Sub-section (2) simply sets out by way of illustration certain matters on which rules are considered desirable. It does not in any way, limit the powers given by sub-section (1) and the items mentioned in sub-section (2) do not exhaust the list of matters on which rules might be framed by the Provincial Government. AIR 1938 Cal 394 (398) = ILR (1938) 2 Cal 144  AIR 1938 Cal 327 (332, 333) = ILR (1938) 2 Cal 103 (DB).

(2) A petition involving the interpretation of validity of a rule framed under Co-operative Societies Act cannot be barred on the ground of laches. AIR 1956 Ajmer 63 (66).

(3) Arbitration Act 1940, Section 33 and Co-operative Societies Act, 1912 are not overlapping — Section 33 deals with existence and validity of arbitration agreement and award while Act of 1912 provides the machinery. 1960 All LJ 384 = 1960 All WR (HC) 300.

1-A. Sub-section 2 (c).— (1) Bye-laws framed under Section 43 (2)(c) are not part of the Act — Bye-law requiring approval of Registrar for dismissal of manager — Approval by Joint Registrar invested with all the powers of the Registrar under Act is not sufficient — Previous approval of Registrar is necessary — Construction of Bye-laws — Power of dismissal is incidental to that

- (f) provide for general meetings of the members and for the procedure at such meetings and powers to be exercised by such meetings;

2. Sub-section (2) (1) — "Dispute touching the business of a society."

(1) The disputed liability of a member to repay money due to a co-operative society is a dispute touching the business of the society. AIR 1936 Pat 225 (226) = 14 Pat 292 (DB).

(2) Dispute between A, B and C members of society, relating to money alleged to have been borrowed by A from society but in reality misappropriated by B and C — Dispute held was concerning business of society. AIR 1936 Lah 786 (787).

(3) Dispute between member, officer and society regarding money entrusted to officer for purchase of articles is within sub-section (2) (1). AIR 1923 Mad 481 (482) (DB).

(4) The expression 'touching the business of the society' includes disputes arising out of particular transaction and disputes between members and officers. The words of S. 43 are very general and do not merely refer to a dispute regarding the internal management of the affairs of a society or disputes in regard to the principles which would regulate the conduct of business. AIR 1923 Mad 481 (482) (DB)
 AIR 1954 Mad 103 (107) = ILR (1953) Mad 1047 (FB).

(5) Registrar of the society has the power to lay down a procedure for holding election, including the power to appoint a person to settle such preliminary points as, if not resolved earlier, were likely to hamper the holding of the election. AIR 1954 Nag 203 (204) = ILR (1954) Nag 76 (DB).

(6) "Business" is not confined to money business and includes election of officers. AIR 1925 All 356 (358) = 47 All 374 (DB).

(7) Dispute within clause (1) cannot be limited to dispute concerning the internal management of the society. Where the principal business of a society is to finance its members a dispute concerning the financial obligations of its members to the society would be a dispute concerning the business of the society. AIR 1938 Cal 327 (333) = ILR (1938) 2 Cal 103 (DB).

(8) Where a co-operative society has considered its treasurer to be responsible for embezzlement of money deposited with it by a person and the treasurer has throughout contended that he was not concerned with the alleged embezzlement, there is clearly a dispute between the treasurer and the society regarding question of embezzlement of money and hence the dispute can be referred to arbitration. AIR 1939 Lah 301 (302).

(9) A suit for a declaration that the constitution of the board of management of a co-operative society was illegal, that it had no authority to function or to call an extra ordinary general meeting of the share-holders, and that the resolution passed at the meet-

- (l) provide that any dispute touching the business of a society between members or past members of the society or persons claiming through a member or past member or between a member or past member or persons so claiming and the committee or any officer shall be referred to the Registrar for decision or, if he so directs, to arbitration, and prescribe the mode of appointing an arbitrator or arbitrators and the procedure to be followed in proceedings before the Registrar or such arbitrator or arbitrators, and the enforcement of the decisions of the Registrar or the awards of arbitrators;
- (m) provide for the withdrawal and expulsion of members and for the payments, if any, to be made to members who withdraw or are expelled and for the liabilities of past members;
- (n) provide for the mode in which the value of a deceased member's interest shall be ascertained, and for the nomination of a person to whom such interest may be paid or transferred;
- (o) prescribe the payments to be made and the conditions to be complied with by members applying for loans, the period for which loans may be made, and the amount which may be lent, to an individual member;

ing thus convened was itself ultra vires is not a dispute between a member and the committee touching the business of the society. AIR 1938 Cal 394 (396) = ILR (1938) 2 Cal 144.

(10) Under clause (l) the dispute referred to the Registrar must be dispute between the members of the society and the committee. AIR 1942 Cal 290 (291) = ILR (1941) 2 Cal 551.

[See also ILR (1954) Mys 218 (221).]

(11) Mere willingness of the debtor to discharge his debt does not mean that there is no dispute. The dispute arises when the demand made for the payment is not immediately met and cannot be recovered without recourse to law. AIR 1946 Nag 16 (18) = ILR (1945) Nag 67 (DB).

(12) The word "business" is a very wide term and is not synonymous with the objects of the society and the expression "touching the business of a society" would mean affecting the business of a society or relating to the business of a society and it cannot be said that when a company employs or dismisses a servant, it does not do something which relates to its business. AIR 1954 Mad 103 (109) = ILR (1953) Mad 1047 (FB).

(13) Where a society gives up all its rights in the mortgage, the dispute between the assignee and the mortgagors does not in any way touch the business of the society. (1946) 50 Cal WN 7 (9) (DB).

(14) The imposition of a fine on past members for not trading in accordance with the rules of the society by which they had ceased to be bound is not a matter touching the business of the Society and has nothing to do with the society which has no power to interfere with the trading activities of outsiders. AIR 1948 Nag 327 (328) = ILR (1948) Nag 449 (DB).

3. Decisions bearing on rules framed under sub-section (2), Cl. (l) — (A) Ajmer Rules. — (1) Rule 18 is intra vires of the powers of the Chief Commissioner under Section 43, Co-operative Societies Act and does not, in any manner, offend against the fundamental rights guaranteed by the Constitution. AIR 1956 Ajmer 63 (65).

(2) Rule 18 (a) and (b) must no doubt, be strictly construed and a dispute must lie within the four corners of Rule 18 (a), before it can be referred to the Registrar. The Registrar must also act strictly within the scope of his authority under Rule 18 (b). AIR 1956 Ajmer 63 (65, 66).

(3) Where a Registrar acting under Rule 18 (b) appoints an arbitrator and the arbitrator for some reason of his own declined to proceed further with the arbitration, the Registrar is competent to rescind the order appointing the arbitrator and to constitute himself as a tribunal for deciding the dispute or appoint another arbitrator. AIR 1956 Ajmer 63 (66).

(4) Where the question involves the liability of the members of the Managing Committee of a Co-operative Bank for embezzlement, there is a dispute concerning the business of the bank between the members and the Committee and hence a reference could be made to the Registrar under Rule 18 (a). AIR 1956 Ajmer 63 (65).

(5) Rules under S. 43 framed by Chief Commissioner of Ajmer, R. 18 — Dispute between Director of Bank and Bank itself falls within scope of Rule 18. 1960 Raj LW 561 = ILR (1960) 10 Raj 1070.

(6) Where, there being embezzlement in a co-operative bank its share-holders

- (p) provide for the formation and maintenance of reserve funds, and the objects to which such funds may be applied, and for the investment of any funds under the control of the society;
- (q) prescribe the extent to which a society may limit the number of its members;
- (r) prescribe conditions under which profits may be distributed to the members of a society with unlimited liability and the maximum rate of dividend which may be paid by societies;
- (s) subject to the provisions of Section 39, determine in what cases an appeal shall lie from the orders of the Registrar, and prescribe the procedure to be followed in presenting and disposing of such appeals; and
- (t) prescribe the procedure to be followed by a liquidator appointed under Section 42, and the cases in which an appeal shall lie from the order of such liquidator.

(3) The * [State] Government may delegate, subject to such conditions, if any, as it thinks fit, all or any of its powers to make rules under this section to any authority specified in the order of delegation.

(4) The power to make rules conferred by this section is subject to the condition of the rules being made after previous publication.

(5) All rules made under this section shall be published in the † [Official Gazette], and on such publication shall have effect as if enacted in this Act.

present a plaint under Rule 18 (a) to the Registrar, the Registrar is not a fit person to act as a tribunal. AIR 1956 Ajmer 63 (66, 67).

(7) Dispute between Committee and its officer cannot be referred to Registrar — Question of proceedings being valid, because officer submitted to jurisdiction does not arise. AIR 1959 Raj 272 (272, 273) = 1953 Ajmer MLJ 156.

(B) Bengal Rules.

(8) As to settlement of disputes touching the business of a co-operative society registered in the Province of Bengal, now see the Bengal Co-operative Societies Act, 1940, Sections 86 to 88 and Section 140 (2) (lvii). The following cases were decided under the Rules framed by the Bengal Provincial Government under Section 43, Co-operative Societies Act, 1912.

(9) The purpose of the Legislature as embodied in Clause (1) of Section 43 (2), Co-operative Societies Act, clearly is that when the Registrar gives directions for "arbitration", the parties would have no right to have recourse to any alternative proceeding. The words "arbitration" and "award" in Section 43 (2), cl. (1) have been used merely to signify a special tribunal and the order of a special tribunal, as contradistinguished from a Civil Court and the decree of Civil Court respectively. That special tribunal may or may not in all respects or substantially conform to the characteristics of an arbitration tribunal strictly so-called. The conferment of a right of appeal from the decision of such a tribunal does not involve any inherent inconsistency. If it is within the objects of the Act to set up a special tribunal for the decision of disputes the power to create such a tribunal includes the power to set up an appellate authority, which would create more confidence and a greater sense of security in the disputants. Clause (s) of Section 43 (2) is not the only provision giving rule-making power to set up a tribunal of appeal. As the Provincial Government has been given power to create by rules a special tribunal to decide disputes of the nature and between the parties mentioned in Section 43 (2), cl. (1), the jurisdiction of such special tribunal would be exclusive. Clause (1) gives that indication when it says that the Registrar, if he so chooses, may direct that the dispute shall be referred to arbitration. AIR 1938 Cal 327 (334) = ILR (1938) 2 Cal 103 (DB).

(10) In the case of a mortgage in favour of the society the award made by the Registrar can in no sense be a mortgage decree. The Registrar has no power to decide disputed claims of priority or to make decision which in any way affects the rights of other persons interested either in the mortgage security or in the equity of redemption. AIR 1942 Cal 290 (291) = ILR (1941) 2 Cal 551.

(11) Court can entertain suit to have award declared invalid when reference to arbitrator itself is questioned. AIR 1934 Cal 23 (24) = 60 Cal 1207 (DB).

(12) Where a dispute, which cannot be referred to arbitration, is referred to arbitration and no objection is taken before the arbitrator or the Registrar in appeal the objection cannot be taken in revision against execution. (1936) 163 Ind Cas 591 (591) (Cal).

(13) The decision of the arbitrator may be wrong in fact or in law, but that is not a ground which would entitle the Civil Courts to interfere in the matter. AIR 1940 Cal 198 (202) = ILR (1940) 1 Cal 32 (DB)  AIR 1940 Cal 162 (163)  (1936) 164 Ind Cas 802 (804) (Cal). (Civil Court cannot alter award under Section 151, Civil P. C., even if it is anomalous or erroneous.)  (1934) 60 Cal L Jour 572 (575) (DB).

(14) The machinery and the procedure indicated by the provisions of Rule 20 are totally inconsistent with the provisions contained in Chap. 2 of the Arbitration Act. Consequently the Civil Court has no jurisdiction to appoint an arbitrator in a proceeding under Rule 20 nor can it remove an arbitrator. AIR 1943 Cal 255 (256) = ILR (1943) 2 Cal 431 (DB).

(15) In the case of an award made under Rule 22, the date of the award should be regarded as the date on which such award is officially communicated to the person or persons affected thereby and not the date of the decision of the arbitrator. An execution application filed within three years of the date on which award is communicated to the party will be within time. AIR 1941 Cal 152 (153) = ILR (1940) 2 Cal 460.

(16) Article 178, Limitation Act, does not apply to the execution of the award under Rule 22. (1936) 163 Ind Cas 591 (591) (Cal)  AIR 1943 Cal 255 (260) = ILR (1943) 2 Cal 431 (DB).

(17) An award given by an arbitrator under Rule 22 need not be stamped. AIR 1933 Cal 695 (696) = 60 Cal 906 (DB).

(18) Rule 22 (1) is not confined to such disputes as are referable to membership only but covers all disputes between a society and a member. Hence a dispute arising from a transaction entered into by two members as brokers is referable to arbitration. AIR 1933 Cal 267 (268) (DB).

(19) A dispute regarding a loan taken by a past member of a society from the Co-operative Bank, being a dispute between a past member and a committee within Rule 22 (1), cannot be referred to arbitration but should be referred to the Registrar. (1936) 163 Ind Cas 591 (591) (Cal).

(20) The whole scheme of the provisions of Rule 22, sub-rules (1) to (7) is to oust the jurisdiction of the Civil Court throughout the arbitration proceedings. AIR 1943 Cal 255 (256) = ILR (1943) 2 Cal 431 (DB).

(21) Suit for declaration that constitution of board of management of society is illegal and that it could not function or call extraordinary general meeting of share-holders and that resolution passed in such meeting is ultra vires is within jurisdiction of Civil Court. AIR 1938 Cal 394 (396, 397) = ILR (1938) 2 Cal 144.

(22) In giving by sub-r. (6) of R. 22 a finality to the decision of the Special Tribunal, the Provincial Government did not transgress its powers, but carried out the implications of cl. (1) as well as of general law. Sub-rules (2), (5) and (6) of R. 22 framed under S. 43 (1) are therefore not ultra vires and a Registrar has power to appoint a single arbitrator to decide a dispute filed before him. AIR 1938 Cal 327 (334) = ILR (1938) 2 Cal 103 (DB)  AIR 1940 Cal 198 (201) = ILR (1940) 1 Cal 82 (DB)  AIR 1940 Cal 162 (163).

(23) If the award is without jurisdiction, the Civil Court can certainly declare it to be a nullity. Even if the arbitrator was validly appointed, the award can still be a nullity, if there was violation of the rules regulating the arbitration in matters of substance. Not only a proper appointment of the arbitrator in accordance with the rules is essential for creating jurisdiction in the arbitrator but the fundamental rules attaching restraint to the exercise of authority by the arbitrator are equally mandatory and a violation of them would nullify the award. AIR 1940 Cal 198 (201) = ILR (1940) 1 Cal 82 (DB).

(24) Rule 22 (6) framed under Section 43 of the Co-operative Societies Act is not meant to take away the jurisdiction of the executing Court to enquire into the competency of an award made under the provisions of the section on the ground of jurisdiction. AIR 1933 Cal 267 (268) (DB).

(25) A contracting debt from Co-operative Bank — Inspector of Co-operative Societies standing as surety — Debt not paid — Bank filing dispute and Inspector forwarding same to Assistant Registrar recommending arbitration — Inspector later on challenging award and arbitrator's jurisdiction by instituting suit: Held that Inspector had brought himself within scope of Rule 22 and, therefore, his suit which was brought when Bank's claim was barred by limitation, was barred under Rule 22 (6). (1937) 65 Cal L Jour 206 (209).

(26) An award given by an arbitrator under Rule 22 has the force of a decree and before it can be enforced as a decree it is not necessary to file it in Court as in the case of awards by arbitrators appointed by the contract of parties. AIR 1933 Cal 695 (696) = 60 Cal 906 (DB)  (1936) 163 Ind Cas 591 (591) (Cal).

(27) Where a Co-operative Society assigns to the plaintiff who is a non-member, a loan advanced by it to the defendant, a suit by the plaintiff for the recovery of the loan from the defendant is not excluded from the jurisdiction of the Civil Court by the provisions of Rule 22 (1), as neither of the conditions mentioned above are fulfilled. (1946) 50 Cal WN 7 (8) (DB).

(28) The use of the word "committee" in Section 43 (2), Clause (1) and Rule 22 (1) is sufficient to indicate a dispute with the society itself and enable proceedings to be initiated and carried on before the authority referred to therein in the name of the society. AIR 1938 Cal 327 (333) = ILR (1938) 2 Cal 103 (DB).

(C) Bihar Rules.

(29) The following case was decided with reference to Section 49 of the Bihar and Orissa Co-operative Societies Act, 1935. AIR 1939 Pat 500 (501) (DB). (Dispute referred to Registrar for award. Registrar functions as civil Court and does not act without jurisdiction in deciding whether dispute is time-barred or not.)

(30) As to settlement of disputes touching the business of a co-operative society registered in the Province of Bihar and Orissa, now see the Bihar and Orissa Co-operative Societies Act, 1935, Sections 48, 49 and 66 (2) (26), (27). See also the following cases:

(31) Claim by Society for compensation against Railways for short delivery of goods — Falls within explanation to Section 48 (1) of Bihar and Orissa Co-operative Societies Act (6 of 1935). 1960 BLJR 520 (DB).

(32) "Dispute touching the business of a registered society" — Election disputes — Section 48 (1) applies. ('62) ILR 41 Pat 325 (DB).

(33) The disputed liability of a member to repay money due to a co-operative society is covered by Rule 12 (1) and hence an award by the Registrar against such member is not without jurisdiction. AIR 1936 Pat 225 (226) = 14 Pat 292 (DB).

(34) Under Rule 12 of the rules framed under Section 43 of the Co-operative Societies Act, it is only members and persons claiming through members against whom the Registrar can pronounce a decision which can be executed as a Civil Court decree. The society must enforce in the regular course any claim which it may have against outsiders. The decision of the Registrar so far as it affects a non-member is a nullity as being made without jurisdiction. This question must be considered by the Court executing the decision if it is raised by the person affected. AIR 1934 Pat 145 (146) (DB).

(35) The co-operative society has complete power to refer any matter in dispute between them and the estate of a deceased member to the arbitration of the Registrar. But there is no power in the Registrar of Co-operative Societies to compel strangers to appear before him unless they are sued as representing the estate of a deceased member. So, if the Registrar passes an award against the sons of a deceased member personally, the Civil Court has complete jurisdiction to set aside the award. AIR 1925 Pat 575 (575, 576) (DB).

(36) The power given to the Registrar under Rule 12 to decide the dispute and to give a decision after hearing the parties is comprehensive enough to include power to issue a mortgage award. The rule does not circumscribe his power in any manner, and no limitation has been placed as to the nature of the dispute over which he will have jurisdiction. Generally he has jurisdiction over all the disputes of the nature specified in sub-rule (1). When such a dispute is referred to him, he has complete power to dispose of that dispute, whether it concerns the recovery of money on a simple bond or mortgage bond. AIR 1957 Pat 408 (415) (DB).

(37) Where two brothers are separate and their lands have been divided, a mortgage bond executed by one of the brothers in respect of the lands owned by both of them in favour of a co-operative society and the subsequent award and auction sale do not affect the right, title and interest of the other brother in the lands owned by him. AIR 1957 Pat 408 (411) (DB).

(D) Bombay Rules.

(38) For the settlement of a dispute touching the business of a co-operative society registered in the Province of Bombay, now see the Bombay Co-operative Societies Act, 1925, Sections 54 to 59 and Section 71 (2) (u) and (cc). See also the following cases:

(39) An application to execute an award falls within Section 3, Limitation Act and hence it is subject to the law of limitation. Application to enforce award is not step-in-aid. AIR 1938 Bom 424 (425) (DB).

(40) An award was made under Section 54, Bombay Co-operative Societies Act, 1925 and a certificate was issued by the Registrar; Durkhast proceedings were filed within three years from the date of the certificate; it was held that they were not barred by limitation and it was doubtful whether the award becomes a decree or order of Civil Court within the meaning of Article 182, Limitation Act. AIR 1936 Bom 396 (397) (DB).

(41) Awards under the Bombay Act are executable as decrees of Civil Court. They are effective from the date on which they are made. An application to execute an award made under the provisions of the Bombay Act is not a "proceeding arising out of a suit" within the meaning of these words in Section 3, Civil P. C., (Second Amendment) Act, 1937 (9 of 1937). AIR 1940 Sind 147 (147, 148, 150).

(42) Rules 31 and 34 provide that awards are to be enforced as decrees — Court having power to execute them can transfer them for execution. AIR 1922 Bom 377 (377) = 46 Bom 130 (DB).

(43) In a dispute between the society and a member, if the member dies, the arbitrators can decide for the purposes of continuing proceedings as to who the legal representatives of the deceased are. If decision is wrong an appeal lies to the Registrar and the Civil Courts have no jurisdiction in the matter. AIR 1926 Bom 352 (353) (DB).

(E) C. P. and Berar Rules.

(44) Under the Co-operative Societies Act and the rules and regulations thereunder, the Registrar has clearly the power to pass an award not only against society but also its members individually. He can pass two awards one against the society in favour of the bank and another against each member of the society in favour of the society. But where he does not pass two distinct awards but a consolidated award both against the society and its members and mentions the names of all the members of the society, it can bear the interpretation that the award is both against the society and the members. It may be irregular in form but that would not invalidate the award. There is a presumption that the award was made against both the society and its individual members in accordance with the usual preliminary formalities and if it is not objected to by the judgment-debtor at any time, the sale held thereunder cannot become void. AIR 1943 Nag 7 (8, 9) = ILR (1942) Nag 685.

[See also AIR 1938 Nag 434 (436) = ILR (1938) Nag 604 (DB).]

(45) Under Rule 26, a dispute touching the business of the society between its member and its treasurer who is an officer of the bank under Section 2 (d) must be referred to the Registrar who has jurisdiction to decide it. AIR 1946 Nag 16 (18, 19) = ILR (1945) Nag 677 (DB).

(46) Under Rule 26 a dispute regarding the election of directors of the Provincial Bank can be validly referred to the Registrar by a representative elected by a Central Bank which is a member of the Provincial Bank, as such, a person comes in the category of a person claiming through a member. 1950 Nag L Jour 501 (506).

(47) The expression "the business of a co-operative society" occurring in Section 26 is not restricted to the dealing with the members of the society only but includes business which the co-operative society is, under the law, empowered to transact. Hence, the safe deposit of the fund of a society being essential to enable the society to command resources to grant loans to its members at any time, the investment or deposit of its funds cannot be isolated from the general business of the society. AIR 1946 Nag 16 (19) = ILR (1945) Nag 677 (DB).

(48) C. P. Government, Rule 26 — Joint family members in corporate capacity becoming treasurers of society — Liability undertaken as treasurers can be treated as domestic dispute and Registrar has jurisdiction to decide dispute. AIR 1946 Nag 16 (19, 20) = ILR (1945) Nag 677 (DB).

(49) The word "business" used in Rule 26 includes election disputes relating to Co-operative Societies, and they can be referred only to the Registrar, Co-operative Societies for decision. 1950 Nag L Jour 501 (506).

(50) An opinion expressed in the past by the Registrar, Co-operative Societies, on a point in his executive capacity without hearing both the parties, does not act as a bar to a subsequent reference of the same point for his decision under Rule 26. 1950 Nag L Jour 501 (507).

(51) Although by reason of Rule 32 of the Rules framed under the Co-operative Societies Act no Court can sit in judgment over a decision by the Registrar, the Registrar is not powerless to correct an award, at least if there is some mistake or error apparent on the face of the record. AIR 1949 Nag 313 (314) = ILR (1949) Nag 31.

(52) The member ceases to be member when he tenders his resignation and the society has no power to impose fines on him because he thereafter traded in a way forbidden by the rules of the society. The act of the Society in fining would be ultra vires and the Civil Court would have jurisdiction to entertain a suit in respect of it, the jurisdiction not being barred by Rule 26 the matter being not one "touching the business of the Society". AIR 1948 Nag 327 (328) = ILR (1948) Nag 449 (DB).

(53) Award can be enforced as a decree or in the manner prescribed for recovery of land revenue. AIR 1945 Nag 281 (282, 283) = ILR (1945) Nag 651.

(54) Application, was made under Rule 33 for enforcement as in the manner for recovery of land revenue and subsequently attachment and sale under Section 128 (g), C. P. Land Revenue Act, was affected. It was held that the transferee was not affected by doctrine of lis pendens. AIR 1945 Nag 281 (282, 283) = ILR (1945) Nag 651.

(55) Dismissal of judgment-debtor application under Order 21, Rule 9, Civil P. C. as withdrawn — Time allowed to him to pay decretal amount by consent of parties — Default by judgment-debtor — His prayer for extension of time opposed — Court acts rightly in confirming sale after rejecting his prayer for extension of time. AIR 1968 SC 86 (89). (AIR 1963 Bom 230, Reversed.)

(56) Rule 33 of the rules made by C. P. Government under Section 43 does not say that an award by the Registrar is a decree. The rule, therefore, recognises that the award, decision or order of the Registrar is not a decree. There is a vast difference between an award being deemed to be a decree and an award being executable as a decree. AIR 1941 Nag 243 (244) = ILR (1942) Nag 636.

(57) Rule 33 prescribes that any sum falling due under an award shall on a certificate signed by the Registrar be recovered by the Deputy Commissioner as an arrear of land revenue. The award cannot be called in question in the revenue Court. But where there is an error patent on the face of the certificate, the Revenue Officer is justified in refraining from executing it and in referring it back to the Registrar. 1939 Nag L Jour 405 (407, 408).

(58) By a notification powers of Registrar were conferred on the Senior Deputy Registrar. Where at the material time there were two Deputy Registrars, Senior and Junior and the award was signed by the "Deputy Registrar," it was held that the person who made the award should be presumed to be the Senior Deputy Registrar and the award was valid. AIR 1949 Nag 398 (399) = ILR (1949) Nag 708.

(59) Where an award is in the form of a final decree not preceded by a preliminary decree and no objection is raised by the parties, the award does not become illegal on the ground that it is not preceded by a preliminary decree. The award has the force of a decree under the provisions of a special legislation and therefore all the provisions of the Civil P. C., do not apply to it. AIR 1949 Nag 398 (400) = ILR (1949) Nag 708.

(60) Rule 43 (f) (as amended in 1942) does not purport to operate retrospectively. The rule is not declaratory but confers a new power on the liquidator. It makes no attempt to validate that which was invalid at the date of the amendment. ILR (1951) Nag 309 (312) (DB).

(61) Rule 43 (f) — A son of a deceased member, of a Co-operative Society against whom an order of contribution had been made by the Liquidator can challenge that order on grounds which were open to the father. ILR (1951) Nag 309 (311) (DB). (AIR 1938 Nag 434, Applied.)

(62) Where the liquidator passes a contributory order without following the provisions of Rule 43 (f) the order is ultra vires and the Civil Court cannot execute the order. AIR 1951 Nag 210 (211).

(F) M. P. Rules.

(63) The main purport of the R. 14-A is to prescribe a disqualification to appointment of a member to a committee of the society. How it has to be worked out in a case of election has to be gathered from other provisions. In the matter of holding an election where the committee was dissolved, the relevant rule is Rule 14 (4). Therefore, the fact that under R. 14-A it is the society which appoints a member to a committee cannot detract from the power of the Registrar or the person or persons appointed by him under Rule 14 (4). The Registrar or Officer-in-charge of the society has thus the power to lay down a procedure for holding the election, including the power to appoint a person to settle such preliminary points as, if not resolved earlier, were likely to hamper the holding of the election. AIR 1954 Nag 203 (204) = ILR (1954) Nag 76 (DB).

(64) Rule 26 is attracted only if the following two conditions are satisfied: (i) the dispute must be touching the business of a co-operative society; and (ii) one of the parties concerned should be a member etc. There are no words in Rule 26 or Section 43 (2), Clause (1) of the Act limiting the meaning of 'dispute' in any sense. Hence, the Registrar has jurisdiction under Rule 26 to decide any dispute between a society and its member, even though the transaction leading to the dispute has no relation to the capacity of the member as such, provided that transaction touches the business of the society. AIR 1961 Madh Pra 40 (42, 43) = 1960 MPLJ 1209 (DB).

(65) Dispute between society and its officer or stranger cannot be referred to Registrar. AIR 1961 Madh Pra 40 (41, 42) = 1960 MPLJ 1209 (DB).

(66) Co-operative Society registered under Co-operative Societies Act — Included within definition of State in Article 12 — Amenable to writ jurisdiction — Not competent to order suspension of employee pending inquiry if not provided by a bye-law — Suspension order with retrospective effect is illegal. AIR 1961 Madh Pra 289 (291, 292, 293) = 1961 MPLJ 1059 (DB).

(67) Dispute as to election of an officer of Co-operative Society — Registrar alone can decide it. AIR 1967 Madh Pra 147 (148) = 1966 MPLJ 909 (DB).

(68) M. P. Rules under, Rule 26 — Dispute as to validity of election of chairman of Board of Directors of Co-operative Central and Land Mortgage Bank cannot be referred to Registrar.

Bye-law 52 of Co-operative Central and Land Mortgage Bank, Bilaspur. AIR 1962 Madh Pra 265 (268, 269, 270) — 1962 MPLJ 641 = ILR (1963) Madh Pra 620 (FB).

(G) Himachal Pradesh Rules.

(69) Rule 18 (a) states that certain kinds of disputes have to be referred to the Registrar in the manner contemplated therein and these disputes must firstly, relate to the business of the co-operative society and, secondly, must be between present or past members of the society or persons claiming through them on one side and the committee on the other. AIR 1954 Him Pra 63 (64).

(70) It being a part of the business of the co-operative society to hold general meetings of the members, to withdraw or expel members, and therefore, if certain members of the society sue for declaration that the proceedings of the annual general meeting and their removal from membership were illegal and mala fide and they still continued as members, the dispute is covered by Rule 18 (a) and the suit is not maintainable in Civil Court. AIR 1954 Him Pra 63 (65).

(H) Madras Rules.

(71) The scope of Clause (2) (b) of Section 43, Central Act is narrower than the scope of Section 51 of the Madras Act for it does not provide for the decision of a dispute, for example, between a member and the Society, while the Madras Act does not make such provision. AIR 1954 Mad 103 (105) = ILR (1953) Mad 1047 (FB).

(72) As to the settlement of disputes touching the business of a co-operative society registered in the Presidency of Madras, now see the Madras Co-operative Societies Act, 1932, Sections 51 and 65 (2) (o).

(73) Whether the Registrar of Co-operative Societies is empowered to pass a mortgage decree or not, when such a decree has been passed and it is sought to be executed, the executing Court cannot refuse to execute the decree; nor could it amend it in any way as it cannot be said that the decree is in such cases on the face of it passed without jurisdiction. AIR 1934 Mad 40 (44) = 57 Mad 426.

(74) The Registrar of Co-operative Societies acting under Rule 14 is a Court for the purposes of Section 52, T. P. Act. At any rate, where once the award made by him has been put before a competent Civil Court in execution and the Court directs the sale of mortgaged property, any purchase during such proceedings will be subject to the rule of lis pendens. AIR 1934 Mad 40 (42, 43) = 57 Mad 426.

(75) Assistant Registrar acting under Rule 14 is 'Court' within the meaning of Section 195, Criminal P. C. AIR 1930 Mad 869 (870) = 32 Cri L Jour 219.

(76) The second sentence of sub-r. (1) of Rule 14 of Madras Rules, is not beyond the rule-making powers granted by Section 43. AIR 1928 Mad 210 (210).

(76-A) A Collector acting under Rule 14 (5) of the rules made under the Co-operative Societies Act, is not a Court and an application made to him for execution of a decision of the Registrar of Co-operative Societies is not an application to a Court so as to save limitation under Article 182 (5), Limitation Act. AIR 1936 Mad 150 (151) = 59 Mad 257.

(77) An award under the Co-operative Societies Act when it is filed in a Civil Court under Rule 15 (7) (e), attracts all the provisions of the Civil P. C., in the matter of execution. If it attracts all the provisions of the Code with regard to execution, it must of necessity attract the provisions of the Limitation Act which apply to the execution of decrees. The award, when it is filed has to be executed as a decree of the Court and in effect it becomes a decree of the Court. The provisions of Section 48, Civil P. C., must therefore, apply. Section 48 provides that a decree shall run for a period of twelve years, provided, of course, that steps in execution are taken at intervals of not more than three years as required by

Article 182, Limitation Act. If, Sec. 48 applies, it follows that the appropriate Article is 182 and not Article 181. If Article 182 does not apply but Art. 181 does, there would be a conflict as Article 181 fixes a period of three years and Section 48, a period of twelve years. AIR 1940 Mad 635 (635) = ILR (1940) Mad 649 (DB). (AIR 1937 Mad 31, Overruled.)

(78) A sale certificate is not an indispensable condition pre-requisite for accrual of title in the case of a sale held in execution of an award obtained by a Co-operative Society under the Act. AIR 1950 Mad 609 (610).

(79) Co-operative Society carrying on motor transport business employing its own members in the undertaking — Special bye-laws providing for regulation of service conditions and for settlement of disputes — Such members are not "workmen" — Dispute regarding service conditions is a matter touching the business of society — Proper forum for adjudication is under Co-operative Societies Act — Petition under Section 33-C (2) Industrial Disputes Act (1947) not maintainable. AIR 1964 Mad 103 (106) = (1964) 1 Lab LJ 280 (DB). (AIR 1961 Mad 217, Reversed.)

(I) N. W. F. P. Rules.

(80) No procedure is provided in Rule 18 for conducting the inquiry either by the Registrar or by the arbitrator for the appointment of a guardian for the minor debtor. It would, therefore, be unsafe to rely on the appointment of a guardian by a Registrar in the summary proceeding and to extend it to the execution of a payment order in a Civil Court, which, should, by its very nature, be governed by the Civil P. C. Hence, it would be just that whenever an executing Court is approached to carry out the payment order of the Registrar and there are minors in the case, the execution Judge should act under Order 32, Civil P. C., and appoint a proper person to protect the interests of the minors concerned. AIR 1945 Pesh 39 (41) (DB).

(J) Punjab Rules.

(81) Where it is alleged that an award made under the Co-operative Societies Act was made without jurisdiction or was not within the terms of the Act, it is open to the person aggrieved to bring a suit to that effect but such objections cannot be taken in execution proceedings held in pursuance of the award the objector's remedy being an appeal to the Registrar. AIR 1939 Lah 40 (40)  AIR 1936 Lah 901 (903) = ILR (1937) Lah 92 (DB).

(82) The rules framed under Sec. 43 of the Co-operative Societies Act must be read together and then it becomes clear that the intention was to make all awards appealable and the use of the singular word in one sub-rule and the plural in another is due to unskilful drafting only. AIR 1937 Lah 673 (675) (DB).

(83) Death of person before institution of proceedings relating to award — Award against him — Execution — Execution application dismissed — On appeal, execution ordered to continue — Revision is maintainable. AIR 1937 Lah 63 (64).

(84) Awards transferred to Civil Court for execution. Decree held to be fully satisfied — No dispute remains outstanding and matter cannot be referred to the Registrar again — Remedy of the bank if not satisfied with the order of the executing Court is to appeal therefrom — Suit for a declaration in Civil Court that the subsequent arbitration proceeding taken and the award therein are ineffectual is entertainable. AIR 1935 Lah 631 (632)  AIR 1936 Lah 901 (903) = ILR (1937) Lah 92 (DB).

(85) The mere fact that the minor was not properly represented, before the arbitrator, does not give sufficient ground to Civil Courts to entertain a suit for declaration that the award was not binding on the minor. AIR 1933 Lah 376 (377).

(86) An award against the representative of a deceased debtor affects only the estate of the deceased in the hands of the representative and not the representative personally. AIR 1933 Lah 376 (377).

(87) A dispute between a committee of a Co-operative Credit Union and its officer cannot be referred to the Registrar. Award, if made, is a nullity. AIR 1932 Lah 53 (54) (DB).

(88) In cases of dispute between a society and a member no action lies in Civil Court. AIR 1924 Lah 418 (420) (DB)  AIR 1937 Lah 268 (269)  AIR 1935 Lah 947 (948)  AIR 1926 Lah 547 (547).

(89) An award granted under the Act is to be executed in the same manner as a decree of a Civil Court. AIR 1937 Lah 63 (64).

(90) By the provision in Rule 18 (h) it was intended that for the purposes of execution an award would have the same status as a decree and whatever provisions were applicable whether of procedure or of the Limitation Act (which is also a procedural law) to the execution of decrees would be applicable to the enforcement of awards. Hence, to the enforcement of an award under the Co-operative Societies Act the Article of the Limitation Act applicable is Article 182 read with Sec. 48,

Civil P. C. and not Article 181. AIR 1947 Lah 269 (271, 272) (DB).

(91) Section 43 (1), Rules framed thereunder Rule 18 (i) — Scope of jurisdiction of appellate authority — Only such person who in fact goes up in appeal under Section 21 (3) or 21 (4) of East Punjab Holdings (Consolidation and Prevention of Fragmentation) Act (50 of 1948) or Rule 18 (i) can be granted relief and person not aggrieved by order appealed against is not entitled to any relief. 1969 Cur LJ 96 (Punj).

(91-A) The substance of Section 50, Punjab Act (XIV of 1955) is very much in the same terms as Rule 18 although sub-section (3) contains a new provision. Under sub-section (3) of Section 50, when any question arises, whether for the purposes of this section a matter referred for decision is a dispute or not, the question shall be decided by the Registrar whose decision shall be final. AIR 1957 Punj 61 (62).

(91-B) In a dispute between a Co-operative Society and its lessors who were also the members of the society the object of the lease was to improve the economic status of the members of the society and it could not be said that the dispute was not between members and the society. Whatever capacity a member may hold, if he has any dispute with the society, the dispute would fall within the purview of Rule 18 or Section 50 of the Punjab Act, 14 of 1955. AIR 1957 Punj 61 (62).

(91-C) Rules under, Rule 18 (j) — Suit by member against other members before award has been made in reference — Jurisdiction of Civil Court to entertain suit not barred under Rule 18 (j) — Remedy of aggrieved member is to obtain stay of suit under Arbitration Act, 1940. AIR 1961 Punj 133 (134, 135, 136) = ILR (1959) Punj 940.

(K) U. P. Rules.

(91-D) On the death of a member of a Co-operative Society who owed money to the society a dispute arose whether certain person was the representative of the deceased. The Registrar referred the matter to arbitrator who passed a personal decree against the person. It was held that Arbitrator had no jurisdiction to pass personal decree against such person and suit by such person for declaration that property was not liable to attachment in execution of such decree was not barred by Section 233 (m), U. P. Land Revenue Act. AIR 1940 All 482 (484).

(91-E) Where dispute, referred to arbitration is still pending, a fresh reference to another arbitrator is not competent and must be regarded as of no legal effect upon the rights of the parties. AIR 1941 Oudh 315 (319) = 16 Luck 658 (DB).

(91-F) A reference to arbitration under the provisions of the second schedule of the C. P. Code, is entirely distinct from the procedure contemplated by Rule 20 of the Rules. AIR 1925 All 356 (358) = 47 All 374 (DB).

(91-G) The provisions of R. 20(7) (i) (ii) and (iii) refer merely to defects of the procedure and do not invalidate an award by reason of such defects or irregularities. Even if an award is invalid on the ground that it was antedated or had been made after the expiration of the time fixed for making the award or because it was inoperative on the ground of certain procedural defects and irregularities, the proper course for setting it aside is by means of an appeal to the Assistant Registrar under Rule 20 (12) (i). AIR 1941 Oudh 315 (318) = 16 Luck 658 (DB).

(91-H) The bar of jurisdiction of a Civil Court created by Rule 20 (12) (ii) is not absolute but limited only. A civil Court is perfectly competent to entertain a suit in all cases where it can be shown that the act of the authorities of the Co-operative Societies is not within the scope of the Act or is otherwise without jurisdiction. AIR 1941 Oudh 315 (321) = 16 Luck 658 (DB).

(92) Rule 31 of the U. P. Co-operative Society Rules, 1936 is ultra vires the rule making power conferred by S. 43 of the Co-operative Societies Act, 1912 and is void for excessive delegation of legislative powers, beyond constitutionally permissible limits. 1968 All LJ 19.

(93) In case the Registrar is satisfied by the complaint received from some of the members that there had been mismanagement he can take action in this connection and it is the Registrar only who has such a power and not an Assistant Registrar. 1957 All L Jour 56 (59).

(94) Rules 115 and 116 framed under S. 43 by the U. P. Government do not go beyond the scope of the express power mentioned in clause (1) of sub-s. (2) of S. 43 of the Act and hence they are not invalid. AIR 1954 All 490 (491)  AIR 1954 All 31 (31) (DB).

(95) Powers of arbitrator under Co-operative Societies Act — Order of stay or order granting interim injunction cannot be treated as interim award. AIR 1968 All 22 = 1967 All LJ 454.

(96) Matters relating to election of office-bearers of society are within rule. AIR 1968 All 22 = 1967 All LJ 454.

(97) Removal of elected delegate of a co-operative society challenged as illegal and ultra vires — R. 115 does not bar jurisdiction of civil Court to entertain such suit. AIR 1967 All 134 (134).

Section 43 — Note 3 (contd.)

(98) When the Registrar was given the power to decide the dispute himself or at his discretion to make a reference to arbitration, the power granted to him under R. 116 framed under S. 43, to decide further whether there shall be one or two or three arbitrators is also well within the scope of the Act and it cannot be said that the power is arbitrary. AIR 1954 All 490 (492).

(99) Powers of arbitrator — Arbitrator has no inherent, implied or incidental or consequential power in exercise of which he can pass order of stay or order in the nature of injunction. AIR 1968 All 22 (28) = 1967 All LJ 454.

(100) In order to determine whether a reference to arbitration under R. 115 is valid, two things have to be decided — (1) whether there was a dispute and (2) whether the dispute touched the business of the society. Once the dispute is found to be within the scope of arbitration it is no part of the province of the Court to enter into the merits of the dispute. AIR 1957 All 771 (772).

(101) Matters mentioned in sub-s. (2) are merely illustrative of general powers in sub-s. (1) — R. 115, not ultra vires. AIR 1966 All 12 (13, 14, 15) = 1965 All LJ 831 (FB). (AIR 1960 All 294, Overruled.)

(102) Officer — Includes past officer. AIR 1966 All 12 (15, 16) = 1965 All LJ 831 (FB).

(103) Applicant borrowed grain from Co-operative Society and agreed to return it by certain date. According to applicant time for returning grain was extended. Applicant sent grain within the extended time but society refused to accept it and the applicant was informed about penalty incurred as provided in the agreement. Registrar refused to refer the case to arbitration on application by the applicant. It was held that the dispute was one touching the business of the society under Rule 115 under Section 43 (2) and Registrar's refusal was against law. AIR 1953 All 465 (466) = ILR (1953) 1 All 997 (DB).

(104) Rule 116 is not inconsistent with the provisions of the Arbitration Act. AIR 1954 All 490 (492).

(105) Dy. Registrar allowing appeal from order of Assistant Registrar, ex parte — Ex parte order set aside on application — Date of setting aside is the date of review — It being within six months from date of ex parte order, review is valid. 1969 All LJ 652.

(106) State Government's power to frame rules under Section 43 (1) in regard to appeals not restricted by subsection (2) of Section 43. AIR 1962 All 439 (441, 442).

(107) Rule 133 is not ultra vires Section 42 (2) (1) — Provision in Rule

(108) U. P. Co-operative Societies Rules (1936), Rule 134. Rule not beyond rule-making power of State Government. AIR 1967 All 218 (220).

(109) Enforcement of arbitration award made under Co-operative Societies Act — Two modes prescribed under Rule 137 are alternative and not mutually exclusive — As such, where the money due under such an arbitration award could not be recovered as land revenue through the Collector under Rule 137 (1), proceedings to execute the same award in civil Court under Rule 137 (2) are not barred. AIR 1967 All 281 = ILR (1967) 1 All 12 (DB).

(110) Award under — Application for execution of such award in Civil Court — Art. 182 of Limitation Act (1908) applies. AIR 1967 All 281 (283) = ILR (1967) 1 All 12 (DB).

(111) Writ petition against an award under U. P. Co-operative Societies Rules, 1936 is maintainable. AIR 1966 All 489 (492, 493) (DB). (AIR 1963 All 113, Overruled.)

(112) U. P. Co-operative Societies Rules 1936 — Power of directors to postpone properly convened meeting before meeting is actually held — Power to fix time and place for meeting includes power to postpone it after it has been convened, but before it is held. 1967 All LJ 1019 = (1968) 1 Com LJ 21.

4. Other rules. — (1) Rules framed under Section 43 of the Act are not ultra vires merely because they deprive a mortgagor of his right to a period of six months to pay up the mortgage decree. AIR 1933 Nag.211 (213) (DB).

(2) Rule 25 — Failure to give intimation of loan over Rs. 1000 by society to Registrar as provided by Rule 25 does not invalidate loan. AIR 1945 Cal 350 (354) (DB).

(3) Rule 26 (c) — This rule restricts the powers given by Section 32, Civil P. C., to those given in the sub-rule. Hence, in whatever capacity a person may have been summoned, the liquidator has no power either to ask for security or to impose a sentence of imprisonment or fine for his failure to furnish security. AIR 1939 Lah 357 (358) = ILR (1939) Lah 192 = 40 Cri L Jour 791.

(4) Rule 28 (3) refers to the auditor's report and not to his oral evidence. AIR 1938 Cal 394 (398) = ILR (1938) 2 Cal 144.

(5) Rule 137 (i) (U. P.) — Rule 137 merely provides summary procedure for realisation of money — It does not invest debt due to co-operative bank with character of land revenue due to the Crown. Bank cannot claim substantive right of priority by reason of Rule 137

(7) In a dispute between two registered Societies A and B the arbitrator passed an award against B and the execution was taken out under Rule 137 (i) to realise the amount of the award not from B but from the defaulting members of B, as though it were arrears of land revenue. It was held that the award against B could not be enforced against members of that Society but B could seek to obtain award against its defaulting members or A could proceed by an application to the Civil Court under Clause (ii) of Rule 137 to enforce the award as if it were a decree of the Court. AIR 1956 All 112 (113, 114) (DB).

The liquidator is not remunerated by the Government by any fees or commission out of Government funds. AIR 1957 All 492 (494).

(11) Rule 25 prescribes as to what would be done at the annual general meeting but it is nowhere mentioned in that rule that fresh members will be elected without giving any notice of the same. 1957 All L Jour 56 (60).

(12) In case the Registrar is satisfied by a complaint received from some of the members that there has been mismanagement he can take action in this connection under Rule 31. (2) It is settled law that the provision under the Co-operative Societies Act and rules together with the provisions on the same lines contained in the bye-laws of the Society to the effect that the liability of the members shall be joint and several, is a provision only concerning their liability to the Society and as between themselves. 54 Cal WN (2 DR) 256 (259).

(3) Bye-law of co-operative society — It cannot travel beyond domestic sphere of society — Such bye-law cannot be a law or have the force of law. AIR 1967 All 121 (123) = 1966 All LJ 875 (DB).

(6) Rules and bye-laws — National Transport Service Co-operative Society—Bye-law of Co-operative Society — Managing Committee — Powers of — Bye-law empowering managing committee to expel member from society subject to confirmation by general meeting — Resolution of managing committee expelling some members can take effect only when confirmed by the general meeting. 1963 MPLJ 35 = 1963 Jab LJ 193 (DB).

India, it is necessary to enact an independent self-contained law on the subject of copyright in the light of growing public consciousness of the rights and obligations of authors and in the light of experience gained in the working of the existing law during the last forty years. New and advanced means of communications like broadcasting, litho-photography, etc., also call for certain amendments in the existing law. Adequate provision has also to be made for fulfilment of international obligations in the field of copyright which India might accept. A complete revision of the law of copyright, therefore, seemed inevitable and the Bill attempts such a revision.

2. Though the draft Bill follows generally in a rearranged form the main principles of the existing law, it has introduced several new features which are briefly indicated below :

- (1) A Copyright Office is sought to be established under the immediate control of a Registrar of Copyrights who shall act under the superintendence and direction of the Central Government. The principal function of the Copyright Office will be to maintain a Register of Copyrights in which may be entered, at the option of the authors, the names or titles of works, the names and addresses of authors and owners of copyright for the time being, and other relevant particulars. Such Register will easily make available useful information to interested members of the public in regard to copyrighted works. In order to encourage registration of copyrights, provision is made that no proceeding regarding infringement of copyright shall be instituted unless the copyright is registered in the Copyright Office. In addition to being in charge of the Copyright Office, the duties of the Registrar of Copyrights will be to entertain and dispose of applications for compulsory licences and to inquire into complaints of importation of infringing copies. An appeal to the Copyright Board is provided for against orders of the Registrar of Copyrights.
- (2) Provision is made for setting up a Copyright Board which will determine the reasonableness of the rates of fees, charges or royalties claimed by performing rights societies, consider applications for general licences for public performances of works and will assess compensation payable under the Bill in certain circumstances. An appeal will lie to the High Court against the decisions of the Copyright Board.
- (3) The definition of "copyright" is enlarged to include the exclusive right to communicate works by radio-diffusion.
- (4) A cinematograph film will have a separate copyright apart from its various components, namely, story, music, etc.

- (5) An author assigning copyright in his work is allowed the option to reacquire the copyright after seven years but before ten years of the assignment on condition that he returns the amount received by him at the time of the assignment with interest thereon.
- (6) The normal term of copyright is fixed to be the life of the author and a period of 25 years after his death as against the existing term of the life of the author and a period of 50 years after his death. Shorter terms are fixed for anonymous or pseudonymous works, cinematograph films, mechanical contrivances, photographs, etc.
- (7) Under the existing law, the sole right to produce a translation of a work first published in India is extinguished after ten years, unless a translation thereof is produced within that period. The draft Bill makes the right co-extensive with other rights arising out of copyright.
- (8) Provision is made for the issue of a general or special licence for public performances of any work by means of a radio receiving set or a mechanical contrivance.
- (9) A licence may be issued to any library to make or cause to be made one copy of any book in which copyright subsists and which is not available for sale.
- (10) Provision is made for regulating the activities of performing rights societies and also for controlling the fees, charges or royalties to be collected by them.
- (11) Certain rights akin to copyright are conferred on Broadcasting authorities in respect of programmes broadcast by them.
- (12) International copyright relations which are based on international treaties, will be regulated by specific orders to be made by the Central Government.
- (13) A fair dealing with any work for the purposes of radio summary or judicial proceeding will not hereafter constitute an infringement of copyright.

3. In preparing the Bill, the British Copyright Report, 1952, the suggestions of the various Ministries of the Government of India the State Governments, the Indian Universities and certain interested industries and associations who were invited to send their comments on the subject have been taken into consideration — Gaz. of Ind., Extra., 1-10-1955, Pt. Section 1 — Note 1

(1) The Imperial Copyright Act, 1911, was "a law in force in the territory of India immediately before the commencement of the Constitution" and it continued in force by virtue of Article 372 (1) of the Constitution. The contention that under the terms of Section 25 of the Copyright Act, 1911 itself the provisions of the Act were inapplicable to self-governing Dominions and that when India attained the status of self-governing Dominion by reason of the Indian Independence Act in 1947, the India Copyright Act of 1911 ceased to apply to India is incorrect as the words "self-governing Dominion" in Section 35 (1) of the Imperial Copyright Act, 1911 include only "Canada, Australia, New Zealand, South Africa and Newfoundland" and India did not become automatically added to that list by its attaining self-governing status on 15-8-1947. AIR 1959 Mad 410 (416, 417).

OBJECTS AND REASONS

 (h) "dramatic work" includes any piece for recitation, choreographic work or entertainment in dumb show, the scenic arrangement or acting form of which is fixed in writing or otherwise but does not include a cinematograph film;

OBJECTS AND REASONS

Section 2 (h).—"The definition of 'dramatic work' has been amended so as to exclude from its purview a cinematograph film. Under the Bill a cinematograph film is an independent work which will enjoy copyright apart from its component parts."—J. C. R.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

Section 2 (k).—"The definition of 'Government work' has been enlarged so as to include within its ambit any work made or published by or under the direction or control of any Legislature or any Court, tribunal or other judicial authority in India."—J. C. R.

- (l) "Indian work" means a literary, dramatic or musical work, the author of which is a citizen of India;

OBJECTS AND REASONS

Section 2 (w).—"The definition of 'mechanical contrivance' has been omitted and in its place the expression 'record' has been defined." "Throughout the Bill for the words 'mechanical contrivance' or 'contrivance' the word 'record' has been substituted. The Committee feels that in view of modern inventions the expression 'mechanical contrivance' is a little out of date because nowadays sounds can be recorded without using any mechanical process, e.g., by a magnetic tape. Moreover, the expression 'record' is a common term which is easily understood."—J. C. R.

- (x) "recording" means the aggregate of the sounds embodied in and capable of being reproduced by means of a record;
 - (y) "work" means any of the following works, namely:—
 - (i) a literary, dramatic, musical or artistic work;
 - (ii) a cinematograph film;

 - (z) "work of joint authorship" means a work produced by the collaboration of two or more authors in which the contribution of one author is not distinct from the contribution of the other author or authors;
 - (za) "work of sculpture" includes casts and models.
- [1914—S. 2 and Sch. I, S. 35.]

3. Meaning of publication.—For the purposes of this Act, "publication" means—

- (a) in the case of a literary, dramatic, musical or artistic work, the issue of copies of the work to the public in sufficient quantities;

(b) in the case of a cinematograph film, the sale or hire or offer for sale or hire of the film or copies thereof to the public;

(c) in the case of a record, the issue of records to the public in sufficient quantities;

but does not, except as otherwise expressly provided in this Act, include,—

(i) in the case of a literary, dramatic or musical work, the issue of any records recording such work;

(ii) in the case of a work of sculpture or an architectural work of art, the issue of photographs and engravings of such work.

[1914—Sch. I, S. 1 (3).] [Cf. S. 3 (2) and (4) of Canada Copyright Act, 1952.]

OBJECTS AND REASONS

“This clause has been redrafted so as to make it clear that a work shall not be deemed to be published unless sufficient number of copies thereof have been issued to the public. The clause in its revised form is in accordance with Art. 4 (4) of the Berne Convention.”—J. C. R.

4. When work not deemed to be published or performed in public.—Except in relation to infringement of copyright, a work shall not be deemed to be published or performed in public, if published, or performed in public, without the licence of the owner of the copyright.

[1914—Sch. I-S. 35 (2).]

5. When work deemed to be first published in India.—For the purposes of this Act, a work published in India shall be deemed to be first published in India, notwithstanding that it has been published simultaneously in some other country, unless such other country provides a shorter term of copyright for such work; and a work shall be deemed to be published simultaneously in India and in another country if the time between the publication in India and the publication in such other country does not exceed thirty days or such other period as the Central Government may, in relation to any specified country, determine.

[1914—Sch. I, S. 35 (3).] [Cf. S. 3 (4) of the Canada Copyright Act, 1952.]

OBJECTS AND REASONS

“This clause explains when a work is deemed to be first published in India and when a work is deemed to be published simultaneously in this country and in some other country. The clause corresponds to Section 35 (3) of the U. K. Act and the only modification made is that the permissible interval between publication in India and publication in a foreign country has been extended from fourteen days to thirty days in accordance with the provisions of the Universal Copyright Convention, 1952, recently signed at Geneva to which India is a signatory.” — S. O. R.

6. Certain disputes to be decided by Copyright Board.—If any question arises,—

(a) whether for the purposes of section 3, copies of any literary, dramatic, musical or artistic work, or records are issued to the public in sufficient quantities; or

(b) whether for the purposes of section 5, the term of copyright for any work is shorter in any other country than that provided in respect of that work under this Act;

it shall be referred to the Copyright Board constituted under Section 11 whose decision thereon shall be final.

7. Nationality of author where the making of unpublished work is extended over considerable period.—Where, in the case of an unpublished work, the making of the work is extended over a considerable period, the author of the work shall, for the purposes of this Act, be deemed to be a citizen of, or domiciled in, that country of which he was a citizen or wherein he was domiciled during any substantial part of that period.

[1914—Sch. I, S. 35 (4).] [Cf. S. 3 (5) of Canada Copyright Act, 1952.]

8. Domicile of corporations.—For the purposes of this Act, a body corporate shall be deemed to be domiciled in India if it is incorporated under any law in force in India.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

‘In the opinion of the Committee the correct test for determining whether a body corporate is domiciled in India, is not whether it does any business in India but whether it is incorporated under any law in India. The clause has been revised accordingly’. — J.C.R.

CHAPTER II COPYRIGHT OFFICE AND COPYRIGHT BOARD

9. Copyright Office.—(1) There shall be established for the purposes of this Act an office to be called the Copyright Office.

(2) The Copyright Office shall be under the immediate control of the Registrar of Copyrights who shall act under the superintendence and direction of the Central Government.

(3) There shall be a seal for the Copyright Office.

10. Registrar and Deputy Registrars of Copyrights.—(1) The Central Government shall appoint a Registrar of Copyrights and may appoint one or more Deputy Registrars of Copyrights.

(2) A Deputy Registrar of Copyrights shall discharge under the superintendence and direction of the Registrar of Copyrights such functions of the Registrar under this Act as the Registrar may, from time to time, assign to him; and any reference in this Act to the Registrar of Copyrights shall include a reference to a Deputy Registrar of Copyrights when so discharging any such functions.

11. Copyright Board.—(1) As soon as may be after the commencement of this Act, the Central Government shall constitute a Board to be called the Copyright Board which shall consist of a Chairman and not less than two nor more than eight other members.

(2) The Chairman and other members of the Copyright Board shall hold office for such period and on such terms and conditions as may be prescribed.

(3) The Chairman of the Copyright Board shall be a person who is, or has been, a Judge of the Supreme Court or a High Court or is qualified for appointment as a Judge of a High Court.

(4) The Registrar of Copyrights shall be the Secretary of the Copyright Board and shall perform such functions as may be prescribed.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

Sections 11 and 12 — “These clauses (that is, Sections 11 and 12) have been extensively revised. The Committee feels that the Copyright Board should consist of independent persons and should not contain any representatives of interested parties. In order to ensure the impartiality of the Copyright Board an express provision has been made that a member of the Board who is interested in any matter arising before the Board should not take part in the proceedings of the Board when that matter is under consideration [Section 12 (5)]. Since the Copyright Board has important functions to perform under the Bill, the Committee feels that it should be permissible for Government to appoint a Judge of the Supreme Court as Chairman of the Board [S. 11 (3)]. In the opinion of the Committee the functions of the Registrar of Copyrights should be restricted to administrative matters only. The Registrar of Copyrights will not, therefore, be a member of the Board but will act as its Secretary. [S. 11 (4)]. The Committee is of the view that the Copyright Board should function through various benches sitting at different places in India so that people should have an easy access to it. The jurisdiction of the Copyright Board has accordingly been divided into various zones which correspond to the zones constituted under Section 15 of the States Reorganisation Act, 1956 [S. 12 (1)]." — J. C. R.

12. Powers and procedure of Copyright Board.—(1) The Copyright Board shall, subject to any rules that may be made under this Act, have power to regulate its own procedure, including the fixing of places and times of its sittings:

Provided that the Copyright Board shall ordinarily hear any proceeding instituted before it under this Act within the zone in which, at the time of the institution of the proceeding, the person instituting the proceeding actually and voluntarily resides or carries on business or personally works for gain.

Explanation.—In this sub-section "zone" means a zone specified in Section 15 of the States Reorganisation Act, 1956.

(2) The Copyright Board may exercise and discharge its powers and functions through Benches constituted by the Chairman of the Copyright Board from amongst its members, each Bench consisting of not less than three members.

(3) If there is a difference of opinion among the members of the Copyright Board or any Bench thereof in respect of any matter coming before it for decision under this Act, the opinion of the majority shall prevail:

Provided that where there is no such majority—

- (i) if the Chairman was one of the members who heard the matter, the opinion of the Chairman shall prevail;
- (ii) if the Chairman was not one of the members who heard the matters, the matter shall be referred to him for his opinion and that opinion shall prevail.

(4) The Copyright Board may authorise any of its members to exercise any of the powers conferred on it by Section 74 and any order made or act done in exercise of those powers by the member so authorised shall be deemed to be the order or act, as the case may be, of the Board.

(5) No member of the Copyright Board shall take part in any proceedings before the Board in respect of any matter in which he has a personal interest.

(6) No act done or proceeding taken by the Copyright Board under this Act shall be questioned on the ground merely of the existence of any vacancy in, or defect in the constitution of, the Board.

(7) The Copyright Board shall be deemed to be a civil Court for the purposes of Sections 480 and 482 of the Code of Criminal Procedure, 1898, and all proceedings before the Board shall be deemed to be judicial proceedings within the meaning of Sections 193 and 228 of the Indian Penal Code.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

See under Section 11.

CHAPTER III COPYRIGHT

13. Works in which copyright subsists.—(1) Subject to the provisions of this section and the other provisions of this Act, copyright shall subsist throughout India in the following classes of works that is to say,—

- (a) original literary, dramatic, musical and artistic works;

SECTION 13 — SYNOPSIS

1. Copyright in literary and dramatic work.

2. Copyright regarding translation, adaptation abridgement etc.

(b) cinematograph films; and

(c) records.

(2) Copyright shall not subsist in any work specified in sub-section (1), other than a work to which the provisions of Section 40 or Section 41 apply, unless,—

(i) in the case of a published work, the work is first published in India, or where the work is first published outside India, the author is at the date of such publication, or in a case where the author was dead at that date, was at the time of his death, a citizen of India;

(ii) in the case of an unpublished work other than an architectural work of art, the author is at the date of the making of the work a citizen of India or domiciled in India; and

(iii) in the case of an architectural work of art, the work is located in India.

Explanation.—In the case of a work of joint authorship, the conditions conferring copyright specified in this sub-section shall be satisfied by all the authors of the work.

Section 13 — Synopsis (contd.)

3. Copyright regarding designs, pictures, photographs, etc.

4. Copyright regarding films.

5. Cases where copyright does not exist.

1. Copyright in literary and dramatic work.— (1) The work "original" does not mean that the work must be the expression of original or inventive thought. Copyright Acts are not concerned with the origin of ideas, but with the expression of thought and in the case of "literary work" with the expression of thought in print or writing. The originality which is required relates to the expression of the thought but the Act does not require that the expression must be in an original or novel form, but that the work must not be copied from another work — that it should originate from the author. AIR 1924 PC 75 (85) = 51 Ind App 109 = 48 Bom 308  AIR 1938 All 266 (268) = ILR (1938) All 370 (DB). (Ideas are not protected by copyright but by patent laws. Copyright protects the particular expression of ideas.)

(2) The originality in work relates to the expression of thought — Much depends on the skill, labour, knowledge and the capacity to digest and utilise the raw materials contributed by others in imparting to the product the quality and the character which those materials did not possess and which differentiates the product from the materials used. AIR 1960 Andh Pra 415 (417) = 1960 Andh LT 219 (DB).

(3) It is well established that, in order to obtain copyright production for literary, domestic, musical and artistic works, the subject dealt with need not be original, nor the ideas expressed be something novel. What is required is the expenditure of original skill or labour in execution and not originality of thought. AIR 1961 Mad 111 (112) = (1960) 1 Mad LJ 53 (DB).

(4) Neither original thought nor original research is essential for claiming "a literary work" to be original under Section 1 of Schedule 1, and the standard of originality required is a very low one, and had been complied with in the case of a plan which was not a mere copy of another plan but involved some little originality however little it may be. ILR (1956) Mad 1347 (1354) (DB).

(5) Though letters may approach the character of a literary work, every private letter cannot be described as a literary work. (1813) 35 ER 225 (229).

(6) The author of a book the subject-matter of which is arranged in a new way totally different from the earlier works on the subject can get a copyright in the work. AIR 1921 All 95 (96) = 43 All 412 (DB).

(7) Registrar of London Coal Market publishing statistics of coal imports in annual sheets priced at £ 335 per annum — Lord of the Treasury publishing mineral statistics priced at 2s. 6d. including and acknowledging the registrar's statistics — Registrar, held, was entitled to an injunction. (1867) 3 Eq 718 (724).

(8) Diary called "The Birthday Scripture Text Book" interleaved with blank space against each day with a text of scripture appended and designed to record birthday's of friends — Subsequent publication of work called "The Children's Birthday Text Book," can be restrained. (1872) 14 Eq 431 (433).

(9) While there may be no copyright in news, the particular form of language in which information is conveyed is the subject of copyright. (1892) 3 Ch 489 (495).

(10) University lectures taken down and published by student. Professor can restrain publication. (1888) 57 LJ PC 2 (8).

(11) Question papers set at examination are original literary works though paper-setter may have copied questions from text books. AIR 1966 Pat 33 (35, 36) = 1966 Cri LJ 54 = 1965 BLJR 719.

(3) Copyright shall not subsist—

(a) in any cinematograph film if a substantial part of the film is an infringement of the copyright in any other work;

(b) in any record made in respect of a literary, dramatic or musical work, if in making the record, copyright in such work has been infringed.

(4) The copyright in a cinematograph film or a record shall not affect the separate copyright in any work in respect of which or a substantial part of which, the film, or as the case may be, the record is made.

(5) In the case of an architectural work of art, copyright shall subsist only in the artistic character and design and shall not extend to processes or methods of construction.

[1914—Sch. I, S. 1 (1).] [Cf. Ss. 1 (1), 2 and 3 of Copyright Act, 1956 (U.K.).]

OBJECTS AND REASONS

"This clause (that is, S. 13) roughly corresponds to Section 1 (1) of the U. K. Act and describes the works in which copyright shall subsist. It provides that separate copyright shall subsist in a cinematograph film as distinct from its various component parts. Sub-clause (2) (i) gives effect to the recommendation made in Art. 2 of the Universal Copyright Convention, 1952 which provides that the works of nationals and residents of a convention country wherever published should have protection of copyright. Sub-clause (4) makes it clear that the copyright in a cinematograph film shall not affect the separate copyright in each of its various component parts." — J. C. R.

Section 13 — Note 1 (contd.)

((1916) 2 Ch. D 601 and AIR 1924 PC 75, Foll.)  AIR 1967 All 91 (93) = 1966 All LJ 550.

(12) Printed music is to be considered as a book. (1835) 160 ER 117 (122).

(13) A copyright can subsist even in case of law book, dictionary, gazetteer grammar, map, etc., as their compilation also involves brain, skill and labour. AIR 1955 Mad 391 (393).

(14) Even small amount of originality will be protected by law as in the case of law books etc. AIR 1955 Mad 391 (393).

(15) Copyright is, no doubt, the sole right to produce or reproduce a work which is capable of being the subject of copyright protection, or any substantial part thereof, in any material form whatsoever. But the right to reproduce is enough to sustain copyright. Actual reproduction is not necessary, much less profits by reproducing the plan. Even unpublished works have copyright. ILR (1956) Mad 1347 (1355) (DB).

(16) Reporter of a speech delivered in public is the author of his own report. 1900 App Cas 539 (551).

(17) Whether a right of survivorship would or would not apply to a copyright in books published by one coparcener, the right can be inherited by the heirs of the author who owned the copyright. AIR 1921 All 95 (96) = 43 All 412 (412) (DB).

(18) The term "author" applies also to a foreigner residing in the United Kingdom. (1868) 3 HL 100 (115).

2. Copyright regarding translation, adaptation, abridgement etc. — (1) The compiler of a work in which absolute originality is of necessity excluded is entitled to make use of preceding works upon the subject and where he bestows such mental labour upon what he has taken and subjects it to such revision and correction as to produce an original result he will not be committing a piracy. AIR 1938 All 266 (268, 269) = ILR (1938) All 370 (DB).

(2) To constitute a true and equitable abridgement, the entire work must be preserved in its precise import and exact meaning and then the act of abridgement is an exertion of the individuality employed in moulding and transfusing a large work into a small compass, thus rendering it less expensive and more convenient both to the time and use of the reader. Independent labour must be apparent and the reduction of the size and work by copying some of its parts and omitting others confers no title to authorship, and the result will not be an abridgement entitled to protection. To abridge in the legal sense of the word is to preserve the substance, the essence of the work in language suited to such a purpose, language substantially different from that of the original. To make such an abridgement requires the exercise of mind and labour, skill and judgment brought into play and the result is not merely copying. To constitute a proper abridgement the arrangement of the book abridged must be preserved, the ideas must also be taken and expressed in language not copied but condensed. The mere process of selecting passages from works readily accessible to the public is not, but difficulty in obtaining access to the original or skill manifested in making or arranging the selection is sufficient to give the character of an "original literary work" to the selection. AIR 1924 PC 75 (79, 80) = 48 Bom 308 = 51 Ind App 109  AIR 1921 Bom 463 (479) (DB).

(3) Though copyright might not include exclusive right of translation, author of book who made translation of it is entitled to copyright in it as if it were original work. AIR 1915 All 331 (331) = 16 Cri LJ 656.

(4) Copyright subsists in a translation. There is no copyright in specifications of patents. (1814) 35 ER 408 (408).

(5) There is no copyright in book consisting of extracts from a larger work linked together by connecting words, but there may be copyright in notes to such extracts. (1923) 93 LJPC 113 (121).

(6) Copyright subsists in new corrections and addition made to an old work. (1801) 102 ER 138 (139).

(7) Old traditional poem renovated — Result is original literary work. AIR 1938 Cal 594 (595).

3. Copyright as regards, designs, pictures, photographs, etc.— (1) There can be a separate copyright in a building as distinct from a copyright in the place on which the building is based and it vests in the architects. (1941) 3 All ER 144 (147, 148).

(2) The fact that the structure or construction as per a plan has not been actually erected and that the plaintiffs will not be able to erect it, as their tender has been rejected, will be no reason for rejecting their claim to copyright in the plan as an original literary work. Copyright may exist in the designer or inventor of a plan, though he may not himself be able to execute it. ILR (1956) Mad 1347 (1355) (DB).

The clause provides that in such circumstances the copyright in the manuscript will pass along with the manuscript, unless the testator has made a contrary provision in the will." — J. C. R.

21. Right of author to relinquish copyright.—(1) The author of a work may relinquish all or any of the rights comprised in the copyright in the work by giving notice in the prescribed form to the Registrar of Copyrights and thereupon such rights shall, subject to the provisions of sub-section (3), cease to exist from the date of the notice.

(2) On receipt of a notice under sub-section (1), the Registrar of Copyrights shall cause it to be published in the Official Gazette and in such other manner as he may deem fit.

(3) The relinquishment of all or any of the rights comprised in the copyright in a work shall not affect any rights subsisting in favour of any person on the date of the notice referred to in sub-section (1).

CHAPTER V

TERM OF COPYRIGHT

22. Term of copyright in published literary, dramatic, musical and artistic works.—Except as otherwise hereinafter provided, copyright shall subsist in any literary, dramatic, musical or artistic work (other than a photograph) published

Section 19 — Note 1 (contd.)

(2) Copyright is moveable property and can be assigned by unregistered deed even in India. Transfer of Property Act, Section 54 does not apply. AIR 1939 All 305 (308) = ILR (1939) All 275 (DB).

(3) Oral agreement conferring exclusive right to publish a work in England amounts only to a license and does not operate to assign copyright. (1814) 171 ER 3 (3, 4).

(4) Mere acquiescence does not prove assignment of copyright which must be according to the mode prescribed by statute. (1818) 171 ER 679 (680).

(5) Under the Act, assignment shall be in writing signed by the owner of the right in respect of which the assignment is made or by his duly authorised agent. 1968 Ker LJ 440 = (1969) 1 Lah LJ 323

 AIR 1966 Mad 175 (176) = 1966 Cri LJ 553 = (1965) 2 Mad LJ 377.

(6) No assignment of copyright shall be valid unless it is in writing signed by the owner of the right in respect of which the assignment or grant is made. (1968) 1 Andh Pra WR 323 = (1968) 2 Andh LT 71.

(7) A copyright cannot be acquired by oral agreement. (1968) 1 Andh Pra WR 323 = (1968) 2 Andh LT 71.

Section 22 — Note 1

(1) In the case of any works in existence before the Act of 1914 the question which has to be examined to determine whether there is copyright under within the lifetime of the author until fifty years from the beginning of the calendar year next following the year in which the author dies.

Explanation.—In this section the reference to the author shall, in the case of a work of joint authorship, be construed as a reference to the author who dies last.

[1914—Sch. I, S. 3.] [Cf. Ss. 5 and 8 of Canada Copyright Act, 1952; Ss. 6 and 22 of Copyright Act, 1913 (1913, No. 4) (New Zealand); S. 3 (4) of Copyright Act, 1956 (U. K.).]

OBJECTS AND REASONS

Clause 20 of the Bill as originally introduced in the Rajya Sabha prescribed the general term of copyright which was to be the life of the author and a period of twenty-five years after his death. But the Joint Committee say: "The Committee feels that India should fall in line with the majority of the Berne Convention countries and that the normal term of copyright should be the life of the author and fifty years thereafter. In the case of a work of joint authorship, the term of fifty years should be computed from the death of the author who dies last. The clause has been revised accordingly." — I. C. R.

23. Term of copyright in anonymous and pseudonymous works.—(1) In the case of a literary, dramatic, musical or artistic work (other than a photograph), which is published anonymously or pseudonymously, copyright shall subsist until fifty years from the beginning of the calendar year next following the year in which the work is first published:

Provided that where the identity of the author is disclosed before the expiry of the said period, copyright shall subsist until fifty years from the beginning of the calendar year next following the year in which the author dies.

(2) In sub-section (1), references to the author shall, in the case of an anonymous work of joint authorship, be construed,—

- (a) where the identity of one of the authors is disclosed, as references to that author;
- (b) where the identity of more authors than one is disclosed, as references to the author who dies last from amongst such authors.

(3) In sub-section (1), references to the author shall, in the case of a pseudonymous work of joint authorship, be construed,—

- (a) where the names of one or more (but not all) of the authors are pseudonyms and his or their identity is not disclosed, as references to the author whose name is not a pseudonym, or, if the names of two or more of the authors are not pseudonyms, as references to such of those authors who dies last;
- (b) where the names of one or more (but not all) of the authors are pseudonyms and the identity of one or more of them is disclosed, as references to the author who dies last from amongst the authors whose names are not pseudonyms and the authors whose names are pseudonyms and are disclosed; and
- (c) where the names of all the authors are pseudonyms and the identity of one of them is disclosed, as references to the author whose identity is disclosed or if the identity of two or more of such authors is disclosed, as references to such of those authors who dies last.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section, the identity of an author shall be deemed to have been disclosed, if either the identity of the author is disclosed publicly by both the author and the publisher or is otherwise established to the satisfaction of the Copyright Board by that author.

[Cf: S. 11 of Copyright Act, 1956 (U. K.).]

OBJECTS AND REASONS

“This clause has been completely revised so as to make the position of anonymous and pseudonymous works clear. In the case of a pseudonymous work of joint authorship, there may be a number of possibilities. The names of some of the authors may be pseudonyms while the names of some others may not be pseudonyms. Some authors may have disclosed their identity while others may not have done so. The revised clause provides for all such contingencies.” — J. C. R.

24. Term of copyright in posthumous work.—(1) In the case of a literary, dramatic or musical work or an engraving, in which copyright subsists at the date of the death of the author or, in the case of any such work of joint authorship, at or immediately before the date of the death of the author who dies last, but which, or any adaptation of which, has not been published before that date, copyright shall subsist until fifty years from the beginning of the calendar year next following the year in which the work is first published or, where an adaptation of the work is published in any earlier year, from the beginning of the calendar year next following that year.

(2) For the purposes of this section a literary, dramatic or musical work or an adaptation of any such work shall be deemed to have been published, if it has been performed in public or if any records made in respect of the work have been sold to the public or have been offered for sale to the public.

[1914—Sch. I, S. 17.] [See S. 6 of the Canada Copyright Act, 1952; S. 23 of Copyright Act, 1913 (1913, No. 4) (New Zealand).]

25. Term of copyright in photographs.—In the case of a photograph, copyright shall subsist until fifty years from the beginning of the calendar year next following the year in which the photograph is published.

[1914—Sch. I, S. 21.] [See S. 9 of Canada Copyright Act, 1952.]

26. Term of copyright in cinematograph films.—In the case of a cinematograph film, copyright shall subsist until fifty years from the beginning of the calendar year next following the year in which the film is published.

[1914—Sch. I, S. 19.] [Cf. S. 13 of Copyright Act, 1956 (U.K.).]

27. Term of copyright in records.—In the case of a record, copyright shall subsist until fifty years from the beginning of the calendar year next following the year in which the record is published.

[1914—Sch. I, S. 19.] [See S. 10, Canada Copyright Act, 1952; S. 12 of Copyright Act, 1956 (U.K.).]

28. Term of copyright in Government works.—In the case of a Government work, where Government is the first owner of the copyright therein, copyright shall subsist until fifty years from the beginning of the calendar year next following the year in which the work is first published.

[1914—Sch. I, S. 18.] [See S. 11 of Canada Copyright Act, 1952; S. 24 of Copyright Act, 1913 (1913, No. 4) (New Zealand) and S. 39 of Copyright Act, 1956 (U.K.).]

29. Term of copyright in works of international organisations.⁸—In the case of a work of an international organisation to which the provisions of Section 41 apply, copyright shall subsist until fifty years from the beginning of the calendar year next following the year in which the work is first published.

[⁸] For such organisations, see the Copyright (International Organisation) Order, 1958—Gaz. of Ind., 1958, Pt. II, S. 3, Extra., p. 183.

CHAPTER VI LICENCES

30. Licences by owners of copyright.—The owner of the copyright in any existing work or the prospective owner of the copyright in any future work may grant any interest in the right by licence in writing signed by him or by his duly authorised agent :

Provided that in the case of a licence relating to copyright in any future work, the licence shall take effect only when the work comes into existence.

Explanation.—Where a person to whom a licence relating to copyright in any future work is granted under this section dies before the work comes into existence, his legal representatives shall, in the absence of any provision to the contrary in the licence, be entitled to the benefit of the licence.

[1914—Sch. I, S. 5 (2).] [Cf. S. 36 (4) of Copyright Act, 1956 (U.K.).]

31. Compulsory licence in works withheld from public.—(1) If at any time during the term of copyright in any Indian work which has been published or performed in public, a complaint is made to the Copyright Board that the owner of copyright in the work—

- (a) has refused to republish or allow the republication of the work or has refused to allow the performance in public of the work, and by reason of such refusal the work is withheld from the public; or
- (b) has refused to allow communication to the public by radio-diffusion of such work or in the case of a record the work recorded in such record, on terms which the complainant considers reasonable;

the Copyright Board, after giving to the owner of the copyright in the work a reasonable opportunity of being heard and after holding such inquiry as it may deem necessary, may, if it is satisfied that the grounds for such refusal are not reasonable, direct the Registrar of Copyright to grant to the complainant a licence to republish the work, perform the work in public or communicate the work to the public by radio-diffusion, as the case may be, subject to payment to the owner of the copyright of such compensation and subject to such other terms and conditions as the Copyright Board may determine; and thereupon the Registrar of Copyrights shall grant the licence to the complainant in accordance with the directions of the Copyright Board, on payment of such fee as may be prescribed.

Explanation.—In this sub-section, the expression “Indian work” includes—

- (i) an artistic work, the author of which is a citizen of India; and
- (ii) a cinematograph film or a record made or manufactured in India.

Section 30 — Note 1

(1) Where licence was not granted to the club by the authors, the publisher's note in the drama reserving all rights in the club neither confers ownership nor amounts to assignment of licence by the authors to the club. AIR 1967 Assam 70 (73) = ILR (1966) 18 Assam 272 (DB).

(2) Where two or more persons have made a complaint under sub-section (1), the licence shall be granted to the complainant who in the opinion of the Copyright Board would best serve the interests of the general public.

[1914 — Sch. I, S. 4.] [Cf: S. 13 of the Canada Copyright Act, 1952: S. 7 of Copyright Act, 1913 (1913, No. 4) (New Zealand).]

OBJECTS AND REASONS

"This clause has been revised so as to vest the discretion of granting a licence in the Copyright Board instead of in the Registrar of Copyrights. An express provision has been made for the payment of compensation to the owner of copyright. Provision is also made that a licence shall be granted only if the grant of the licence is in the public interest and that it shall not be granted if the work is withdrawn from further circulation....." — J. C. R.

32. Licence to produce and publish translations.—(1) Any person may apply to the Copyright Board for a licence to produce and publish a translation of a literary or dramatic work in any language.

(2) Every such application shall be made in such form as may be prescribed and shall state the proposed retail price of a copy of the translation of the work.

(3) Every applicant for a licence under this section shall, along with his application, deposit with the Registrar of Copyrights such fee as may be prescribed.

(4) Where an application is made to the Copyright Board under this section, it may, after holding such inquiry as may be prescribed, grant to the applicant a licence, not being an exclusive licence, to produce and publish a translation of the work in the language mentioned in the application, on condition that the applicant shall pay to the owner of the copyright in the work royalties in respect of copies of the translation of the work sold to the public, calculated at such rate as the Copyright Board may, in the circumstances of such case, determine in the prescribed manner:

Provided that no such licence shall be granted unless—

- (a) a translation of the work in the language mentioned in the application has not been published by the owner of the copyright in the work or any person authorised by him, within seven years of the first publication of the work, or if a translation has been so published, it has been out of print;
- (b) the applicant has proved to the satisfaction of the Copyright Board that he had requested and had been denied authorisation by the owner of the copyright to produce and publish such translation, or that he was unable to find the owner of the copyright;
- (c) where the applicant was unable to find the owner of the copyright, he had sent a copy of his request for such authorisation to the publisher

Section 32 — Note 1

(1) The object of the provisions of Section 4 (1) of the Copyright Act (1914) was to confer on the author the sole right of translation for a period of ten years. If it was omitted to be exercised the result would be that at the end of the ten year's period the statutory right to copyright would not include the sole right of translation. In other words, any person could thereafter translate the work. But this does not however mean that there was no copyright in the translation. The right to copyright in the translation springs from the very terms of Sec. 1 of the English Act of 1911, because the translation itself would be an original literary work. Section 4 is no bar to the assertion of such a right. AIR 1959 Mad 410 (426).

(2) Where the author either himself or with the assistance of others makes a translation of his work within the period of ten years the proviso confers upon him a further right in the shape of forbidding others from translating his original work into the same language as that chosen by the author. Such a translation could be injuncted as an infringement of the copyright. This right is quite distinct from the right to copyright in the translation as an original literary work. AIR 1959 Mad 410 (426).

whose name appears from the work, not less than two months before the application for the licence;

- (d) the Copyright Board is satisfied that the applicant is competent to produce and publish a correct translation of the work and possesses the means to pay to the owner of the copyright the royalties payable to him under this section;
- (e) the author has not withdrawn from circulation copies of the work; and
- (f) an opportunity of being heard is given, wherever practicable, to the owner of the copyright in the work.

[1914 — S. 4.]

OBJECTS AND REASONS

“Under the existing law, namely, section 4 of the Indian Copyright Act, 1914, the sole right to produce a translation of a work first published in India is extinguished after ten years unless a translation thereof is produced within that period. The Bill provides that the right to produce a translation shall enure so long as other rights comprising the copyright subsist. Provision has, however, been made for the issue of a compulsory licence for a translation on payment of compensation if no translation is published by or on behalf of the owner of the work within seven years of the first publication of the work.” — S. O. R.

CHAPTER VII

PERFORMING RIGHTS SOCIETIES

33. Performing rights society to file statements of fees, charges and royalties.—(1) Every performing rights society shall, within the prescribed time and in the prescribed manner, prepare, publish and file with the Registrar of Copyrights, statements of all fees, charges or royalties which it proposes to collect for the grant of licences for performance in public of works in respect of which it has authority to grant such licences.

(2) If any such society fails to prepare, publish or file with the Registrar of Copyrights the statements referred to in sub-section (1) in relation to any work in accordance with the provisions of that sub-section, no action or other proceeding to enforce any remedy, civil or criminal, for infringement of the performing rights in that work shall be commenced except with the consent of the Registrar of Copyrights.

[Cf: S. 48 of Canada Copyright Act, 1952.]

OBJECTS AND REASONS

“The representative of the Performing Right Society, London, who gave evidence before the Committee pointed out that it would not be possible for a Performing Right Society to prepare and publish a list of all its works which run into several thousands. The clause has, therefore, been amended to provide for the publication of only the statement of fees, charges and royalties which a performing right society proposes to collect.” — J. C. R.

34. Objections relating to published statements.—Any person having any objections to any fees, charges or royalties or other particulars included in any statement referred to in Section 33 may at any time lodge such objections in writing at the Copyright Office.

35. Determination of objections.—(1) Every objection lodged at the Copyright Office under Section 34 shall, as soon as may be, be referred to the Copyright Board and the Copyright Board shall decide such objection in the manner hereinafter provided.

(2) The Copyright Board shall, in respect of every such objection, give notice thereof to the performing rights society concerned.

(3) The Copyright Board shall, after giving such society and the person who lodged the objection a reasonable opportunity of being heard and after making such further inquiry as may be prescribed, make such alterations in the statements as it may think fit, and shall transmit the alterations made by it to the Registrar of Copyrights, who shall thereupon, as soon as practicable after the receipt of such alterations, publish, them in the Official Gazette and furnish the performing rights society concerned and the person who lodged the objection with a copy thereof.

(4) The fees, charges or royalties as altered by the Copyright Board shall be the fees, charges or royalties which the performing rights society concerned may respectively lawfully sue for or collect in respect of the grant by it of licences for the performance in public of works to which such fees, charges or royalties relate.

(5) No performing rights society shall have any right of action or any right to enforce any civil or other remedy for infringement of the performing rights in any work against any person who has tendered or paid to such society the fees, charges or royalties specified in respect of that work in a statement published by that society under sub-section (1) of Section 33 or where such statement has been altered by the Copyright Board under this section in the statement so altered.

(6) Where any person has lodged an objection at the Copyright Office regarding the fees, charges or royalties in respect of any work included in a statement published under Section 33, that person or any other person, on depositing such fees, charges or royalties at the Copyright Office, may, pending the final decision of such objection by the Copyright Board or the High Court, as the case may be, perform that work without infringing the copyright therein.

(7) The fees, charges or royalties deposited at the Copyright Office under sub-section (6) shall be paid to the performing rights society concerned or to the person who made the deposit, or partly to such society and partly to such person, in accordance with the final decision on the objection as aforesaid.

36. Existing rights not affected.—Nothing in this Chapter shall be deemed to affect—

- (a) any rights or liabilities in relation to the performing rights in any work accrued or incurred before the commencement of this Act;
- (b) any legal proceedings in respect of such rights or liabilities pending at such commencement.

[1914 — Sch. I, S. 24.]

CHAPTER VIII

RIGHTS OF BROADCASTING AUTHORITIES

37. Broadcast reproduction right.—(1) Where any programme is broadcast by radio-diffusion by the Government or any other broadcasting authority, a special right to be known as "broadcast reproduction right" shall subsist in such programme.

(2) The Government or other broadcasting authority, as the case may be, shall be the owner of the broadcast reproduction right and such right shall subsist until twenty-five years from the beginning of the calendar year next following the year in which the programme is first broadcast.

(3) During the continuance of a broadcast reproduction right in relation to any programme, any person who,—

(a) without the licence of the owner of the right—

- (i) rebroadcasts the programme in question or any substantial part thereof; or

- (ii) causes the programme in question or any substantial part thereof to be heard in public; or
 - (b) without the licence of the owner of the right to utilise the broadcast for the purpose of making a record recording the programme in question or any substantial part thereof, makes any such record,
- shall be deemed to infringe that broadcast reproduction right.

[Cf: S. 14 of Copyright Act, 1956 (U. K.)]

38. Other provisions of this Act to apply to broadcast reproduction rights.—Sections 18, 19, 30, 53, 55, 58, 64, 65 and 66 shall, with any necessary adaptations and modifications, apply in relation to the broadcast reproduction right in any programme as they apply in relation to the copyright in a work :

Provided that a licence to utilise a broadcast for the purpose of making a record recording a programme in which broadcast reproduction right subsists or any substantial part of such programme, shall not take effect unless the person to whom such licence is granted has also obtained a licence to make records recording the work embodied in such programme from the owner of the copyright in such work.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

“A proviso has been added to the clause to make it clear that no person can make records from any programme broadcast unless such person has also obtained a licence for making such records from the owner of the copyright in the work which is broadcast.”—J. C. R.

39. Other rights not affected.—For the removal of doubts, it is hereby declared that the broadcast reproduction right conferred upon a broadcasting authority under this Chapter shall not affect the copyright—

- (a) in any literary, dramatic or musical work which is broadcast by that authority; or
- (b) in any record recording any such work.

CHAPTER IX

INTERNATIONAL COPYRIGHT

40. Power to extend copyright to foreign works.—The Central Government may, by order* published in the Official Gazette, direct that all or any provisions of this Act shall apply—

- (a) to works first published in any territory outside India to which the order relates in like manner as if they were first published within India;
- (b) to unpublished works, or any class thereof, the authors whereof were at the time of the making of the work, subjects or citizens of a foreign country to which the order relates, in like manner as if the authors were citizens of India;
- (c) in respect of domicile in any territory outside India to which the order relates in like manner as if such domicile were in India;
- (d) to any work of which the author was at the date of the first publication thereof, or, in a case where the author was dead at that date, was at the time of his death, a subject or citizen of a foreign country to which the order relates in like manner as if the author was a citizen of India at that date or time;

and thereupon, subject to the provisions of this Chapter and of the Order, this Act shall apply accordingly:

Provided that—

- (i) before making an order under this section in respect of any foreign country (other than a country with which India has entered into a treaty or which is a party to a convention relating to copyright to which India is also a party), the Central Government shall be satisfied that that foreign country has made, or has undertaken to make, such provisions, if any, as it appears to the Central Government expedient to require for the protection in that country of works entitled to copyright under the provisions of this Act;
- (ii) the order may provide that the provisions of this Act shall apply either generally or in relation to such classes of works or such classes of cases as may be specified in the order;
- (iii) the order may provide that the term of copyright in India shall not exceed that conferred by the law of the country to which the order relates;
- (iv) the order may provide that the enjoyment of the rights conferred by this Act shall be subject to the accomplishment of such conditions and formalities, if any, as may be prescribed by the order;
- (v) in applying the provisions of this Act as to ownership of copyright, the order may make such exceptions and modifications as appear necessary, having regard to the law of the foreign country;
- (vi) the order may provide that this Act or any part thereof shall not apply to works made before the commencement of the order or that this Act or any part thereof shall not apply to works first published before the commencement of the order.

[1914—Schedule I, Section 29.]

[*] For the International Copyright Order, 1958, see Gaz. of Ind. Extra., 21-1-1958, Pt. II, S. 3, p. 181. The Order has been printed in the last volume of this work. See also the Universal Copyright Convention and Protocols 1 to 3 given after the text of this Act. Cf. S. 33 of Copyright Act, 1913 (1913, No. 4) (New Zealand).

41. Provisions as to works of certain international organisations.—(1) Where—

- (a) any work is made or first published by or under the direction or control of any organisation to which this section applies, and
- (b) there would, apart from this section, be no copyright in the work in India at the time of the making or, as the case may be, of the first publication thereof, and
- (c) either—

- (i) the work is published as aforesaid in pursuance of an agreement in that behalf with the author, being an agreement which does not reserve to the author the copyright, if any, in the work, or

- (ii) under Section 17 any copyright in the work would belong to the organisation;

there shall, by virtue of this section, be copyright in the work throughout India.

(2) Any organisation to which this section applies which at the material time had not the legal capacity of a body corporate shall have and be deemed at all material times to have had the legal capacity of a body corporate for the purpose of holding, dealing with, and enforcing copyright and in connection with all legal proceedings relating to copyright.

(3) The organisations to which this section applies are such organisations as the Central Government may, by order* published in the Official Gazette, declare to be organisations of which one or more sovereign powers or the Government or Governments thereof are members to which it is expedient that this section shall apply.

[*] For Copyright (International Organisations) Order, 1958, see Gaz. of Ind., Extra., 21-1-1958, Pt. II, S. 3, p. 183 (21-1-1958).

Organisations to which the section applies are:—

- (1) United Nations Organisation.
- (2) Specialised Agencies of the United Nations Organisation.
- (3) Organisation of American States.

42. Power to restrict rights in works of foreign authors first published in India.—If it appears to the Central Government that a foreign country does not give or has not undertaken to give adequate protection to the works of Indian authors, the Central Government may, by order published in the Official Gazette, direct that such of the provisions of this Act as confer copyright on works first published in India shall not apply to works, published after the date specified in the order, the authors whereof are subjects or citizens of such foreign country and are not domiciled in India, and thereupon those provisions shall not apply to such works.

43. Orders under this Chapter to be laid before Parliament.—Every order made by the Central Government under this Chapter shall, as soon as may be after it is made, be laid before both Houses of Parliament and shall be subject to such modifications as Parliament may make during the session in which it is so laid or the session immediately following.

CHAPTER X

REGISTRATION OF COPYRIGHT

44. Register of Copyrights.—There shall be kept at the Copyright Office a register in the prescribed form to be called the Register of Copyrights in which may be entered the names or titles of works and the names and addresses of authors, publishers and owners of copyright and such other particulars as may be prescribed.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

Sections 44 to 50.—“Under the existing law there is no provision for the registration of copyright. Such registration will furnish useful information to interested members of public. . . .”—S. O. R.

45. Entries in Register of Copyrights.—(1) The author or publisher of, or the owner of or other person interested in the copyright in, any work may make an application in the prescribed form accompanied by the prescribed fee to the Registrar of Copyrights for entering particulars of the work in the Register of Copyrights.

(2) On receipt of an application in respect of any work under sub-section (1), the Registrar of Copyrights may, after holding such inquiry as he may deem fit, enter the particulars of the work in the Register of Copyrights.

[Cf. S. 50 of Copyright Act, 1913 (1913, No. 4) (New Zealand).]

46. Indexes.—There shall be also kept at the Copyright Office such indexes of the Register of Copyrights as may be prescribed.

Section 45 — Note 1

(1) Registration of a book is a condition for acquiring copyright with respect to it. AIR 1960 Andh Pra 415 (417, 418) = 1960 Andh LT 219 (DB).

47. Form and inspection of register.—The Register of Copyrights and indexes thereof kept under this Act shall at all reasonable times be open to inspection, and any person shall be entitled to take copies of, or make extracts from, such register or indexes on payment of such fee and subject to such conditions as may be prescribed.

48. Register of Copyrights to be prima facie evidence of particulars entered therein.—The Register of Copyrights shall be prima facie evidence of the particulars entered therein and documents purporting to be copies of any entries therein, or extracts therefrom certified by the Registrar of Copyrights and sealed with the seal of the Copyright Office shall be admissible in evidence in all Courts without further proof or production of the original.

[Cf. S. 45, Copyright Act, 1913 (1913, No. 4) (New Zealand).]

49. Correction of entries in the Register of Copyrights.—The Registrar of Copyrights may, in the prescribed cases and subject to the prescribed conditions, amend or alter the Register of Copyrights by—

[Cf. S. 48 of Copyright Act, 1913 (1913, No. 4) (New Zealand).]

50. Rectification of Register of Copyright Board.—The Copyright Board, on application of the Registrar of Copyrights or of any person aggrieved, shall order the rectification of the Register of Copyrights by—

- (a) the making of any entry wrongly omitted to be made in the register; or
- (b) the expunging of any entry wrongly made in, or remaining on, the register, or
- (c) the correction of any error or defect in the register.

[Cf. S. 49, Copyright Act, 1913 (1913, No. 4) (New Zealand).]

CHAPTER XI

INFRINGEMENT OF COPYRIGHT

51. When copyright infringed.—Copyright in a work shall be deemed to be infringed—

- (a) When any person, without a licence granted by the owner of the Copyright or the Registrar of Copyrights under this Act or in contravention of the conditions of a licence so granted or of any condition imposed by a competent authority under this Act—
 - (i) does anything, the exclusive right to do which is by this Act conferred upon the owner of the copyright, or

2. Infringement of copyright under Section 51 (b).
3. Infringement of copyright in pictures, photographs, etc.
4. Principles for deciding infringement of copyright.
5. No infringement of copyright.
6. Absence of copyright.

1. Infringement of copyright in books.
- (1) The author of an original work has the sole right to reproduce or translate the work. Any unauthorised translation is an infringement of the copyright of the author. (1951) 55 Cal WN 713 (715).

(2) Abridgements and translations can both be infringement of a copyright. (1966) 70 Cal WN 1130.

(3) Publication of other name in place of real author — No express or implied authorisation by author — Publication amounts to infringement of copyright by publisher. 1968 Ker LJ 440 = (1969) 1 Lab LJ 323.

- (ii) permits for profit any place to be used for the performance of the work in public where such performance constitutes an infringement of the copyright in the work unless he was not aware and had no reasonable ground for believing that such performance would be an infringement of copyright, or
- (b) when any person—
 - (i) makes for sale or hire, or sells or lets for hire, or by way of trade displays or offers for sale or hire, or
 - (ii) distributes either for the purpose of trade or to such an extent as to affect prejudicially the owner of the copyright, or
 - (iii) by way of trade exhibits in public, or
 - (iv) imports (except for the private and domestic use of the importer) into India, any infringing copies of the work.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section, the reproduction of a literary, dramatic, musical or artistic work in the form of a cinematograph film shall be deemed to be an “infringing copy”.

[1914 — Sch. I, S. 2.] [Cf. S. 17 of Canada Copyright Act, 1952; S. 5 of Copyright Act, 1956 (United Kingdom); and S. 5 of Copyright Act, 1913 (1913, No. 4) (New Zealand).]

OBJECTS AND REASONS

“This clause has been amended so as to make it clear that a contravention of any condition of a licence shall also be an infringement of copyright. . . . An Explanation has been added in respect of a cinematograph film which is otherwise excluded from the definition of ‘infringing copy’ in clause 2 (1).”—J. C. R.

Section 51 — Note 1 (contd.)

(4) A copyright in a work shall be deemed to be infringed only when anything is done without the consent of the owner of the copyright. (1968) 1 Andh Pra WR 323 = (1968) 2 Andh LT 71.

(5) Where a person has copyright in a literary work, and any other person produces or reproduces the work or any substantial part thereof in any material form he is committing an infringement of copyright. AIR 1964 Mad 331 (332) = (1964) 1 Mad LJ 431 (DB).

(6) Clause (a) of Section 51 makes it an infringement of copyright if any person does anything, the exclusive right to do which is conferred by the Copyright Act upon the owner of the copyright. 1969 BLJR 12 (DB).

(7) Infringement of a copyright can be complained of only if the exclusive right to do any act conferred upon the owner of the copyright has been infringed. (1966) 1 Andh WR 473 = ILR (1967) Andh Pra 1385.

(8) If a defendant, who is undoubtedly at liberty to draw upon common sources of information, saved himself the trouble and labour requisite for collecting that information by adopting the plaintiff's work in general plan, style and arrangement with colourable variation, he is guilty of infringement of plaintiff's copyright even though the plaintiff's work is based on materials which are common property. (1935) 61 Cal L Jour 573 (575) (DB).

(8-A) Reproduction of the “Golden Treasury of Poems”, wherein the chronological order was changed, some additional matter was added, such as short biography of the poets, a mass of notes and other critical and explanatory matter, was held to be infringement of copyright of the original book. (1890) ILR 17 Cal 951 (961, 962).

(9) When in a book published by the defendant, not only references of significance are copied from the plaintiff's book, but there is absolute identity of information and language that it appears that the work of the defendant is a copy of the plaintiff's in a high degree, the plaintiff is entitled to succeed in an action for infringement of copyright. (1922) 67 Ind Cas 983 (984) (Lah).

(10) Verbatim copying of head-notes or marginal notes inserted in digest of cases — Copyright is infringed. (1855) 24 LJCP 175 (181).

(11) Telegraphic code word book substantially copied for private use — Copyright is infringed. (1884) 26 Ch D 637 (643).

(12) A's work translated into German — B retranslating it into English — Copyright is infringed. (1853) 22 LJ Ch 457 (464).

Section 51 — Note 1 (contd.)

(13) Music broadcasts diffused in factory by means of loudspeakers — Act is performance in public and an infringement of the performing rights in such pieces. (1943) 1 All ER 413 (417, 418).

(14) Milton's poems with Dr. Newton's notes published with the addition of some commentary — Copyright was infringed. (1818) 36 ER 1017 (1020).

(15) Though there can be nothing to prevent a person from publishing a work like a Court calendar, the making of a verbatim copy of another work without the application of original labour can be restrained. (1809) 33 ER 987 (988).

(16) Tables of information in a diary reproduced without making enquiry about the existence of copyright — Copyright is infringed. (1943) 1 All ER 322 (327).

(17) Where the person copied only those portions which were essential for the narration of the story, and the method adopted was to incorporate the language of the original to narrate the story, leaving out those portions which constituted what might be termed purple patches in the work.

Held, that a substantial part of the work had been reproduced so as to constitute an infringement. AIR 1959 Mad 410 (425).

2. Infringement of copyright under Section 51 (b). — (1) When a local body authorised infringement of a musical piece, and the profits made thereby were used for the relief of the rate payers, it was held that the local body was acting for private profit within the meaning of Section 2 (3) of the Act of 1914. AIR 1930 PC 314 (318).

(2) When a person sold the right to publish a number of songs composed by him, to one person and subsequently to another. It was held that the first purchaser acquired an exclusive right to publish the songs and anyone publishing them without his consent will be infringing his copyright. AIR 1920 Mad 529 (531) (DB).

(3) The language of Section 2 is wide enough to include not only a sale of the copyright by a person not entitled to sell the same but also an attempt to sell the same. Accordingly, an advertisement by the defendant claiming a right in copyright which was owned by the plaintiff and offering to sell the same constitute an infringement of the right. AIR 1945 All 55 (57) = ILR (1945) All 20.

(4) An infringement takes place not only when a book is reprinted but also when a book, in respect of which a copyright exists, is sold. There is a fresh cause of action in every sale of the book. AIR 1934 All 922 (927) (DB).

(5) An advertisement for sale in a newspaper or Journal amounts to "offer for sale" within meaning of that expression in Section 51 (b) (i). AIR 1969

Bom 302 (308, 309) = 1969 Cri LJ 1109 = 71 Bom LR 409.

(6) The "offer to sale" could be deemed to have been made at every place where a Journal in which the advertisement for sale is given, is either published or reaches by way of circulation. Hence the offence contemplated by Section 51 (b) (i) must be deemed to have been committed at such places. AIR 1969 Bom 302 (308, 309) = 1969 Cri LJ 1109 = 71 Bom LR 409.

3. Infringement of copyright in pictures, photographs, etc. — (1) Proprietor of copyright in two paintings entering description of the same under Section 4 of Fine Arts Copyright Act (25 and 26 Vict., C. 68) — Person making and selling photographic copies of the same, held, would be convicted under Section 6 of the same Act. (1868) 3 QB 387 (395).

(2) Cartoons copied, some with and some without descriptive writing — Object of larger work containing copies of the cartoons same as that of the originals — Copyright is infringed. (1873) 8 Ex Ch 1 (7).

(3) A photograph of a lion reproduced in posters with minor change — Held, there had been an infringement of copyright. (1898) 14 TLR 550 (550, 551).

(4) Picture of winged female kneeling on a rock and looking into the water below, reproduced in a magazine without the background and the wings — Copyright, held, was infringed. (1905) 74 LJ Ch 304 (309).

(5) In deciding whether there is an infringement of copyright in pictures, the question is whether the offending pictures are copies of substantial portions of the copyright pictures. The figures may have been reduced in the offending pictures and slight modifications may have been introduced or the clothes and colours may have been different but it is sufficient if the main figures have an identical pose. AIR 1928 Cal 359 (360) = 30 Cri L Jour 16  AIR 1967 Mad 381 (389, 390) = ILR (1964) 2 Mad 666 (DB)  AIR 1961 Mad 111 (113) = (1960) 1 Mad LJ 53 (DB).

(6) A copy is that which comes so near to the original as to suggest that original to the mind of every person seeing it. AIR 1961 Mad 111 (112) = (1960) 1 Mad LJ 53 (DB).

(7) An infringement could only come into existence where the defendant's work was taken from the plaintiff's work. In deciding this question, there need not be an exact reproduction to support the inference that the defendant's work was taken from the plaintiff's work. AIR 1961 Mad 111 (114) = (1960) 1 Mad LJ 53 (DB). (1895 AC 20, Foll.)

(8) Where impression created is that basically and in substance one picture is a reproduction of the other, further modifications or variations will not alter effect of infringement. AIR 1967 Mad 381 (389, 390) = ILR (1964) 2 Mad 666 (DB).

(9) A bad copy does not cease to be a copy. If the Court, on a consideration of all the relevant circumstances and a comparison of the plaintiffs' picture and the infringing pictures comes to the conclusion that the defendants' picture was consciously copied from the work of the plaintiff, that would be sufficient to hold that copyright is infringed. AIR 1967 Mad 381 (390) = ILR (1964) 2 Mad 666 (DB).

4. Principles for deciding infringement of copyright. — (1) In order to constitute an infringement of copyright, there must be a substantial infringement of the work. Fair dealing with any work has been kept out of the mischief of the Copyright Act. AIR 1954 All 570 (574) = ILR (1954) 1 All 289.

(2) The Court should be reluctant to sit as an expert to decide the question of infringement of copyright without the aid of the expert evidence. But in a case capable of construction, the Court should exercise a prima facie judgment upon it. The proper course, in ordinary circumstance, in such cases is to get the opinion of such experts who may be appointed as Commissioners to investigate and report on the matters in issue. AIR 1924 Cal 595 (597).

(3) Although one has the same right to the words of the English and Tamil languages, as any other, still a man is not allowed to appropriate for himself the arrangement, sequence, order, idiom, etc., employed by another using his brains, skill and labour. AIR 1955 Mad 391 (394).

(4) The sameness of the thing delineated must produce similarity in delineation. The mere fact of resemblance is not in itself evidence of piracy where subject dealt with is the same. AIR 1954 All 570 (576) = ILR (1954) 1 All 289.

(5) The test to detect piracy is to see whether mistakes and deviations occurring in the original also have been reproduced. AIR 1945 Bom 51 (53).

(6) Infringement comes in only when it can be shown that some one has instead of utilizing the available sources for originaling his work appropriated the labours of another's work by a slavish copy or colourable imitation thereof. The 'animus furandi', the intention to take from another for purpose of saving labour is one of the important ingredients of infringement. AIR 1954 All 570 (577) = ILR (1954) 1 All 289  (1890) ILR 17 Cal 951 (960, 961).

(7) The question whether there has been an infringement of copyright depends on whether a colourable imitation has been made. Whether a work is a colourable imitation of another is a question of fact. Similarity is a great point to be considered but mere similarity is not enough. A conglomeration of similarities which cannot be mere coincidence is evidence of infringement. AIR 1931 Cal 233 (236) (DB).

(8) In deciding whether a book is a copy of another the external and internal features of the books should be looked into. The 'get up' and overall scope of the book form the external features while the general lay out and manner of treatment of the subject-matter and the amount of material contained in the book form the internal feature. AIR 1954 All 570 (577) = ILR (1954) 1 All 289.

(9) In an action for breach of copyright intrinsic evidence to be derived from comparison of the two literary works must be of a most cogent force, though it may be sufficient and accepted in the face of direct evidence pointing the other way. Much stress cannot be laid upon the actual coincidences in two works by different authors in respect of the plan, scheme, phraseal identities and similar mistakes while deciding upon the question of infringement when such evidence can be explained on basis of authors having recourse to common source. AIR 1933 PC 26 (28, 29).

(10) Law restraining human enterprise should be liberally construed and therefore Copyright Act cannot be interpreted so as to shut out research and scholarship. AIR 1934 Lah 777 (781) = 16 Lah 103 (DB).

(11) In a suit for injunction for infringement of plaintiff's copyright in his almanac it was found that tables given in parties' almanacs agreed except in minutes and second, that calculations were admittedly worked out on "makrand" that there were other almanacs resembling that of defendants: Held, that these findings were not sufficient to establish infringement, and that in previous years defendants purchased information for their almanacs from plaintiff did not affect the case. Weakness of defence does not compensate for want of proof of plaintiff's allegations. 1910 Pun LR No. 95, p. 273 (274, 275).

(12) The burden lies on the plaintiff to satisfy the Court that the defendant had infringed his copyright. AIR 1954 All 570 (577) = ILR (1954) 1 All 289.

(13) Innocence is no defence to a charge of infringement under Section 2 (1) of the 1914 Act — Offence is complete even if the offender authorises infringement innocently. AIR 1930 PC 314 (317).

(14) Proviso (iv) to Section 2 (1) of the 1914 Act allows only two passages from the works of the same author and not two poems out of each of many works published by the same author separately. AIR 1933 All 474 (476) = 55 All 564 (DB).

Section 51 — Note 4 (contd.)

(15) The effect of defendant's publication as a competitor with plaintiff's work is only one of factors for ascertaining whether reproduction is substantial. AIR 1959 Mad 410 (425).

(16) An infringement of copyright is in the nature of an invasion of a right to property and therefore the intention of the infringer is immaterial provided there is infringement. AIR 1959 Mad 410 (424).

(17) To be liable for infringement of copyright defendant must have made substantial use of form in which original thought or information is expressed. AIR 1967 Ker 234 (235) = 1967 Cri LJ 1517 (2) = 1967 Ker LT 1110.

(18) In order to be actionable the infringement must be a colourable imitation of the originals with the purpose of deriving profits. AIR 1965 J and K 101 (101) = 1965 (2) Cri LJ 639 = 1965 Kash LJ 219 (DB).

(19) Infringement is not avoided by the fact that, in a subsequent publication or by performance, only part of copyrighted musical composition was appropriated. It is to be found as a fact whether the appropriation is insignificant or substantial. (1969) BLJR 12 (DB).

(20) In order to constitute infringement there should be direct or indirect use of those features of the plaintiff's work in which copyright subsists. The conclusion must depend really on the effect produced upon the mind by a study of the picture, and of that which is alleged to be a copy of it or at least of its design. AIR 1961 Mad 114 (119) = (1962) 1 Mad LJ 258 (DB).

(21) For determination of the question of infringement of copyright, the result and not the intention is relevant. 1969 BLJR 12 (DB).

(22) In the case of rights created by statute which prescribes the scope of the right and defines the purposes for which substantial parts of copyright works might be reproduced, a custom or usage according to which whenever the University or other educational authorities prescribe as a text book any classical work or an original literary work, publishers prepare guide books in relation to such text books for enabling the students to master the prescribed texts, would be inadmissible as being in contravention of the statute. AIR 1959 Mad 410 (429). ((1892) 3 Ch 489, Rel. on.)

(23) If there were an abstraction of something of value to an appreciable degree, it is immaterial whether the copying is or is not likely to compete with the copyright work. AIR 1959 Mad 410 (428).

(24) If there were a motive to compete, it would render the dealing 'unfair' but if the works were not intended to compete, this would not set at rest all questions concerning 'fair dealing' substantial and vital parts of the works are reproduced the intention to appropriate to the infringer the labour of others for his own profit is made out and there need not be proof of any independent oblique motive. AIR 1959 Mad 410 (428).

5. No infringement of copyright. —

(1) When a party submitted along with a tender for contract a plan for the proposed construction, it was held that the plan is an original literary work under Copyright Act. But the plan as an original literary work would not be infringed if the construction is carried out by others according to another plan though the latter plan is a copy of the former in essential features. ILR (1956) Mad 1347 (1353, 1360).

(2) The Court will not interfere where the value of the extract taken for the purpose of criticism is very minute and trifling. (1839) 8 LJ Ch 141 (142).

(3) Similarity in two dramatic works due to coincidence, both works being derived independently from common stock of dramatic ideas — There is no infringement of copyright. (1911) 28 TLR 69 (72).

(4) No appreciable likeness of words in two plays — Likeness of stage situation and scenic effect ought not to be taken into consideration. (1908) 77 LJKB 577 (582).

(5) Where, both the plaintiff and the defendant have stolen from a foreign book written and published in a foreign country and there was no link between the work of the plaintiff and that of the defendant, and the defendant has not availed himself in any way of the pain and labour employed by the plaintiff, there is no infringement of copyright. (1951) 55 Cal WN 713 (716).

(6) A producing a foreign drama but introducing two scenes of his own — B producing same foreign drama with A's scenes included: Held, in the circumstances of the case, there was no infringement of copyright. (1878) 3 App Cas 483 (499).

(7) Prima facie, an abridgment of a work was not, upto the year 1914, an infringement of copyright, if an abridgment was a fair and bona fide one and did not amount to reprinting of the work of the author. But the position seems now to have been considerably changed in view of the wider language employed in the Act of 1914. Now in order to decide whether a fair abridgment of the original work is or is not an infringement of copyright the test is whether or not it is a reproduction of the work or substantial part of it in any material form whatsoever. It may be that upto a certain limit when an abridgment is not more than a mere short synopsis index to other work there would be no infringement. On the other hand, when an abridgment is on such an extensive

52. Certain acts not to be infringement of copyright.—(1) The following acts shall not constitute an infringement of copyright, namely:—

(a) a fair dealing with a literary, dramatic, musical or artistic work for the purposes of—

(i) research or private study ;

(ii) criticism or review, whether of that work or of any other work;

scale as to amount to a reproduction of a substantial part of the original work in a material form, it would undoubtedly be an infringement of copyright. AIR 1934 All 922 (924, 925) (DB).

(8) In the following English cases decided before 1914, it was held that a fair abridgment of the original work does not constitute infringement of copyright. (1801) 31 ER 817 (817). (Abridgment of Law Reports leaving out arguments of the counsel and some other parts is not a fair abridgment.)  (1785) ER 1235 (1235)  (1761) 27 ER 270 (271)  (1740) 26 ER 489 (490). (Colourable shortening for evading the statute cannot be called an abridgment.)

(9) Portion copied not substantial and material — Copyright is not infringed (1878) 3 App Cas 483 (498).

(10) Where the defendants had the positions put in the earlier plans by their own independent thinking unaided by the plaintiffs, even if they reverted to the original positions on seeing, the positions in plan of the plaintiffs and on realising that the original positions were better, they would not be infringing the copyright of the plaintiffs in their plan by doing so, as they were only going back to their own original positions and not stealing anything from the product of the plaintiffs' brains, industry and money. ILR (1956) Mad 1347 (1362, 1363) (DB).

(11) Pictorial album is not a book—Copying title of such album ("castle album") is no infringement of copyright. (1886) 33 Ch D 546 (550).

(12) Adopting title of a musical composition to a talkie film does not constitute an infringement of the performing rights in the composition where not a word of the composition is repeated in the film. AIR 1940 PC 55 (57).

(13) New book produced by author after further studies and research — Fresh incidents and details, taken from works published before as well as after book, copyright of which alleged to be infringed — No infringement of copyright held committed. AIR 1934 Lah 777 (780) = 16 Lah 103 (DB).

(14) Broken and detached fragments from a literary work consisting of six pages out of forty for criticism — There is no infringement of copyright. (1817) 36 ER 679 (681).

(15) Where the character and substantial part of the plot of the film and the drama are historical, though there may be some similarity no infringement can be alleged. AIR 1967 Assam 70 (73, 74) =

ILR (1966) 18 Assam 272 (DB).

(16) Mere making of an infringing copy or an infringing work is not made by itself an offence under Section 51 (b) (i). It is the making for sale or hire that is an offence. AIR 1969 Bom 302 (308) = 1969 Cri LJ 1109 = 71 Bom LR 409.

(17) Note, on the books prescribed by the university, published as guides to students, amounted to criticism or review of the original books and there was no infringement of copyright under Section 51. AIR 1965 J and K 101 (101, 102) = 1965 (2) Cri LJ 639 = 1965 Kash LJ 219 (DB).

(18) Where the respondent's work was neither an abridgment, nor a piece of literary criticism in itself, but was functional in character designed to enable students to give effective answers to examination questions, the work was held not to infringe the copyright of the original writer. AIR 1964 Mad 331 (333, 334) = (1964) 1 Mad LJ 431 (DB).

6. Absence of Copyright. — (1) A person who in his book quotes from a decided case or a standard work, a passage, cannot contend that he was in effect "selecting" the passage and no one else could thereafter make the same selection — Decisions reported in Law Reports are "Common Property" of commentators on law. AIR 1954 All 570 (573) = ILR (1954) 1 All 289.

(2) List of selections of courses of study by a member of the Board of Studies of University — Publication of the list in the syllabus by the University: Held that the member retained no copyright in the selections inasmuch as when he laid the results of his skill and experience before the board and joined with the other members in preparing the syllabus for the examination he placed his labours unreservedly at the disposal of the university authorities: Held also, that when the University authorities published their syllabus they surrendered their copyright into the hands of the public. AIR 1916 All 216 (217) = 38 All 484 (DB).

(1) In order that the printer may be entitled to exemption from liability under Section 8, he must prove that he was not aware that the original from which the copy was made was the subject of copyright. The mere fact that the printer was not aware that the work printed by him was an infringement of another work or even that such other work existed, is not enough. AIR 1961 Mad 114 (120) = (1962) 1 Mad LJ 258

- (b) a fair dealing with a literary, dramatic, musical or artistic work for the purpose of reporting current events—
 - (i) in a newspaper, magazine or similar periodical, or
 - (ii) by radio-diffusion or in a cinematograph film or by means of photographs;
- (c) the reproduction of a literary, dramatic, musical or artistic work for the purpose of a judicial proceeding or for the purpose of a report of a judicial proceeding;
- (d) the reproduction or publication of a literary, dramatic, musical or artistic work in any work prepared by the Secretariat of a Legislature or, where the Legislature consists of two Houses, by the Secretariat of either House of the Legislature, exclusively for the use of the members of that Legislature;
- (e) the reproduction of any literary, dramatic or musical work in the certified copy made or supplied in accordance with any law for the time being in force;
- (f) the reading or recitation in public of any reasonable extract from a published literary or dramatic work;
- (g) the publication in collection, mainly composed of non-copyright matter, bona fide intended for the use of educational institutions, and so described in the title and in any advertisement issued by or on behalf of the publisher, of short passages from published literary or dramatic works not themselves published for the use of educational institutions, in which copyright subsists:

Provided that not more than two such passages from works by the same author are published by the same publisher during any period of five years.

Explanation.—In the case of a work of joint authorship, references in this clause to passages from works shall include references to passages from works by any one or more of the authors of those passages or by any one or more of those authors in collaboration with any other person;

(DB). (1936 KB 715; 1936 All ER 379, Applied.)

(2) In determining the applicability of the proviso two matters have to be borne in mind. The first is with reference to the purpose for which a substantial part of the copyright work is reproduced, the second with regard to manner of use pertaining to that purpose; in order to receive protection it must be fair dealing. The enumerated purposes are private study, research, criticism, review or newspaper summary. A dealing with a work for private study is such a dealing that does not involve any publication. "Research is to be most diligent protracted investigation especially for the purpose of adding to human knowledge, studious enquiry". A summary which extracts and reproduces substantial parts of the copyright work for the purpose of narrating a story is not "criticism". AIR 1959 Mad 410 (427, 428).

(3) Artist while keeping original painting in his own custody, printing copies of it and giving them and sold them to public and gave some free copies to temples for installation — Held, that would not tantamount to installing his original work in public place on analogy of sculpture kept in public square or painting hung in portrait gallery. AIR 1967 Mad 381 (388) = ILR (1964) 2 Mad 666 (DB).

(4) Exact reproduction or copy not necessary for purposes of infringement of copyright. (Reproduction of substantial Part of the work is sufficient.) AIR 1967 Mad 381 (389, 390) = ILR (1964) 2 Mad 666 (DB).

(5) Preparing or 'publishing notes on books prescribed by University falls within the exception under Section 52 (1) (a), and there is no infringement of copyright. AIR 1965 J and K 101 (102) = 1965 (2) Cri LJ 639 = 1965 Kash LJ 219 (DB).

(6) Students' guide to a novel prescribed by University for B. A. students was held to be distinctly a creation of the Respondent even if it be regarded as an abridgement of the novel, in part and in part a running commentary upon it — It was covered by the exception enacted in Section 2 (1) (i) of the 1914 Act. AIR 1964 Mad 331 (332, 335) = (1964) 1 Mad LJ 431 (DB).

- (h) the reproduction of a literary, dramatic, musical or artistic work—
 - (i) by a teacher or a pupil in the course of instruction; or
 - (ii) as part of the questions to be answered in an examination; or
 - (iii) in answers to such questions;
- (i) the performance, in the course of the activities of an educational institution, of a literary, dramatic or musical work by the staff and students of the institution, or of a cinematograph film or a record, if the audience is limited to such staff and students, the parents and guardians of the students and persons directly connected with the activities of the institution;

Provided that in making the records such person shall not make any alterations in, or omissions from, the work, unless records recording the work subject to similar alterations and omissions have been previously made by, or with the licence or consent of, the owner of the copyright or unless such alterations and omissions are reasonably necessary for the adaptation of the work to the records in question;
- (k) the causing of a recording embodied in a record to be heard in public by utilising the record,—

Provided that where the identity of the author of any such work or, in the case of a work of joint authorship, of any of the authors is known to the library, museum or other institution, as the case may be, the provisions of this clause shall apply only if such reproduction is made at the time more than fifty years from the date of the death of the author or, in the case of a work of joint authorship, from the death of the author whose identity is known or, if the identity of more authors than one is known from the death of such of those authors who dies last;

(q) the reproduction or publication of—

- (i) any matter which has been published in any Official Gazette except an Act of a Legislature;
- (ii) any Act of a Legislature subject to the condition that such Act is reproduced or published together with any commentary thereon or any other original matter;

(r) the production or publication of a translation in any Indian language of an Act of a Legislature and of any rules or orders made thereunder—

- (i) if no translation of such Act or rules or orders in that language has previously been produced or published by the Government; or
- (ii) where a translation of such Act or rules or orders in that language has been produced or published by the Government, if the translation is not available for sale to the public;

Provided that such translation contains a statement at a prominent place to the effect that the translation has not been authorised or accepted as authentic by the Government;

(s) the making or publishing of a painting, drawing, engraving or photograph of an architectural work of art;

(t) the making or publishing of a painting, drawing, engraving or photograph of a sculpture, or other artistic work falling under sub-clause (iii) of cl. (c) of Section 2, if such work is permanently situate in a public place or any premises to which the public has access;

(u) the inclusion in a cinematograph film of —

- (i) any artistic work permanently situate in a public place or any premises to which the public has access; or
- (ii) any other artistic work, if such inclusion is only by way of background or is otherwise incidental to the principal matters represented in the film;

(v) the use by the author of an artistic work, where the author of such work is not the owner of the copyright therein, of any mould, cast, sketch, plan, model or study made by him for the purpose of the work:

Provided that he does not thereby repeat or imitate the main design of the work;

(w) the making of an object of any description in three dimensions of an artistic work in two dimensions, if the object would not appear, to persons, who are not experts in relation to objects of that description, to be a reproduction of the artistic work;

(x) the reconstruction of a building or structure in accordance with the architectural drawings or plans by reference to which the building or structure was originally constructed;

Provided that the original construction was made with the consent or licence of the owner of the copyright in such drawings and plans;

(y) in relation to a literary, dramatic or musical work recorded or reproduced in any cinematograph film, the exhibition of such film after the expiration of the term of copyright therein:

Provided that the provisions of sub-clause (ii) of clause (a), sub-clause (i) of clause (b) and clauses (d), (f), (g), (m) and (p) shall not apply as respects any act unless that act is accompanied by an acknowledgment—

(i) identifying the work by its title or other description; and

(ii) unless the work is anonymous or the author of the work has previously agreed or required that no acknowledgment of his name should be made, also identifying the author.

(2) The provisions of sub-section (1) shall apply to the doing of any act in relation to the translation of a literary, dramatic or musical work or the adaptation of a literary, dramatic, musical or artistic work as they apply in relation to the work itself.

[1914—Sch. I, S. 2; S. 19 (2).] [Cf. Ss. 6, 7, 8 and 9 of Copyright Act, 1956 (United Kingdom).]

OBJECTS AND REASONS

“This clause has been revised and expanded so as to include all acts which will not constitute an infringement of copyright. The important additions made are the following:—

- (1) the reproduction or publication of any literary, dramatic, musical or artistic work in any work prepared by the Secretariat of a Legislature for the exclusive use of the members of that Legislature; [S. 52 (1) (d)]
- (2) the making of records of a literary, dramatic or musical work, if records of such work had previously been made with the licence of the owner of the copyright in the work; [S. 52 (1) (j)]
- (3) the production, reproduction, performance or publication of a translation in any Indian language of an Indian work after the expiry of a period of ten years from the date of the first publication of the work; [now see S. 32] and
- (4) the reproduction, publication or translation of certain classes of Government works [S. 52 (1) (q).]

The first addition is necessary because the Secretariats of the Rajya Sabha and Lok Sabha often produce brochures or pamphlets taking copyright matter (presumably the same practice prevails in the State Legislatures also) for the use of members of Parliament. The addition is intended to give protection to such brochures or pamphlets.

The second addition is the result of the omission of the original cl. 30. The Committee feels that no licence should be required for making records of a work if records of the work had previously been made with the licence of the owner of the copyright in the work.

The third addition replaces the original cl. 31. [But now see S. 32.]

So far as the fourth addition is concerned, the Committee feels that certain classes of Government works should be in the public domain. The following classes of Government works have been placed in the public domain:—

- (i) any matter published in the Official Gazette;
- (ii) Acts of Legislatures, subject to the condition that any such Act is reproduced or published together with any commentary thereon or any other original matter;
- (iii) reports of committees, etc., appointed by the Government if such report has been laid on the Table of the Legislature, unless the reproduction or publication of the report is prohibited by a competent authority;
- (iv) reproduction of any judgment or order of a Court, Tribunal or other judicial authority unless such reproduction or publication is prohibited by the Court, Tribunal or other judicial authority as the case may be.”—J. C. R.

53. Importation of infringing copies.—(1) The Registrar of Copyrights, on application by the owner of the copyright in any work or by his duly authorised agent and on payment of the prescribed fee, may, after making such inquiry as he deems fit, order that copies made out of India of the work which if made in India would infringe copyright shall not be imported.

(2) Subject to any rules made under this Act, the Registrar of Copyrights or any person authorised by him in this behalf may enter any ship, dock or premises where any such copies as are referred to in sub-section (1) may be found and may examine such copies.

(3) All copies to which any order made under sub-section (1) applies shall be deemed to be goods of which the import has been prohibited or restricted under Section 19 of the Sea Customs Act, 1878,* and all the provisions of that Act shall have effect accordingly :

Provided that all such copies confiscated under the provisions of the said Act shall not vest in the Government but shall be delivered to the owner of the copyright in the work.

[1914—S. 6 and Sch. I, S. 14.] [Cf. S. 21 of Copyright Act, 1913 (1913, No. 4) (New Zealand): Ss. 5 and 41 of the Copyright Act, 1956 (United Kingdom).]

CHAPTER XII CIVIL REMEDIES

54. Definition.—For the purposes of this Chapter, unless the context otherwise requires, the expression “owner of copyright” shall include—

(a) an exclusive licensee;

(b) in the case of an anonymous or pseudonymous literary, dramatic, musical or artistic work, the publisher of the work, until the identity of the author or, in the case of an anonymous work of joint authorship, or a work of joint authorship published under names all of which are pseudonyms, the identity of any of the authors, is disclosed publicly by the author and the publisher or is otherwise established to the satisfaction of the Copyright Board by that author or his legal representatives.

55. Civil remedies for infringement of copyright.—(1) Where copyright in any work has been infringed, the owner of the copyright shall, except as otherwise provided by this Act, be entitled to all such remedies by way of injunction, damages, accounts and otherwise as are or may be conferred by law for the infringement of a right:

Section 54 — Note 1

(1) Right of author in drama not assigned to society claiming the drama — Society is not the owner nor the licensee and cannot maintain a suit for its infringement. AIR 1967 Assam 70 (73) = ILR (1966) 18 Assam 272 (DB).

(2) Once the original authors of the books allowed the books to be published by the university in their syllabus and the university in turn published these books as part of the syllabus prescribed for the students, no copyright in the strict sense of the term remained with the university. AIR 1965 J and K 101

SECTION 55 — SYNOPSIS

1. Civil remedies.
2. Onus of proof.
3. Injunctions.
4. Who can sue.

1. Civil remedies. — (1) The rights conferred upon the owner of copyright by Sections 6 and 7 are based on different grounds. Under Section 6 he has the usual remedies available where a similar right of property is infringed and can recover damages for the loss sustain-

Provided that if the defendant proves that at the date of the infringement he was not aware and had no reasonable ground for believing that copyright subsisted in the work, the plaintiff shall not be entitled to any remedy other than an injunction in respect of the infringement and a decree for the whole or part of the profits made by the defendant by the sale of the infringing copies as the Court may in the circumstances deem reasonable.

(2) Where, in the case of a literary, dramatic, musical or artistic work, a name purporting to be that of the author or the publisher, as the case may be, appears on copies of the work as published, or, in the case of an artistic work, appeared on the work when it was made, the person whose name so appears or appeared shall, in any proceeding in respect of infringement of copyright in such work, be presumed, unless the contrary is proved, to be the author or the publisher of the work, as the case may be.

(3) The costs of all parties in any proceedings in respect of the infringement of copyright shall be in the discretion of the Court.

[1914—Sch I, S. 6; S. 8.] [Cf. S. 9 of Copyright Act, 1913 (1913 No. 4) (New Zealand); S. 17 of Copyright Act, 1956 (United Kingdom).]

OBJECTS AND REASONS

"The Proviso to sub-clause (1) has been revised so as to empower the Court to grant to the plaintiff in addition to an injunction a decree for the whole or a part of the profits made by the infringer as the Court may deem reasonable. Incidentally, the words "that the plaintiff was the owner of the copyright" which occurred in the original Proviso have been omitted. A new sub-clause (2) has been added to raise certain presumptions about the authorship or the publisher of a literary, dramatic, musical or artistic work". — J. C. R.

ed by infringement or if he prefers payment of the profits resulting from the piracy. Under Section 7 he has an action of detinue in respect of unsold infringing copies and plates which by virtue of the section are deemed to be his own property and an action for conversion in respect of such infringing copies and plates as may have been sold, and further the measure of damages for conversion under Section 7 is not limited to profits but extends to the full value of the work converted. AIR 1931 Cal 233 (237, 238)  (1918) 2 Ch 281 (284, 285).

(2) Section 6 deals with remedies legal and equitable, appropriate to the infringement of the incorporeal right of copyright defined by Section 1, sub-section (2) of the Copyright Act. AIR 1957 Punj 161 (163).

(3) Though remedies given by Ss. 6 and 7 are not alternative yet owner of copyright getting damages under S. 6 is not generally entitled to damages under Section 7. AIR 1938 Lah 173 (175) = ILR (1938) Lah 84 (DB).

(4) Where in a case of infringement of copyright the plaintiff asked for damages under Section 6 on the footing of the loss sustained and in the alternative under Section 7 for the delivery of the unsold infringing copies and damages on the footing of conversion in respect of the infringing copies sold, and the Court awarded damages under Section 6 and also decreed delivery of the unsold copies—Held, that the plaintiff could not claim damages under S. 7 also. AIR 1931 Cal 233 (238) (DB).

(5) The plaintiff is entitled to an account and payment of net profits. (1857) 69 ER 1241 (1242).

(6) Where infringed copies are sold by the defendants they are entitled to all expenses necessarily and properly incurred by them in selling the infringed copies. AIR 1957 Punj 161 (163).

(7) (Obiter):— When there was no contract entered into with the plaintiffs by the defendants regarding the construction of work costing one crore, damages for infringement of the plan cannot be assessed on damages for breach of a non-existing contract, damages for such infringement differ from case to case. Held, that in India, Rs. 5,000 will be the very utmost which can be thought of as damages even if there was an infringement of the plaintiff's copyright in their plan as a literary work. ILR (1956) Mad 1347 (1366) (DB).

(8) Where copyright in a work has been infringed, the owner of the copyright shall be entitled to all such remedies by way of injunction or interdict, damages, accounts, and otherwise, as are or may be conferred by law for the infringement of a right. The proper remedy for the author is to pursue that allowed to him by a civil suit. The owner is not entitled to a writ under Art. 226 against the person alleged to have infringed the copyright to prohibit and prevent him from publishing and selling any copies of the infringing work. AIR 1952 Trav-Co 38 (40).

(9) Defendant pleading that he had no reasonable ground for suspecting infringement should prove it affirmatively. AIR 1930 PC 314 (317).

(10) Complaint that certain books were translations of complainant's books — It is a matter for Court to compare them and find out whether they are substantial translations of complainant's books — But when a civil suit is pending in respect of very same matter, Criminal Court will not give finding on that matter. AIR 1967 Ker 234 (235) = 1967 Cri LJ 1517 (2) = 1967 Ker LT 1110.

(11) The bar of limitation is against an action for an infringement of copyright after three years but each infringement gives rise to a fresh cause of action. The copyright itself cannot cease to belong to its owner. AIR 1962 All 111 (114).

(12) For exemption under the Proviso to Section 55 (1) the defendant must discharge the burden of proving that at the date of the infringement he was not aware and had no reasonable ground for suspecting that copyright subsisted in the work. Where the defendant believed that he and not the plaintiff was the owner of copyright it cannot be said that he did not suspect that any copyright existed and hence is not entitled to the benefit of the proviso to Section 55 (1). 1968 Ker LJ 440 = (1969) 1 Lab LJ 323.

(13) Copyright is a right of property and any injury caused to such right will give rise to a claim for damages. (Copyright Act (1911), Ss. 6, 7). AIR 1961 Mad 114 (121) = (1962) 1 Mad LJ 258 (DB).

(14) Section 6 (1) in general terms confers on the owner of the copyright the remedy by way of damages as may be conferred by the law for the infringement of a right. Section 7 deals with the remedies based on conversion. It is two-fold in its scope. It gives the right to the owner of the copyright to take proceedings for the recovery of the possession of all the infringing copies. It also confers on him a right to take proceedings in respect of the conversion of such copies. AIR 1961 Mad 114 (121) = (1962) 1 Mad LJ 258 (DB).

(15) The foundations of the claims under Sections 6 and 7 respectively are different. Damages under Section 6 are claimed for infringement of copyright which is an incorporeal right in property — Damages claimed under Section 7 are on the basis of conversion of goods, which are deemed to be the property of the plaintiff — There should not be overlapping in the assessment of damages. AIR 1961 Mad 114 (121) = (1962) 1 Mad LJ 258 (DB).

(16) In the case of infringement of the Government's copyright, the Government, as owners of copyright are entitled to the civil remedies enumerated under Section 6 of the Copyright Act as applicable to India. But there is no provision of law under which the Government are entitled to demand unconditional apology for the infringement of the copyright. AIR 1959 All 492 (493) = 1959 Cri LJ 929 = 1959 All LJ 359.

2. Onus of proof. — (1) Action for infringement of copyright — Onus of proof — It is not for the defendant to prove that there was no infringement — The onus is upon the plaintiffs to prove that in fact there was. AIR 1939 Bom 347 (349) = ILR (1939) Bom 295.

(2) There was provision in Section 3 of the Copyright Act of 1847 that a certificate of the entry in the Copyright Register Book was prima facie evidence of the proprietorship of the person mentioned therein to the copyright of the book in question. That provision has been repealed by the Act of 1914. AIR 1916 Mad 1015 (1016) = 16 Cri LJ 673.

(3) An irrebuttable presumption arises that an alleged work is a work in which copyright exists and that the plaintiff is the owner of it where the defendant does not dispute the existence of the copyright. AIR 1924 Cal 595 (595).

(4) The defendant should allege ignorance in respect of the existence of the copyright and prove it to come within the provisions of Section 8 of the 1914 Act. AIR 1939 Bom 347 (351) = ILR (1939) Bom 295.

3. Injunctions. — (1) Since one of the remedies available for the infringement of a copyright is by way of injunction the precise rule of law contained in Section 56 of the Specific Relief Act cannot in any way interfere with the discretion of the Court in regard to the grant of temporary injunction thereunder. AIR 1931 Lah 624 (625).

(2) Where a person publishes a book containing selections from another book there is a prima facie case for issue of temporary injunction. AIR 1935 Lah 282 (283).

(3) In order to justify the grant of temporary injunction in an action by the plaintiff restraining the defendant from infringing his copyright it is not necessary for the plaintiff to make out a strong case and show that there is no other remedy open to him by which he can protect himself from the consequence of the injury. Injunction in such a case is an appropriate relief. In doubtful cases where the question as to legal right is one on which the Court is not prepared to pass an opinion, or the legal right being admitted the fact of its violation is denied, the course of the Court is either to grant the injunction pending the trial of the legal right or to order the motion

56. Protection of separate rights.—Subject to the provisions of this Act, where the several rights comprising the copyright in any work are owned by different persons, the owner of any such right shall, to the extent of that right, be entitled to the remedies provided by this Act and may individually enforce such right by means of any suit, action or other proceeding without making the owner of any other right a party to such suit, action or proceeding.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

“This clause provides that the author or any other owner of copyright or any person deriving any right, title or interest in the copyright by assignment or otherwise may individually for himself and in his own name bring an action for protecting or enforcing his rights.”—S. O. R.

57. Author's special rights.—(1) Independently of the author's copyright, and even after the assignment either wholly or partially of the said copyright, the author of a work shall have the right to claim the authorship of the work as well as the right to restrain, or claim damages in respect of—

- (a) any distortion, mutilation or other modification of the said work; or
- (b) any other action in relation to the said work which would be prejudicial to his honour or reputation.

(2) The right conferred upon an author of a work by sub-section (1), other than the right to claim authorship of the work, may be exercised by the legal representatives of the author.

58. Rights of owner against persons possessing or dealing with infringing copies.—All infringing copies of any work in which copyright subsists and all plates used or intended to be used for the production of such infringing copies, shall be deemed to be the property of the owner of the copyright who accordingly may take proceedings for the recovery of possession thereof or in respect of the conversion thereof:

to stand over until the legal right has been tried. In determining which of these two courses it shall adopt, the Court is governed by the consideration as to the comparative mischief or inconvenience to the parties which may arise from granting or withholding the injunction. AIR 1931 Lah 624 (626).

(4) Temporary injunction will not be granted in cases where no irreparable injury will be caused to the plaintiff by its non-issue and where the plaintiff's interest is otherwise protected. AIR 1933 Lah 448 (449).

(5) Where the publications are voluminous it is the common course to state the piracy generally and refer to particular passages of the works in argument in proof of it, and injunction if granted being granted generally. If any part is shown to be taken from common source it would not in fact be copied from plaintiff's work and would not fall within the terms of the injunction. (1840) 9 LJ Ch 323 (324).

(6) In an application for infringement of copyright where the Court is concerned with the minds and methods of teaching of a large section of student community it is a case for injunction. (1966) 70 Cal WN 1170.

4. Who can sue. — (1) Joint owners of copyright — One or more of them may sue on the infringement of the entire copyright, although the owners take as tenants-in-common. (1892) 3 Ch 402 (413, 414).

(2) Where there was no assignment in writing in compliance with the provisions of the Act, the Publishing House acquired no rights of publication and as such could seek no relief on that footing. (1968) 1 Andh Pra WR 323 = (1968) 2 Andh LT 71.

(3) The plaintiff whose name appears as the publishers of the text book is entitled to maintain an action for infringement of copyright. (1966) 70 Cal WN 1130.

(4) Film alleged to be infringing drama — Drama claimed by a society — Society is not its owner and hence society's suit for its infringement is not maintainable. AIR 1967 Assam 70 (73) = ILR (1966) 18 Assam 272 (DB).

Section 58 — Note 1

(1) Owner of copyright can recover unsold infringing copies and price of copies actually sold. AIR 1938 All 266 (271) = ILR (1938) All 370 (DB).

(2) In case of publishing infringed books in the absence of any mention in

Provided that the owner of the copyright shall not be entitled to any remedy in respect of the conversion of any infringing copies, if the opponent proves—

(a) that he was not aware and had no reasonable ground to believe that copyright subsisted in the work of which such copies are alleged to be infringing copies; or

(b) that he had reasonable grounds for believing that such copies or plates do not involve infringement of the copyright in any work.

[1914—Sch. I, S. 7.] [Cf. S. 10 of Copyright Act, 1913 (1913, No. 4) (New Zealand).]

59. Restriction on remedies in the case of works of architecture.—(1) Notwithstanding anything contained in the Specific Relief Act, 1877, where the construction of a building or other structure which infringes or which, if completed, would infringe the copyright in some other work has been commenced, the owner of the copyright shall not be entitled to obtain an injunction to restrain the construction of such building or structure or to order its demolition.

(2) Nothing in Section 58 shall apply in respect of the construction of a building or other structure which infringes or which, if completed, would infringe the copyright in some other work.

[1914—S. 12 and Sch. I, S. 9.] [Cf. S. 12 of Copyright Act, 1913 (1913, No. 4) (New Zealand).]

60. Remedy in the case of groundless threat of legal proceedings.—Where any person claiming to be the owner of copyright in any work, by circulars, advertisements or otherwise, threatens any other person with any legal proceedings or liability in respect of an alleged infringement of the copyright, any person aggrieved thereby may, notwithstanding anything contained in Section 42 of the Specific Relief Act, 1877,* institute a declaratory suit that the alleged infringement to which the threats related was not in fact an infringement of any legal rights of the person making such threats and may in any such suit—

(a) obtain an injunction against the continuance of such threats; and

(b) recover such damages, if any, as he has sustained by reason of such threats:

Provided that this section shall not apply if the person making such threats, with due diligence, commences and prosecutes an action for infringement of the copyright claimed by him.

[*] Now see S. 34 of Specific Relief Act, 1963 (47 of 1963) (1-3-1964).

[Note: Based on S. 41-A of the Australian Act.]

61. Owners of copyright to be party to the proceeding.—(1) In every civil suit or other proceeding regarding infringement of copyright instituted by an exclusive licensee, the owner of the copyright shall, unless the Court otherwise directs, be made a defendant and where such owner is made a defendant, he shall have the right to dispute the claim of the exclusive licensee.

the judgment regarding the time of conversion of books etc., and omission of the words "printing and publishing" in the preliminary decree for accounts concerning sale of copies of infringing works, the decree-holder is entitled to the accounts relating to sale of books only and the cost of printing and publishing is to be excluded from such accounts. AIR 1957 Punj 161 (163).

(3) Where the author has printed the book while the copyright is vested in the publisher and when it is not alleged that the marketable value of copyright has been reduced, the preliminary decree for accounts should relate to accounts for conversion. AIR 1957 Punj 161 (163).

(4) Action on infringement — Defendant in possession of some unsold copies — Plaintiff is entitled to delivery of such copies besides an injunction. (1898) 1 Ch 58 (64).

(2) Where any civil suit or other proceeding regarding infringement of copyright instituted by an exclusive licensee is successful, no fresh suit or other proceedings in respect of the same cause of action shall lie at the instance of the owner of the copyright.

62. Jurisdiction of Court over matters arising under this Chapter.—(1) Every suit or other civil proceedings arising under this Chapter in respect of the infringement of copyright in any work or the infringement of any other right conferred by this Act shall be instituted in the District Court having jurisdiction.

(2) For the purpose of sub-section (1), a "District Court having jurisdiction" shall, notwithstanding anything contained in the Code of Civil Procedure, 1908, or any other law for the time being in force, include a District Court within the local limits of whose jurisdiction, at the time of the institution of the suit or other proceeding, the person instituting the suit or other proceeding or, where there are more than one such persons, any of them actually and voluntarily resides or carries on business or personally works for gain.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

"Clause 65 of the Bill as originally introduced provided that no suit for infringement of copyright or proceeding should lie unless the copyright was registered with the Registrar of Copyrights. While omitting this provision the Joint Committee say: "Sub-clause (2) of the original clause 65 has been omitted and replaced by a new sub-clause. The Committee feels that the provisions of the original sub-clause (2) would virtually make registration of copyright compulsory and would be an undue restriction on the owner of the copyright to exercise his rights. In the opinion of the Committee many authors are deterred from instituting infringement proceedings because the Court in which such proceedings are to be instituted is situated at a considerable distance from the place of their ordinary residence. The Committee feels that this impediment should be removed and the new sub-clause (2) accordingly provides that infringements proceedings may be instituted in the District Court within the local limits of whose jurisdiction the person instituting the proceedings ordinarily resides, carries on business, etc."—J. C. R.

Section 62 — Note 1

(1) Madras City Civil Court has no jurisdiction to entertain and try any suit for infringement of a copyright. AIR 1937 Mad 94 (94).

(2) Definition of District Judge in the General clauses Act cannot be applied for finding out the jurisdiction of a District Court under S. 62. AIR 1967 Mad 381 (385) = ILR (1964) 2 Mad 666 (DB).

(3) Copyright is property, and therefore, a suit seeking reliefs for infringement of copyright is a suit of a civil nature. If such infringement occurs, and the cause of action for a suit based on the infringement arises within the area of the ordinary original civil jurisdiction of the High Court, that Court can be deemed to be a District Court as per definition in Section 2 (4) of the C. P. Code and will have power to try the suit. AIR 1967 Mad 381 (384) = ILR (1964) 2 Mad 666 (DB).

(4) Under Section 20 of the C. P. Code, it is the place where the defendant resides that gives jurisdiction to the Court. But Section 62 (2) of the Copyright Act alters this principle, and defines the place where the plaintiff resides or carries on business as the place where the suit has to be filed. It is only for the purpose of making this alteration, that Section 62 (2) of the Copyright Act uses the non obstante clause; but in other respects the C. P. Code will apply. AIR 1967 Mad 381 (385) = ILR (1964) 2 Mad 666 (DB).

(5) The terms of Section 62 specially sub-s. (2) imply that the definitions of District and District Court in the Civil P. C. will apply for purposes of determining the jurisdiction under the copyright Act. The High Court was held to have jurisdiction to try the suit (where cause of action arose in the city of Madras.) AIR 1967 Mad 381 (385) = ILR (1964) 2 Mad 666 (DB).

(6) There is a specific provision in Section 62 relating to the place of suing in a civil proceeding. AIR 1969 Bom 302 (303) = 1969 Cri LJ 1109 = 71 Bom LR 409.

CHAPTER XIII

OFFENCES

63. Offence of infringement of copyright or other rights conferred by this Act.—Any person who knowingly infringes or abets the infringement of—

(a) the copyright in a work, or

(b) any other right conferred by this Act, shall be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to one year, or with fine, or with both.

Explanation.—Construction of a building or other structure which infringes or which, if completed, would infringe the copyright in some other work shall not be an offence under this section.

[1914—S. 7.] [Cf. S. 14 of Copyright Act, 1913 (1913, No. 4) (New Zealand).]

(1) Offence described in Section 7 (a) (of the 1914 Act) is complete as soon as the book infringing the copyright is printed and does not depend for its completion upon the ensuing of any consequence as contemplated by Section 179, Criminal Procedure Code. AIR 1917 Lah 335 (336) = 1916 Pun Re No. 28 = 18 Cri LJ 353.

(2) The complainant alleged in his complaint that certain pictures were entrusted to the accused for the preparation of blocks and printing them, that he clandestinely used the said blocks for printing more pictures and that he did not return the blocks: Held, that complaint disclosed an offence under Ss. 7 and 8 (of the 1914 Act) and its dismissal on the ground that the dispute is of a civil nature could not be sustained. AIR 1942 Mad 124 (124).

(3) In complaint for infringement of copyright in respect of work published when Act XX of 1847 was in force, a plea of non-payment of the fee for registration required under the former Act as bar to the maintainability of action is not available as the procedure for payment of fees had no place in the Act of 1914. AIR 1927 Mad 981 (983) = 51 Mad 180 = 28 Cri LJ 957.

(4) Where the Court has proceeded on a wrong view of the law in acquitting the accused and where the matter is of great importance to the complainant in his position as author of the book which will be pirated by another who will secure for himself the gains that ought legitimately to go to the petitioner, a retrial should be ordered. AIR 1927 Mad 981 (983) = 51 Mad 180 = 28 Cri LJ 957.

(5) Where in a criminal prosecution the order did not disclose under which clause of Section 7 (of the 1914 Act) it was started, and the accused also had no knowledge regarding the same, it was held that the accused was not given a fair trial. AIR 1934 Pat 522 (523) = 36 Cri LJ 30.

(6) 'Knowing infringement' — Substitution of author's name and other alterations in body, made by third person — Publisher publishing work with those alterations held not shown to have knowingly violated any right conferred by Act. AIR 1965 All 274 (277) = 1965 (1) Cri LJ 672 = 1964 All WR (HC) 669.

(7) 'Knowingly infringes' the copyright has to be distinguished from knowingly publishing or printing of a work in which there is a copyright. The term publication has been defined in Section 3 of the Copyright Act and the term 'Copyright' has been defined in Section 14 of the Copyright Act quite comprehensively. In the case of publication, the definition denotes certain activities whereas the term 'Copyright' connotes certain kinds of exclusive right to do certain Act. AIR 1965 All 274 (275, 276) = 1965 (1) Cri LJ 672 = 1964 All WR (HC) 669

(8) It is purely a question of fact whether, upon fact proved the accused person could and did entertain a bona fide belief in the existence of his copyright and the proof of such belief is a sufficient answer to a case in which the law requires proof of knowledge of an infringement as a necessary ingredient of an offence. AIR 1965 All 274 (276) = 1964 All WR (HC) 669 = 1965 (1) Cri LJ 672. ((1903) 89 LT 129, Disting.)

(9) Where a person knowingly publishes and prints a work in which another person has copyright, the ingredients of mens rea required by S. 63 are not satisfied. AIR 1965 All 274 (275) = 1965 (1) Cri LJ 672 = 1964 All WR (HC) 669.

(10) What is required under Section 63 of the Copyright Act for an action in respect of an offence is that the accused

64. Power of police to seize infringing copies.—(1) Where a Magistrate has taken cognizance of any offence under Section 63 in respect of the infringement of copyright in any work, it shall be lawful for any police officer, not below the rank of Sub-Inspector, to seize without any warrant from the Magistrate, all copies of the work wherever found, which appear to him to be infringing copies of the work and all copies so seized shall, as soon as practicable, be produced before the Magistrate.

(2) Any person having an interest in any copies of a work seized under subsection (1) may, within fifteen days of such seizure, make an application to the Magistrate for such copies being restored to him and the Magistrate, after hearing the applicant and the complainant and making such further inquiry as may be necessary, shall make such order on the application as he may deem fit.

"This is a new clause which enables a police officer not below the rank of a Sub-Inspector to seize all copies of a work which appear to him to be infringing copies after a Magistrate has taken cognizance of an offence relating to infringement of copyright in such work. In the opinion of the Committee such a provision is necessary in the interest of authors and publishers particularly in cases of wholesale and deliberate acts of piracy."—J. C. R.

65. Possession of plates for purpose of making infringing copies.—Any person who knowingly makes, or has in his possession, any plate for the purpose of making infringing copies of any work in which copyright subsists shall be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to one year, or with fine, or with both. [1914—S. 8.]

66. Disposal of infringing copies or plates for purpose of making infringing copies.—The Court trying any offence under this Act may, whether the alleged offender is convicted or not, order that all copies of the work or all plates in the must have knowingly infringed or abetted the infringement of the copyright in a work, or any other right conferred by the Copyright Act. AIR 1966 Mad 175 (176) = 1966 Cri LJ 553 = (1965) 2 Mad LJ 377  AIR 1967 Ker 234 (235) = 1967 Ker LT 1110 = 1967 Cri LJ 1517 (2).

(11) Notes published on books prescribed by University did not amount to infringement of copyright to make out a criminal offence. AIR 1965 J and K 101 (102) = 1965 (2) Cri LJ 639 = 1965 Kash LJ 219 (DB).

(12) There is no specific provision in Section 63 regarding the place of suing for the commission of a criminal offence. The Criminal P. C. has to be referred to for the purpose. AIR 1969 Bom 302 (303) = 1969 Cri LJ 1109 = 71 Bom LR 409.

(13) In the case of infringement of a copyright in respect of a literary work of two joint authors, one of the authors, who is aggrieved, is entitled to maintain a criminal action for the offence. AIR 1966 Mad 175 (176) = 1966 Cri LJ 553 = (1965) 2 Mad LJ 377.

(14) The mandatory provision contained in Section 64, Copyright Act, 1957 makes the production of infringing copies necessary before the Magistrate trying the case to prove the ingredient of knowledge of infringement by accused contained in Section 63 of the Act. AIR 1965 All 206 (207, 208) = 1965 (1) Cri LJ 530 = 1963 All LJ 930.

Section 64 — Note 1

(1) The mandatory provision of Section 64 makes the production of infringing copies necessary before the Magistrate trying the case. This is necessary to prove the ingredient of knowledge of infringement by accused. It is also necessary for handing over the copies to the complainant, if the Magistrate considers it expedient to do so. AIR 1965 All 206 (207, 208) = 1965 (1) Cri LJ 530 = 1963 All LJ 930.

Section 66 — Note 1

(1) If the Magistrate trying the case under Copyright Act considers it expedient to hand over the infringing copies seized at another place from the accused, the Magistrate is justified under Section 64 to call for the infringing copies. AIR 1965 All 206 (207) = 1965 (1) Cri LJ 530 = 1963 All LJ 930.

possession of the alleged offender, which appear to it to be infringing copies or plates for the purpose of making infringing copies, be delivered up to the owner of the copyright.

[1914—S. 10 (1).]

67. Penalty for making false entries in register, etc., for producing or tendering false entries.—Any person who,—

- (a) makes or causes to be made a false entry in the Register of Copyrights kept under this Act, or
- (b) makes or causes to be made a writing falsely purporting to be a copy of any entry in such register, or
- (c) produces or tenders or causes to be produced or tendered as evidence any such entry or writing, knowing the same to be false, shall be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to one year, or with fine, or with both.

68. Penalty for making false statements for the purpose of deceiving or influencing any authority or officer.—Any person who,—

- (a) with a view to deceiving any authority or officer in the execution of the provisions of this Act, or
- (b) with a view to procuring or influencing the doing or omission of anything in relation to this Act or any matter thereunder, makes a false statement or representation knowing the same to be false, shall be punishable with imprisonment which may extend to one year, or with fine or with both.

69. Offences by companies.—(1) Where any offence under this Act has been committed by a company, every person who at the time the offence was committed was in charge of, and was responsible to the company for, the conduct of the business of the company, as well as the company shall be deemed to be guilty of such offence and shall be liable to be proceeded against and punished accordingly :

Provided that nothing contained in this sub-section shall render any person liable to any punishment, if he proves that the offence was committed without his knowledge or that he exercised all due diligence to prevent the commission of such offence.

(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1), where an offence under this Act has been committed by a company, and it is proved that the offence was committed with the consent or connivance of, or is attributable to any negligence on the part of, any director, manager, secretary or other officer of the company, such director, manager, secretary or other officer shall also be deemed to be guilty of that offence and shall be liable to be proceeded against and punished accordingly.

Explanation.—For the purposes of this section—

- (a) “company” means any body corporate and includes a firm or other association of persons; and
- (b) “director” in relation to a firm means a partner in the firm.

70. Cognizance of offences.—No Court inferior to that of a Presidency Magistrate or a Magistrate of the First Class shall try any offence under this Act.

[1914 — S. 11.]

Section 69 — Note 1

(1) Criminal complaint under the Copyright Act is maintainable in law against the partners of a firm as well as the firm itself in its trade name as accused persons. AIR 1969 Bom 302 (309) — 1969 Cri LJ 1109 = 71 Bom LR 409.

CHAPTER XIV

Appeals against certain orders of Magistrate.—Any person aggrieved by an order made under sub-section (2) of Section 64 or Section 66 may, within thirty days of the date of such order, appeal to the Court to which appeals from the Court making the order ordinarily lie, and such appellate Court may direct that execution of the order be stayed pending disposal of the appeal.

[1914 — S. 10 (2).]

72. Appeals against orders of Registrar of Copyrights and Copyright Board.—(1) Any person aggrieved by any final decision or order of the Registrar of Copyrights may, within three months from the date of the order or decision, appeal to the Copyright Board.

(2) Any person aggrieved by any final decision or order of the Copyright Board, not being a decision or order made in an appeal under sub-section (1), may, within three months from the date of such decision or order, appeal to the High Court within whose jurisdiction the appellant actually and voluntarily resides or carries on business or personally works for gain:

Provided that no such appeal shall lie against a decision of the Copyright Board under Section 6.

(3) In calculating the period of three months provided for an appeal under this section, the time taken in granting a certified copy of the order or record of the decision appealed against shall be excluded.

73. Procedure for appeals.—The High Court may make rules consistent with this Act as to the procedure to be followed in respect of appeals made to it under Section 72.

- (b) in any other case, the person who was the first owner of the copyright in the work under any Act repealed by sub-section (1) or his legal representatives.

(5) Except as otherwise provided in this Act, where any person is entitled immediately before the commencement of this Act to copyright in any work or any right in such copyright or to an interest in any such right, he shall continue to be entitled to such right or interest for the period for which he would have been entitled thereto if this Act had not come into force.

(6) Nothing contained in this Act shall be deemed to render any act done before its commencement an infringement of copyright if that act would not otherwise have constituted such an infringement.

(7) Save as otherwise provided in this section, nothing in this section shall be deemed to affect the application of the General Clauses Act, 1897, with respect to the effect of repeals.

APPENDIX

UNIVERSAL COPYRIGHT CONVENTION

[Ratification by India]

PRESS NOTE

It is hereby announced for the information of the general public that the Government of India have ratified Universal Copyright Convention and Protocols 1 and 2 thereto and acceded to protocol 3 of the Convention.

The Instrument of Ratification was deposited with UNESCO on 21st October 1957, and the Convention will come into force as respects India, with effect from January 21, 1958.

India has been a party to the Berne Convention for the protection of Literary and Artistic Works ever since 1887.

A number of countries from Europe, Asia and America have joined this Convention but United States of America and certain other American countries have not been members of the Berne Convention as those countries had a copyright system which could not fit into some of the important provisions of the Berne Convention.

The position, therefore, was that though the Berne countries were bound to one another by the Berne Convention, they were required to enter into separate agreement with non-Berne countries in regard to copyright matters.

This position was obviously unsatisfactory and unceasing efforts were made for many years to bring the various countries following divergent systems under a common umbrella in the matter of international copyright.

For this purpose, an inter-Governmental Conference was convened under the auspices of the UNESCO, at which delegations of Governments of about 50 countries including India were present. This Conference adopted a convention called the "Universal Copyright Convention," along with three Protocols, for regulating copyright relations amongst the countries ratifying or acceding to the Convention.

UNIVERSAL COPYRIGHT

The Universal Copyright Convention does not, however, supersede the Berne Convention. In fact, the Berne Convention continues to regulate the copyright relationship amongst the Berne countries (vide Article XVII and the Declaration annexed thereto).

The Universal Copyright Convention only established relationship between the Berne countries and the non-Berne countries; it serves as a bridge between the Berne countries and the non-Berne countries. Berne countries ratifying the Universal Copyright Convention will no longer need to enter into separate arrangements with non-Berne countries ratifying the Convention and the copyright relations between such countries will be regulated by the provisions of the Universal Copyright Convention. Likewise, the non-Berne countries which are signatories to the Universal Copyright Convention will claim protection under that Convention in the Berne countries which are signatories to the Universal Copyright Convention, without any further special arrangements.

BASIC PRINCIPLE

The basic principle adopted in the Universal Copyright Convention is of 'National treatment.' It is expressed in Article II of the Convention in the following words :—

"1. Published works of nationals of any Contracting State and works first published in that State shall enjoy in each other Contracting State the same protection as that other State accords to works of its nationals first published in its own territory."

"2. Unpublished works of nationals of each Contracting State shall enjoy in each other Contracting State the same protection as that other State accords to unpublished works of its own nationals."

Accordingly Indian works and works of Indian nationals can, by virtue of this provision, claim in every non-Berne Universal Copyright Convention country the same protection which is enjoyed by the national of that country in respect of his works published in that country.

Many countries require under their domestic law compliance with certain formalities (e. g. registration, deposit of copies, notice, etc.), for acquisition of copyright within their territory.

The Universal Copyright Convention dispenses with this requirement and provides that it shall be deemed to have been satisfied if all copies of a work bear at a prominent place merely the symbol (C) (the letter C in a Circle) accompanied by the name of the Copyright proprietor and the year of first publication (Article III); Indian works have thus not now to comply with the formalities prescribed in the laws of the non-Berne Universal Copyright Convention countries and will secure copyright protection by reason of the aforesaid symbol.

The Universal Copyright Convention also permits translation of published writings under certain conditions (Article V).

The following non-Berne countries have so far ratified the Universal Copyright Convention :

Andorra, Argentine Republic, Cambodia, Chile, Costa Rica, Cuba, Ecuador, the German Federal Republic, Guatemala, Haiti, Ireland, Laos, Liberia, Mexico, Nicaragua, Republic of El Salvador, Republic of Honduras, Republic of San Marino, Uruguay and the United States of America.

It is necessary that the Indian law of copyright should enable India to give effect to the terms of the Universal Copyright Convention. Parliament has recently passed the Copyright Act, 1957, and it is proposed to bring the Act into force and make a suitable order under Sections 40 and 41 thereof for the purpose before January 21, 1958.

TEXT OF UNIVERSAL COPYRIGHT CONVENTION

[Geneva, 6 September, 1952.]

The Contracting States,

Moved by the desire to assure in all countries copyright protection of literary, scientific and artistic works,

Convinced that a system of copyright protection appropriate to all nations of the world and expressed in a universal convention, additional to, and without impairing international systems already in force, will ensure respect for the rights of the individual and encourage the development of literature, the sciences and the arts,

Persuaded that such a universal copyright system will facilitate a wider dissemination of works of the human mind and increase international understanding,

Have agreed as follows :

ARTICLE I

Each Contracting State undertakes to provide for the adequate and effective protection of the rights of authors and other copyright proprietors in literary, scientific and artistic works, including writings, musical, dramatic and cinematographic works, and paintings, engravings and sculpture.

ARTICLE II

1. Published works of nationals of any Contracting State and works first published in that State shall enjoy in each other Contracting State the same protection as that other State accords to works of its nationals first published in its own territory.

2. Unpublished works of nationals of each Contracting State shall enjoy in each other Contracting State the same protection as that other State accords to unpublished works of its own nationals.

3. For the purpose of this Convention any Contracting State may, by domestic legislation, assimilate to its own nationals any person domiciled in that State.

ARTICLE III

1. Any Contracting State which, under its domestic law, requires as a condition of copyright, compliance with formalities such as deposit, registration, notice, notarial certificates, payment of fees or manufacture or publication in that Contracting State, shall regard these requirements as satisfied with respect to all works protected in accordance with this Convention and first published outside its territory and the author of which is not one of its nationals, if from the time of the first publication all the copies of the work published with the authority of the author or other copyright proprietor bear the symbol (C) accompanied by the name of the copyright proprietor and the year of first publication placed in such manner and location as to give reasonable notice of claim of copyright.

2. The provision of paragraph 1 of this article shall not preclude any Contracting State from requiring formalities or other conditions for the acquisition and enjoyment of copyright in respect of works first published in its territory or works of its nationals wherever published.

3. The provisions of paragraph 1 of this article shall not preclude any Contracting State from providing that a person seeking judicial relief must, in bringing the action, comply with procedural requirements, such as that the complainant must appear through domestic counsel or that the complainant must deposit with the Court or an administrative office, or both, a copy of the work involved in the litigation; provided that failure to comply with such requirements shall not affect the validity of the copyright, nor shall any such requirement be imposed upon a national of another Contracting State if such requirement is not imposed on nationals of the State in which protection is claimed.

4. In each Contracting State there shall be legal means of protecting without formalities the unpublished works of nationals of other Contracting States.

5. If a Contracting State grants protection for more than one term of copyright and the first term is for a period longer than one of the minimum periods prescribed in Article IV, such State shall not be required to comply with the provisions of paragraph 1 of this Article III in respect of the second or any subsequent term of copyright.

ARTICLE IV

1. The duration of protection of a work shall be governed, in accordance with the provisions of Article II and this Article, by the law of the Contracting State in which protection is claimed.

2. The term of protection for works protected under this Convention shall not be less than the life of the author and twenty-five years after his death.

However, any Contracting State which, on the effective date* of this Convention in that State, has limited this term for certain classes of works to a period computed from the first publication of the work, shall be entitled to maintain these exceptions and to extend them to other classes of works. For all these classes the term of protection shall not be less than twenty-five years from the date of first publication.

Any Contracting State which, upon the effective date of this Convention in that State, does not compute the term of protection upon the basis of the life of the author, shall be entitled to compute the term of protection from the date of the first publication of the work or from its registration prior to publication, as the case may be, provided the term of protection shall not be less than twenty-five years from the date of first publication or from its registration prior to publication, as the case may be.

If the legislation of a Contracting State grants two or more successive terms of protection, the duration of the first term shall not be less than one of the minimum periods specified above.

3. The provisions of paragraph 2 of this Article shall not apply to photographic works or to works of applied art; provided, however, that the term of protection in those Contracting States which protect photographic works, or works of applied art in so far as they are protected as artistic works, shall not be less than ten years for each of said classes of works.

4. No Contracting State shall be obliged to grant protection to a work for a period longer than that fixed for the class of works to which the work in question belongs, in the case of unpublished works by the law of the Contracting

State of which the author is a national, and in the case of published works by the law of the Contracting State in which the work has been first published.

For the purposes of the application of the preceding provision, if the law of any Contracting State grants two or more successive terms of protection, the period of protection of that State shall be considered to be the aggregate of those terms. However, if a specified work is not protected by such State during the second or any subsequent term for any reason, the other Contracting States shall not be obliged to protect it during the second or any subsequent term.

5. For the purposes of the application of paragraph 4 of this Article, the work of a national of a Contracting State, first published in a non-Contracting State, shall be treated as though first published in the Contracting State of which the author is a national.

6. For the purposes of the application of paragraph 4 of this Article, in case of simultaneous publication in two or more Contracting States, the work shall be treated as though first published in the State which affords the shortest term; any work published in two or more Contracting States within thirty days of its first publication shall be considered as having been published simultaneously in said Contracting States.

ARTICLE V

1. Copyright shall include the exclusive right of the author to make, publish, and authorize the making and publication of translations of works protected under this Convention.

2. However, any Contracting State may, by its domestic legislation, restrict the right of translation of writings, but only subject to the following provisions :

If, after the expiration of a period of seven years from the date of the first publication of a writing, a translation of such writing has not been published in the national language or languages, as the case may be, of the Contracting State, by the owner of the right of translation or with his authorization, any national of such Contracting State may obtain a non-exclusive licence, from the competent authority thereof to translate the work and publish the work so translated in any of the national languages in which it has not been published; provided that such national, in accordance with the procedure of the State concerned, establishes either that he has requested, and been denied, authorization by the proprietor of the right to make and publish the translation, or that, after due diligence on his part, he was unable to find the owner of the right. A licence may also be granted on the same conditions if all previous editions of a translation in such language are out of print.

If the owner of the right of translation cannot be found, then the applicant for a licence shall send copies of his application to the publisher whose name appears on the work and, if the nationality of the owner of the right of translation is known, to the diplomatic or consular representative of the State of which such owner is a national, or to the organisation which may have been designated by the Government of that State. The licence shall not be granted before the expiration of a period of two months from the date of the dispatch of the copies of the application.

Due provision shall be made by domestic legislation to assure to the owner of the right of translation a compensation which is just and conforms to international standards, to assure payment and transmittal of such compensation, and to assure a correct translation of the work.

The original title and the name of the author of the work shall be printed on all copies of the published translation. The licence shall be valid only for publication of the translation in the territory of the Contracting State where it has been applied for. Copies so published may be imported and sold in another Contracting State if one of the national languages of such other State is the same language as that into which the work has been so translated, and if the domestic law in such other State makes provision for such licences and does not prohibit such importation and sale. Where the foregoing conditions do not exist, the importation and sale of such copies in a Contracting State shall be governed by its domestic law and its agreements. The licence shall not be transferred by the licensee.

The licence shall not be granted when the author has withdrawn from circulation all copies of the work.

ARTICLE VI

"Publication," as used in this Convention, means the reproduction in tangible form and the general distribution to the public of copies of a work from which it can be read or otherwise visually perceived.

2. It is understood, however, that at the time an instrument of ratification, acceptance or accession is deposited on behalf of any State, such State must be in a position under its domestic law to give effect to the terms of this Convention.

REPORT OF SELECT COMMITTEE

We, the undersigned, the Members of the Select Committee of the Council of Governor-General of India for the purpose of making Laws and Regulations, to which the Bill to consolidate laws relating to Coroners has been referred, have the honour to present this preliminary report.

The Bill, as introduced, was intended merely to consolidate the existing law contained in two statutes and three Acts, and it provided, in the words of 33 Geo. III, Cap. 52, S. 157, that the Coroners should exercise the like jurisdiction as by law might be exercised by Coroners elected for counties in England. We have struck out this provision, which would have necessitated constant reference to English statutes and text-books, and we have in lieu thereof codified such part of the English law of Coroners as seemed adapted to the Presidency towns.

The amended Bill accordingly declares the Coroner's jurisdiction to enquire into deaths by accident, homicide or suicide, sudden deaths by means unknown, and deaths of prisoners in prison. It enables him to order a body to be disinterred. It provides for summoning juries, swearing the jurors, viewing the body, summoning witnesses, and post mortem examinations.

It declares that the evidence shall be taken on oath, that witnesses unacquainted with English shall be examined through an interpreter, that questions suggested by the jury shall be put, and that the Coroner shall take down the material parts of the evidence. Power is given to adjourn the inquest. When the witnesses have been examined, the Coroner will sum up, and the jury will consider of their verdict. When the verdict is delivered, the Coroner will draw up an inquisition setting forth the matters specified in S. 24, and in the form given in the second Schedule.

When the verdict amounts to murder, culpable homicide, or killing by a rash or negligent act (the last mentioned offence is about to be added to the Penal Code) the Coroner will bind by recognizance any person acquainted with the facts to appear at the next sessions, and prosecute or give evidence. The Coroner will also certify the recognizances and deliver them with the inquisition and evidence to the Court in which the trial is to be. He may also issue his warrant for the apprehension of the accused.

The amended Bill expressly abolishes the Coroner's jurisdiction as to treasure-trove and wrecks, and declares that he shall not be liable to execute process.

The Coroner of Calcutta will, under the amended Bill, be appointed by the Lieutenant Governor of Bengal and not by the Governor-General in Council.

As to Coroner's juries, we have provided (S. 31) that when an inquest is held on the body of a prisoner, no officer of the prison and no prisoner confined therein shall be a juror. There is a similar provision in the Schedule to the English Prisons Act (28 and 29 Vic., c. 126), clause 48.

As to a Coroner's rights, we have added three clauses, one providing for repaying his disbursements for fees to medical witnesses, hire of rooms for the jury, and the like; another exempting him from serving on juries, and a third privileging him from arrest while engaged in the discharge of his official duty.

We have omitted the clause corresponding with Act 12 of 1867, S. 12, as this will more fitly be placed in the Prisoners Bill now before the Council.

We have omitted, as unnecessary, the elaborate specification of the informalities in case of which the inquisition may be amended by a Judge of the High Court. For variances between the statements in the inquisition and the Evidence Act 18 of 1862 (Ss. 1 and 57) appears to provide sufficiently”—Gazette of Ind., 1870, Pt. V, p. 351.

[*] For Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gaz. of Ind., 1870, Pt. V, p. 295; for Preliminary Report of the Select Committee, see ibid, p. 351; and for Proceedings in Council, see ibid, Supplement, pp. 1077, 1195, 1298; and ibid, 1871, pp. 198 and 207.

[†] There are only 3 such towns in India Bombay, Calcutta and Madras. The Act, however, does not extend to Madras.

2. Repeal of enactments. [Repealed by the Repealing Act, 1873 (12 of 1873).]

CHAPTER II APPOINTMENT OF CORONERS

Their duty to hold inquests on sudden death commenced in the 13th century. A Coroner is an official having both judicial and ministerial duties. His ministerial office is only as the Sheriff's substitute where he is incapable of acting. Section 24 — Note 1

(1) The inquest is not a decision, but a prima facie opinion and stands on no higher footing than an order of commitment to the sessions. It is not a judgment, much less a judgment inter partes. AIR 1946 Bom 184 (185) = 47 Cri L Jour 555.

(2) The Coroner has power to draw up an inquisition which is to set out the details mentioned in Section 24. He has no power to pronounce a binding and authoritative judgment. AIR 1959 Bom 6 (8) = 1959 Cri LJ 30 = 60 Bom LR 822 (DB).

(3) Coroner's inquest is not admissible in evidence in subsequent trial of the accused. AIR 1946 Bom 184 (185) = 47 Cri L Jour 555.

(4) Inquest Report — Admissibility in evidence — Mere recitals in inquest report, not substantive evidence. AIR 1965 Ker 44 (46) = 1965 (1) Cri LJ 173 (DB).

(5) Duty of Coroner to put pointed questions to foreman of Jury to record findings under Section 24 — Absence of verdict of Jury as to cause of death — Coroner merely copying out cause of death from post-mortem report — Jury's verdict of negligence is vitiated when there is no finding that such negligence amounted to criminal act as contemplated by Section 24. AIR 1968 Bom 426

(430) = 1968 Cri LJ 1610 = 70 Bom LR 238 (DB).

(6) Clause (e) of Section 9 indicates that if there are any circumstances attending the death in question which endanger public health or safety, the Coroner would be entitled to hold an inquest by jury. But clause (e) has no bearing on the question as to what should be recorded in Coroner's jury's verdict under Section 24. AIR 1968 Bom 426 (431) = 1968 Cri LJ 1610 = 70 Bom LR 238 (DB).

(7) Not setting out names of Jurors in inquisition as required by Section 24 (4) is merely a technical defect — But recording of verdict of negligence without finding it amounted to criminal act within Section 24 (6) is a substantial defect. AIR 1968 Bom 426 (429, 433) = 1968 Cri LJ 1610 = 70 Bom LR 238 (DB).

Section 25 — Note 1

(1) The provisions under Section 25 show that the Legislature did not intend the Coroner to be a Court like the Court in the hierarchy of Courts established for administration of justice. AIR 1959 Bom 6 (8) = 1959 Cri LJ 30 = 60 Bom LR 822 (DB).

Section 26 — Note 1

(1) Powers of the Coroner under — Not such as those of Courts established for administration of justice. AIR 1959 Bom 6 (8) = 1959 Cri LJ 30 = 60 Bom LR 822 (DB).

27. Power to accept bail.—[Repealed by the Coroners (Amendment) Act, 1908 (4 of 1908), S. 10.]

28. Warrant for burial.—When the proceedings are closed, or before, if it be necessary to adjourn the inquest, the Coroner shall give his warrant for the °[disposal] of the body on which the inquest has been taken.

[°] Substituted for "burial," by the Coroners (Amendment) Act, 1908 (4 of 1908), Section 11.

29. Inquisitions not to be quashed for want of form.—No inquisition found upon or by any inquest shall be quashed for any technical defect.

Amendment of inquisition.

In any case of technical defect, a Judge of the High Court may, if he thinks fit, order the inquisition to be amended, and the same shall forthwith be amended accordingly.

30. Cessation of jurisdiction as to treasure trove, wrecks, etc.—It shall no longer be the duty of the Coroner to inquire whether any person dying by his own act was or was not felo de se,° to inquire of treasure trove† or wrecks,‡ to seize any fugitive's goods,§ to execute process or to exercise as Coroner any jurisdiction not expressly conferred by this Act.

Felo de se.

A felo de se° shall not forfeit his goods.

Deodands.

Deodands°† are hereby abolished.

[°] Felo de se (a felon with respect to himself); one who feloniously commits suicide. In England escheat or forfeiture for felony was abolished by the Forfeiture Act, 1870 (33 and 34 Vict., c. 23). A Coroner's inquest must be held in every case of suicide, and in the absence of evidence of unsoundness of mind a verdict of felo de se may be directed and returned — See Wharton's Law Lexicon; Earl Jowitt's Dictionary of English Law, 1959 Ed., page 792.

[†] Money or coin, gold, silver, plate, or bullion, found hidden in the earth or other private place, the owner thereof being unknown or unfound, in which case it

Section 29 — Note 1

(1) Bombay High Court has, subject to the provisions of the Coroners Act, all the powers which the Court of King's Bench had with reference to the inquisitions when the High Court was constituted. There is no provision in the Act enabling the Coroner to make a reference to the High Court. But any party interested in or affected by the inquisition may apply to the High Court for either amending or quashing the verdict of the jury. Under S. 29, the High Court can amend the inquisition only in cases of technical defects. High Court will not quash an inquisition merely on the ground that the findings of the jury are against the evidence in the case. AIR 1927 Bom 163 (164, 165) = 51 Bom 300 = 28 Cri L Jour 285 (DB).

(2) Coroner's Court is not a Criminal Court within the meaning of Clause 27 of the Letters Patent of the Bombay

High Court. AIR 1927 Bom 163 (165) = 51 Bom 300 = 28 Cri L Jour 385 (DB).

(3) No evidence or data justifying conclusion of jury—High Court can quash inquisition under first part of Section 29. AIR 1962 Bom 252 (253, 254) = 1962 (2) Cri LJ 478 — 64 Bom LR 339 (DB).

(4) High Court has power to quash inquisition though not merely on technical grounds — Power can be exercised to cure substantial defects — Not setting out names of Jurors in inquisition as required by Section 24 (4) is merely a technical defect — But recording verdict of negligence without finding that it amounted to criminal act within S. 24 (6) is a substantial defect — Direction that certain portions in inquisition should stand quashed given. belongs to the Crown: see Wharton's Law Lexicon, 14th Ed., page 1009; Jowitt's Dictionary of English Law, 1959 Edn., p. 1777. In England the Coroner has jurisdiction to hold an inquest under the Coroner's Act, 1887 (50 and 51 Vict., c. 71) S. 36, as to treasure trove; but his function is confined to ascertaining whether any given thing is or is not within the definition, and he cannot inquire as to who is entitled to it — See Earl Jowitt's Dictionary of English Law, 1959 Ed., page 1777.

- [†] Such goods, including the ship or cargo or any part, as, after a shipwreck, are afloat or cast upon the land by the sea. Formerly they were not wreck so long as they remained at sea in the jurisdiction of the Admiralty: In England, it is a branch of coroner's office to inquire concerning shipwrecks and certify whether there has been a wreck or not and who is in possession of goods. In India such investigation is made by the Receiver of Wreck appointed by the Central Government, under S. 391 of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1958 — See Earl Jowitt's Dictionary of English Law, 1959 Ed., page 1884. See also the definition of 'wreck' given in S. 3 (58) of the Merchant Shipping Act, 1958 (44 of 1958) and Part XIII of the said Act dealing with 'wreck and salvage.'
- [§] Fugitive's goods—the goods of a man which had been forfeited because he had made flight. See also sections 87, 88 and 89 of the Code of Criminal Procedure.
- [*†] Defendant—A personal chattel which had been the immediate occasion of the death of any reasonable creature; it was forfeited to the Crown to be applied to pious uses and distributed in alms by the high almoner. Deodands were abolished in England by the Deodands Act, 1862 (9 and 10 Vict., c. 62) — See Earl Jowitt's Dictionary of English Law, 1959 Ed., page 612.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

"The increasing tempo of industrialisation in this country in the context of planning has brought the subject of costing and cost accountancy to the forefront. Current discussions on the measures needed to improve productive skill and industrial management will not by themselves be adequate unless due account is taken of the necessity for the maximum utilisation of labour and materials at the minimum of cost. It is now recognised that this can be ensured only by a proper system of costing and cost accounting. The profession of cost accountants is, however, of comparatively recent origin in India and, unlike the profession of chartered accountants, there is no law to regulate this profession, particularly because there is no law imposing any obligation in regard to the maintenance, certification or publication of cost accounts by industrial undertakings. It is, however, considered desirable that, notwithstanding the absence of any such legal obligation, in view of the increasing necessity of costing in the context of the rapid industrialisation of the country, the profession should be organised on a statutory basis on the lines of the Institute of Chartered Accountants of India so that the profession assumes the responsibilities for the maintenance of requisite standards of professional qualifications, discipline and conduct of its members under the general guidance and supervision of the Government.

2. The Bill seeks to authorise the establishment of an autonomous Institute of Cost Accountants and to entrust to it the functions of regulating the profession."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

"Owing to the great rise in the price of cotton piece-goods caused by the war, considerable distress has been caused to the poorer classes. It is accordingly proposed to take power to appoint one or more Controllers, with whom will be associated Advisory Committees of persons having expert knowledge of the trade. The Controllers will have authority to require the mills in India to manufacture certain standard varieties of cloth which are in common use amongst the poorer classes. The standard cloth will be manufactured at controlled prices, which will be so fixed as to allow the mills a reasonable margin of profit; and in order to ensure that the benefit of these prices reaches the general public, the sale of the cloth will be effected under licences granted and at prices fixed by the Local Governments."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

"The Indian Cotton Committee which was appointed in 1917 in Chapter XVI of their Report recommended certain measures, including the licensing of cotton ginning and pressing factories, to prevent such malpractices as damping, mixing and adulteration, which are injurious to the quality and reputation of Indian cotton. The recommendations of the Committee, however, involved an excessive amount of official interference. The object of the present Bill is to put the trade in a position to protect itself by providing for the marking of bales and the record of ownership, and by providing further that unmarked bales are not tenderable in fulfilment of a contract, if marked bales are demanded by the purchaser.

The Bill also makes provision for the maintenance of registers for statistical returns, for the use of correct scales and weights, and for the structural improvement of ginning and pressing factories. The Bill is based on the recommendations of the Indian Central Cotton Committee, and is supplementary to the Cotton Transport Act, 1923."

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

"The cotton textile industry provides one of the basic necessities of life and affords gainful employment to millions of people. Over the last few years, this vital industry has been passing through difficult times. Some mills have already have to close down and the continuing economic operation of many others is beset with many difficulties. These difficulties have been aggravated in many cases by the heavy burden of past debts. The taking over of the management of these mills for a limited time and then restoring them to original owners has not remedied the situation. Steps are, therefore, necessary to bring about a degree of rationalisation of the financial and managerial structure of such units with a view to their rehabilitation, so that production and employment may not suffer.

2. While keeping such financially weak textile mills in operation, the provisions contained in the Bill enable Government to consider their compulsory liquidation or their reconstruction.

3. Where liquidation is called for, provision has been made for the sale of the undertaking concerned as a running concern at or above a reserve price which will be fixed by Government after taking into account the financial condition of the companies and other relevant factors. If no satisfactory offer is received, the undertaking will be purchased by the Government at the reserve price fixed by it.

4. Where reconstruction is appropriate, Government would prepare a suitable scheme for the purpose. Such a scheme may, inter alia, provide for the appointment of a new Board of Directors, the reduction of the interests or rights of the members and creditors and for the acquiring of controlling interest in the company by Government. Any loans and advances made to the company after the Government had started running the undertaking would not however be subject to reduction."

[23rd December, 1967].

An Act to provide in the public interest for the liquidation of cotton textile companies while keeping the undertaking thereof as running concerns, or for the reconstruction of cotton textile Companies, in certain cases and for matters connected therewith.

- it is necessary so to do, the Central Government may, by order, decide to prepare a scheme for the reconstruction of the textile company.

9. Protection for acts done under Act.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

"The Indian Cotton Committee, which was appointed in 1917, brought to notice (1) that the practice of adulterating long staple cotton with short staple was very prevalent at the gins and press-houses in certain long staple areas, the object being to secure for the mixture the higher prices offered for long staple; (2) that, owing to the consequent mixture of seed, there was considerable deterioration in the cultivation of many of the superior varieties of cotton; (3) that soft cotton waste was also used for the purpose of adulteration with "kapas" (the natural floss); and (4) that short staple cotton was frequently railed to a long staple area and re-booked thence, even without mixing, as long staple cotton.

2. As instances of (1) and (2), the Committee quoted the imports of short staple cotton into the Broach tract, the result of which has been that Broach cotton has largely lost its former reputation. Other superior varieties of cotton are threatened with the same fate. The practice described under (4) above is facilitated by the trade custom whereby cotton is bought and sold on the name and reputation of the area where it purports to have been grown; i.e., on the name of the railway station from which the bales are last booked.

3. These malpractices are exercising so serious and dangerous an influence on the industry as a whole, that the necessity of taking Governmental action has become a matter of immediate importance. The Bill provides a remedy by enabling Local Governments to prevent inferior cotton or cotton waste, as defined, from being imported, except under licence, into areas which it is desired to protect.

The principal provisions of the Bill are as follows:—

1. Local Governments are empowered, with the previous consent of the Provincial Legislature, to define the areas and to notify the stations which should be regarded as protected. Consignments of cotton are not allowed to any such notified station except from other notified stations in the same area

2. It is necessary to make certain exceptions to the prohibition in favour, for instance, of millowners within the area requiring extraneous cotton and of purchasers of cotton waste for industrial purposes. Local Governments are accordingly empowered to frame rules for a licensing system and to appoint the authorities for the issue of licenses.

3. Station masters or other railway servants responsible for the delivery of goods or parcels are prohibited under penalties from delivering cotton improperly consigned to their stations."

[THE] COTTON TRANSPORT ACT, 1923

(ACT III OF 1923)*

[23rd February, 1923.]

An Act to provide for the restriction and control of the transport of cotton in certain circumstances.

WHEREAS it is expedient for the purpose of maintaining the quality and reputation of the cotton grown in certain areas, †[* * *] to enable the restriction and control of the transport by rail and the import of cotton into those areas; It is hereby enacted as follows:

[*] For Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gazette of India, 1922, Pt. V, p. 213.

This Act has been extended to the States merged in the following States:—

Bombay (now Maharashtra and Gujarat): See Bombay Merged States (Laws) Act, 1950 (Bom. Act 4 of 1950), S. 3 and Sch. II (30-3-1950).

Madhya Pradesh: See Madhya Pradesh Merged States Laws (State) Act, 1950 (M. P. Act 12 of 1950), S. 3 and Sch. II (3-4-1950).

Punjab: See Punjab Merged States (Laws) Act, 1950 (Punj. Act 5 of 1950), S. 3 and Sch. II (15-4-1950). Punjab is now divided into the States of Haryana and Punjab and the Union Territory of Chandigarh. Some part of Punjab has been transferred to the Union Territory of Himachal Pradesh as well—See Act 31 of 1966.

Tamil Nadu: See Madras Merged States (Laws) Act, 1949 (Mad. Act 35 of 1949), S. 3 and Sch. I (1-1-1950).

The Act has been extended also to the absorbed areas of Shahda, Nandurbar and Taloda Talukas of the West Khandesh District and Dohad Taluka and the Jhalod Mahal of the Panch Mahal District in the State of Bombay: See the Absorbed Areas (Laws) Act, 1954 (20 of 1954), S. 3 and Sch. II (30-4-1954). Bombay State now stands divided into two States, Gujarat and Maharashtra. Of the absorbed areas, those of Dohad Taluka and Jhalod Mahal of the Panch Mahal District are now in Gujarat State and the others in the Maharashtra State.

The Act was partially extended to Berar by the Berar Laws Act, 1941 (4 of 1941).

The Act has been extended to the Union Territory of Pondicherry by Reg. (7 of 1963), (w.e.f. 1-10-1963).

[†] The words "in the Provinces" were omitted by A. L. O., 1950.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

The Preamble.—"As one of the objects of the Bill is to check the practice of sending pressed bales from one cotton tract to another, ordinarily producing a better quality of cotton, so that it may be rebooked from a railway station in that tract and thereby appear as if it were cotton grown in that area of better quality, we think the purpose of the Bill would be more correctly stated as the maintenance of the quality and reputation of the cotton grown in British India, and we have amended the Preamble accordingly. This also removes any difficulty which might arise in interpreting the terms inferior and superior varieties."—J. C. R.

1. Short title and extent.—(1) This Act may be called THE COTTON TRANSPORT ACT, 1923.

(2) *^[It extends to the whole of India except the State of Jammu and Kashmir.]

[°] Substituted for the original section, as amended by 3 A. L. O., 1956, by the Cotton Transport (Amendment) Act, 1960 (22 of 1960), S. 2 (23-8-1960).

2. Definitions.—In this Act, unless there is anything repugnant in the subject or context,—

- (a) "certified copy", in relation to licence, means a copy of the licence certified in the manner described in Section 76 of the Indian Evidence Act, 1872, by the authority by which the licence was granted;
- (b) "cotton" means every kind of unmanufactured cotton, that is to say, ginned and unginned cotton, cotton waste and cotton-seed;
- (c) "cotton waste" means droppings, strippings, fly and other waste products of a cotton-mill other than yarn waste;
- (d) "licence" means a licence granted under this Act;
- (e) "notified station" means a railway station specified in a notification under Section 3;
- (f) "prescribed" means prescribed by rules made under this Act; and
- (g) "protected area" means an area into which the import of cotton or of any kind of cotton has been prohibited *^[wholly or partly] by a notification under Section 3.

[°] Inserted by the Cotton Transport (Amendment) Act, 1925 (24 of 1925), S. 2.

"We have made it clear in the definition of the expression "cotton" contained in sub-clause (b) that the enumeration of the various kinds of cotton referred to is exhaustive. We have also made a slight alteration in this sub-clause and in sub-clause (g) in connection with the proposals to which we refer in our remarks on clause (3)."—J. C. R.

3. Power to issue notification prohibiting import of cotton into protected area.—(1) The *^[State Government] may, for the purposes of maintaining the quality or reputation of the cotton grown in any area in the *^[State], by notification in the †^[Official Gazette], prohibit the import of cotton or of any specified kind of cotton into that area ‡^[by rail, road, river and sea, or by any one or more of such routes] save under, and in accordance with the conditions of, a licence:

Provided that no such notification shall be deemed to prohibit the import into any protected area of packages containing any kind of cotton and not exceeding ten pounds§ avoirdupois weight.

(2) Any such notification may prohibit the delivery to, and the taking of delivery by, any person, at any specified railway station situated in the protected area, of any cotton, the import of which ‡^[by rail] into that area is prohibited when such cotton has been consigned from a railway station not situated in that area, unless such person holds a licence for the import ‡^[by rail] of the cotton into that area.

[°] Substituted for "Provincial Government" and "Province" by A. L. O., 1950.

[†] Substituted for "Local Official Gazette" by A. O., 1937.

[‡] Inserted by the Cotton Transport (Amendment) Act, 1925 (34 of 1925), S. 3.

[§] In view of the adoption of metric system of weights and measures, this needs to be amended.

STATE AMENDMENTS

Gujarat:

Same as that of Maharashtra—Act 11 of 1960, S. 87.

Maharashtra:

In sub-section (1), after the words "in the State", insert the words "to which this Act extends"—Bom. A. L. O., 1957.

Note.—The Act now extends to the whole of India except the Jammu and Kashmir State and hence the amendment by addition of the words has become meaningless.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

"We are impressed with the necessity of enabling a Local Government to prohibit the import into protected areas of all or any of the kinds of cotton specified in clause 2. In famine times it might, for instance, be necessary for a Local Government to permit the import into such an area of cotton-seed which is extensively used as cattle food. This decision necessitates a considerable number of consequential alterations throughout the Bill, e.g., in sub-clause (2) of this clause and in clauses 4, 5 and 7, in addition to those in clause 2 referred to above.

We have further provided in sub-clause (1) of this clause for the exemption from the provisions of the Act of all cotton which is consigned in packages not exceeding ten pounds in weight. This alteration is intended to secure the free movement of samples of cotton. The Upper India Chamber of Commerce advocated the exemption from the Bill of small parcels such as are ordinarily sent as samples and might in fact be despatched by parcel post."—J. C. R.

4. Refusal to carry unlicensed cotton.—(1) Notwithstanding anything contained in the Indian Railways Act, 1890, or any other law for the time being in force, the station master of any railway station or any other railway servant responsible for the booking of goods or parcels at that station may refuse to receive for carriage at, or to forward or allow to be carried on the railway from, that station any cotton consigned to a notified station, being cotton of a kind of which the delivery at such notified station has been prohibited unless both stations are in the same protected area, or unless the consignor produces a certified copy of a licence for the import of the cotton [°][by rail] into the protected area in which such notified station is situated.

(2) Every certified copy of a licence when so produced shall be attached to the invoice or way-bill, as the case may be, and shall accompany the consignment to its destination, and shall there be dealt with in the prescribed manner.

(3) Where by or under any law in force in the territories of any State in India the import [°][by rail] into any area, or the delivery at any railway station, of cotton or of any kind of cotton has been prohibited, the [†][Central Government] may, by notification[‡] in the [§][Official Gazette], declare that the provisions of sub-section (1) shall apply in respect of cotton consigned to any such station as if such area and such station were respectively a protected area and a notified station, and as if any licence granted under such law were a licence granted under this Act.

[[†]] Substituted for "Governor-General in Council" by A. O., 1937.

[[‡]] For such notifications: See General Statutory Rules and Orders, Vol. 5, p. 90.

[[§]] Substituted for "Gazette of India" by A. O., 1937.

5. Procedure where cotton arrives at notified station.—(1) Where any cotton, the import of which [°][by rail] into any protected area has been prohibited, has been consigned to and arrives at a notified station in any such protected area, the station master or other railway servant responsible for the receipt and delivery to the consignee of goods or parcels, as the case may be, at that station shall, unless both the notified station and the railway station from which the cotton has been consigned are situated in the same protected area, refuse to deliver the cotton until he is satisfied that the consignee holds a licence for the import of the cotton [°][by rail] into the protected area in which such notified station is situated; and, if he is not so satisfied, or if within fourteen days the consignee or some person acting on his behalf does not appear in order to take delivery, shall return the cotton to the railway station from which it was consigned, together with an intimation that delivery of the cotton has been refused or has not been taken, as the case may be.

(2) Any station master or other railway servant receiving any cotton returned under sub-section (1), or returned with a like intimation from a railway station specified in a notification under sub-section (3) of Section 4, shall cause to be served on the consignor in any manner authorised by Section 141 of the Indian Railways Act, 1890, a notice stating that the cotton has been so returned and requiring the consignor to pay any rate, terminal or other charges due in respect of the carriage of the cotton to and from the railway station to which it was consigned, and such charges shall be deemed to be due from the consignor for all the purposes of Section 55 of that Act.

"We are of opinion that fourteen days is a sufficient period to allow for the removal by the consignee from the station of destination of cotton which is covered by a licence."—J. C. R.

6. Penalties.—Any person who, in contravention of the provisions of this Act or of [°]notification or rule made hereunder, knowingly takes delivery of any cotton from a notified station or imports, or attempts to import, any cotton into a protected area, and any station master or other railway servant who, in contravention of the provisions of sub-section (1) of Section 5, without reasonable excuse, the burden of proving which shall lie upon him, delivers any cotton to a consignee or other person, shall be liable to a fine not exceeding one thousand rupees, and upon any subsequent conviction to imprisonment which may extend to three months, or to fine which may extend to five thousand rupees, or to both.

[[°]] For such notifications, see General Statutory Rules and Orders, Vol. V, p. 90.

OBJECTS AND REASONS

"We have made it clear that an innocent contravention of the Act is not to be punishable.

We have further considered with care the proposal supported by the Local Government of Bombay and others that the Bill should provide for the confiscation of cotton in respect of which an offence under this clause has been committed, and we have by a majority decided not to make any alteration in this respect. We think that the difficulties which would arise in connection with the seizure and identification of cotton after its arrival at a press or other place of destination would result in any such provision proving ineffectual, unless powers are given to the police and other officials which we are disinclined to provide until experience shows that they are necessary."—J. C. R.

Note.—The expression "knowingly takes delivery" shows that innocent contravention of the Act is not punishable.

7. Power to make rules.—(1) The [°][State Government] may, by notification in the †[Official Gazette], make rules to provide for any of the following matters, namely:—

- (a) the prevention of the import into a protected area by road, river or sea, save under and in accordance with the conditions of a licence, of cotton the import of which into that area has been prohibited ‡[wholly or partly] by a notification under Section 3;
- §[(b) the terms and conditions to be contained in licences, the authorities by which they may be granted and the fees which may be levied in respect thereof; and]
- (c) the manner in which licences and certified copies thereof shall be dealt with on and after the delivery of the cotton to which they relate.

(2) Any such rules may provide that any contravention thereof or of the conditions of any licence, not otherwise made punishable by this Act, shall be punishable with fine which may extend to five hundred rupees.

STATE AMENDMENT

Tamil Nadu:

In sub-section (2) of Section 7, for the words "five hundred rupees", substitute the words "ten thousand rupees".—T. N. Act 15 of 1948, S. 2 (6-8-1948).

8. Previous approval of °[State] Legislature to issue of notifications and rules.—No notification under Section 3 or rule under Section 7 shall be issued by the †[State Government] †[° ° °] unless it has been laid in draft before §[the Legislative Assembly of the °†[State],] and has been approved by a Resolution °†[of that Assembly] either with or without modification or addition, but upon such approval being given the notification or rule, as the case may be, may be issued in the form in which it has been so approved:

°§[Provided that if the ††[State Legislature] has two †§[Houses], the notification must be laid in draft before, and be approved by Resolutions of, both †§[Houses] either without modifications or additions, or with modifications or additions, approved by both †§[Houses].]

[†] Substituted for "Provincial Government" by A. L. O., 1950.

[††] Substituted for "Provincial Legislature" by A. L. O., 1950.

[†§] Substituted for "Chambers" by A. L. O., 1950.

Note.—This provision makes it obligatory on the State Government to obtain previous approval of the State Legislature to the notification under Section 3, prohibiting import of cotton into protected area.

9. Protection for acts done under Act.—No suit or other legal proceeding shall be instituted against any person in respect of anything which is in good faith done or intended to be done under this Act.

"The National Association for Supplying Medical Aid by Women to the Women of India was established in 1885 with the object of imparting medical education to women rendering medical relief, and supplying nurses and midwives for hospitals and private work. In 1888, the Association was registered as a Society under the Societies Registration Act, 1860 (21 of 1860). The fund which was raised by public subscriptions both in India and the United Kingdom, was known as "The Countess of Dufferin's Fund" and was managed by the Association. This Bill seeks to provide for the transfer of the assets and liabilities of the Association to the Central Government. It also seeks to provide for the validation of all action taken since the 19th April 1948."—Gaz. of Ind., Extra., 6-12-1957, Pt. II-Sec. 2, p. 932.

[THE] COUNTESS OF DUFFERIN'S FUND ACT, 1957
(ACT LXIII OF 1957)*

[27th December, 1957.]

An Act to provide for the transfer of the Fund known as the Countess of Dufferin's Fund to the Central Government.

Be it enacted by Parliament in the Eighth Year of the Republic of India as follows:—

[*] For Statement of Objects and Reasons, see Gaz. of Ind., Extra., 6-12-1957, Pt. II, Sec. 2, p. 932.

1. Short title.—This Act may be called THE COUNTESS OF DUFFERIN'S FUND ACT, 1957.

2. Definitions.—In this Act, unless the context otherwise requires,—

- (a) "Association" means the National Association for Supplying Medical Aid by Women to the Women of India, being a society registered under the Societies Registration Act, 1860;
- (b) "Fund" means all property, movable or immovable, of or belonging to the Association.

3. Dissolution of Association and transfer of Fund.—On the commencement of this Act—

- (a) the Association shall stand dissolved;
- (b) the Fund shall vest in the Central Government; and
- (c) all the debts and liabilities of the Association shall be transferred to the Central Government and shall thereafter be discharged and satisfied by it out of the Fund.

4. Validation of certain acts done before the commencement of this Act.—Notwithstanding anything contained in any law for the time being in force, all acts and things done, before the commencement of this Act, by any person acting or purporting to act in pursuance of the Resolutions passed at the extraordinary general meeting of the Association held on the 19th day of April 1948, shall be valid and shall be deemed always to have been valid and no suit or other proceeding shall be instituted, maintained or continued against any person whatever on the ground that any such act or thing was not done in accordance with law.

Note.—After partition of India, it became necessary to wind up the Association and in pursuance of this the Association passed a resolution on the 19th April, 1948. This section provides for validation of acts done after the resolution and before the commencement of this Act, in pursuance of that resolution.

STATEMENT OF OBJECTS AND REASONS

"The rates of Stamp fees leviable in Court and offices established beyond the local limits of the ordinary original civil jurisdiction of the High Courts of Judicature at Fort William, Madras and Bombay, and in proceedings on the appellate side of such High Courts, were, as fixed by Act XXVI of 1867, to a great extent tentative.

The experience gained of their working during the two years in which they have been in force, seems to be conclusive as to their repressive effect on the general litigation of the country.

It is, therefore, thought expedient to make a general reduction in the rates now chargeable on the institution of civil suits, and to revert to the principle of maximum fee which obtained under the former law.

It is proposed also to reduce the valuation fixed by the existing law for the computation of the fee leviable on suits relating to land under temporary settlement or land exempt from the payment of revenue to the Government which is believed to be, at least relatively, excessive, as compared with the valuation of permanently settled land; and to provide for the valuation of suits relating to mere parcels of land, which, though forming part of estates under settlement, bear no specific allotment of any portion of the assessment of Government revenue on such estates, at the estimated selling price of such land, as was the rule in those cases under Act X of 1862.

The want of some fixed valuation applicable to certain classes of suits, as for example, suits instituted between landlord and tenant to recover a right of occupancy or enforce ejectment, or suits for maintenance or for an annuity, the subject-matter of which, though not absolutely indeterminable, is certainly not susceptible of ready determination, has given rise to much uncertainty and variety in the procedure adopted by the several Courts in such cases; and the amendment of the existing law in this respect is felt to be urgently called for.

In deference to the strong objections entertained by the local authorities in certain Provinces to the retention of the fee imposed on the presentation of certain petitions in the Criminal Courts, it is proposed to reduce the amount of such fee from one rupee to eight annas.

The uniform exaction of a fee of eight annas in the case of all petitions addressed to a Revenue Officer or a Magistrate, works harshly in its application to such communications when presented by persons having dealings or transactions with the Government in relation to such transactions. Equitable considerations require that petitions of this kind should be excepted from the operation of the general rule, and the Bill makes suitable provision for such cases.

The ad valorem fee now chargeable on summary suits instituted under Act XVI of 1838 and the Bombay Act (5 of 1864) is represented as working unsatisfactorily, and the substitution of a fixed rate is recommended.

It is to be observed that an award in such cases is liable to be set aside by a judgment passed in regard to the same matter in a regular suit; hence, it appears more equitable to treat these summary suits as miscellaneous applications and to subject them to a similar fixed institution fee.

As the bill provides for a considerable reduction of the fees heretofore chargeable on civil suits of small amount, it seems unnecessary to maintain the present distinction between the Courts of Cantonment Joint Magistrates and other Civil Courts in respect of the amount of fee leviable on the institution of such suits.

It is proposed also to exempt suits instituted in a Military Court of Requests from the payment of any fee. The constitution of such Courts is peculiar; they form no part of the regular machinery employed in the general administration of justice, the present measure therefore is inapplicable to them. Moreover, the suitor in such Courts is placed at this disadvantage as compared with suitors in the ordinary Civil Courts that, although he may gain his case, he is unable to recover the costs which he has incurred in prosecuting his claim; hence the incidence of the taxation imposed by the levy of an institution fee in such cases is inequitable.

Suits for the restitution of wives, which are of common occurrence in the Punjab, are held to be somewhat excessively taxed under the present law, which prescribes that in suits the money value of the subject-matter of which cannot be estimated, a fixed fee of Rs. 10 shall be levied; the Bill substitutes for that rate in such cases a special fee of Rs. 5.

The clause in Act XXVI of 1867, exempting Advocates of a High Court from the obligation of presenting to any Court a written authority empowering them to act in any case pending in such Court, is excluded from the Bill. Such a provision appears to be beyond the scope of an enactment for regulating the levy of Court-fees. It is moreover, open to the objection that it conflicts with Section 18 of the Civil Procedure Code, and consequently creates some doubt as to the intention of the Legislature.

As some measures of compensation for the loss of revenue which is expected to result from the general reduction of fees, it is proposed to discontinue the refund of any portion of the amount levied on the first institution of suits, and also to raise the fees heretofore chargeable on probates and letters of administration granted under the Indian Succession Act, and on certificates issued under Act XXVII of 1860, to the ad valorem rates leviable under the English law in like cases.

The abolition of refunds is justified by the consideration that for all practical purposes in the majority of cases, the plaintiff, whose suit has not gone beyond the stage at which under the present law he is entitled to recover a moiety of the institution fee, has gained as much through the Court's agency as the suitor whose case has proceeded to a decision, and that, therefore, on the principle on which all Court-fees are adjusted, the former should contribute in equal proportion with the latter to the maintenance of the Courts from whose action both derive an equal benefit.

In lieu of the existing rates of process-fees, which vary according to the distance of the Court by which the processes are issued from the place where they are to be served or executed, it is proposed to levy, by means of stamps, a uniform rate in all cases. All suitors will thus be required to contribute in equal proportion to the maintenance of the establishment employed in the serving of processes, without reference to the length of time occupied in each service and the consequent amount of work rendered on behalf of each person at whose instance any process is served or executed.

Such a provision is in accordance with the modern system under which the charges in the Postal and Electric and Telegraph Departments are regulated, and is also more equitable to the general community.

The incorporation of the High Court-Fees Act (XV of 1868) with, and the transfer of so much of the provisions of the Parsi Marriage and Divorce Act, 1865, the Native Converts' Marriage Dissolution Act, 1866, the Punjab Tenancy Act, 1868, the Indian Divorce Act, and the Indian Income-tax Act, as relate to the levy of stamp fees in judicial proceedings, to the present Bill appear to be conducive to public convenience, as the whole of the existing law relative to fees leviable in all Courts of justice will thus be contained in one enactment.

With the same object this Bill purports to effect a complete re-arrangement of the provisions of the existing law on this subject, a similiar classification of instruments chargeable with Court-fees to that which obtains in the General Stamp Act having been adopted, and the rules for determining the value of the subject-matter of certain suits being transferred from the Schedule where they are to be found in Act XXVI of 1867, to the body of the proposed Act.

Lastly, that for the future there may be no confusion between stamp-revenue proper and the revenue derived from what have heretofore been termed judicial stamps' the proceeds of the proposed enactment are to be designated Court-fees, and the Bill is entitled accordingly."

Section 1-A — Note 1

(1) A plaint was originally instituted in the Small Cause Court at Simla (Punjab), with Court-fee stamps pertaining to the Punjab Government. The plaint was subsequently returned for presentation to a Himachal Court. It was then presented to the Subordinate Judge of Theog and decreed by him in due course. It was contended that the latter Court could not proceed with the suit, because the plaint bore Punjab Stamps and not Himachal Stamps. It was held, that so far as the case was concerned, having regard to its peculiar circumstances and the practice which was in vogue in the Himachal State prior to July, 1953, of using stamps of other States, the objection as to Court-fee should be overruled and credit should be given to the plaintiff for the Court-fee paid in the Simla Court. AIR 1956 Him Pra 38 (39).

(ii) For Section 1-A, substitute the following:—

"1-A. Definitions.—In this Act,—

CHAPTER II

FEES IN THE HIGH COURTS AND IN THE COURTS OF SMALL CAUSES AT THE PRESIDENCY-TOWNS

3. Levy of fees in High Courts on their original sides.—The fees payable for the time being to the clerks and officers (other than the Sheriffs and attorneys) of * [the High Courts other than those of Kerala, Mysore and Rajasthan], or chargeable in each of such Courts under No. 11 of the First, and Nos. 7, 12, 14 † [*] 20 and 21 of the Second, Schedule to this Act annexed;

SECTION 3 — SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.
2. Court-fees on the Original Side of Chartered High Courts.
3. Court-fees in appeals from the Original Side of Chartered High Courts.
4. "Fees payable to clerks and officers of the High Courts."
5. Writ jurisdiction.
6. Fees payable under the Presidency-Towns Insolvency Act.
7. Clause (2).
8. Fees chargeable in Presidency Small Cause Courts — Clause (3).

1. Scope.— (1) The language of the section does not purport to prescribe the Court-fee to be paid in any Court. It only purports to lay down the mode of collecting Court-fees. But the second clause of the section impliedly prescribes the Court-fees to be paid in certain cases in Chartered High Courts. AIR 1931 Mad 457 (459).

(2) Sections 3 and 4 read with Schedules I and II are the charging provisions under the Act. AIR 1970 Delhi 44 (49) (DB).

(3) The effect of Sections 3 and 4 is that in certain cases coming before the Chartered High Court, the Court-fees Act itself prescribes the fee leviable (Section 4 and Clause (2) of Section 3). In all other cases coming before that Court the Court-fees Act lays down only the mode of collecting the Court-fee (Section 3, Clause 1.) In the case of the Presidency Small Cause Courts also, it merely prescribes the mode of collecting the fee (Section 3, Cl. 3). AIR 1931 Mad 457 (458, 459)  AIR 1925 Pat 392 (398) = 4 Pat 336 (FB).

(4) The section is not a charging section in regard to the fees mentioned in Clause (1). It only prescribes the mode of collection in regard to them. The section assumes that the fees are made payable, apart from this Act, by means of rules made under the powers conferred by the enactments mentioned in this clause. AIR 1931 Mad 457 (459).

(5) The section must be given a reasonably wide construction and that if a particular fee could have been imposed under any of the enactments mentioned in this clause it must be deemed as made payable by virtue of the power conferred by them although the High Court actually purports to impose such fee under a power derived from some other source. AIR 1938 Cal 755 (756) = ILR (1939) 1 Cal 56. (Fees payable under Rules made under Section 112 of the Presidency Towns Insolvency Act held to be covered by this section.)

(6) The words 'the said High Courts' in Section 5 refer to the High Courts mentioned in the preceding Sections 3 and 4. Chapter II in which both Sections 3 and 5 fall expressly relates to High Courts for Part A States. AIR

Levy of fees in Presidency Small Cause Courts and the fees for the time being chargeable in the Courts of Small Causes at the Presidency towns, and their several offices, shall be collected in manner hereinafter appearing.

[Cf. Bom. 36 of 1959, S. 3 (Maharashtra and Gujarat).]

[*] Substituted for "the High Courts for Part A States" by 2 A. L. O., 1956.

[†] The number "16" was repealed by the Amending Act, 1891 (12 of 1891).

[See also AIR 1954 Mad 143 (144) = ILR (1954) Mad 643 (DB).]

(2) Court-fees on the plaints filed on the original side of the Madras High Court are leviable under Chapter III of the Act and the levy of these fees is authorised by Order II, Rule 1 of the High Court-fees Rules, 1933. As a result of this rule, Section 7 (iv) (a) (b)

(c), (d), (e) and (f) of the Act along with the provisions as well as Article 17-B of Schedule II apply to suits filed on the original side of the High Court. AIR 1958 SC 245 (249, 250) = 1958 SCR 1021.

(3) Any rule made by the High Court will not have any legal authority if the appropriate legislature made law on the subject. AIR 1954 Mad 543 (544-548) (DB). (No rule made by Madras Legislature in respect of Court-fee payable on original side of High Court — High Court can prescribe Court-fee payable on original side if provisions of Article 225 of Constitution conferred such power on it.)

(4) Rules on the original side of Calcutta High Court dispense with instantaneous payment of Court-fees either at the time when the deposition is being taken or at the time when the document as being tendered as an exhibit on practical grounds of administration. AIR 1956 Cal 619 (620, 621).

3. Court-fees in appeals from the original side of Chartered High Courts.—

(1) The provisions mentioned in the first clause empower the High Court to prescribe Court-fees for appeals from the original side. AIR 1922 Mad 421 (422) = 45 Mad 849.

5. Writ jurisdiction.— (1) Sections 3 and 4 are the charging sections and the Schedules simply provide the rates etc. — Petition under Article 226 does not come under Section 4 — Even Section 3 does not apply to cases coming before High Court under Art. 226, Constitution — Court-fee payable is not under Clause (e) of Article 1 of Schedule II but under Rule 40, Chapter VIII of Rules of Courts. (2) This section, and not Section 6, applies to Court-fees payable in a Chartered High Court in an application for letters of administration. It was, however, assumed in AIR 1935 All 442 (450) = 57 All 881 (DB) that Sec. 6 applies.

8. Fees Chargeable in Presidency Small Cause Courts — Clause (3).—

(1) The fees leviable in such Courts are charged under other enactments, for instance, Chapter 10 of the Presidency Small Cause Courts Act of 1882. 1912 Pun LR No. 202, p. 647 (650) (FB).

Section 4 — Note 1

(1) The section is a prohibition against the use of improperly stamped or unstamped documents and in that sense may be said to make the fees on those documents "payable" under this chapter for the purpose of Section 5. AIR 1925 Pat 392 (394) = 4 Pat 336 (FB).

(2) Before a document can be filed in the High Court it must bear the Court-fee chargeable within the first Schedule or second Schedule of the Act. AIR 1970 Delhi 44 (49) (DB).

(3) The word "case" must be confined to judicial or quasi-judicial cases as opposed to transactions. 1912 Pun LR No. 202, p. 647 (648) (FB).

In Section 4—

(a) in the marginal heading to the first clause in its application to the Uttar Pradesh, for the words "in High Courts in their extraordinary jurisdiction", substitute the words "in the High Courts in their ordinary or extraordinary jurisdiction";

(b) for the words "any of the said High Courts", substitute the words "the High Court of Judicature at Allahabad";

(c) between the words "in the exercise of its" and the words "extraordinary original civil jurisdiction", insert the words "ordinary or";

(12) No Court-fee is payable under this Act in respect of a reference under Section 66 of the Income-tax Act. AIR 1933 Sind 148 (150) = 27 Sind LR 243 (DB).

(13) An application made by the appellant under R. 13 of Chapter 13 of the Rules of the Allahabad High Court for the translation and printing of such parts of the record of the trial Court as are considered necessary at the hearing of the appeal, is "filed in or received by" the High Court in a case coming before it in the exercise of its jurisdiction "as regards appeals from the Courts subject to its superintendence." AIR 1955 All 510 (511) = ILR (1955) 2 All 93 (FB). (AIR 1954 All 812, Overruled.)

(14) Every document which falls within the purview of Sec. 4 must bear the Court-fee prescribed by the relevant provision; and so the question as to whether a particular document falls within Section 4 and as such must pay the Court-fees prescribed for it must be decided solely by reference to the relevant provisions of the Act. If a copy of a statement made in a criminal Court is filed it must bear the Court-fees prescribed by Article 9. The proceeding in a criminal Court is a judicial proceeding. Hence if a copy of an order or judgment delivered in a criminal proceeding is intended to be filed before High Court in a Criminal Appeal it clearly attracts the provisions of Article 9. AIR 1960 SC 128 (130, 131) = 1960 Cri LJ 171 = (1960) 1 SCR 935.

(15) Memorandum of appeal should be properly stamped as required by Section 4. AIR 1969 Pat 359 (363) = 1969 BLJR 299 (DB).

(16) Under this section, the High Court has full power to refuse to accept a memo of appeal which is insufficiently stamped. (17) Section 149, Civil P. C. is exception to rule contained in this section. AIR 1966 Punj 332 (333) (DB).

(18) Section 4 is not subject to, or controlled by, the provisions of, and principles underlying Section 6 as it stands amended in Section 6 (2) in U. P. Section 6 (2) does not apply to the High Court and, therefore, the High Court is not bound to give thereunder time even at least once to make good the deficiency when an insufficiently stamped memorandum of appeal is presented to it. AIR 1951 All 64 (66) = ILR (1952) 1 All 461 (FB). (AIR 1935 All 620 = 57 All 983 (FB). Expl.)

(19) Claim not properly stamped cannot be filed or received — Even if filed and received it will remain invalid unless it is properly stamped — Fact that plaint was held to be a valid document by Court receiving it neither precludes appellate Court from judging its validity nor absolves it from the duty of doing so — If it finds it invalid by reason of not being properly stamped it has to ignore the plaint unless and until it is properly stamped — Power of appellate Court to direct payment of Court-fee is not dependent upon whether the document may be or intended to be 'used' in appeal. AIR 1968 All 216 (222, 223) (FB). (AIR 1957 All 63 and AIR 1962 All 268, Overruled.)

(21) A document is exhibited for the purpose of being taken into consideration in deciding some question or other in respect of the proceeding in which it is filed. AIR 1956 Cal 619 (619).

(22) When a suit is transferred under Clause 13 of the Letters Patent, it is transferred under an order of the Court and there can be no question of the High Court 'receiving' the plaint in the sense contemplated in Section 4 and therefore Section 4 cannot be said to require the plaint of the transferred suit to be stamped with fees prescribed by the Act. (The Court-fee paid in the original Court at the time of the institution of the suit is the fee properly payable under the Act). AIR 1955 Cal 258 (261, 262, 263) (DB).

(23) Provisions of Order 44, Rule 1, C. P. C. are specific provisions contrary to Section 4, Court-fees Act and they will supersede that of that section — So only in cases governed by O. 44, Rule 1, memo of appeal may be presented without being stamped — But as special appeals filed under the Letters Patent and the Rules of the High Court are not governed by O. 44, Rule 1, there is no specific provision contrary to that contained in Sec. 4. Hence Section 4 will prevail and Court-fee will be paid on each memo of appeal. AIR 1965 All 79 (DB).

(24) The High Court has no statutory or inherent jurisdiction to make any order either for refund of Court-fees or for the issue of a certificate for such refund in the case of a suit transferred to the High Court in its Extraordinary Original Civil Jurisdiction under Cl. 13 of Letters Patent. AIR 1955 Cal 52 (56).

(25) The Tribunal appointed under Section 4 of, and functioning under, the Displaced Persons (Debts Adjustment) Act, 1951, is a Court within the meaning of the Court-fees Act and under Section 4, fourth paragraph, a Court subject to the superintendence of the High Court. 5. Procedure in case of difference as to necessity or amount of fee.—When any difference arises between the officer whose duty it is to see that any fee is paid under this Chapter and any suitor or attorney, as to the necessity of paying a fee or the amount thereof, the question shall, when the difference arises in any of the said High Courts, be referred to the taxing officer, whose decision thereon shall be final, except when the question is, in his opinion, one of general importance, in which case he shall refer it to the final decision of the Chief Justice of such High Court, or of such Judge of the High Court as the Chief Justice shall appoint either generally or specially in this behalf.

When any such difference arises in any of the said Courts of Small Causes, the question shall be referred to the Clerk of the Court, whose decision thereon shall be final, except when the question is, in his opinion, one of general importance, in which case he shall refer it to the final decision of the first Judge of such Court.

The Chief Justice shall declare who shall be taxing officer within the meaning of the first paragraph of this section.

STATE AMENDMENTS

Manipur and Tripura:

In application to the said Union territories in Section 5,—

- (i) in paragraph 1, for the words 'in any of the said High Courts', substitute the words "in the Court of the Judicial Commissioner for Manipur/Tripura"; and
- (ii) for the words "the Chief Justice of such High Court, or of such Judge of the High Court as the Chief Justice shall appoint either generally or specially in this behalf", substitute the words "Judicial Commissioner";

(27) High Court acting under Article 226 of Constitution exercises "jurisdiction" within meaning of Section 4, Court-fees Act as amended by the U. P. Act 10 of 1959, and not "power". AIR 1960 All 462 (FB).

(28) Court-fee imposed by Amendment is not a tax but a fee — Section 4 and Schedule 2, Article 1 (e) as amended by Court-fees (U. P. Amendment) Act (10 of 1959) are within legislative competence of U. P. Legislature. AIR 1960 All 462 (FB).

(29) Section 4 of the Court-fees Act prohibits the acceptance of the document by the High Court of a memorandum of appeal and when such a document is taken, it is not taken as a memo of appeal by which an appeal is deemed to have been filed but merely as a defective document on the basis of which, after the defect has been removed, an appeal might come into existence. SECTION 5 — SYNOPSIS

1. Scope and object.
2. Section 5 and Section 12.
3. "When any difference arises."
4. "Officer whose duty it is to sec."
5. "Any fee is paid under this Chapter".
6. "Any of the said High Courts."
7. Taxing officer.

Section 5 — Synopsis (contd.)

8. Matters for decision of Taxing Officer under this section.
9. Fees in subordinate Courts.
10. Finality of Taxing Officer's decision.
11. Reference by taxing officer.
12. Decision of Taxing Judge — Finality.
13. Reference to Bench.
14. Enquiry by Taxing Officer or Taxing Judge.
15. Powers and duties under this section.
16. Objection as to court-fee on appeal if can be taken after admission of appeal.

1. Scope and object. — (1) The object of the section is to secure payment of court-fees prior to litigation and to afford as little scope as possible for litigation over the payment. AIR 1925 Cal 1201 (1204) = 52 Cal 871 (DB).

(2) Although the question of Court-fee is primarily between the party and the Crown, the opposite party can raise an objection in regard to it. AIR 1943 Pat 102 (103, 104) = 21 Pat 720.

(3) Payment of Court-fee as a source of revenue is a matter primarily between the State and the subject. If the State has realised the Court-fee it is hardly proper for the opposing litigant to raise objections on the score of Court-fee for the purpose of shutting out or obstructing adjudication of disputes. AIR 1959 Punj 629 (632) = ILR (1959) Punj 1770.

(4) The procedure laid down in Section 5 will be necessary to be followed in those cases only where a document is claimed to be chargeable with Court-fee under Chap. II of the Act. Should any document be not chargeable with Court-fee under Chap. II, Sec. 5 cannot interpose nor will it be necessary to refer the matter to the taxing officer or to the Taxing Judge under its provisions. Petition under Art. 226 does not come under Chapter II. AIR 1960 All 179 (182).

(5) Chief Justice and Taxing Judge deciding reference under Section 5 are not persona designata. AIR 1969 All 484 (FB). (AIR 1927 Bom 643 Diss. from.)

2. Section 5 and Section 12. — (1) This section corresponds to Section 12. Whereas this section deals with the question of court-fees in Chartered High Courts and Presidency Small Cause Courts, Section 12 deals with the Court-fees to be paid in other Courts. AIR 1935 Pat 396 (397) = 14 Pat 658 (SB)  AIR 1925 Pat 392 (392) = 4 Pat 336 (FB)

(2) Scope of S. 12 is narrower than that of S. 5 — S. 5 makes a decision as to the necessity of paying a fee or the amount thereof final while S. 12 makes a decision on every question relating to valuation for determining the amount of any fee payable on plaint or memorandum of appeal final. AIR 1953 SC 28 (32) = 1953 SCR 197.

3. "When any difference arises." — (1) For the applicability of the section, there must be a difference between a suitor or his attorney and the officer of the Court regarding the court-fee. AIR 1925 Pat 392 (403) = 4 Pat 336 (FB).

(2) When an appeal is preferred and the Stamp Reporter makes a report that the court-fee paid is not sufficient a difference within the meaning of this section arises although the additional court-fee as stated by the Stamp Reporter to be due is paid by the appellant. (1890) 12 All 129 (158) (FB).

(3) It may be presumed, from the very fact that a matter had been disposed of by the Taxing Officer, that there had been a difference and that the matter had been referred to him under this section. (1890) 12 All 129 (158) (FB).

(4) Failure to take objection to the Stamp Reporter's report within the period fixed by the High Court, prevents the party in default from raising the question afterwards. It will not prevent the Court from considering the question at the time of deciding whether the proceeding should be dismissed for failure to pay the requisite court-fee. AIR 1934 All 56 (57) (DB).

4. "Officer whose duty it is to see. . . ." — (1) Stamp Reporter is an "Officer". AIR 1925 Pat 392 (394) = 4 Pat 336 (FB).

(2) Chief Inspector of Stamps is an "Officer". AIR 1932 All 319 (320) (DB).

(3) The Officer who has to ensure that the court-fee has been duly paid is the Deputy Registrar, Appellate Side, and the Taxing Officer is the Master. AIR 1930 Mad 597 (597) = 53 Mad 510 (DB).

5. "Any fee is paid under this Chapter." — (1) A fee payable under the schedules will be a fee payable under Chap. II, if it is a fee payable in a Chartered High Court by virtue of S. 3 or S. 4. AIR 1923 Pat 137 (138) = 2 Pat 198 (DB)  AIR 1925 Pat 392 (396) = 4 Pat 336 (FB).

(2) The fee payable under Art. 11 of Schedule I in respect of a probate of a will is covered by this section and an order by the Taxing Officer that no fee is payable in the particular case will be one within this section. (1899) 26 Cal 407 (407)  AIR 1925 Cal 1201 (1202 to 1205) = 52 Cal 871 (DB).

(3) A fee payable in a Chartered High Court under rules made by virtue of the power of the High Court under the Indian High Courts Act 1861, or the Government of India Act of 1935, would be a fee payable under Chap. II.

Section 5 — Note 5 (contd.)

AIR 1922 Mad 421 (422) = 45 Mad 849. (Fee on appeal from Original Side of High Court.)  AIR 1927 Mad 940 (941). (Fees in suits on Original Side of High Court).

(4) This section cannot be utilised to test the legality of any fees prescribed by the High Court by virtue of its powers under the enactments referred to in Section 3. AIR 1938 Cal 755 (756) = ILR (1939) 1 Cal 56.

6. "Any of the said High Courts." —

(1) The expression "High Courts" is not confined to the High Courts in the three Presidency Towns as the Court of Small Causes referred to in the section are AIR 1925 All 787 (789) = 47 All 756 (DB).

(2) The words "the said High Court" in S. 5 refer to the High Courts mentioned in the preceding Sections 3 and 4. AIR 1956 Pepsu 53 (54) = ILR (1956) Patiala 200.

7. Taxing Officer. — (1) In the Madras High Court the Master is the Taxing Officer. AIR 1930 Mad 597 (597) = 53 Mad 540 (DB).

(2) In the Patna and Orissa High Courts the Registrar is the Taxing Officer. AIR 1925 Pat 392 (394) = 4 Pat 336 (FB)  AIR 1951 Orissa 8 (9) = ILR (1950) Cut 368 (DB).

(3) In the Calcutta High Court the Registrar, Appellate Side, is the Taxing Officer. (1910) 37 Cal 914 (917) (DB).

(4) The Registrar is an officer of the High Court and forms part of it and, when he is appointed the Taxing Officer under Section 5 of the Court-fees Act, he does not cease to be so. Under Art. 227 of the Constitution the High Court, cannot exercise jurisdiction over itself and the tribunal amenable to it under that Article, must be apart from it. The Registrar acting under S. 5 of the Court-fees Act cannot, therefore, be regarded as a tribunal whose orders are revisable by the High Court under Art. 227. AIR 1959 Cal 317 (318) = 63 Cal WN 339 (DB).

8. Matters for decision of Taxing Officer under this section. — (1) The words "amount thereof" are wide enough to confer on the Taxing Officer jurisdiction to decide not only questions of valuation of a suit or other proceeding but also questions relating to the category under which the suit will fall for purposes of court-fee. On both questions his decision will be final and cannot be questioned by the Court. AIR 1925 Pat 392 (403) = 4 Pat 336 (FB)  AIR 1923 Pat 137 (138) = 2 Pat 198 (DB)  (1890) 12 All 129 (153) (FB)  (1910) 32 All 59 (62)  AIR 1927 Bom 643 (646) = 52 Bom 61 (DB).

[See also AIR 1937 Mad 46 (47, 51) = ILR (1937) Mad 284 (DB). (Decision of Taxing Officer that ad valorem fees are payable in respect of a matter is final.)]

(2) A question as to whether duty on a probate should be calculated according to the law at the date of the application for probate or at the date of the grant of probate is a question relating to the "amount" of fee. AIR 1927 Bom 643 (645, 646) = 52 Bom 61 (DB).

(3) A Taxing Officer under this section must decide the question of court-fee with reference to the plaint or memorandum of appeal as presented. He cannot say that a particular relief is not necessary. (1890) 12 All 129 (161) (FB). (One of the two declarations sufficient.)  ('36-43) Tax Dec (Nag) 51 (52). (Mere declaration.)  ('36-43) Tax Dec. (Nag) 64 (66).

[But see AIR 1943 Pat 102 (106) = 21 Pat 728.]

(4) The Taxing Officer is not bound to accept the valuation given in the memorandum of appeal but is entitled to enquire into such valuation himself and come to his own independent conclusion even at variance with the conclusion of the lower Courts. AIR 1925 Pat 392 (396) = 4 Pat 336 (FB). (AIR 1923 Pat 137 = 2 Pat 198 (DB), Approved.)

(5) The Taxing Officer's power of deciding as to the "necessity of paying a fee" would enable him to issue a certificate that no fee is payable on a probate for which application is made to the High Court. AIR 1925 Cal 1201 (1203) = 52 Cal 871 (DB).

(6) A Taxing Officer has jurisdiction to decide if he has power under this section to demand additional court-fee on an appeal after the appeal has been admitted. AIR 1943 Pat 102 (105) = 21 Pat 720.

9. Fees in subordinate Courts. — (1) The Taxing Officer or the Taxing Judge has no power to decide any question as to the court-fees payable in the lower Courts. AIR 1935 All 817 (818) = 58 All 146 (FB). (Per Bennet J. in order of referred.)  AIR 1951 Orissa 8 (9) = ILR (1950) Cut 368 (DB)  AIR 1945 Pat 81 (82) = 23 Pat 749  AIR 1935 Cal 338 (339, 344) (DB)  AIR 1934 All 805 (806) = 57 All 71 (DB). (Dissenting from AIR 1925 All 184.)  AIR 1934 Rang 268 (269) = 12 Rang 335  AIR 1925 Pat 392 (395) = 4 Pat 336 (FB)  AIR 1937 Pat 514 (516) = 16 Pat 491  AIR 1927 Cal 775 (775) (DB).

(2) The Taxing Officer has power to decide all questions as to the court-fee payable in the High Court and he can decide such questions untrammelled by the consideration that his decision would be inconsistent with the view taken by the lower Courts as to the valuation of the matter. AIR 1920 Pat 593 (593) = 4 Pat L Jour 700 (DB). (The terms of Section 5 are imperative and contain no restrictions on the power of Taxing Officer.)  AIR 1951 Orissa 150 (152) = ILR (1950) Cut 497.

(3) The question of court-fee payable in lower Courts is to be decided by the Bench hearing the appeal. The decision of the Bench on such question is unfettered by the Taxing Judge's decision which is final only as regards court-fee on appeal to the High Court. Regarded as decision laying down general principles, the Taxing Judge's decision is merely that of a single Bench and not binding on a Division Bench. AIR 1945 Pat 81 (82) = 23 Pat 749.

10. Finality of Taxing Officer's decision. — (1) The finality of the decision of the Taxing Officer applies not only to the litigant who contested the correctness of the taxation by the taxing clerk but also the respondent who was not a party to the decision by the Taxing Officer. (1897) 20 All 11 (17) (FB). (Section 12 is in contrast.)  AIR 1937 Mad 46 (51) = ILR (1937) Mad 284 (DB). (20 Mad 398, Foll.)  AIR 1930 Mad 597 (598) = 53 Mad 540 (DB).

(2) The word "final" has the same meaning as it has under Section 12. (1890) 12 All 129 (152) (FB)  AIR 1927 Bom 643 (646) = 52 Bom 61 (DB).

[See however AIR 1937 Mad 46 (51) = ILR (1937) Mad 284 (DB). (The order of the Court under Section 12 is subject to the revisional jurisdiction of the High Court [See Section 12 (ii)] — Taxing Officer's order under this section cannot be reversed.)]

(3) The word "final" denotes that the decision of the Taxing Officer cannot be questioned in appeal, revision or review AIR 1943 Bom 441 (442)  ('36-43) Tax Dec. (Nag) 108 (109). (It cannot be reviewed under inherent powers of Court.)  ('36-43) Tax Dec (Nag) 57 (58)  AIR 1917 Pat 100 (100) = 3 Pat L Jour 92 (DB)  AIR 1937 Mad 46 (51) = ILR (1937) Mad 284 (DB). (Under Section 12 the order is subject to revision. No revision lies under this section.)  AIR 1923 Pat 137 (138) = 2 Pat 198 (DB)  AIR 1927 Bom 643 (645, 646) = 52 Bom 61 (DB)  (1890) 12 All 129 (160) (FB).

(4) Decision of Taxing Officer, on issue of court-fee payable, cannot be referred to Taxing Judge. AIR 1966 All 227.

(5) Where the intention of the Taxing Officer is not to decide the matter finally but merely to express an opinion and refer the question to the Taxing Judge, the Taxing Judge has jurisdiction to go into the matter. ('36-43) Tax Dec (Nag) 57 (58).

(6) The finality is not merely a temporary finality for the purpose of the preliminary proceedings in connection with getting an appeal or other proceeding filed. AIR 1937 Mad 46 (51) = ILR (1937) Mad 284 (DB).

(7) Where once the question of court-fee on an appeal has been decided by the Taxing Officer, it cannot be re-opened at the hearing of the appeal before this section and cannot be questioned AIR 1920 Pat 593 (593) = 4 Pat L Jour 700 (DB).

[See AIR 1918 Pat 210 (210) = 3 Pat L Jour 443. (Case was followed in AIR 1939 Pat 83 = 17 Pat 687 (DB).]

(8) However wrong the order of the Taxing Officer may be, it is final under this section and cannot be questioned by the Court. 1907 Pun Re No. 39 p. 168 (170) (DB)  AIR 1935 Cal 338 (339) (DB)  AIR 1937 Mad 46 (51) = ILR (1937) Mad 284 (DB)  AIR 1925 Pat 392 (394) = 4 Pat 336 (FB)  AIR 1932 All 319 (320) (DB)  AIR 1920 Pat 593 (593) = 4 Pat L Jour 700 (DB). (9) An accidental slip or an arithmetical mistake made in the Taxing Officer's decision can be corrected. ('36-43) Tax Dec. (Nag) 108 (110).

(10) In order to be final under this section, the decision of the Taxing Officer must be one on the merits. AIR 1934 All 56 (57, 58) (DB). (11) The mere fact that an appeal is admitted does not necessarily involve a decision that the court-fee paid is sufficient and therefore does not preclude the question as to sufficiency of court-fee being raised at the hearing of the appeal. AIR 1943 Pat 102 (105) = 21 Pat 720.

11. Reference by Taxing Officer. — (1) The section leaves it absolutely to the judgment of the Taxing Officer whether a reference to the Judge must be made. There is no provision for compelling him to make the reference. AIR 1937 Mad 46 (48) = ILR (1937) Mad 284 (DB).

(3) The Taxing Judge can decide only the point referred to him in the order and not any other point not referred. ('36-43) Tax Dec (Nag) 94 (95).

(4) Where there was a conflict of decisions in the same High Court on a question of court-fees on a memorandum of appeal from a decree for mesne profits it was held that the Taxing Officer acted rightly in referring the question to the Judge under this section. AIR 1933 Pat 81 (83) = 12 Pat 188.

(5) Where the jurisdiction of the Taxing Officer to decide a matter or make an order is being questioned, he can refer the question under this section, if he thinks the question to be of general importance. AIR 1943 Pat 102 (105) = 21 Pat 720.

(6) In references under this section, the Taxing Officer should avoid referring abstract question of law. The question to be referred to the Court should be whether the particular suitor has to pay a court-fee or additional court-fee. This can be done by referring the whole case of court-fee arising in a particular case to the Court. 1965 All LJ 909.

(3) The Chief Justice can appoint himself as the Taxing Judge under this section. AIR 1923 Mad 362 (362) = 46 Mad 592.

(4) It is not necessary that the Chief Justice must specify the Judge to dispose of a reference before it is made; he can specify the Judge on receiving the reference. Even if he has specified a Judge to dispose of references generally, he has the power to specify another Judge to dispose of a particular reference even after the reference has been made; in that event the particular Judge becomes the Judge to whom the reference is to be made. AIR 1957 All 207 (212) (DB). (Per Desai J.)

(5) The section does not prescribe any form in which the order of the Chief Justice appointing a Judge or constituting a Bench to hear a matter should be passed. The order might be a general or special one. It might be written or even an oral one. AIR 1957 All 207 (209) (DB).

(6) No assumption can be made, from the practice in the Madras High Court to refer disputes as to proper court-fees arising between suitors on the Original Side and the Registry to the Chamber Judge, that the Chamber Judge on the Original Side was appointed generally to deal with such disputes. AIR 1958 SC 245 (249) = 1958 SCR 1021.

(7) The section provides that the question is to be referred to the final decision of the Chief Justice, etc. This implies that such Judge shall not have power to refer the matter further to another Bench for disposal. (10) Taxing Officer decided that a certain court-fee be paid on a memo of appeal — Appellant failed to pay the same — Case placed before a Bench for orders — Order of the Taxing Officer attacked before the Bench as being ultra vires — The matter may be referred by such Bench to a Full Bench. AIR 1925 Pat 392 (393) = 4 Pat 336 (FB).

(11) Where the question about the adequacy of the Court-fees leviable on the appellant's memorandum of appeal is properly referred by the Master to the Chief Justice of the Madras High Court and has been decided by the Division Bench of the High Court in pursuance of the requisite order made by the Chief Justice in that behalf, the decision reached by the Division Bench must be held to be final under this section. AIR 1958 SC 245 (251) = 1958 SCR 1021.

14. Enquiry by Taxing Officer or Taxing Judge. — (1) The parties should be called upon to produce in such manner as may be convenient, evidence to enable the Taxing Officer to decide the question of court-fee. It should not be decided merely on the allegations in the plaint. AIR 1925 Pat 392 (397) = 4 Pat 336 (FB)  AIR 1951 Orissa 150 (152) = ILR (1950) Cut 497.

15. Powers and duties under this section. — (1) The Taxing Officer or Taxing Judge has no power to dispose of the proceeding if the requisite court-fee is not paid and if the fee is not paid as required, the matter must be laid before the Court for orders. See AIR 1925 Pat 392 (393) = 4 Pat 336 (FB)  (1875) 24 Suth WR 258 (258) (DB). (No power to return petition of appeal when stamp insufficient.)  (1910) 32 All 59 (63). SECTION 6 — SYNOPSIS

1. Heading of Chapter.
2. Scope and applicability.
3. "Document of any of the kinds specified."
4. Probates and letters of administration.
5. "Received."
6. "Furnished."
7. Power of Court to question valuation given by party.
8. "Amount not less than that indicated by either of the said schedules as the proper fee."
9. U. P. State Amendments.

1. Heading of Chapter. — (1) The heading of Chapter III of which this is the first section is not an accurate heading. If the heading were accurate, all the sections in the chapter would refer only to Courts other than Chartered High Courts and Presidency Small Cause Courts. This is not the case. For instance, Sections 7 and 8 are general in terms and refer to fees payable "under this Act", and not only to those "under this chapter". (See also the wording of Section 12). When there is inconsistency between the heading of a chapter and a section therein, the latter is to prevail. AIR 1925 All 787 (789) = 47 All 756 (DB)  AIR 1932 Cal 346 (348) = 59 Cal 528.

2. Scope and applicability. — (1) The fees payable in the Madras City Civil Court are governed by this section. (1912) 35 Mad 567 (568) (FB).

(2) This section does not make provisions with regard to Chartered High Courts. AIR 1928 Sind 87 (88) = 23 Sind LR 91 (DB).

(3) The provision in Section 6 of the Court-fees Act about payment of court-fees must mean payment to the Government of the State. The adequacy of the amount of court-fee payable in a particular State must be judged in accordance with the Court-fees Act as amended and applicable in the particular State. AIR 1960 Bom 96 (98, 99) = 61 Bom LR 996.

(4) The Judge of the High Court who constitutes the Board under the Bihar Land Reforms Act (30 of 1950) and to whom appeals under Section 17 of that Act lie is a public officer. Thus the petition of appeal cannot be received by reason of this section by the Board without payment of Court-fees prescribed either in Schedule I or in Sch. II. AIR 1958 Pat 235 (236) = 36 Pat 507.

(5) The failure to pay the prescribed court-fees on a plaint will not affect the jurisdiction of the Court to entertain the suit. AIR 1918 PC 188 (191) = 43 Bom 507 = 46 Ind App 24  (1913) 24 Mad L Jour 658 (659) (DB)  AIR 1952 Madh B 147 (Pr 6).

(6) Where a plaint is unstamped or is on the face of it understamped, then under S. 6 of the Court-fees Act the Court may refuse to receive it. AIR 1949 Nag 263 (264, 265) = ILR (1948) Nag 932.

(7) Court-fee on plaint found insufficient — Court should not dismiss suit on merits without calling upon plaintiff to pay additional Court-fee — Failure to supply deficient Court-fees — Plaint has to be rejected. AIR 1957 Ker 85.

(8) Government also is bound to pay court-fees like any other litigant in suits filed by the Government and, if successful can recover the same as costs. (1902) 25 Mad 457 (497) (DB).

(2) Section 6 of the Act shall be renumbered as sub-section (1) thereof and after sub-section (1) as so renumbered, add sub-section (2) as follows:—

[Note.—This sub-section (2) is the same as that of West Bengal.]—Reg. II of 1957, Ss. 4 and 5 (1-8-1957).

Manipur and Tripura:

In application to the said Union territories, in S. 6, for the words “Except in the Courts hereinbefore mentioned”, substitute the words “Except in the Court of the Judicial Commissioner for Manipur/Tripura” (w.e.f. 15-12-1963)—See G.S.Rs. 1119 and 1120, Gaz. of Ind., 1-7-1963, Pt. II, Sec. 3(i), pp. 501 and 531.

Orissa:

Section 6 has been renumbered as S. 6(1) and the following inserted as S. 6(2):—

“(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1), the State Government may by notification, direct that a copy of a document, specified as chargeable in Schedules I and II to this Act annexed, shall be furnished by a Public Officer without payment of the fee indicated by either of the said Schedules as the proper fee for such copy and the copy so furnished shall be chargeable with the requisite fee only when it is filed, exhibited or recorded in any Court of justice or received by a public officer as mentioned in sub-section (1).”—Orissa Act 5 of 1939, S. 4 (31-10-1939).

(9) The court-fee payable on a document has to be ascertained under the provisions of the Court-fees Act, at the time when the document is required to be filed, exhibited or received in a Court and if the document is not adequately stamped at the crucial date, it has no validity. AIR 1950 Bom 234 (235, 236).

(10) Under this section the Court is directed not to accept a document which is not properly stamped but it has been held that the section has to be read along with S. 149, Civil P. C. and when an insufficiently stamped document is filed in Court, the Court has jurisdiction under the latter section to grant time for making good the deficiency. AIR 1956 All 663 (664, 665) = ILR (1956) 1 All 156 (DB).

(11) This section does not concern itself with the mode or manner in which a document comes before a Court; the terms of the section are explicit and require that in respect of a document coming before it, a fee as prescribed must be paid. Thus, the fact that it is not by reason of a voluntray act on the part of the plaintiff but in pursuance of an order of the Court that the plaint was transferred is not relevant in considering the application of this section. AIR 1950 Bom 234 (235, 236).

(12) When objection is taken by the Court-fee Examiner to the correctness of the Court-fee paid by a party in a suit or appeal and when the party contests the view taken by the Court-fee Examiner, the Court has a duty to consider the nature of the objections raised by the Court-fee Examiner, the explanation offered by the party concerned or his answers to the objection raised by the Court-fee Examiner, and the Court concerned must also pass an order setting out all these aspects and express clearly its view as to whether it accepts the opinion of the Court-fee Examiner or whether it accepts the stand taken by the party concerned. AIR 1967 Ker 85 (87) = 1965 Ker LJ 1038.

(13) Where the plaint is considered as sufficiently stamped at the initial stage by the Court, the question of the applicability of S. 6 does not arise. But if at a later stage the question of Court-fee is raised by the defendant this may be tried as a preliminary issue and if the Court in such a case comes to a finding that the plaint has been insufficiently stamped S. 6 read with O. 7 R. 11, Civil Procedure Code comes into play. AIR 1960 Pat 527 (529) = 1960 BLJR 505.

(14) S. 149, Civil P. C. is exception to rule contained in this section. AIR 1966 Punj 332 (332) = 1965 Cur LJ 578 (DB).

3. “Document of any of the kinds specified.” — (1) An oral application to the Court, where such is allowed, does not require any court-fee under this section (1870) 2 NWPHCR 418 (418) (DB).

(2) If a document does not fall under any of the categories listed in the first or second schedule as being chargeable with fees this section will not apply. AIR 1926 Cal 638 (639).

[See also AIR 1937 Nag 6 (8). (Section 6 refers to Schedules.)]

(3) No court-fee is necessary on an application by a witness for return of documents filed by him in obedience to a summons. (1871) 15 Suth WR 237 (237) (SB).

(4) Applications not required by the Civil Procedure Code to be in writing do not fall within the scope of this section. (1870) 2 NWPHCR 418 (418) (DB).

Pondicherry:

Same as in Andaman and Nicobar—See Act 26 of 1968, S. 3 and Schedule, Pt. II, (18-12-1968).

Uttar Pradesh:

The whole of Section 6, as successively amended by the U. P. Acts 2 of 1936, 19 of 1938, 9 of 1941, 25 of 1952 and 20 of 1958 is reproduced below:

"6. (1) Except in Courts hereinbefore mentioned, no document of any of the kinds specified as chargeable in the First or Second Schedule to this Act annexed shall be filed, exhibited, or recorded in any Court of Justice, or shall be received or furnished by any public officer, unless in respect of such document, there be paid a fee of an amount not less than that indicated by either of the said Schedules as the proper fee for such document:

Provided that where such document relates to any suit, appeal or other proceeding under the United Provinces Tenancy Act, 1939, or the United Provinces Land Revenue Act, 1901, the fee payable shall be three quarters of the fee indicated in either of the said Schedules except where the amount or value of the subject-matter of the suit, appeal or proceeding to which it relates exceeds Rs. 500;

(5) A written statement is not liable to court-fee as not being covered by the first or second schedule. (1883) 12 Cal LR 367 (368) (DB).

(6) A memorandum of objections filed under O. 41 R. 26 of the Civil Procedure Code in regard to findings returned by the lower Court on remand is not liable to court-fee. AIR 1936 Oudh 180 (181) = 11 Luck 704 (DB)  AIR 1932 All 526 (526, 527) = 54 All 465  AIR 1928 Pat 85 (85).

(7) No court-fee is payable on a claim filed by a creditor against the estate of a deceased in pursuance of a public notice inviting such claims, in an administration suit, after a preliminary decree for administration has been passed. AIR 1931 Mad 683 (683, 684) = 55 Mad 626 (DB).

(8) No court-fee is payable on a memorandum of appeal in an appeal to the Government preferred under Rule 22 of the Agency Rules framed by the Government under Act XXIV of 1839 and referred to the High Court under that rule by the Government. (1899) 22 Mad 162 (163).

4. Probates and letters of administration. — (1) Probates or letters of administration are documents of the kind specified in Art. 11 of Sch. 1 and would have been covered by this section. But S. 19K expressly provides that nothing in this section or S. 28 shall apply to probates or letters of administration. (1912) 15 Ind Cas 621 (622) (DB) (Cal).

[But see AIR 1935 All 449 (450) = 57 All 881 (DB).]

(2) The liability for duty on probate or letters of administration does not depend on whether such probate or letters of administration are necessary under the law to entitle a person to get possession or deal with the estate of the deceased. AIR 1935 All 449 (450) = 57 All 881 (DB).

5. "Received." — (1) A transfer of suits from the Original Side to the City Civil Court under Section 8 of Madras Act (10 of 1955) cannot be brought within the scope of the word 'received' occurring in this section. AIR 1958 Mad 291 (294) = ILR (1958) Mad 711 (DB).

(2) Partition suit of two properties — Transferred from City Civil Court to High Court — Section 14 of Madras City Civil Court Act applicable — Plaintiff would be bound to pay court-fees on scale for the time being in force in High Court as a Court of ordinary original civil jurisdiction — Under Section 6 it has to be paid separately on each items of properties, as relief regarding two items of property related to two distinct causes of action. (1963) 76 Mad LW 257.

6. "Furnished." — (1) With reference to the grant of a certificate under Act XXVII of 1860, it was held that the "furnishing" is made at the time when the Court determines to grant the certificate (when it is to be drawn up ready to be issued to the party). The "furnishing" does not refer to the time at which the certificate is actually issued to the applicant by the office. (1872) 17 Suth WR 489 (490) (DB).

(2) When a Court adjudged a person to be entitled to a certificate of guardianship under Act XL of 1858, such person substantially obtained the certificate although it might not be drawn up or issued at the time. (1890) 17 Cal 347 (357) = 16 Ind App 195 (PC). (Reversing ('86) 12 Cal 542.)

7. Power of Court to question valuation given by party. — (1) It is the duty of the Court to enquire into the proper valuation of a suit when it has grounds to consider that the valuation given by the party is not correct. AIR 1925 Pat

Provided further that the fee payable in respect of any such document as is mentioned in the foregoing proviso shall not be less than one and one-fourth of that indicated by either of the said Schedules before the first day of May 1936.

Explanation.—Where the amount of fee prescribed in the Schedule contains any fraction of a rupee below twenty-five naye paise, or above twenty-five naye paise but below fifty naye paise, or above fifty naye paise but below seventy-five naye paise, or above seventy-five naye paise but below one rupee, the proper fee shall be an amount rounded off to the next higher quarter of a rupee as hereinafter appearing in the said Schedules.

(2) Notwithstanding the provisions of sub-section (1), a Court may receive a plaint or memorandum of appeal in respect of which an insufficient fee has been paid but no such plaint or memorandum of appeal shall be acted upon unless the plaintiff or the appellant, as the case may be, makes good the deficiency in court-fee within such time as may from time to time be fixed by the Court.

(3) If a question of deficiency in court-fee in respect of any plaint or memorandum of appeal is raised by an officer mentioned in S. 24-A, the Court shall, before proceeding further with the suit or appeal, record a finding whether the court-fee paid is sufficient or not. If the Court finds that the court-fee paid is insufficient, it shall call upon the plaintiff or the appellant, as the case may be, to make good the deficiency within such time as it may fix, and in case of default shall reject the plaint or memorandum of appeal:

Provided that the Court may, for sufficient reasons to be recorded, proceed with the suit or appeal if the plaintiff or the appellant, as the case may be, gives security to the satisfaction of the Court, for payment of the deficiency in court-fee within such further time as the Court may allow. In no case, however, shall judgment be delivered unless the deficiency in court fee has been made good, and if the deficiency is not made good within such time as the Court may from time to time allow, the Court may dismiss the suit or appeal.

8. "Amount not less than that indicated by either of the said schedules as the proper fee." — (1) Plaint so worded that the plaint could be read both as falling under Section 39 of the Specific Relief Act for adjudging a written instrument void or voidable and as falling under Section 42 of the same Act for a mere declaration — Fee must satisfy both schedules — A fixed fee of Rs. 10 under Sch. II, Art. 17 will not be enough. An ad valorem fee under Sch. 1, if such fee is higher than the fee of Rs. 10 must be paid. AIR 1935 All 817 (833, 834) = 58 All 146 (FB).

9. U. P. State Amendments. — (1) Under sub-section (2) added by the amendments the Court is authorised to receive an insufficiently stamped plaint or memorandum of appeal and grant time to the party to make good the deficiency. (1940) 15 Luck. 390 (391) (DB).

(2) It is imperatively necessary that the provisions of clauses (2), (3) and (4) of Section 6 as amended should be faithfully followed. AIR 1941 All 55 (56) (DB).

(3) Sub-section (3) of Section 6 provides an objection to be raised by a Chief Inspector of Stamps and sub-section

(4) gives another and separate right to the party to raise that question by means a written statement or an application later on. In the first case it will be decided in accordance with sub-section (3) and in the second case it will be decided if there is evidence necessary, after taking the evidence, as an issue in the case. Therefore even though upon the office report, the Court decides in the absence of the respondent that the Court-fee paid by the appellant is sufficient, the respondent can again agitate the question, and the Court can again consider the same and decide that the Court-fee paid is insufficient and direct the appellant to make good the deficiency within a certain time. AIR 1960 All 372 (373). (AIR 1941 Mad 626 and AIR 1949 Mad 395. Dissented from.)

(4) No doubt, a defendant has been given by Section 6 (4) a right to raise the issue, but he can exercise that right so far as the Court trying the issue is concerned only until such time as any decision on it has not been recorded. If after hearing the proper Revenue Authority, such as the Chief Inspector of Stamps, the Court adjudicates upon that question and records a finding; and its finding is not challenged by the Revenue Authority as provided in Section 6B(1) within the period of limitation allowed

(4) Whenever a question of the proper amount of court-fee payable is raised otherwise than under sub-section (3), the Court shall decide such question before proceeding with any other issue.

(5) In case the deficiency in court-fee is made good within the time allowed by the Court, the date of the institution of the suit or appeal shall be deemed to be the date on which the suit was filed or the appeal presented.

(6) In all cases in which the report of the officer referred to in sub-section (3) is not accepted by the Court, a copy of the finding of the Court together with a copy of the plaint, shall forthwith be sent to the Chief Inspector of Stamps."

West Bengal:

(1) By Bengal Act 7 of 1935, for the heading of this chapter, namely, "Fees in other Courts and in Public Offices" the heading "Computation of fees" was substituted.

(2) By the same Act, S. 6 was transferred from Chap. III and inserted after S. 5 in Chap. II and S. 6 as thus transferred was renumbered as sub-section (1), of Section 6 and in that section as so renumbered, for the words "be paid", the words "has been paid" were substituted.

(3) To the said section as so renumbered and amended, the following sub-section was added. [Note.—The sub-section reproduced below is as further amended by S. 2 of the Bengal Act 1 of 1936] namely:

"(2) Notwithstanding anything contained in sub-section (1) or in any other Act, a Court may receive a plaint or memorandum of appeal in respect of which an insufficient fee has been paid subject to the condition that the plaint or memorandum of appeal shall be rejected unless the plaintiff or appellant, as the case may be, pays to the Court within a time to be fixed by the Court such reasonable sum on account of the court-fees as the Court may direct."

by law, that finding is conclusive on the question of sufficiency of court-fee, so far as that Court is concerned and the matter cannot be re-agitated by the defendant before that Court. AIR 1950 All 520 (523) = ILR (1951) 2 All 735 (DB).

(5) Objection as to court-fee raised by the defendant in a suit for partition — Court decided the question of court-fee along with the merits of the case and embodied everything in a single judgment and added a direction that the decree be drawn up after the deficiency is made good — Procedure adopted by the Court is in flagrant violation of the provisions of Section 6, Cl. (4) as amended in United Provinces. AIR 1941 All 55 (56) (DB).

(6) Where on a report of the Munshim of the Court that the court-fee paid on a memorandum of appeal is sufficient, the Court decides that it is sufficient and admits the appeal, the order is only provisional and not final and will not preclude the Court from considering and adjudicating upon an objection as to inadequacy of court-fee raised by the Inspector of Stamps or by the respondent who had not yet been heard on the point. AIR 1942 Oudh 385 (386).

(7) Revision application by the Chief Inspector of Stamps should state date on which order of lower Court was received. AIR 1946 All 355 (356) (FB).

(8) The only penalty against appellant not paying deficient court-fee is rejection of appeal — Deficiency cannot be recovered from him. AIR 1946 All 355 (356) (FB).

(9) Proceeding with the receivership application amounts to "proceeding with the suit", within the meaning of Section 6 (3) as amended in the Uttar Pradesh. Hence, if there is an objection that the plaint is not properly stamped, the Court ought not to take any action upon it so as to give relief to the plaintiff by way of an interim injunction or an order of appointment of a receiver or otherwise before it decides the issue of the court-fee. AIR 1952 All 279 (284) = ILR (1953) 1 All 170 (DB).

(10) Section 28 of the Act is not to be treated as a justification for flouting the provisions of Sections 4 and 6 and no Court is deliberately to receive a document insufficiently stamped except in the circumstances mentioned in Section 6 (2). No time can be given for making good a deficiency of any Court fee except as permitted by Section 6 (2), and it follows that a High Court has no power to give time for making good a deficiency in the Court-fee; it must refuse to receive the document. AIR 1964 All 552 (555, 557) (FB).

(11) Plaint not properly stamped cannot be filed or received — Even if filed and received it will remain invalid unless it is properly stamped — Fact that plaint was held to be a valid document by court receiving it neither precludes appellate Court from judging its validity nor absolves it from the duty of doing

Sections 6-A, 6-B, 6-C

Uttar Pradesh:

6-A. (1) Any person called upon to make good a deficiency in court-fee may appeal against such order as if it were an order appealable under Section 104 of the Code of Civil Procedure.

The party appealing shall file with the memorandum of appeal, a certified copy of the plaint together with that of the order appealed against.

(2) In case an appeal is filed under sub-section (1), and the plaintiff does not make good the deficiency, all proceedings in the suit shall be stayed, and all interim orders made including an order granting an injunction or appointing a receiver, shall be discharged.

(3) A copy of the memorandum of the appeal together with a copy of the plaint and of the order appealed against shall be sent forthwith by the appellate Court to the Chief Inspector of Stamps.

(4) If such order is varied or reversed in appeal, the appellate Court shall, if the deficiency has been made good before the appeal is decided, grant to the appellant a certificate, authorising him to receive back from the Collector such amount as is determined by the appellate Court to have been paid in excess of the proper court-fee.

Sections 6A to 6C (U. P. State Amendment) — Note 1

(1) Where in a partition suit, on objection by the defendant regarding court-fee, the Court passes a judgment in plaintiff's favour and orders that the decree should not be drawn up till the deficient court-fee is paid and the plaintiff appeals without paying the deficiency in court-fee, his appeal is only against an order under Section 6-A but not against a decree as no decree has been drawn up. AIR 1941 All 55 (56) (DB).

(2) It is not open to the defendant in an appeal by the plaintiff to file cross-objections to the effect that the plaintiff should have been called upon to pay a higher amount of court-fee. AIR 1942 Oudh 391 (391) = 18 Luck 256 (DB)  AIR 1954 All 188.

(3) When an appeal lies against an order directing payment of court-fees, incidental orders which led up to it can be set right. AIR 1941 All 298 (300) = ILR (1941) All 558 (DB).

(4) Suit filed before the coming into force of the amendment — Order regarding court-fee passed against the plaintiff subsequently can be appealed against under Section 6-A (1). AIR 1941 All 298 (300) = ILR (1941) All 558 (DB).

(5) The Chief Inspector of Stamps is incompetent to make a reference to the High Court under Section 6-D. He is only entitled under Section 6-B within the prescribed period to move the prescribed Court by an application in writing for revision. A letter sent by the Chief Inspector containing a statement of his opinion and not bearing a stamp cannot be considered to be an application in writing for revision under Section 6-B. AIR 1941 All 369 (370) = ILR (1941) All 585 (DB).

(6) Appeal under Section 45 (2), U. P. Encumbered Estates Act — District Judge directing payment of ad valorem court-fee and granting time to make good deficiency — Section 46, U. P. Encumbered Estates Act, does not apply — Remedy is by appeal under Section 6-A, Court-fees Act. AIR 1943 Oudh 213 (214) (DB).

(7) Decision of appeal regarding court-fee under Section 6-A (U. P.). Court-fees Act — Order demanding additional court-fee — Decision of appellate Court is a case decided within Section 115. AIR 1960 All 590.

(8) The order demanding court-fee may be said to be a 'case decided' within Section 115, Civil P. C. But since under Section 6-A an appeal is provided for the plaintiff, no revision is maintainable in High Court at his instance. AIR 1952 All 644 (Prs. 6, 7, 8) (DB).

(9) There is nothing in Section 12 to indicate that if the Chief Inspector of Stamps has not taken any steps under Section 6-B, the matter becomes final and that it cannot be considered again by the superior Court under Section 12. AIR 1949 All 324 (325) = ILR (1949) All 710 (DB).

(5) The Court may make such order for the payment of costs of such appeal as it deems fit, and where such costs are payable to the Government, they shall be recoverable as arrears of land revenue.

6-B. (1) If the order of the Court passed under sub-section (3) of Section 6 is at variance with the opinion of the officer by whom the question of deficiency in court-fee has been raised, the Chief Inspector of Stamps may, within three months from the date of receipt of such order, move, by an application in writing, the Court to which an appeal lies from a decree in the suit or appeal in which such order has been passed, for revision of such order.

(2) If such Court is of opinion that the proper court-fee has not been paid on the plaint or the memorandum of appeal to which such order relates, it shall record a declaration to that effect and determine the amount of deficiency in court-fee. No appeal shall lie from such order:

Provided that no such declaration shall be made until the party liable to pay the court-fee has had an opportunity of being heard.

(3) The Court, while recording a declaration under sub-section (2) may make such order for the payment of costs as it deems fit. Where such costs are payable to the Government, they shall be recoverable in the manner laid down in sub-section (4) for the recovery of deficiency in court-fee.

(4) When a declaration has been recorded under sub-section (2), the Court recording the same shall, unless the suit or appeal has come up in appeal before such Court, in which case the deficiency in court-fee shall be recovered in the manner laid down in sub-section (ii) of Section 12, send forthwith a copy of such declaration to the Court which passed the order under sub-section (3) of Section 6. Such Court shall, if the suit or appeal is still pending before it, follow the procedure prescribed in sub-section (3) of Section 6. If the suit or appeal has already been disposed of, the Court shall forward a copy of such declaration to the Collector who shall recover the deficiency from the party concerned as if it were an arrear of land revenue.

6-C. (1) When the Chief Controlling Revenue Authority is of opinion that the court-fee paid on any document filed in any Civil Court in a pending suit, appeal or other proceeding is insufficient, and that the question is one of general importance and no action under S. 6-B has been taken, it may refer the case, with its own opinion thereon, to the High Court to which such Civil Court is subordinate.

(2) Every such case shall be decided by not less than two Judges of the High Court to which it is referred.

(3) The High Court upon the hearing of any such case shall decide the question raised thereby and shall deliver its judgment thereon containing the grounds on which the decision is founded.

(10) Inspector of Stamps filing report regarding insufficient Court-fee on plaint -- Court holding that Court-fee paid was sufficient -- High Court has no power to direct plaintiff to make good any deficiency of Court-fee on plaint -- Failure of Chief Inspector to file revision under Section 6-B of Court-fees Act against decision of lower Court would disentitle him to raise same question in appeal filed by a defendant against decree in suit. 1964 All LJ 944.

(11) In an appeal under Section 6-A the decision of the trial Court relating to the valuation of the subject-matter of the suit for the purposes of determining the amount of court-fee payable is final between the parties and cannot be challenged in appeal. However, the High Court has power to interfere under Section 115 of Civil P. C. 1957 All L Jour 53 (54).

(12) The revisional jurisdiction under Section 6-B of the Court-fees Act is much wider than the jurisdiction under Section 115, Civil P. C. Under the former provision, the High Court can interfere if it is of opinion that proper Court-fee had not been paid on the memorandum of appeal to which the order under revision relates. SECTION 7 (GENERAL) — SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.
2. Applicability to High Courts.
3. General rules for determination of court-fees payable in suits.
4. Power of Court to question plaintiff's or appellant's estimate of value of subject-matter.
5. Value for purposes of court-fees and jurisdiction — Distinction.
6. Subject-matter in dispute in appeal.
7. Valuation of appeal — Valuation in lower Court, effect of.
8. Applicability to appeals.
9. Court-fee, a preliminary point.
10. Amendment of plaint and court-fees.
11. Relinquishment of claim for bringing suit or appeal within certain court-fee.
12. Court-fee on costs.

1. Scope. — (1) This section deals with the mode of computing the court-fees payable in the various classes of suits enumerated therein. AIR 1921 Sind 149 (149) = 16 Sind LR 273 (DB)  AIR 1957 Punj 32 (34) = ILR (1957) Punj 142 (DB). (Section 7 is only a computing section and what has to be paid in cases which fall under Section 7 has to be looked for in Schedules I and II.)  AIR 1970 Delhi 44 (49) (DB).

(2) If a suit does not come under any of the categories mentioned in this section, the fees payable will be determined in accordance with such of the articles in the two schedules as may be applicable to the case. AIR 1939 Rang 375 (376) = 1939 Rang LR 474.

(3) The section only applies where ad valorem fee is payable. AIR 1946 All 392 (393) = ILR (1946) All 455 (DB).

(4) The section contemplates three modes of valuation of the subject-matter of a suit: (i) By valuing it according to its market-value (e. g. paras (iii), (iv), (d), (v) (e) etc.), (ii) By ascribing to the subject-matter an artificial value based simply on certain fixed rules of calculation (e. g. para. (v) clauses (a), (b), (c) and (iii) by requiring the plaintiff himself to value the relief he seeks (e. g. para (iv).) see AIR 1939 Cal 155 (156) = ILR (1938) 2 Cal 411 (DB).

(5) The defective drafting of the section has been the subject of comment. AIR 1932 Cal 346 (348) = 59 Cal 528  AIR 1925 All 787 (789) = 47 All 756 (DB).

(6) No rules framed in Tripura under Suits Valuation Act, 1887 or Court-fees Act, 1870 — Courts of Tripura held guided only by provisions of Court-fees Act as made applicable to Tripura State. AIR 1968 Tripura 11.

2. Applicability to High Courts. — (1) This section applies to all fees payable under this Act. Hence, it applies to the computation of court-fees on appeals in Chartered High Courts also. AIR 1925 All 787 (789) = 47 All 756 (DB)  AIR 1937 Mad 46 (50) = ILR (1937) Mad 284 (DB)  AIR 1932 Cal 346 (348) = 59 Cal 528  AIR 1925 Pat 392 (404) = 4 Pat 336 (FB).

Section 7 (Gen.) (contd.)

3. General rules for determination of court-fees payable in suits. — (1) The schedules classify suits into different categories for the purpose of court-fees. The first thing to do in determining the court-fee payable on a plaint is to see under which of these categories the suit falls. (3) A suit under O. 21, R. 103 of the Civil Procedure Code though one for possession of immovable property is governed by Sch. II, Art. 17, cl. (i) and not by para. (v) of this section read with Sch. I, Art. 1. AIR 1933 Nag 362 (364)  AIR 1927 Pat 140 (141) = 5 Pat 631 (DB).

(4) In determining the category of a suit for the purpose of court-fee, the Court must base its decision as to the court-fee payable on the allegations and prayers in the plaint. 4. Power of Court to question plaintiff's or appellant's estimate of value of subject-matter. — (1) It is not ordinarily open to the Court to allow amendment of the plaint which may help the plaintiff, not really within its jurisdiction, to come within its jurisdiction. AIR 1949 Mad 719 (Pr. 4).

(2) The power of a Court to require the value of a suit to be corrected under O. 7, R. 11, Civil P. C., applies even to cases in which, under S. 7, Para (iv) of this Act the court-fee on the suit is to be computed according to the amount at which the relief sought is valued in the plaint or memorandum of appeal. The provisions of Section 7, para. (iv) are subject to the provisions of O. 7, R. 11. AIR 1939 Nag 50 (56) = ILR (1938) Nag 558 (FB). 5. Value for purposes of court-fees and jurisdiction — Distinction. — (1) Court-fee payable being fixed amount — No valuation of suit or appeal is necessary for purpose of ascertaining court-fee payable — But there will have to be a valuation for purposes of jurisdiction. AIR 1925 Pat 392 (398) = 4 Pat 336 (FB)  (1911) 37 Cal 860 (862)  (1888) 15 Cal 104 (106, 107) (DB).

(2) Suit for bare declaration of title to property — Court-fee payable on plaint is Rs. 10 under Art. 17 of second schedule but value of suit for purposes of jurisdiction would be real value of property and not amount for which Rs. 10 would be an ad valorem fee under first schedule. AIR 1918 PC 188 (191) = 43 Bom 507 = 46 Ind App 24.

(3) Where a suit falls under Sch. 2, Art. 17 (vi), the valuation for jurisdiction would not be the same as for the purpose of Court-fee. AIR 1966 Pat 441 (444) = 1966 BLJR 672.

(4) Even in those cases in which an ad valorem court-fee is payable, value of a suit or appeal for purpose of court-fees is not always the same as value for purposes of jurisdiction. (1888) 12 Bom 675 (677) (DB).

(5) Where an ad valorem court-fee is payable under Court-fees Act, value of a suit for purposes of court-fees and its value for purposes of jurisdiction are the same. (1888) 12 Bom 675 (677) (DB)  AIR 1925 All 602 (604) = 47 All 501.

(6) In the absence of any special provisions the question of court-fees and that of valuation for jurisdictional purposes are distinct and fall to be decided separately under the respective enactments dealing with them. [See also (1860) 7 Moo Ind App 428 (429) (PC).]

(7) Once the plaintiff exercises his option under Section 7(iv) and values his claim for purposes of court-fees that determines the value for jurisdiction and not vice versa. AIR 1958 SC 245 (252) = 1958 SCR 1021.

(8) Suit for partition — Value of suit for jurisdiction of Court — Value of plaintiffs' share and not that of entire estate determines jurisdiction — Such value not exceeding ten thousand rupees — High Court cannot entertain partition suit. AIR 1962 Bom 4 (7) = 63 Bom LR 552.

6. Subject-matter in dispute in appeal. — (1) Value of the subject-matter of an appeal simply means value of the relief which has been granted or refused by the decree or portion of the decree against which the appeal is preferred. AIR 1941 All 295 (297)  AIR 1949 Ajmer 23 (Pr. 20.) (Appeal — Court-fee paid on reliefs disallowed by trial Court — Court-fee held adequate.)

(2) Party may confine his appeal to a portion of relief granted or refused and if he does so, it is the value of such portion that will constitute the value of the subject-matter in dispute in the appeal. (1936-1943) Tax Dec (Nag) 36 (37).

(3) Appeal directed against a decree or portion of decree granting any relief against appellant — Value of appeal is value of relief so granted, or such portion thereof as may be in dispute in appeal. (4) A filing suit for declaration of title and possession of certain lands with mesne profits — Suit decreed subject to condition that plaintiff must pay certain sum to defendant — Plaintiff appealing from decree — Subject matter in dispute in appeal is relief imposing payment on plaintiff and he is bound to pay court-fee on such amount — Defendant appealing — Defendant is bound to pay court-fee according to value of land and not such value reduced by amount directed to be paid to him by decree. AIR 1922 Mad 211 (214) = 45 Mad 246  AIR 1925 Mad 323 (324) = 48 Mad 652.

(5) Suit for redemption of kanom mortgage-decree passed for redemption on payment not only of amount of kanom but also of value of improvements. — Appeal preferred by plaintiff as regards value of improvements — Value of improvements constitute subject-matter in dispute in appeal and court-fee is to be proportionate to such value. AIR 1926 Mad 225 (226) (DB).

(6) Suit for possession and mesne profits decreed in plaintiff's favour — Defendant appealing from whole decree — Claim for mesne profits also forms part of subject-matter of appeal although trial Court has directed their ascertainment in separate proceedings.

(7) A plaintiff sued for dissolution of partnership and accounts — Suit dismissed — Claim for dissolution of partnership and accounts constitutes subject-matter in dispute in appeal. AIR 1921 Sind 149 (151) = 16 Sind LR 273 (DB).

7. Valuation of appeal — Valuation in lower Court, effect of. — (1) Plaintiff sued for accounts, valuing his suit under Section 7 para. (iv) (f) at Rs. 2000 — Suit dismissed — Appeal from the decision — It is not open to him to value his appeal at a lesser amount. AIR 1921 Sind 149 (150) = 16 Sind LR 273 (DB)  AIR 1933 Rang 410 (1) (410) (DB).

(2) A plaintiff filed suit for accounts, valuing suit at a particular amount under Section 7 para (iv) — Preliminary decree passed merely declaring plaintiff's right to have accounts taken and not granting him any particular sum — Defendant appealed — He must pay court-fee on appeal according to amount at which plaintiff had valued relief in plaint. AIR 1917 Mad 668 (669) = 39 Mad 725 (FB).

Declaration is purely incidental and the relief superfluous and unnecessary for the purpose of decreeing partition and directing delivery of possession—No court-fee need be paid in the appeal by the senior widow even though a decree has been passed by the lower Court granting that prayer.)]

(6) Plaintiff filed suit for possession of land and damages and for demolition of structures erected by defendant on the land — Suit decreed in its entirety — Defendant appealed — Held, that value of subject-matter of appeal could not be less than value of subject-matter of suit as adopted and acted upon by lower Court. AIR 1941 All 295 (297).

(7) Suit decreed by trial Court but dismissed in appeal — Plaintiff preferred second appeal — It is enough if he pays court-fees on valuation adopted in trial Court. AIR 1917 Lah 386 (387) (DB).

Defendant filed second appeal and he paid Rs. 10 under Schedule 2, Article 17 (vi) on ground that subject-matter of appeal was incapable of valuation — It was held that the value of the second appeal would be approximate amount which might remain unrealised after sale of articles — Unless defendant could show that articles were likely to fetch higher value, value placed by plaintiff should be considered proper in second appeal and defendant would be liable to pay ad valorem Court-fee thereon. 1955 Raj LW 35 (35).

1927 Oudh 623 (624)  AIR 1953 All 442 (Pr. 4).

(2) Paragraph does not apply to a suit for a bare declaration of the plaintiff's right to receive a periodical payment. AIR 1925 Bom 282 (282) (DB)  AIR 1953 All 442 (Pr. 4). (Such a suit will come under Article 17 (iii) of Schedule II.)

(3) In the following cases it was held that a suit for declaration that the plaintiff is entitled to receive a certain sum periodically from the defendant is a suit within this paragraph. AIR 1920 All 40 (40) = 42 All 353 (DB)  AIR 1934 Lah 150 (150) (DB)  AIR 1934 Pat 240 (242) = 13 Pat 290 (DB).

(4) When a person sues for maintenance at a particular rate, whether or not she has been refused maintenance by the Magistrate under Section 488, Criminal P. C., she is clearly making a money claim whose value can be assessed under this section. AIR 1953 Vindh Pra 28 (Pr. 6) = 1953 Cri L Jour 1214.

(5) When a Magistrate having ordered maintenance, the husband or father comes to the Civil Court, he does not exactly ask for the cancellation of a specific monetary liability. What he can urge is that there are circumstances which entitle him to a declaration that the person concerned is not his wife or child or that the right to maintenance has been lost by her or his own conduct. In such a case it is a suit for declaration about status or a disqualification. Such suit is not to be taxed ad valorem, but under Schedule 2, Article 17, Clause (3) of the Act, and the appropriate local amendment, if any, to that article. AIR 1953 Vindh Pra 28 (Pr. 6) = 1953 Cri L Jour 1214.

2. "Maintenance."—(1) Maintenance ordinarily imports a conception of amounts payable for life to a person by virtue of his standing in a particular relationship with somebody else and though the obligation to make the payment may often be defined in a contract, the original relationship which gives rise to the obligation is not necessarily contractual. AIR 1934 Cal 674 (675) = 61 Cal 513.

3. "Annuity."—(1) Annuity is an yearly payment of a certain sum of money granted to another in fee for life or years charging the person only. AIR 1934 Cal 674 (675) = 61 Cal 513.

4. "Other sums payable periodically."—(1) Expression "other sums payable periodically" must be held to refer to claims which are of the same nature as a claim for maintenance or an annuity. Section 7 (ii) — Note 4 (contd.)

(3) A claim that plaintiff and her descendants are entitled to receive generation after generation, a certain sum every month from defendants and their successors is a claim coming within this paragraph. AIR 1920 All 40 (40) = 42 All 353 (DB).

(4) Claim that plaintiff is entitled to receive every year certain articles of value from defendant — This paragraph does not apply. (1885) 8 Mad 384 (388) (DB).

5. Applicability — Illustrative cases.

— (1) A wakf-deed purported to create wakf and appointed A as mutwalli. The deed provided for annual payment of Rs. 50 to B. Descendants of settlor sued A and B praying for removal of mutawalli, A, for appointment of new Mutawalli and for benefits conferred on them under wakf-deed under which, on disagreement between parties, income was to be divided and enjoyed in proportions set out. Plaintiffs claimed to be entitled to annual receipts capable of valuation at least on an average basis. Held, that case came within this paragraph and that plaintiffs should pay court-fee on ten times annual value of receipts to which they claimed to be entitled. AIR 1942 Sind 160 (161) = ILR (1942) Kar 424 (DB).

(2) In previous suit a decree was passed declaring that A was entitled to a charge on B's property in respect of a right of maintenance for Rs. 200 per annum — B suing to set aside decree. — This paragraph does not apply. AIR 1936 Oudh 317 (319) (DB).

(3) Suit praying that defendant should be required to furnish security for due payment of Rs. 27-8-0 per mensem to plaintiff or should be directed to invest Rs. 8,250 which will yield annually Rs. 330 as interest thereon to be paid to plaintiff — Under this paragraph court-fee is to be computed according to ten times the amount claimed for each year. 1886 All WN 228 (228).

(4) A sued B and C for declaration of his title to certain property and for an injunction restraining C from paying and B from receiving an allowance of Rs. 2,400 a year out of the income of the property in dispute — Held, that this paragraph did not apply. (1893) 17 Bom 56 (59) (DB).

(5) Suit for declaration that plaintiffs are entitled to certain properties subject to certain trusts created by the will of last owner in favour of some temples and provision for maintenance of his son, is not governed by this paragraph. (1893) 3 Mad L Jour 242 (244) (DB).

(6) Suit for declaration that defendant is liable to pay pension to plaintiff and for mandatory injunction — Section 7 (ii) and not Section 7 (iv) (c) applies. AIR 1959 Bom 436 (437) = 60 Bom LR 1377.

(7) Suit for wrongful termination of service — Relief for future emoluments during pendency of suit — Not covered by Section 3 (2) Travancore-Cochin Court-fees Act (2 of 1125) — No Court-fee payable. 1961 Ker LJ 1086.

(8) Suit for arrears — Right to maintenance not previously established — Section 7(ii) applies. AIR 1961 Punj 11 (12) = 62 Pun LR 701.

6. Suit for reduction of maintenance.

— (1) Maintenance awarded by a decree — Judgment-debtor sued to have rate of maintenance reduced on ground of change in circumstances — Suit does not come under this paragraph. (2) Claim for enhancement of maintenance awarded by decree would come under this paragraph and court-fee would be payable on ten times the amount of enhancement claimed for each year. ('36-43) Tax Dec (Nag) 76 (77, 78)  AIR 1953 Vindh Pra 28 (Pr. 6) = 1953 Cri L Jour 1214.

7. Suit for enhancement of maintenance. — (1) A suit for enhancement in the rate of maintenance falls within the scope of Section 7 (ii) and not under Art. 17-B of Sch. II (Mad). Ad valorem court-fee on the annual increase of maintenance is therefore proper. AIR 1953 Mad 605 (Pr. 3).

8. Claim for future rent in suit for possession. — (1) A claim for future rent from date of suit to delivery of possession in suit for possession held would come under this paragraph. (1880) 2 All 682 (685, 686) (FB). (Per Stuart C. J., Spankie, J., Dissenting.)

9. Mode of valuation under this paragraph. — (1) The paragraph provides that value of subject-matter of the suit is to be regarded as being ten times the amount claimed as payable for one year. See (1968) 5 Bom HCR (AC) 55 (56, 57) (DB).

(2) Claim for arrears of the amount as well as for a decree for payment of future instalments made in the same suit. Former claim must be charged with the court-fee under para (i) and latter claim must be charged, under this paragraph according to ten times the amount for each year. 1886 All WN 228 (228)  AIR 1936 Mad 388 (393, 394, 397) (DB).

(3) Maintenance decree — Suit to set aside — To be valued on basis of for other movable property having a market value;

(iii) In suits for movable property other than money, where the subject-matter has a market-value—according to such value at the date of presenting the plaint;

amount payable for one year. AIR 1959 Mad 432 (433) = (1968) 2 Mad LJ 159.

10. U. P. Amendment. — (1) Irrespective of the person who files the appeal or cross objection, the valuation of an appeal or a cross objection if it is against a decree passed in a suit for personal maintenance by females and minors is to be made at the amount claimed to be payable for one year by such females or minors. Thus the person filing the appeal or the cross objection in such a case can get advantage of the proviso to Section 7 (ii) (a). AIR 1957 All 541 (543) = ILR (1957) 1 All 558 (FB). (AIR 1952 All 605 and AIR 1952 All 175, Overruled; AIR 1950 All 55. Approved — Per Full Bench, Shrivastava J., contra.)

(2) Where the husband files an appeal claiming reduction of maintenance against the decree obtained by the wife the court-fee payable on the memorandum of appeal also is to be computed in the manner laid down in the proviso to Section 7 (ii) (a) and not under Section 7 (ii) (b). AIR 1957 All 541 (542, 543) = ILR (1957) 1 All 558 (FB). (AIR 1952 All 175, Overruled.)

(3) Both in the main clause of and in the proviso to Section 7 (ii) (U. P.) the words used are "the amount claimed to be payable for one year". The 'claim' referred to is the claim of the plaintiff. The fact that the Court decrees the claim at a lesser rate is immaterial at least for purposes of valuation of the cross objection or the appeal. Thus, for the determination of the question of payment of court-fee in the appeal or for the purpose of cross objection, it is the value of the amount actually claimed by the plaintiff in the suit that is to be taken into consideration and not the lesser amount decreed by the trial Court. AIR 1957 All 541 (542) = ILR (1957) 1 All 558 (FB).

(4) In a suit for personal maintenance by a female, the proviso to Section 7 (ii) (a) (U. P.) does not mention the year which is to be taken into account in determining the amount payable for that year. In the absence of any such specification in the section the proper interpretation would be to hold the 'one year' referred to as the year in which the suit is brought. AIR 1950 All 56 (Pr. 7).

Section 7, Para (iii) — Note 1

(1) Movable property in plaintiff's possession attached — He sued for removal of attachment — His suit does not fail under this paragraph. (1880) 2 All 63 (65, 66) (DB).

(2) A hut would be immovable property according to definition in Section 3 (25) General Clauses Act and therefore would not be movable property. See (1872) 8 Beng LR 508 (519) (FB).

(3) Standing crops would be immovable property and not movable property. (1895) 22 Cal 877 (887, 888) (DB).

(6) A State lottery ticket which has drawn a prize is movable property with a market value of the same amount as the prize it has drawn and is within the purview of Section 7 (iii). 1949 Bur LR (HC) 358 (373, 378) (FB).

(7) Share scrips in hands of third party who is in wrongful possession of the same — Suit for recovery of would be governed by Section 7 (iv) (a) and not by Section 7 (iii). AIR 1965 Punj 314. = ILR (1965) 1 Punj 39.

Section 7, Para (iv), Clause (a) — Note 1

(1) 'Documents relating to title' will include not only documents of title to immovable property like deeds of sale or mortgage of immovable property, but also such documents as promissory-notes, bonds, Government securities, etc. Hence, a suit to recover possession of such documents will come under this clause and not under para (ii). 1894 Bom PJ 145 (DB)  AIR 1934 Mad 730 (730) = 58 Mad 228.

(2) A suit merely for possession of documents of title is not a suit for the recovery of the property to which the

(6) Mortgagee sued mortgagor for return of mortgage-deed on ground that mortgagor had not paid mortgage-money. Held, that real point in issue was not about return of mortgage-deed but whether mortgage-money had been paid and that this clause did not apply. 1875 Pun Re No. 39, p. 117 (117) (DB).

(7) A sued B and other trustees, to set aside a deed of trust and to recover the trust money which was in the form of Government promissory notes. Held, that Court-fee must be paid according to amount of the Government promissory note. (1884) 10 Cal 380 (382).

(8) Relief coming under this clause combined with one not coming under it. Two reliefs must be valued separately under respective provisions that would apply to them for purposes of court-fees. 1894 Bom PJ 145 (DB).

(9) Shares are not same thing as share scrips — Share scrips are of no value in hands of third party who is in wrongful possession of the same and have no market value — Suit for recovery of such share scrips would be governed by Section 7 (iv) (a) and not by Section 7 (iii). 14. Suit for re-opening of partition.
15. Other reliefs in suit for partition — Court-fee.

1. U. P. Amendment. — (1) Suit instituted before the amending Act — Plaintiff sought an amendment of plaint claiming an additional share — Held, that so far as claim for an additional share was concerned, it was governed by the amending Act which had come into force then and ad valorem fee in respect of such share must be paid. AIR 1942 All 222 (223) = ILR (1942) All 376 (DB).

(2) Section worded generally — No reference is made to right or interest claimed by plaintiff — It refers to a suit for accounts -- Court cannot add words to restrict its scope — Suit for accounts instituted by person not claiming personal interest would be governed by Section 7 (iv) (b) and not by Sch. II, Art. 17 (vi). AIR 1966 All 189 (190) = 1965 All LJ 890.

(3) Section 2 of Court-fees Act as inserted by the U. P. Court-fees (Amendment) Act defines suit as including an appeal. The section therefore is also applicable to an appeal in partition suit and the court-fee payable is on the value of appellant's share which is in dispute in the appeal. AIR 1943 All 281 (282) = ILR (1943) All 507  AIR 1945 Oudh 207 (208) (DB)  AIR 1954 All 313 (Pr. 4) (DB).

(4) Section 14 of Religious Endowments Act 1863 does not cover case of general prayer for accounts — Court-fee, held, was payable under Section 7 (iv)

(b) on suit for accounts. AIR 1966 All 189 (190) = 1965 All LJ 890.

(5) No dispute about a share in a partition suit — Only question is whether one particular property should be allotted to one party or the other — Art. 17 (vi) of Schedule II applies. AIR 1943 All 281 (282) = ILR (1943) All 507.

(6) Words "his claim to be a co-owner on such date is denied" should be interpreted to mean both when it is denied in its entirety or even when only the extent of the share claimed is in dispute. AIR 1944 All 199 (200) = ILR (1944) All 478.

(7) The word 'approximate' in Section 7 (iv) (b), Proviso means very near, closely resembling or fairly correct. AIR 1964 All 430 (430, 431) = 1963 All LJ 628 (DB).

(8) In a suit for accounts where the plaintiff asserts that a particular sum of money is due to him from the defendants on account of the business of partnership, it would be correct to say that it is the approximate sum due to the plaintiff within the meaning of second proviso to clause (b) of Section 7 (iv) as amended in U. P. and the plaintiff cannot be heard to say that the amount due to him cannot be ascertained without proper accounting. AIR 1964 All 430 (431) = 1963 All LJ 628 (DB).

(9) Suit for accounts — Defendant appealing against final decree should pay Court-fee on amount of decree passed against him. AIR 1970 All 197 (198) (FB).

2. M. P. Amendment. — (1) The effect of the amendment brought about by Act (IX of 1953) is to wholly abolish the application of Art. 17 to partition suits — For the purposes of sub-clause (a) of Clause (vi-a) the question whether the plaintiff who sues for partition is in possession or not also becomes irrelevant. In every suit for partition, whether the plaintiff is in or out of possession, the minimum that he must always be called upon to pay is court-fee on one-half of the value of his share in the property — Sub-clause (b) of clause (vi-a) refers to two conditions which if fulfilled the full ad valorem court-fee is payable — So far as the requirement of Section 7 (vi-a) (b) is concerned the burden is on the defendants to allege and prove ouster before the date of suit. AIR 1956 Nag 175 (Prs. 11, 12, 15).

3. Bombay Amendment (Before Bombay Act 36 of 1959). — (1) It has been held that by Section 6, Bombay Act XII of 1954 (whereby a new sub-clause, namely sub-clause (vi-a) is added to Section 7, Court-fees Act), the legislature has made it more difficult for the party aggrieved by the decision of the lower Court in a partition suit to appeal to the High Court and therefore, the amendment is not retrospective; and the Court-fee prescribed thereby cannot apply to the appeal preferred by such aggrieved party. AIR 1955 Bom 287 (Prs. 5, 6) = ILR (1955) Bom 530.

4. Suit for share of profits of impartible property. — (1) Suit to enforce right to share in the profits of an impartible property on the ground that it is joint family property falls within this clause. ('36-43) Tax Dec (Nag) 61 (63).

5. Suit for partition by person in joint possession. — (1) This clause does not apply to a suit for partition by a co-owner not excluded from enjoyment of common property. Such a suit comes under Clause (vi) of Art. 17 of Sch. II. AIR 1943 Pat 433 (438) (DB)  AIR 1947 Bom 259 (261, 263) (FB). (2) It has been held that the effect of the insolvency is not to put an end to the joint possession of the coparceners where a suit for partition is brought by sons of the insolvents for their shares in the joint family properties the court-fee payable is not as in a suit for ejectment under Section 7 (v) but under Art. 17-B of Sch. II, (Mad). 1953-1 Mad L Jour 461 (461).

(3) Mysore High Court has held that a suit for partition of his share in joint family properties by a minor plaintiff on the allegation that he had become a member of the joint family by his adoption 2 or 3 months prior to the suit and that he was in constructive possession of the suit properties is chargeable with a fixed court-fee of Rs. 100 under Sch. II, Art. 11-B, Mysore Court-fees Act, and not with ad valorem court-fees on the value of his share. AIR 1955 Mys 143 (Pr. 3) = ILR (1955) Mys 436.

(4) The following case has held that even where the plaintiff in a suit for partition is in joint possession, he must pay ad valorem court-fee on the value of the share claimed by him. (1923) 73 Ind Cas 788 (790) (Pesh).

(5) The question whether a suit is one by a person in joint possession for partition or by an excluded coparcener depends on the allegations in the plaint and not on the defence or the evidence in the case. (7) Suit for partition by a member of a joint family — Nature of suit is not altered for purposes of Court-fee merely because the defendant denies that plaintiff was in joint possession of the suit properties. AIR 1955 Mys 140 (Pr. 3) = ILR (1955) Mys 431.

(8) Facts proved showing that plaintiff is not in joint possession — Suit not liable to be thrown out on ground of insufficient court-fee but may be dismissed on ground that plaintiff being out of possession is not entitled to sue for partition without suing for possession of the property, unless the Court deems it fit to allow an amendment of plaint. AIR 1915 Cal 357 (361) (DB). (Plaintiff may be allowed to amend his plaint where it is found he is not in joint possession.)  AIR 1934 Lah 563 (573) = 15 Lah 531 (FB)  AIR 1921 Oudh 174 (175) (DB)  AIR 1938 Sind 189 (190) = 32 Sind LR 124 (DB).

(9) So long as there is no ouster, every member of the joint family will be deemed to be constructively in possession of the family properties and a suit for partition by a member in such circumstances must be deemed to be one by a member in joint possession and not as one by a person who is out of possession. AIR 1927 Cal 411 (412) = 54 Cal 524 (DB)  AIR 1952 Kutch 36 (Pr. 5)  AIR 1950 Nag 81 (Prs. 11, 12) = ILR (1950) Nag 778  AIR 1942 Cal 180 (200) (DB)  AIR 1926 Mad 122 (123)  AIR 1937 Mad 606 (607)  AIR 1924 Pat 640 (640) (DB).

(10) Unless there are express allegations that she has been kept out of possession or is out of possession in some other way, a Hindu widow's suit for partition under Hindu Women's Right to Property Act is a suit for partition by a coparcener in joint possession and as such is governed by Sch. II, Art. 17 (vi). AIR 1943 Mad 654 (654)  AIR 1952 Punj 280 (Pr. 5).

(11) Hindu widow as co-owner suing for partition, on allegation of division in status and claim under will of her husband — Court-fee payable would be only under Art. 17-B of Sch. 2. AIR 1960 Andh Pra 313 (315) = 1960 Andh LT 180.

6. Suit by excluded coparcener for joint possession. — (1) Suit by an excluded coparcener for joint possession — Court-fee is to be computed under this clause on the basis of the amount at which plaintiff values his relief in the plaint. (1907) 6 Cal L Jour 651 (655) (DB)  AIR 1934 Lah 563 (573) = 15 Lah 531 (FB)  1949 Jaipur LR 237 (DB).

[See also AIR 1942 Cal 180 (200) (DB).]

(2) A distinction should be made between a suit filed by coparceners against an alienee for partition and possession of their shares, and suits, filed by coparceners, not asking for partition, not asking for their specific share in the property, but merely asking for joint possession with the alienee. In the first case, it is clearly a suit for possession. The second case falls under Section 7 (iv) (b), and not under Section 7 (v). AIR 1953 Bom 308 (Pr. 9) = ILR (1953) Bom 321.

7. Suit for partition by excluded coparcener. — (1) Suit for partition by an excluded coparcener comes under this clause and court-fee is to be computed on basis of amount at which plaintiff values relief in his plaint. AIR 1940 Oudh 47 (51) = 15 Luck 76 (DB)  AIR 1955 Mad 682 (Prs. 5, 6) = ILR (1956) Mad 341 (DB)  AIR 1924 Nag 86 (87) = 20 Nag LR 43  AIR 1941 Rang 297 (298) = 1941 Rang LR 249 (DB).

(2) Suit for partition by an excluded coparcener — Court-fee payable is ad valorem according to the value of the share claimed by the plaintiff. AIR 1943 Mad 655 (655)  AIR 1954 Mad 1126 (Pr. 10) = ILR (1955) Mad 810  AIR 1952 Trav-Co 509 (Pr. 11) = ILR (1952) Trav-Co 407 (FB)  AIR 1955 Andhra 200 (Pr. 3)  1949 Trav-Co LR 225 (229) (FB)  AIR 1947 Nag 243 (245) = ILR (1947) Nag 220  AIR 1945 Sind 128 (131) = ILR (1945) Kar 84  AIR 1942 Pat 60 (62) = 20 Pat 780 (DB)  AIR 1939 Pat 274 (275) = 18 Pat 267 (DB)  AIR 1938 Mad 474 (475)  ('36-43) Tax Dec (Nag) 73 (75) (DB)  (1912) 34 All 184 (185) (DB)  AIR 1930 All 443 (443, 444) = 52 All 756  AIR 1942 Cal 180 (200) (DB)  AIR 1934 Lah 563 (573) = 15 Lah 531 (FB)  AIR 1927 Nag 248 (249) = 23 Nag LR 73.

(3) If the extent of property is definitely stated in plaint, plaintiff is bound to value his suit according to share claimed by him and pay court-fees on value of such share. (1902) 15 CPLR 120 (122).

(4) Where the plaintiff's exclusion has been only in regard to a portion of joint family property he will have to pay ad valorem court-fee only on the value of his share in the particular portion from which he has been excluded. AIR 1949 Nag 305 (309) = ILR (1949) Nag 35 (DB)  AIR 1959 Madh Pra 181 (182) = 1958 MPLJ 704.

(5) Suit for declaration, injunction, and partition as regards immovable joint family property — Original prayer as exclusive owner and for possession dropped—Suit would fall under S. 7(iv)(b) and (c) and not under Section 7 (v) and the plaintiff would have a right to value relief sought at his own valuation. AIR 1963 Guj 291 (294) = (1963) 4 Guj LR 1022.

(6) Plaintiff's claim for partition and accounts, the family being joint at the time of suit and the plaintiff having been ousted from possession — Omission to value the relief for partition for purposes of court-fee though valuation for purposes of jurisdiction was given — Plaintiff paying fixed court-fee under Art. 17 (vi) of Second Schedule of the Act — Held, the plaintiff was bound to pay ad valorem court-fee under Section 7 (iv) (b) on the valuation given for purposes of jurisdiction which in view of Section 8 of Suits Valuation Act is the same for court-fees also. AIR 1967 Punj 389 (390) = 68 Pun LR 54 (FB).

(7) Suit for separate possession of share in joint property as contradistinguished from joint family property — Plaintiff neither in actual nor constructive possession — Section 7 (iv) (b) and Art. 17 (vi) do not apply — Court-fee payable is ad valorem under Section 7 (v). 1962 Raj LW 357 = ILR (1962) 12 Raj 766.

8. Suit for declaration of title. — (1) A suit for a mere declaration of the plaintiff's title will not come under this clause. 1895 Pun Re No. 104, p. 490 (492) (DB).

(2) This clause does not apply to a suit for partition by a Hindu coparcener. Wording of the clause seems to contemplate a suit for enforcement of an abstract claim of right. (1909) 33 Bom 658 (663) (DB).

(3) This clause appears to be designed to cover merely the rare, but quite possible, cases where the plaintiff's status as a coparcener is in dispute and is sought to be enforced. (1910) 8 Ind Cas 512 (516, 517) (FB) (Mad). (Per Ayling J.)

(4) Plaintiff who is in joint possession and sues for partition need not pay ad valorem court-fee on value of share claimed by him but need only pay a fixed court-fee of Rs. 10 under Sch. II, Art. 17, Cl. (vi). If plaintiff is out of possession and is suing for recovery of possession of or the establishment of title to the property, he would have to pay ad valorem court-fee. (1882) 8 Cal 757 (758)  AIR 1962 Assam 137 (139, 140) = ILR (1962) 14 Assam 453 (DB). (Suit for declaration of title to property by person in constructive possession — Partition of property claimed — Proper Court-fee payable is according to Sch. II, Art. 17 (vi)).

(5) Even if a plaintiff merely sues to establish his title to the share he claims he would still have to pay an ad valorem court-fee on value of that share. (1894) 18 Bom 209 (211) (DB).

(6) Suit by member of joint Hindu family for declaration that he was entitled to a share in plaint items unaffected by alienations made by his father and for partition and possession — Alienees in possession impleaded — Suit was one for declaration — When the plaintiff challenged the alienations the allegation amounted to saying that the alienees were unauthorised persons and therefore court-fee had to be paid on the basis that the plaintiff was seeking recovery of possession of his share of the alienated property. AIR 1960 Mys 104 (105) = 37 Mys LJ 773 (DB).

(7) Suit for joint title and possession — Relief of confirmation of possession claimed — Ad valorem fee paid — If necessary Court-fee is paid, relief for recovery of possession can be granted even though prayer is for confirmation of possession. AIR 1967 Orissa 81 (82) = ILR (1966) Cut 913.

9. Suit by purchaser from co-owner. —

(1) Purchaser of share of one of the co-owners suing for possession — Court-fee paid with reference to value of share claimed by him is enough — He need not pay any separate court-fee for determination of extent of his vendor's share. 1881 All WN 161 (161) (DB)  AIR 1952 Nag 202 (Pr. 30) = ILR (1949) Nag 526 (DB).

(2) Purchaser of a part of a coparcener's interest in joint family property sued for partition — Court-fee is payable on value of property he has purchased and not on value of the coparcener's whole interest in family property, though prayer in the suit is for ascertaining share of the coparcener from whom he has purchased. 1882 Bom PJ 148.

(3) Person purchasing share of coparcener in certain land suing for possession of such share — Person asking for declaration of entire share of his vendor and then for recovery of possession of what he had purchased out of that share — Separate court-fee is necessary for two reliefs — Claim for partition falls under Sch. II, Art. 17 (vi) — Additional fee for recovery of possession of vendor's possession must also be paid. AIR 1945 Bom 336 (337) = ILR (1945) Bom 729 (DB).

[See also AIR 1949 Mad 208 (209, 210).]

(4) Where the alienee from a Hindu coparcener is in actual possession of the property and sues for partition, he is not bound to pay court-fee under Section 7 (v). Payment of court-fee under Sch. II, Art. 17-B (Mad) is sufficient. AIR 1951 Mad 656 (1) (Pr. 4)  AIR 1957 Andh Pra 724 (724).

(5) Pending suit for partition by member of a joint family, he transferred his interest in suit properties partially to another person — Such person made a party to suit — Court deciding that court-fee of Rs. 10 under Sch. II, Art. 17 (vi) is sufficient — Order cannot be changed merely because subsequently plaintiff has transferred a portion of his interest. AIR 1925 Pat 47 (48) = 3 Pat 654 (DB)  AIR 1947 Mad 285 (286) = ILR (1947) Mad 763.

(6) Where original plaintiff subsequently gets himself transferred as defendant leaving alienee of his entire interest as sole plaintiff suit becomes one by a person claiming to be an alienee from a coparcener for partition against other members. Court-fee must be paid under Section 7 (v) ad valorem on the value of share claimed. AIR 1947 Mad 285 (286) = ILR (1947) Mad 763.

(7) Where an alienee from a coparcener brings a suit for a general partition against the alienor and other members of joint Hindu family, with a prayer that the properties be divided in such a way as to allot the properties alienated wholly to the share of his alienor, he has to value the relief under Section 7 (v). The suit is not governed by Sch. II, Art. 17-B (Mad). (1955) 68 Mad LW 554 (555). (The plaintiff must pay court-fees under Section 7 (v) only in regard to the share which is in excess of the property in the possession of the plaintiff).

10. "Joint family property." — (1) The clause does not apply to a suit relating to property owned by the members of a Mahomedan family. AIR 1934 Lah 563 (573) = 15 Lah 531 (FB). (Held AIR 1932 Lah 421, taking the view that it applies to Mahomedans is to that extent erroneous.)  ('36-43) Tax Dec (Nag) 33 (34)  AIR 1924 Mad 207 (208).

[See also AIR 1929 Rang 211 (212) = 7 Rang 164.]

(2) Where property is owned as tenants-in-common by members of a Mahomedan or some other family and there is no ouster one of them can, relying on the principle of constructive possession, sue for partition by paying only a fixed court-fee of Rs. 10 under Sch. II, Art. 17, Cl. (vi). AIR 1941 Lah 152 (156) = ILR (1941) Lah 308 (FB). (Overruling AIR 1939 Lah 568.)  AIR 1952 Mad 539 (Pr. 1a)  ('36-43) Tax Dec (Nag) 33 (34)  AIR 1924 Mad 207 (208)  AIR 1935 Pesh 30 (33) (DB)  AIR 1920 Mad 585 (585) = 43 Mad 396 (DB).

[But see (1894) 4 Mad L Jour 110 (111) (DB).]

(3) If plaintiff is out of possession and sues for partition he will have to pay ad valorem fee on his plaint according to the value of the share claimed by him. AIR 1939 Mad 506 (507) (DB)  AIR 1947 Nag 243 (245) = ILR (1947)

(4) Where there has been a division in status, the property which belonged to the joint family will cease to be joint family property. A suit for partition by metes and bounds in such cases will not come under this clause. In such a case where the plaintiff is in joint possession, the court-fee on the suit for partition will have to be the fixed court-fee of Rs. 10 under Sch. II, Art. 17, Cl. (vi). AIR 1950 Kutch 60 (Pr. 2).

(7) Among joint families, properties are sometimes purchased in the names of the female members of the family. II, (Art. 17-B, Sch. II (Mad).) AIR 1955 Andhra 200 (Pr. 6).

It was held that the plaintiff would not be required to pay upon the footing of his augmented share. It was only when a decree was passed in his favour increasing his share from 1/8th to 1/7th that the plaintiff would be called upon to pay the amount of stamp duty upon the difference between his increased share which was 1/7th and the 1/8th share which was awarded to him by the preliminary decree. AIR 1957 Bom 59 (61) = ILR (1957) Bom 175 (DB).

II, Art. 17 (vi). AIR 1942 Pat 60 (62) = 20 Pat 780 (DB).

(3) Where the plaintiffs bring a suit for partition of joint family property on the allegation that a previous partition deed between the parties which was subsequently affirmed by a compromise decree was illusory, fraudulent, inequitable and void and specifically prays for declaration to that effect, the relief of possession by partition must be held to be consequential to the relief of declaration and the suit would be governed by Section 7 (iv) (c) for purposes of Court-fees and ad valorem court-fees would be payable. AIR 1954 Pat 406 (Pr. 6) (DB).

(4) If the plaintiffs put their case in the alternative and therein they assume an initial partition but want it to be ignored or set aside and fresh partition to be made, it cannot be taken to be a case involving mere change in the mode of enjoyment of property jointly belonging to different persons. AIR 1939 Pat 274 (276) = 18 Pat 267 (DB).

(6) It has been held that where in a partition suit the plaintiff alleges that the previous partition effected between the parties was brought about by fraud and that he was entitled to more property than what was allotted to his share, in such a case the plaintiff cannot say that he need only pay court-fee on the valuation representing the difference between the value of the property in his possession and the additional property that might be allotted to him on the re-partition that might be effected, should he succeed in the suit. AIR 1955 Andhra 200 (Prs. 11, 12).

(7) In a suit to set aside a partition deed so far as plaintiffs are concerned, court-fee to be paid is on value of the plaintiffs' share and not on value of whole property. AIR 1932 Mad 491 (493).

(8) Plaintiff abandoning his claim to portion of property allotted to him at a prior partition and seeking a re-partition of entire estate, throwing into hotch-pot that portion of it which has been in his exclusive possession — He cannot be given credit for any part of court-fee payable on ground that he is in possession of a portion of estate of which he seeks partition. (In such cases even if plaint contains prayer for declaration or cancellation it is to be considered as one for incidental but unnecessary relief.)

21. Court-fee on appeal — Applicability of the provisions of Section 7 and Sch. II, Article 17.

22. State Amendments.

1. Scope and applicability. — (1) Suits for bare declarations are provided for by Section 42 of the Specific Relief Act. Under that section the declaration sought for must relate to the title to any legal character or to any right as to any property and the plaintiff must be unable to seek further relief than a mere declaration of title. AIR 1921 PC 50 (51) = 47 Ind App 255 = 48 Cal 110  (1899) 22 Mad 270 (282) = 26 Ind App 16 (PC).

[See however AIR 1950 Assam 214 (Prs. 6, 7) = ILR (1950) 2 Assam 140 (DB). (Specific Relief Act does not apply to Khasi and Jaintia Hills and a suit for a mere declaration of title without the consequential relief of possession and without payment of ad valorem court-fee is maintainable.)]

(2) The following cases hold that the section is not exhaustive on the subject of declaratory decrees and Courts in India have power to pass merely declaratory decrees in cases not falling within the section. AIR 1933 All 488 (490) = 55 All 791 (FB)  AIR 1930 Cal 787 (793) = 58 Cal 474 (DB)  AIR 1920 Mad 665 (665) = 43 Mad 410 (DB)  AIR 1928 Rang 143 (144) = 6 Rang 188 (DB). [But see (1912) 39 Cal 704 (708) (DB).]

(3) In the following cases it has been held that unless the declaration sought for is of the character contemplated by Section 42 of the Specific Relief Act, the suit will not come under Sch. II, Article 17 (iii). AIR 1938 Oudh 201 (203) = 14 Luck 176 (FB)  AIR 1938 Oudh 1 (7) = 13 Luck 628 (FB)  AIR 1934 Cal 674 (675, 676) = 61 Cal 513.

(4) The question whether Section 7 (iv) (c) or Article 17 of Sch. II of the Court-Fees Act applies to a particular case must be determined according to the relief actually claimed in the plaint in a particular case and not on what relief the plaintiff should ask for in order to succeed. It is not open to Court to import into the plaint or to read into it any relief which has not been asked for by the plaintiff only in order to levy higher Court-fees. AIR 1967 Punj 263 = 69 Pun LR (D) 52 (FB).

(5) The question whether a suit comes within the terms of Section 42 of the Section 7, Para (iv), Clause (c) — Note 1 (contd.)

Specific Relief Act, or not will not affect the question of court-fees which must be determined on the basis of what the plaintiff actually sues for and not on the basis of what he is entitled, under the law, to sue for. AIR 1944 Pat 17 (20) = 22 Pat 783 (FB)  AIR 1953 SC 28 (Pr 8) = 1953 SCR 197  AIR 1941 Lah 97 (104) = ILR (1941) Lah 451 (FB)  AIR 1957 Pat 711 (711) (DB)  AIR 1922 Pat 392 (392, 393) = 1 Pat 1 (DB)  AIR 1967 Madh Pra 221 = 1967 MPLJ 242.

(6) Where in a suit the plaintiff merely seeks a declaration, the Court has to consider whether a consequential relief is implicit in the declaration. If that is so, the provision applicable must necessarily be Section 7 (iv) (c). If the necessary effect of a declaration granted in accordance with the prayer made in a suit is to grant a consequential relief also, for instance, the setting aside of a previous decree, ad valorem Court-fee is realisable under Section 7 (iv) (c). AIR 1961 Pat 470 (472) = ILR 39 Pat 571.

(7) If, on the whole, and in substance, a suit appears to ask for some relief other than or in addition to a mere declaration the suit must be held not to be one for a bare declaration although the prayers in the plaint may have been cast in a declaratory form. AIR 1944 Pat 17 (21, 23) = 22 Pat 783 (FB)  AIR 1941 Lah 97 (104) = ILR (1941) Lah 451 (FB)  AIR 1938 Oudh 1 (6, 7) = 13 Luck 628 (FB). (AIR 1936 Oudh 317 (DB), Overruled.)  AIR 1957 Pat 711 (711) (DB)  AIR 1949 Nag 211 (Pr 6) = ILR (1949) Nag 66  AIR 1944 All 271 (271, 272) = ILR (1944) All 336  AIR 1946 Nag 30 (35) = ILR (1945) Nag 975 (DB)  AIR 1943 Oudh 361 (364, 365)  AIR 1942 Lah 209 (209, 210) (DB)  AIR 1942 Pesh 62 (63) (DB)  AIR 1927 Cal 775 (775) (DB)  1886 All WN 54 (55) (FB).

(8) The maintainability or otherwise of a suit for a bare declaration may be taken into consideration in determining what is the substance of the plaint. AIR 1941 Lah 97 (104) = ILR (1941) Lah 451 (FB)  AIR 1922 Pat 404 (405) = 1 Pat 197 (DB).

[See (1912) 39 Cal 704 (709) (DB).]

(9) Plaint only asking for a bare declaration will be governed for purposes of court-fee by Sch. II, Article 17 (iii) — It is not permissible to hold that suit is of some other character merely because in the circumstances disclosed in plaint Court considers that suit for a bare declaration is not maintainable under law. in which the plaintiff is given the option to value his claim it is really difficult to value the claim with any precision or definiteness. AIR 1958 SC 245 (251) = 1958 SCR 1021  1967 Raj LW 401 = ILR (1966) 16 Raj 1019 (DB).

Court-fee and jurisdiction. — (1) The proper construction of Section 8, Suits Valuation Act is that suit must first be valued for purposes of court-fees and then the valuation should be adopted for purpose of jurisdiction also. AIR 1963 Guj 291 (293-295) = (1963) 4 Guj LR 1022.

(13) Suit for declaration of title and possession of plaintiff's share in joint family property — Court-fee paid under Section 7 (iv) (c) valuing suit at Rs. 2000 for purpose of jurisdiction — Plaintiffs cannot, for purpose of appeal to High Court add a sum of Rs. 8100 as value of entire property in respect of which partition is sought. AIR 1961 Pat 307 (308) = 1961 BLJR 434.

19. Valuation of suits coming under clause (c).— (1) Relief under this clause is to be valued as a single and conjoint relief. It is not proper to split up relief into a declaration and a consequential relief and value each of them separately, add up the values and regard the aggregate as the value of the relief. (5) Suit for declaration with consequential relief — Court-fee payable is on value of amount at which relief sought is valued in plaint and not value of subject-matter. (1966) 70 Cal WN 1157.

(6) The plaintiff has an unfettered option to value his suit under Section 7 (iv) (c) for purpose of Court-fees and it is not open to Courts to disturb such valuation except in cases where the same may be found to be contrary to the rules made by the High Court under S. 9 of the Suits Valuation Act. 1967 Raj LW 401 = ILR (1966) 16 Raj 1019 (DB).

(7) Though in a suit falling under clause (iv) (c) Court-fee has to be paid on the amount at which the relief sought is valued in the plaint, the plaintiff's valuation must not be arbitrary or capricious. The plaintiff must endeavour to fix a fair value, bearing a relation to the right litigated and if the plaintiff's valuation is arbitrary and unreasonable and the disparity is so great as to show that the plaintiff had not endeavoured to fix a fair value at all, the Court can correct the valuation. AIR 1965 Madh Pra 4 (5) = 1964 MPLJ 362.

(8) Ad valorem value as mentioned in Section 7 (iv) (c) does not mean market value, but only a reasonable value to be put by the plaintiff for one thing where there is a reasonable criterion for the Court to follow in understanding the valuation put by the plaintiff who is privileged to put his own valuation, that reasonable criterion should be adopted as the standard for determining whether the plaintiff's valuation should be accepted or it should not be accepted or modified. 1968 Pat LJR 578 = ILR 47 Pat 664.

20. Suit to set aside deed or decree — Mode of valuation. — (1) Suit for setting aside decree — Amount of decree would be value of the relief if court-fee is to be computed according to value of the relief. AIR 1922 Sind 20 (21) = 16 Sind LR 109  (1908) 8 Cal LJ 485 (488) (DB).

[See 1940 Nag LJ 96 (97).]

[But see AIR 1922 Cal 242 (243) (DB).]

(4) Suit to declare void and cancel instrument of relinquishment of management of Gurdwara brought by a third person — The value of the property of the Gurdwara does not determine the court-fee or jurisdiction. AIR 1941 Lah 265 (267) (DB).

(5) Suit to set aside pronote — Held, no objective valuation is possible. AIR 1937 Cal 748 (749) = ILR (1938) 1 Cal 196.

(6) Suit for cancellation of mortgage decree — Cancellation of the decree leaving defendant with the right and opportunity to obtain another similar decree on same mortgage in another properly framed suit — Held, valuation of claim is value of decree minus value of chance of defendant obtaining another decree — Latter being incapable of valuation value of claim was not capable of ascertainment. AIR 1925 Nag 66 (66).

(7) Suit brought by members of Malabar tarwad to set aside an instrument affecting the whole of the tarwad property — The plaint cannot be valued according to the value of whole of the tarwad property but must be valued only according to value of plaintiff's share. (1891) 14 Mad 169 (169, 170) (DB).

(8) Where the value of the property in respect of which the plaintiff wants to get rid of the decretal liability is less than the latter, payment of court-fee on market value of such property cannot be considered improper. AIR 1957 Nag 53 (56) = ILR (1956) Nag 486 (DB).

(9) Suit to set aside decree and for injunction against execution — Value of property covered by decree cannot necessarily be the value of the suit — Proper amount of court-fee should be the amount payable on valuation of the relief sought by the plaintiff. (1957) 61 Cal WN 518 (521) (DB).

(10) Suit for adjudging a partition deed null and void and for its cancellation — Suit falls within Section 7 (iv) (c) — Value of property covered by partition deed need not be considered — Plaintiff can value his suit arbitrarily. AIR 1951 Ajmer 100 (Pr 4).

21. Court-fee on appeal — Applicability of the provisions of Sections 7 and Schedule II, Article 17. — (1) Section 7 (iv) (c) has been applied to appeal arising from mortgage suit. (8) Different views are held as regards the question whether the applicability of clauses of Sch. II, Article 17 to appeals is to be determined with reference to the subject-matter in dispute in the appeal or in the original suit.

The consequential relief of injunction cannot be valued according to Section 7 (iv-B) as that clause applies to suits for injunctions only. It has to be valued in the manner provided by Section 7 (iv) (a). Applying the principle of Section 7 (v-B) (U. P.) the court-fee in such a suit for absolute property and not taluqdari lands under Section 5 (1) of the Bombay Taluqdari Tenure Abolition Act, 1949 — Relief of injunction restraining State Government from applying Section 5(1) of the Act and from levying assessment thereon asked for — Relief of injunction was consequential to the declaration sought, in that the Government had threatened the plaintiff with recovery of full assessment as an occupant of the suit lands — Suit is covered by Section 7 (iv) (d) of the Court-Fees Act and not by Art. 17, Cl. (24) Under Section 8 of the Suits Valuation Act whatever value is fixed for court-fee must necessarily become the value for the purpose of jurisdiction. Even in a suit for injunction the plaintiff has to pay court-fee on the ad valorem basis. But he has the discretion to fix the value for purpose of paying court-fee. Once he fixes the amount for the purpose of paying the court-fee, that becomes the valuation for jurisdiction also under Section 8 of the Suits Valuation Act. The defendant must stand in some other relation to the plaintiff such as that of agent or bailee or receiver or trustee or partner or mortgagee. AIR 1947 Bom 255 (258) = ILR (1947) Bom 162 (DB).

AIR 1914 Cal 879 (880, 881) (DB).

(10) Suit for permanent injunction restraining defendant from cutting timber and undergrowth from a jungle belonging to plaintiff falls under this clause. AIR 1919 Cal 975 (975) (DB).

(3) The general rule may be taken to be that the agent will not be entitled to an account against his principal. But this rule is subject to exceptions in cases in which the relation between the agent and the principal is of a fiduciary character or the transactions between the parties are so involved and complicated that the right of accounting will alone serve to administer complete justice and where the accounting sought is ancillary to the main purpose of the action. (6) The case must be one in which owing to the nature of the relationship between the parties, the plaintiff is not in a position to state definitely whether anything, and if so, how much is due to him from the defendant. Provided that in suits falling under clause (a), where the relief sought is with reference to any immovable property, such amount shall be the value of the consequential relief and if such relief is incapable of valuation, then the value of the immovable property computed in accordance with sub-sections (v), (v-A) or (v-B) of this section as the case may be:

Provided further, that in all suits falling under clause (a), such amount shall in no case be less than Rs. 300:

Provided also, that in suits falling under clause (b), such amount shall be the approximate sum due to the plaintiff and the said sum shall form the basis for calculating (or determining) the valuation of an appeal from a preliminary decree passed in the suit.”—U. AIR 1947 Mad 360 (2) (361).

(6) In a suit for dissolution of partnership and for accounts under Section 7 (iv) (b) (U. P.) the plaintiff is required to state the approximate amount due to him. It will not do for him to merely value his suit for purpose of payment of Court-fee at a certain figure. AIR 1957 All 754 (755).

3. Suit for administration.— (1) Suit for administration is a suit for accounts for purposes of this clause. (2) Different views are held as to the liability of creditors other than the plaintiff, to pay Court-fees in respect of claims which they put forward under a preliminary decree for administration.

(a) In the following case it was held that such a creditor may be required to pay ad valorem Court-fees on his claim. AIR 1918 Cal 883 (886) = 44 Cal 890 (DB).

(b) In the following decision it was held that such a creditor was liable to pay Court-fee not on the amount claimed by him but on the actual dividend that was payable to him. AIR 1938 Cal 785 (787, 788) = ILR (1939) 1 Cal 152 (DB).

Rang 115 (117) = 1939 Rang LR 134 (DB).

(d) The following case has held that such a creditor is not liable to pay any Court-fee and that a creditor suing for administration does not do so on behalf of all creditors so as to treat them all as plaintiffs in a suit for accounts governed by Section 11 of this Act and liable to pay Court-fees on the amount decreed to them AIR 1931 Mad 683 (683, 684, 687) = 55 Mad 26 (DB).

(e) The following Sind case holds that such a creditor comes under explanation to Section 11 (Sind) and is liable to pay Court-fee in respect of his claim. AIR 1946 Sind 72 (73) = ILR (1946) Kar 104.

(3) Person suing for recovery of estate of a deceased person as his heir — Suit cannot be treated as suit for administration merely because plaint is headed as such a suit — Court-fee is payable according to value of the estate. AIR 1937 Rang 455 (456) = 1937 Rang LR 426 (DB).

(4) A suit to ascertain the estate to which the plaintiffs may be ultimately found entitled, is a suit essentially for administration of the estate and for accounts. It may be that on the winding up of the estate, there may be very little or nothing left for the plaintiffs who may not be able to value their claim at any definite figure. AIR 1953 Nag 276 (Prs. 16, 17) = ILR (1953) Nag 565. (The mere fact that the plaintiffs relied upon the will to claim their share did not make any difference in the nature or the frame of the suit. Nor did the defence alter its nature.)

4. Suit for partition.— (1) Separate Court-fee is payable in respect of relief of taking accounts in a suit for partition — Such relief is assessable to Court-fee under this clause. AIR 1936 Mad 562 (563)  AIR 1956 Nag 175 (Pr. 17)  AIR 1952 Kutch 36 (Pr. 8)  AIR 1933 Mad 431 (432)  AIR 1918 Cal 159 (159) (DB).

value relief and pay necessary Court-fee. AIR 1933 Sind 304 (304).

(3) Suit for dissolution of partnership and accounts, and declaration that certain transactions were not binding on plaintiff's share and for partition and possession of his share — Suit for purposes of Court-fee comes properly under Section 17 and not under Section 7 (iv) (c) and (f). AIR 1958 Bom 307 (309) = ILR (1958) Bom 193.

5. Suit under Section 92, Civil Procedure Code.— (1) Suit under Sec. 92, Civil Procedure Code, for removal of trustees and for appointment of new trustees is not one for accounts merely because plaint contains a prayer for accounts. Such a suit falls under Schedule II, Article 17 (vi). (1910) 7 Ind Cas 92 (94) (DB) (Cal)  (1899) 21 All 200 (202, 203) (DB).

[But see (1885) 9 Bom 22 (24) (DB).]

(2) Suit under Section 92, Civil P. C. — Some reliefs outside scope of Sec. 92 — Court-fees chargeable on these reliefs have to be paid — Suit against trustees and legal representatives of a deceased trustee for damages to trust property and rendition of accounts — Damage claimed and balance after accounts valued by plaintiffs themselves — No allegation of dishonesty and malversation — Held, the plaintiff must pay ad valorem Court-fees. AIR 1964 Madh Pra 259 = 1964 MPLJ 758.

5-A. Valuation for purposes of Court-fees and jurisdiction.— (1) The plaintiff is authorised under the law to give his own valuation for the purpose of Court-fees in a suit for account and in such a case, the valuation for the purpose of Court-fee and jurisdiction is the same. ILR (1968) Cuttack 326  ILR (1967) 46 Pat 127 = 1967 BLJR 679 (DB)  AIR 1961 Him Pra 22 (24)  AIR 1960 J & K 89 (89, 90, 91) (DB)  ILR (1960) 10 Raj 262 (DB).

(2) Section 7 (iv) (f) permits the plaintiff or the appellant to put his own valuation. But, the plaintiff or appellant cannot place any arbitrary valuation on the plaint or the memorandum of appeal. The valuation must be a reasonable one, and when a question is raised as to the true valuation, it is open to the Court to determine whether the valuation put by the plaintiff or the appellant is a reasonable one. AIR 1966 Madh Pra 247 (248) = 1966 MPLJ 136.

6. Appeal in suit for account.— (1) Section 7 (iv) (f) will apply to appeals in suits for account, provided that the nature of the subject-matter in dispute in appeal falls within its scope. Where the dispute in appeal relates to a right to accounts and to a decree for the money found due or taking such accounts, this clause will apply but not where the appeal does not relate to such dispute. The clause will not apply to appeals where a decree for a definite amount is prayed for or is challenged. AIR 1956 J & K 35 (36) (DB).

(2) The forum of appeal in a suit for accounts would depend on the value of the relief as set out in the plaint and not on the amount for which the decree may have been passed. AIR 1961 Him Pra 22 (24)  ILR 46 Pat 127 = 1967 BLJR 679 (DB)  AIR 1960 J & K 89 (89 to 91) (DB).

7. Appeal against final decree in suit for accounts — Court-fee.— (1) This clause is applicable to appeals from final decree as well as to appeals from preliminary decrees in suits for accounts, whether such an appeal is by plaintiff or defendant—Hence, an ad valorem Court-fee is payable in such cases and not a fixed Court-fee under Art. 17 of Schedule II. (3) Decree in suit for accounts for a definite sum of money — Defendant appealing against decree must pay ad valorem Court-fee on decretal amount — Case is governed by Schedule I, Article 1 and not by Section 7 (iv) (f) as the dispute in appeal would no longer be for taking accounts but would relate to the definite sum of money decreed against the defendant. AIR 1963 J & K 9 = 1962 Kash LJ 1.

Section 7 (iv-A) (Orissa) — Note 1

(1) Suit by X on behalf of X and Y, a minor for partition decreed — Subse-such value, according to the value of the subject-matter of the suit and such value shall be deemed to be—if the whole decree or other document is sought to be cancelled, the amount or the value of the property for which the decree was passed or the other document executed;

if a part of the decree or other document is sought to be cancelled such part of the amount or value of the property.

Explanation.—In any case where a suit for the cancellation of a whole decree for money or other property having a money value, or other document securing money or other property having such value has to be instituted, but the substantial relief claimed is only in respect of a part of the amount or the value of the property for which the decree was passed or the other document was executed, the value of the subject-matter of the suit shall be deemed to be such part of the amount or value of the property in respect of which the relief is sought.”—Orissa Act 5 of 1939 (31-10-1939).

Uttar Pradesh:

“(iv-A) In suits for or involving cancellation of or adjudging void or voidable a decree for money or other property having a market-value, or an instrument securing money or other property having such value.

(2) where he or his predecessor-in-title was not a party to the decree or instrument according to one-fifth of the value of the subject-matter, and such value shall be deemed to be—

if the whole decree or instrument is involved in the suit, the amount for which or value of the property in respect of which the decree was passed or the instrument executed, and if only a part of the decree or instrument is involved in the suit, the amount or value of the property to which such part relates.

Explanation.—“The value of the property” for the purposes of this sub-section shall be the market-value, which in the case of immovable property shall be deemed to be value as computed in accordance with sub-sections (v), (v-A) or (v-B), as the case may be.”—U. P. Act 19 of 1938 (9-1-1939).

(2) Suit for specific performance of contract of sale of land — Incidental prayer for declaration about invalidity of subsequent sale — Section 7 (x) and not Section 7 (iv) (c) or Section 7 (iv-A) (Orissa) applies — Valuation for suit would be amount of consideration of the suit contract of sale and not that for subsequent sale. AIR 1960 Orissa 129 (130) = ILR (1960) Cut 184.

(3) Suit to set aside compromise decree, having money value and for partition of properties claiming certain share — Court-fee shall be computed on the basis of market value of share claimed and not on that of entire properties — This value shall also determine jurisdiction. 32 Cut LT 434 = ILR (1965) Cut 946.

Section 7 (iv-A) (U. P.) — Note 1

(1) The paragraph is not retrospective in operation. 1941 Oudh WN 471 (472).

(2) This paragraph applies to appeal but will not apply to an appeal by an unsuccessful defendant in a suit although it involves the cancellation of a decree passed by the Court of first instance. AIR 1944 Oudh 29 (30).

(3) The words “a decree for money” include decree in a mortgage suit where the amount of the decree in such a suit is immediately apparent. AIR 1944 Oudh 118 (119) = 19 Luck 54 (DB)  AIR 1948 Oudh 86 (87) = 22 Luck 481 (DB).

property which is the subject-matter of the suit would no longer be a good decree and would be void so far as that property was concerned, the suit clearly involves adjudging void or voidable the decree. AIR 1955 All 667 (Prs. 3, 4, 6) (DB).

(6) The plaint read as a whole should involve cancellation of, or adjudging void or voidable, a document. It is not necessary that there should be an express mention of or specific claim about cancellation of a document. ILR (1950) All 81 (84) (DB).

(7) Where, though the relief as claimed in the plaint was for a declaration as to the plaintiff's right in certain property, yet when the plaint was read as a whole it could not be denied that what the plaintiff really wanted was that a certain will as put forward by the defendant might be declared ineffective or void for the reason mentioned in the plaint and unless the will put forward by the defendant was considered and a declaration as to its validity or its invalidity given, the relief claimed by the plaintiff could not be awarded to him, it was held that this was a case in which the relief claimed by the plaintiff involved the cancellation or adjudging void or voidable an instrument. AIR 1956 All 71 (Pr. 9).

1. Scope. — (1) This paragraph is a general provision for court-fees in respect of suits for possession of land, houses and gardens and where there is a specific provision applicable to a case, the latter will apply on the principle of generalia specialibus non-derogant. AIR 1937 Mad 831 (833). (Suit for specific performance of contract of sale and possession — Section 7 (x) applies and not Section 7 (v).)  AIR 1945 Bom 81 (81) = ILR (1945) Bom 32 (DB). (Do.)

(2) Suit for Specific performance of contract of lease — Relief of possession only incidental to it — Court-fee, held, was payable under Section 7 (x) (c) and not under Section 7 (v). AIR 1959 Madh Pra 430 (431, 432) = 1959 MPLJ 649.

(3) Under this paragraph, the suit need not be for proprietary possession. AIR 1931 Oudh 366 (367, 368) = 6 Luck 684 (DB). (Suit by usufructuary mortgagee against prior mortgagees.)  1896 Pun Re No. 1, p. 1 (2) (FB). (Suit by mortgagee against third person.)  1897 Pun Re No. 56, p. 205 (206) (FB). (Suit for possession by likha mukhi mortgagee.)

[But see AIR 1929 Oudh 321 (321) = 5 Luck 101 (DB). (Suit by mortgagee to recover possession is not governed by Section 7 (v) but by Section 7 (ix) — that section covers suits for proprietary possession.)]

(4) The paragraph applies to suits for exclusive possession as well as to suits for joint possession. 1892 Pun Re No. 56, p. 205 (206) (FB).

(5) Where the essential relief in the suit is for recovery of possession, Section 7 (v) (c) would apply irrespective of the fact whether the plaintiff asked for declaration of title or not. AIR 1963 Orissa 71 (73) = 28 Cut LT 563.

(6) A suit for possession will come under this paragraph though the suit is for possession on payment of a certain sum to the defendant. AIR 1928 Lah 852 (853).

(7) A suit for confirmation of possession simply means that if the plaintiff is found not to be in possession he must be given a decree for possession and as such comes within this paragraph. AIR 1935 Pat 191 (191). (AIR 1923 Pat 137 = 2 Pat 198, Rel. on.)  AIR 1923 Pat 137 (138) = 2 Pat 198 (DB)  (1911) 11 Ind Cas 882 (884) (Cal). (Suit for declara-

Proviso as to Bombay Presidency:

Provided that, in the *territories subject to the Governor of Bombay in Council, the value of the land shall be deemed to be—

- (1) where the land is held on settlement for a period not exceeding thirty years and pays the full assessment to Government—a sum equal to five times the survey-assessment;
- (2) where the land is held on a permanent settlement, or on a settlement for any period exceeding thirty years, and pays the full assessment to Government—a sum equal to ten times the survey-assessment; and
- (3) where the whole or any part of the annual survey-assessment is remitted—a sum computed under paragraph (1) or paragraph (2) of this proviso, as the case may be, in addition to ten times the assessment, or the portion of assessment, so remitted.

Explanation.—The word “estate,” as used in this paragraph, means any land subject to the payment of revenue, for which the proprietor or a farmer or raiyat shall have executed a separate engagement to Government, or which, in the absence of such engagement, shall have been separately assessed with revenue:

[°] See para. 8 of A. O., 1937. In view of this provision the expression “Governor of Bombay in Council” has been left unmodified. Since Court-fees Act has been repealed by Bom. Act 36 of 1959, this has an academic interest only.

(12) The technical rules for valuation contained in this paragraph apply only to suits for possession. It cannot be held that they are applicable whenever land has to be valued for purposes of court-fees though the claim in question may not be for possession. AIR 1931 Mad 710 (711).

(13) A suit by a landlord for ejectment of certain fixed rate tenants comes under this paragraph, but in such a case the land itself would not be the subject-matter of the suit for the purpose of clauses (a) to (d) of the paragraph. The relief must be valued under the general words in the first clause of the paragraph and not according to the subsequent clauses. (1893) 15 All 63 (64) (DB).

(14) A suit for eviction of the licensee who continues to live in the licensed premises in spite of termination of his license, and for possession has to be valued under Section 7 (v) (e).

If a licensee continues to be in possession of certain premises after expiry of a reasonable time from the date his license is revoked, he does so only as a trespasser. If, therefore, a suit is instituted for his eviction it is clearly a suit for recovery of possession from a trespasser. The entire value of the property in question must be held to be the value of the subject-matter of the suit. AIR 1963 Pat 308 (308, 309, 311) = 1963 BLJR 704 (FB). (15) A suit by a tenant to recover possession of leased land from the landlord and third persons, comes under this paragraph but the subject-matter of the suit will not be the land itself but the lease-hold interest and the court-fee on the suit should be paid according to the value of the lease-hold interest and not according to the scale mentioned in clauses (a) to (d). (7) Under Madras Estates Land Act, raiyati land held on patta in an estate cannot be used for building purposes without the consent of the landlord. Where the substance of the claim is possession of sir fields in addition to the village share they have to be separately valued under Clause (d). Where the substance of the claim involves a garden or house the valuation is under Clause (e) on the market-value of the house or garden and it does not matter if the land on which they are situate is or is not assessed to land revenue. AIR 1950 Nag 249 (Prs. 21, 42) = ILR (1950) Nag 748.

(12) Suit was in effect a suit for possession of immovable property falling under Section 7 (v) — It may also be regarded as a suit for specific performance of an award falling under Sec. 7 (x) (d) of the Court-fees Act. He need not pay an additional court-fee on the relief of demolition of superstructure raised thereon by the defendant, as such a relief is ancillary to the relief of possession of land sought for by the plaintiff. AIR 1962 Andh Pra 408

7-A. Valuation for purposes of court-fees and jurisdiction.— (1) In a case falling under paragraph (v) of Section 7 the valuation for Court-fee may be different from the valuation for jurisdiction. In all the cases falling under Clauses (a), (b) and (c) of para. (v) the valuation for the purpose of jurisdiction will be the market value of the property in suit. Therefore, the valuation for Court-fee will be different from the valuation for jurisdiction. When, however, the valuation for Court-fee is the market value of the property in question as in a case falling under Para. (v) (e) the valuation for Court-fee must be the same as the valuation for jurisdiction and that valuation would be the market value of that portion of the house, the possession of which the plaintiff seeks to recover from the defendants. (3) Suit governed by Section 7 (v) (c) — Subject-matter of suit, land — No rules under Section 3 of Suits Valuation Act framed — Lower Court not calculating market value as prescribed under Section 7 (v) (c) — On evidence produced, comparison of land discussed in evidence and suit land not possible — Evidence not helpful in deciding jurisdictional value — Lower Court taking market value of such land in 1937, year of sale of that land, as jurisdictional value — In taking such jurisdictional value, lower Court commits serious illegality — Lower Court has to decide market value of land on date of suit on evidence on record — If suit is within its pecuniary jurisdiction, suit must be tried without calling for further Court-fees. AIR 1969 Orissa 257 = ILR (1968) Cut 270.

(4) Suit for declaration, injunction, partition and also for possession as regards immovable joint family property — Latter prayer dropped — Value of suit for purposes of jurisdiction of appellate Court — Section 8, Suits Valuation Act, applicable as suit falls under S. 7 (iv) (b) and (c) and not under S. 7 (v) or Item 17 (vii) of Schedule 2 — Hence, value for jurisdictional purposes is same as for Court-fees. AIR 1963 Guj 291 = (1963) 4 Guj LR 1022.

8. "Where the subject-matter is land."— (1) A mokatari lease of a definite share in a revenue-paying estate is land within the meaning of clause (a) of this paragraph. AIR 1918 Pat 460 (461).

9. "Land", meaning of.— (1) The word "land" is used in a restricted sense, i.e., as distinguished from houses or gardens. (1902) 24 All 218 (225) (DB).

[See also AIR 1953 Hyd 28 (Pr. 4) = ILR (1952) Hyd 550.]

(2) Where the land has a house or a garden on it, the subject-matter is no longer the land alone, but the land with its accretions and has to be valued as such for the purpose of Court-fees even though it is a revenue-paying land. ('36-43) Tax Dec (Nag) 49 (50).

(3) The term "land" is not necessarily restricted to agricultural land but covers all kinds of land, regardless of the use to which it is put or may be likely to be put. AIR 1948 East Punj 9 (10)  AIR 1960 J & K 110 (112). (Land capable of being used as building site also included.)

10. "Land paying revenue to Government" — Meaning.— (1) A suit for possession of a definite share in an under-proprietary tenure which forms part of an estate assessed to the payment of annual revenue falls under clause (a) though the revenue in such a case may be paid by the superior proprietor and not the under-proprietor. AIR 1921 Oudh 110 (111) = 24 Oudh Cas 29  (1882) 8 Cal 192 (194, 195) (DB).

[See also AIR 1931 Oudh 366 (367, 368) = 6 Luck 684 (DB). (Paragraph (v) applies to all suits for possession, proprietary, under-proprietary possession as tenant, etc.)]

[But see AIR 1929 Oudh 321 (321) = 5 Luck 101 (DB). (Suit for possession by mortgagee — Paragraph (v) does not apply as he does not claim proprietary possession.)  AIR 1914 Cal 791 (791) (DB). (Clauses (a) to (d) of this paragraph do not apply to a suit for possession by a lessee as the leasehold land cannot be said to be liable to payment of revenue the obligation to pay revenue being on proprietor.)]

11. Lease-hold, whether land within the meaning of paragraph.— See Notes 1, 3, 8 and 10.

12. Mode of valuation of land — Clauses (a) to (d).— (1) The scheme of the paragraph seems to be to value land with reference to the revenue payable in respect of it wherever such valuation is possible. AIR 1937 All 206 (206) = ILR (1937) All 128 (DB).

(2) Suit for possession of paddy lands — Section 7 (v) (b) applies. AIR 1934 Rang 313 (316) (DB).

Section 7, Para. (v) — Note 12 (contd.)

(2-A) Suit for possession over bhumi-dari Lands — Sale deeds also challenged — Valuation for Court-fee purposes is governed by Section 7 (v) (i) (b) of Court-fees Act (1870). 1968 All WR (HC) 501 (502).

(3) Entire holding separately assessed — Section 7 (v) (b) applies. AIR 1924 Rang 102 (104) = 1 Rang 651 (DB).

(4) Suit for possession of land separately assessed to revenue — No separate engagement with Government — Section 7 (v) (b) applies. AIR 1948 East Punj 9 (10).

(5) Where the land is not subject to the payment of fixed annual revenue or though forming part of a revenue-paying estate, does not form a definite share of such estate and is not separately assessed, other modes of valuation are given, viz., according to the net profits from the land or the market-value of the land (Clauses (c) and (d)). In such cases the idea presumably is that valuation according to the revenue is not possible. AIR 1937 All 206 (206) = ILR (1937) All 128 (DB).

(6) In suits with respect to the lands in what was once a permanently settled estate village but is now a ryotwari village, if the lands are separately assessed, Clauses (a), (c) and (d) of Section 7 (v) will not apply and Cl. (b) will apply if the separate assessments are recorded in any of the registers now maintained in the village, and if those registers are maintained under the authority of the Government or of the Collector. 1955-1 Mad L Jour 83 (83).

[See also AIR 1957 Andh Pra 607 (608). (The proper course is to ascertain whether a ryotwari patta has been issued or whether a register is maintained showing the separate assessment levied on this land. If so, the Court-fee will have to be levied under Section 7, clause (v) (b). If the terms of Sec. 7 (v) (b) do not apply then the Court-fees under Section 7, Clause (v) (d) will have to be paid.)]

(7) A suit for possession of a specific plot of land not separately assessed to revenue but forming a fractional share or a portion of a separately assessed part of an estate comes within Cl. (b) of Section 7 (v) and the value, therefore for purposes of Court-fees and jurisdiction shall be determined in terms of land revenue rateably payable thereon and not in terms of its market-value. AIR 1960 J & K 23 (25) (DB).

(8) Where the lands are held for agricultural purposes and are private lands, the rent payable to the land-holder, in respect of fasli year in which the estate (in which the lands are situated) is notified is the land revenue. Therefore in a suit for recovery of such property the Court-fee is to be assessed on the basis of 10 times of that. 1958 Andh LT 774.

13. "Estate" meaning of.— (1) A khewat khata in the United Provinces is only a separately assessed part of an estate and not in itself an estate. AIR 1933 All 414 (415) = 55 All 531.

[But see AIR 1937 All 206 (207) = ILR (1937) All 128 (DB). (The decision overlooks the definition of "Estate" in this paragraph.)]

(2) Even when a single field is assessed to revenue it can be regarded as estate within the meaning of the explanation and there being no other field comprised in the estate it would constitute an entire estate. AIR 1948 East Punj 9 (10).

14. "Definite share."— (1) The mode of valuation under this paragraph according to the annual revenue is applicable not only when the land in suit forms an entire estate but also when it forms a definite share of an estate. In such cases, the value of the suit is to be calculated according to the proportionate part of the revenue which corresponds to the fraction which the land in suit constitutes out of the whole estate. AIR 1937 Nag 100 (100) = ILR (1937) Nag 309  (1908) 12 Cal WN 990 (992) (DB)  (1906) 3 All L Jour 511 (512)  1881 All WN 5 (5) (DB).

(2) When the land is part of an estate but separately assessed to revenue, the mode of valuation according to the revenue is applicable though the land is not a "Definite share" of an estate. 1878 Pun Re No. 67, p. 226 (227) (DB).

(3) When the land is part of revenue-paying estate but is neither a definite share of it nor separately assessed to revenue, it is to be valued according to its market-value under clause (d) and not according to the Government revenue. AIR 1941 Sind 154 (158) = ILR (1941) Kar 102 (DB)  AIR 1951 J & K 18 (Pr. 4) = 10 J and K LR 88 (DB). (Suit for pre-emption.)  1880 Pun Re No. 102, p. 248 (249) (DB).

(4) It has been held that when ryoti land is situated in an estate which had been taken over by the Government under Madras Act 26 of 1948 and if a Section 7, Para. (v) — Note 14 (contd.) ryotwari patta has been issued to the person concerned under Section 11 of that Act then Court-fee will have to be paid under Clause (b). Even if no patta has been issued there might still be a register maintained under the authority of the Government relating to the assessment of revenue payable under Section 23 (a) (ii) of Madras Act 26 of 1948 to attract the definition of estate. If the terms of Clause (b) do not apply Court-fee will have to be paid under Clause (d). AIR 1957 Andh Pra 607 (608).

(5) The words "definite share" in this paragraph mean an undivided land undemarcated fraction of an estate as distinct from a defined, demarcated plot, which has been taken out of an estate. AIR 1918 Mad 25 (26) (DB)  AIR 1924 Mad 646 (647)  (1906) 3 All L Jour 511 (512, 513).

[See also AIR 1921 Oudh 110 (111) = 24 Oudh Cas 29. (Revenue paid by superior proprietor — Still land is revenue-paying land.)]

(6) Where this section speaks of a "Definite share" in an estate as opposed to a "part" of the estate, it draws a distinction between abstract rights in an estate and the concrete or physical portion of it. The former deals with abstractions, a claim to possession of a definite share, in inchoate rights, however expressed, while the latter deals with a claim to possession of physical and defined parts of the whole estate whether actually demarcated or not. ('36-43) Tax Dec (Nag) 39 (41).

(7) In the case of a specified plot of land which is part of a revenue-paying estate, unless the land is separately assessed to revenue, Court-fee will have to be paid under Clause (d) according to the market value of the land, and Clauses (a) and (b) of this paragraph will not apply. AIR 1933 Oudh 533 (534). (Suit for pre-emption.)  AIR 1956 Tripura 25 (26)  AIR 1952 Mad 88 (Pr. 1). (Suit for possession of specific portion of undivided land, viz., the 'northern half' — Clause (d) and not Clause (b) applies.)  AIR 1951 Mad 698 (Pr. 15) = ILR (1951) Mad 867 (DB). [See also AIR 1956 Tripura 31 (32).]

(8) Where the suit land is a fractional share or a part of an "estate" which is separately assessed to revenue, the Court-fee will have to be paid under Clause (d) according to the market-value and not according to the revenue. AIR 1927 Mad 1002 (1005, 1006) (DB)  1880 Pun Re No. 102, p. 248 (249) (DB).

(9) A suit for a fractional share of khewat in the United Provinces must be assessed with Court-fee under Cl. (d), such khewat being only a separately assessed part of an "estate". AIR 1933 All 414 (416) = 55 All 531.

[But see AIR 1937 All 206 (207) = ILR (1937) All 128 (DB). (The khewat in question was held to be a separate estate.)]

(10) The words "definite share" do not mean a definite share separately assessed with revenue in the Collector's register. (1908) 12 Cal WN 990 (992) (DB).

(11) Government of India Notification of 1921 bearing on Clause (b) of this paragraph issued under Section 35 of this Act, in substitution of original Notification No. 4650 dated 10-9-1889, runs as follows:— "When a part of an estate paying annual revenue to the Government under a settlement which is not permanent is recorded in the Collector's register as separately assessed with such revenue, the value of the subject-matter of a suit for the possession of . . . a fractional share of that part shall, for the purposes of the computation of the amount of the fee chargeable in the suit, be deemed not to exceed five times such portion of the revenue." A suit for a specific plot of land comprised in a separately assessed part of an estate does not come within the above Notification, so as to be governed by Clause (b) as the expression "fractional share" therein can only refer to an undefined share and not to a definitely located area. ('94) 16 All 493 (496). (Suit for pre-emption of specific plots — Court-fees is payable under Clause (d).) * AIR 1947 Mad 297 (298) = ILR (1947) Mad 643 (FB). (12) In the United Provinces, the Government of India Notification of 1921 issued under Section 35 of this Act is not now in force. See AIR 1933 All 414 (416) = 55 All 531.

15. "Collector's register."— (1) The expression "Collector's register" used in Section 7, Para. (v) — Note 15 (contd.) clauses (a) and (b) is intended to refer to the register in which the land-revenue is recorded for fiscal purposes and is maintained by the Collector. AIR 1935 Lah 331 (332).

(2) In the Punjab the Jamabandi has been treated as the Collector's register. AIR 1935 Lah 331 (332).

(3) In Madras the Paimash register was held not to be the Collector's register. AIR 1924 Mad 646 (647).

16. "Separately assessed."— (1) "Separately assessed" means assessed separately and not as part of a whole. Hence, the mere fact that by a mathematical calculation it can be stated what the revenue is on a particular plot which forms part of a unit which is assessed to revenue, it cannot be said that the plot is separately assessed to revenue. AIR 1917 Mad 323 (323) (DB). (Confirmed on appeal in AIR 1918 Mad 25 (DB).)

(2) Plots forming a separate khata in themselves, though under-proprietary, must be taken to be separately assessed with Government Revenue for purposes of the Court-fees Act when they are so assessed with the rent which the khata as a whole is liable to pay to the superior proprietor. AIR 1930 Oudh 520 (520) (DB). (AIR 1921 Oudh 110 = 24 Oudh Cas 29, Followed.)

17. "Revenue so payable."— (1) Remissions of revenue granted in any particular year cannot be taken into account in calculating the value of land for purposes of Court-fees under this paragraph. The calculation should be based on the revenue fixed at the settlement. AIR 1937 All 657 (658).

18. Clause (c).— (1) This clause applies to cases in which the land is exempted wholly or partially from the payment of revenue or is charged with any fixed payment in lieu of such revenue. AIR 1943 Nag 315 (316) = ILR (1943) Nag 802  AIR 1914 Cal 442 (443, 444) = 41 Cal 812 (DB).

(2) An izara village or alienated village is assessed under Sections 96 and 97 of the Berar Land Revenue Code, 1928 to land revenue and is not exempt from payment of revenue. Hence, a suit for partition and separate possession of a share in such a village will fall under Clause (b) and not under Clause (c) of this paragraph. AIR 1943 Nag 315 (316) = ILR (1943) Nag 802.

(3) A suit for possession of inam lands which have been wrongly classed by Government as ryotwari land and in respect of which pattas have been issued may be valued by the plaintiff as ryotwari land held on patta at five times the revenue payable under Clause (b). AIR 1918 Mad 590 (591, 592) (DB). (Fact that after institution of suit, the lands are classed as inam, will not affect the question.)

(4) "Such revenue" in this clause means an annual revenue payable to the Government whether fixed permanently or not. Land subject to a fluctuating assessment based on the harvest cannot be considered as paying an annual revenue to the Government, and must, therefore, be valued under this clause. AIR 1919 Lah 106 (107) = 1919 Pun Re No. 100 (DB).

(5) The "year next before the date of presenting the plaint" means the revenue year and not the calendar year. AIR 1935 All 642 (642).

[But see (1906) 28 All 411 (413). (The expression denotes a period of 365 days reckoning backwards from the date of presentation of the plaint.)]

(6) In construing the words "net profits" regard must be had to the subject-matter of the suit. When subject-matter of suit is kudivaram right the value of that right can only be arrived at after deducting rent payable to landholder and expenses incurred in cultivation. AIR 1946 Mad 322 (324) = ILR (1946) Mad 821 (DB). (AIR 1942 Mad 585, Overruled.)  AIR 1954 Mad 168 (Pr. 3). (AIR 1946 Mad 322 = ILR (1946) Mad 821, Foll.)

(7) The expression "net profits" in relation to an estate means the difference between the gross collection and the expenses incurred for collection, management and preservation of the estate including expenses incurred for payment of statutory public charges, for example, revenue, cesses, taxes, local rates and the like. AIR 1953 Cal 710 (Pr. 7) (DB).

(8) In order to entitle the plaintiff to deduct any amount from the gross collection it must be shown that the amount spent had some connection with the collection of rent or management and preservation of the estate. AIR 1953 Cal 710 (Pr. 7) (DB). (Case under Sec. 7 (v) (a) (Bengal).)

(9) Maintenance and education allowances paid to junior members of the family and widows and grants to medical and educational institutions cannot be deducted for arriving at net profits of the estate. AIR 1953 Cal 710 (Pr. 7) (DB).

(10) The net profits for the year preceding the presentation of the plaint cannot be excluded from consideration for purposes of Court-fees on the ground that they partake of the nature of a windfall. AIR 1940 Mad 821 (821).

(11) Where no nett profits have arisen from the land during the year next before the suit, the clause requires the Court to estimate the land with reference to the value of similar land in the neighbourhood. The mere fact that the land is "religious" does not render it incapable of valuation with reference to the value of the similar land in the neighbourhood. AIR 1920 Upp Bur 7 (8) = 3 Upp Bur Rul 236.

19. Clause (d).— (1) This clause applies where the land in suit forms part of revenue-paying estate but does not constitute a definite share of it and is not separately assessed to revenue. If the land is a definite share of a revenue-paying estate, this clause will not apply. AIR 1937 Nag 100 (100) = ILR (1937) Nag 309  AIR 1919 Lah 106 (107) = 1919 Pun Re No. 100 (DB)  (1908) 12 Cal WN 990 (992) (DB).

(3) A suit for a specific plot of land forming part of an estate but not separately assessed will come under this clause and not Clause (a) or Clause (b). (7) Where the suit is for possession of land as well as buildings and groves standing thereon the land must be valued under this clause and the buildings and groves under Clause (e). AIR 1938 Oudh 40 (42) (DB).

[See AIR 1928 Lah 852 (853). (Suit for possession of land and not of buildings on land — Market-value of land, irrespective of buildings, determines jurisdiction of Court and amount of Court-fee.)]

(8) In a suit for possession as usufructuary mortgagee, the Court-fee payable is on the market-value of the mortgagee interest in the property, i.e., the mortgage-money, on payment of which the property can at any time be redeemed. AIR 1924 Oudh 163 (163, 164).

(9) Where the subject-matter of a suit is only the kudivaram right in the land, it is the market value of the kudivaram right that will be value of the suit. AIR 1935 Mad 569 (570, 571).

(10) Where the subject-matter of the suit for possession is only the verumpattom right in land it is the market value of the verumpattom that will be the value of the suit. AIR 1951 Trav-Co 142 (Pr. 12) = 1950 Trav-Co LR 581 (DB).

(11) Where the plaintiff seeks recovery of possession of immovable properties in which the defendant has a limited interest ad valorem Court-fee will have to be paid on the market value of that limited interest. AIR 1951 Trav-Co 212 (Pr. 3).

20. Market-value.— (1) An ancient temple devoted absolutely and in perpetuity to religious purposes has no market and therefore no market-value. A suit for recovery of possession of such a temple will not be governed by Sec. 7 (v) (e) but by Schedule II, Article 17 (VI). AIR 1938 Nag 481 (482)  AIR 1924 Mad 19 (21, 22) = 46 Mad 782 (FB). (2) The market-value is the value at the date of the suit. AIR 1928 Lah 852 (853)  AIR 1924 Lah 380 (381)  AIR 1955 Nag 184 (Pr. 9) = ILR (1954) Nag 658  AIR 1949 All 107 (Pr. 5) = ILR (1948) All 339  AIR 1965 J & K 121 (123, 124).

(3) A suit for possession of service inam land must be valued under paragraph (v) and not under Schedule II, Article 17-A (Mad). The mere fact that the property is declared inalienable by Section 5, Madras Hereditary Village Offices Act (3 of 1895), does not render it incapable of valuation. AIR 1951 Orissa 183 (1) (Pr. 1) = ILR (1949) 1 Cut 804 (DB).

(4) For a proper assessment of the market value of the land, for purpose

Section 7, Para (v) — Note 22 (contd.) of Court-fee, it is essential that a local investigation should be held as the value of land, like the value of almost every other commodity, depends on its quality. Where the plaintiff does make a prayer for local investigation, the Court acts with material irregularity in not allowing this prayer. AIR 1949 Cal 659 (Pr. 5) = ILR (1950) 1 Cal 506 (DB).

(5) The fact that under Assam Abolition of Zamindari Act the owners of estates are to receive three times the net profits as compensation, does not furnish a proper standard for assessing market value under the Court-fees Act. AIR 1953 Cal 710 (Pr. 9) (DB).

21. Clause (e).— (1) Where a tenant of a shop brings a suit for possession of the shop against third party who has dispossessed him from the shop the subject-matter of the suit is shop itself, and not the tenancy right of the plaintiff and therefore, Court-fee is payable under this clause on the market value of the shop. AIR 1951 Simla (Punj) 238 (Pr. 10) = ILR (1951) Punj 155.

(2) Lessee holding over after expiration of lease — Lessee's heirs continuing in possession after his death — Possession sought from lessee's heirs on the allegation that they have no right after lessee's death — Heirs not described as any kind of tenants — Court-fee, held, payable under Section 7 (v) (e) and not under Section 7 (xi) (cc). AIR 1968 Punj 302 = 70 Punj LR 87.

22. Proviso — Cases are prior to repeal by Bombay Act 36 of 1959.— (1) The proviso has been intended to provide a standard of valuation in the Bombay Presidency for all cases of suits for land. (1887) 11 Bom 541 (548) (FB)  1883 Bom PJ 164.

(2) The word "Land" in this proviso means land surveyed and assessed by Government. The proviso will not, therefore, apply to suits for possession of inam lands which have never been surveyed and assessed by Government. In such cases Court-fee is to be computed according to Clause (c) of the paragraph. 1889 Bom PJ 241.

(3) Where the land in suit is settled for a period not exceeding thirty years and full assessment is paid to Government, the value of the land is to be computed according to the first paragraph of the proviso. 1894 Bom PJ 425 (DB)  1884 Bom PJ 150 (DB).

(4) Proviso (3) applies to lands in respect of which the whole or any part of the survey assessment has been remitted. ('88) 1888 Bom PJ 352 (DB). (Inam village held on permanent settlement and partially exempt from revenue — Proviso (3) must be applied for determining its value for purposes of Court-fees.)  1883 Bom PJ 164. (Suit for recovery of land situated in talukdari village in respect of which large portion of revenue was remitted.)

(5) The remission contemplated by proviso (3) need not be expressed. In suits for possession of land in a talukdari village the difference between the full survey assessment for the land and the jama payable by the talukdar should be regarded as remission within the meaning of this proviso. (1887) 11 Bom 541 (548) (FB).

[But see (1887) 11 Bom 550n (551n) (DB). (This case must be deemed to have been overruled in 11 Bom 541 (FB).]

(6) Proviso (3) will not apply to a suit for possession of land in respect of which there was a previous assessment and a remission but which is no longer existing. (1905) 29 Bom 480 (488) (DB).

(7) A suit for possession of land, situated in an inam village, between subholders to which the inamdar is not a party must be valued for purposes of court-fees as inam land quite regardless of the tenure under which it may be held by the actual parties to the suit. 1882 Bom PJ 87.

23. "House", meaning of. — (1) The term "house" has not been defined by the Act, Prima facie, it means a building for human habitation. AIR 1931 Sind 6 (7) (DB).

(2) In its wider meaning, "House" includes a building used for other purposes than ordinary human habitation. AIR 1931 Sind 6 (7) (DB). (For example, an elm-house, a bake-house, a brew-house, a lighthouse, a summerhouse, a work-house, a church or a temple, an eating-house, a stock exchange, a cow-house, a hen-house, a green-house.)

(3) An indigo factory or a water mill comes within the meaning of the expression "House". (1902) 24 All 218 (225, 226) (DB)  AIR 1941 Pesh 69 (71) (DB). (24 All 218, Rel. on.)

(4) A suit for the recovery of a building site, on which a house was only partially built, was held to be a suit for possession of a "House" falling under Clause (e). AIR 1931 Sind 6 (7, 8) (DB). ((1884) Bom PJ 150, Not followed; AIR 1930 Sind 15, Rel. on.)

(5) A temple building is not a "house". AIR 1924 Mad 19 (21, 22) = 46 Mad 782 (FB). (Per Venkata Subba Rao J.)

(6) A matham used as a shelter for pious men and for keeping certain things for the temple procession is a "house". (1936) 159 Ind Cas 636 (636) (Mad).

(7) A house includes the site on which it stands. AIR 1941 Pesh 69 (71) (DB)  AIR 1931 Sind 6 (7) (DB).

(8) The fact that the land on which the house is situated is assessed to land

Section 7, Para. (v) — Note 24 (contd.) revenue, does not affect the Court-fee chargeable. AIR 1941 Pesh 69 (71) (DB)  (1902) 24 All 218 (225) (DB).

(9) Suit by distinct reversioner after daughter's death, for recovery of half share in land sold by her — Houses standing upon site — Plaintiff held could not be valued under Section 7, Cl. (v) (b) — Land as whole had to be valued for purposes of Court-fee and jurisdiction — Court-fee to be paid was on half the market value of the entire site together with the houses under Sec. 7, Clause (v) (e). AIR 1949 Mad 717 (Prs. 2, 3).

(10) Whether a suit is for the recovery of the "house" or the land on which it stands, must be determined by ascertaining if the substantial subject-matter of the suit is the house itself. (1902) 24 All 218 (226) (DB).

[See also (1889) 12 Mad 301 (304) (FB).]

(2) A suit for possession of a field on which coconut trees stood and which was assessed to revenue was held not to be governed by Cl. (e) but by Cl. (b) of the paragraph. (3) A bagayat land paying annual revenue to Government should be valued under Clause (a) and not under Cl. (e). 1884 Bom PJ 150.

(4) Panmalla or a field where betel leaves are grown is not a garden within the meaning of this clause and if it is assessed to revenue it should be valued under Clause (a) and not under Cl. (e). AIR 1953 Hyd 28 (Prs. 4, 5) = ILR (1952) Hyd 550.

(5) The meaning of the word "Garden" is not restricted to a pleasure or vegetable garden but extends also to a fruit garden even though the land under it is assessed to revenue. (1922) 68 Ind Cas 345 (346) (Lah) (DB)  AIR 1914 Lah 388 (389) = 1914 Pun Re No. 71 (DB). (What kind of garden not given in report.)  1908 Pun Re No. 146, p. 669 (670) (DB). governed by Section 7 (v) (e) and not by Section 7 (x) (b) — It is not material for purposes of para. (v) that the garden is upon revenue paying land.)  AIR 1930 Sind 15 (16) = 24 Sind LR 4 (DB). (AIR 1916 Mad 740. Followed.)

[See 1969 All LJ 593 = 1969 All WR (HC) 389. ("Garden" in Section 7 (v) (ii) does not include "grove".)]

(6) To find out whether a property is a garden or not it would be a good indication to find out whether such properties are popularly referred to as gardens. A group of wild trees which were never planted by any one cannot be called a garden. Even after the trees grow up, cultivation to greater or less extent is continued in gardens and the nature of cultivation is usually different from that employed in fields. Spade is used in addition to, or in place of plough. The property is usually enclosed by a fence. (1949) 54 Mys HCR 364 (370).

(7) It has been held that a honge grove in a portion of dry land cannot be called a garden, within the meaning of the Act, especially when there is nothing to show that the trees were planted or raised by anyone. (1949) 54 Mys HCR 364 (370).

(8) The term 'garden' connotes a small piece of land which is usually adjacent to a dwelling house and used for the purpose of growing flowers, vegetables or fruit for human consumption or is kept in order to beautify and add to the grandeur or value of the dwelling house or is otherwise used for pleasure. AIR 1964 J & K 34 (39) = 1963 Kash LJ 279 (DB).

25. Suit for religious property.— (1) A temple as such has no market-value and a suit for possession of a temple is chargeable with a fixed Court-fee of Rs. 10 under Schedule II, Article 17 (vi). (1938) 40 Pun LR 113 (115)  AIR 1924 Mad 19 (22) = 46 Mad 782 (FB).

[See also AIR 1953 Mad 856 (Pr. 4). (In a suit in which the plaintiff seeks declaration of a joint right in respect of impartible and communal land which is not capable of valuation, the value of the trees standing thereon cannot affect the question of valuation of the suit.)]

(2) It cannot be said that any property belonging to a temple and sued for as such has no market-value. Whether the property is capable of valuation or not depends on the nature of user to which it is put. Ordinarily it is the materials and site of the temple and the buildings which are an adjunct to it that will not be capable of valuation. pealing — Appellants not liable to pay court-fee in respect of plots claimed by non-appealing defendants. AIR 1945 Pat 453 (455) = 24 Pat 379 (DB).

(13) Where the memorandum of second appeal does not give any valuation it must be taken that the valuation is the same as that in the first appellate Court for the purpose of court-fees. AIR 1953 Ajmer 24 (I) (Pr 2).

(14) Suit for ejectment against several defendants — Each claiming to be in possession of specific plot of land — Suit decreed — Some defendants alone appealing — Appellants not liable to pay court-fee in respect of plots claimed by non-appealing defendants. AIR 1945 Pat 453 (455) = 24 Pat 379.

(15) Suit for possession — Defendant's claim for compensation for improvements — Decree against defendant — Decree against — Appeal by defendant — Appeal essentially relates to possession — Court fees paid on basis of relief for possession is adequate. AIR 1962 Mys 155 (156, 157) = 38 Mys LJ 565.

(16) Suit for possession from a person said to be lessee — Trial and First Appellate Courts holding the lease to be void — Relationship of lessor and lessee also found not to exist — Court-fee on memorandum of appeal, held, had to be paid on market value of property. (T. P. Act (1882), Section 105). 1969 Cur LJ 589 (592) (Punj).

27. Court-fee on cross-objections. —

(1) A memorandum of cross-objections is not included within the meaning of the word “suit” in Section 7 and hence cross-objections claiming possession of immovable property are not liable to be charged with court-fee under this paragraph but under Sch. I, Art. 1. AIR 1925 All 119 (119) = 47 All 89.

(2) Suit for cancellation of sale-deed and possession — Court dismissing claim for possession but holding that as to part of consideration, viz., Rs. 100, there was no legal necessity and giving relief as to such amount — Appeal by plaintiff — Cross-objections by defendant against that part of decree which related to Rs. 100, held liable to ad valorem court-fee on amount involved, viz., Rs. 100. AIR 1924 All 175 (175) = 45 All 537.

28. Bengal Amendment. — (1) If the Court has reason to think that the amount of nett profits given by the plaintiff has been wrongly estimated then the Court has to ascertain (i) the net profits of the land, building or garden as the case may be in the year immediately preceding the presentation of the plaint, and also (ii) its market value. If the nett profits are not readily ascertainable or assessable or where there are no such profits the Court has only to ascertain the market-value of the land building or garden under clause (b) of the paragraph. But where they are readily ascertainable or assessable the Court is bound to direct inquiry under both the heads (i) and (ii) and demand additional court-fee on the basis of the lower of the two figures arrived at in such inquiry. In such a case the Court cannot merely ascertain the amount of nett profits and assess court-fee on fifteen times such profits without determining the market-value. AIR 1940 Cal 438 (440, 441) = ILR (1940) 2 Cal 450 (DB).

(2) Suit for recovery of possession against ex-tenant and transferee from him on ground of forfeiture of tenancy by reason of transfer of tenancy rights — Suit is governed by Section 7 (v) (a) (Beng) and not by S. 7 (vi) (cc) — Net profit would be rent received by landlord after excluding collection charges, taxes etc. AIR 1949 Cal 426 (Prs. 7, 10) = ILR (1948) 2 Cal 554.

28A. Orissa Amendment. — (1) Suit for recovery of possession — Disputed land constituting definite share of State — Section 7 (v) (h) (as amended in Orissa) applies — Valuation for purposes of court-fee should be ten times the revenue payable — In absence of rules framed by State Government or by High Court, for determination of

(2) of under-proprietary or sub-proprietary land as such—according to the value of the subject-matter, and such value shall be determined by multiplying by ten the annual under-proprietary or sub-proprietary rent as the case may be, recorded in the Collector's register as payable for the land for the year next before the presentation of the plaint.

If no such rent is recorded in the Collector's register, the value shall be determined in the manner laid down in clause (c) of sub-section (v) of this section save that the multiple will be ten.

Explanation.—Land held by any permanent lessees shall be treated for the purpose of this sub-section, as under-proprietary or sub-proprietary land."

"(v-B). In suits for possession of land between rival tenants and by tenants against trespassers—according to the value of the subject-matter and such value shall be determined if such land is the land of—

- (a) a permanent tenure-holder or a fixed rate tenant—by multiplying by twenty the annual rent recorded in the Collector's register as payable for the land for the year next before the presentation of the plaint;
- (b) an ex-proprietary or occupancy tenant—by multiplying by two such rent in case of suits for possession of land between rival tenants, and by annual rent in suits by tenants against trespassers;
- (c) any other tenant—by annual rent.

If no such rent is recorded in the Collector's register, the value shall be determined in the manner laid down in clause (c) of sub-section (v) of this section save that the multiple shall be that entered in clauses (a), (b) and (c) of this sub-section according as the class of tenancy affected is governed by clauses (a) or (b) or (c) of this sub-section."

(viz.), multiplying by fifteen the rental value of the land is not applicable where there is no evidence of the rental value. In such cases the market-value must be determined in any other proper manner. AIR 1945 Oudh 135 (137).

(2) The price which a property may fetch in the market by sale is not necessarily the same as the price calculated for the purposes of court-fee under Section 7 (v) (i) (e), Court-fees Act. AIR 1954 All 188 (Pr. 11).

STATE AMENDMENTS

Andaman and Nicobar

Same as that of West Bengal. — Reg. II of 1957, S. 7 (2) (1-8-1957).

Section 7 (V-A) (West Bengal) — Note 1

(1) Sub-clause (b) (ii) of Clause VA of Section 7 as incorporated by the Court-fees West Bengal (Amendment) Act (1963) — Amendment is not retrospective and would not apply to suits instituted long before the amendment came on statute book. ILR (1966) 1 Cal 441.

(2) The words 'licence fee payable for the year next before the date of presenting the plaint' used in the section require an interpretation consistent with the purpose and object of the Court-fees Act and consistent with the relief intended to be given to the licensors in recovering their property on the revocation of their licences. The expression must be given a practical interpretation which will work in all classes of cases where the licensor sues for the recovery of possession of his property on the revocation of the licence and where a licence fee is payable. Therefore, the expression must be understood in the light of the cause of action pleaded in the plaint, which is the revocation of licence. That is to say, the expression 'licence fee payable for the year next before the date of presenting the plaint' means that Court-fee payable is according to the licence fee paid in the last year of the licence before revocation. AIR 1967 Cal 317 (DB).

(3) In a suit to recover possession from a licensee who is not bound to pay any licence fee, the Court-fee payable is under Section 7 (v) A (b) (ii) as amended in Calcutta on the value of 'relief sought' and not on the valuation of the 'property' or 'subject-matter.' The terms valuation of relief and valuation of property are not synonymous terms. The value of the relief is now the value of the suit and this is the new criterion under the amendment. (1966) 70 Cal WN 857 = ILR (1966) 1 Cal 427 (DB). (AIR 1961 Cal 229 held bad law after the above amendment in 1963).

(4) A suit by landlord for recovery of possession of a portion of his building from a person holding leave and licence to use the same free of rent attracts Court-fee under Sec. 7 (v-A) of the Court-fees Act. In the instant case, the valuation put upon the plaint by the plaintiff was held to be sufficient and proper for reasons that it was a case of revocation of licence, that the case of the plaintiff was that no licence-fee was payable, that the plaint was valued according to the mesne profits the basis of which the Court found to be correct. (1968) 72 Cal WN 404 (DB).

(5) Municipality rescinding a lease and recovering possession of demised property on ground of transaction being in breach of Municipal Act — Lessee obtaining order under Section 144 Cr. P. C. — Suit by Municipality for declaration, confirmation of possession and permanent injunction — Case, held not covered by Section 7 (VA) since defendant was neither a licensee nor a trespasser. (1) The distinction between Sch. II, Art. 17, Cl. If he is, Sch. II, Art. 17, Cl. (v-A) will apply. If he is not, Section 7 (vi-A) will apply. AIR 1958 Cal 537 (539).

Provided that, where such amount exceeds the value of the land or interest, the amount of fee shall be computed as if the suit were for the possession of such land or interest.

STATE AMENDMENT

Uttar Pradesh:

For sub-section (viii) of Section 7 the following sub-section was substituted, namely:

“(viii) in suits to set aside or to restore an attachment including suits to set aside an order passed under Order 21, Rules 60, 61 or 62 of the Code of Civil Procedure, according to half of the amount for which attachment was made, or according to half of the value of the property or interest attached, whichever is less.

Explanation.—The value of the property or interest for the purposes of this sub-section, shall be the market value which in the case of immovable property or interest in such property shall be deemed to be the value as computed in accordance with sub-sections (v), (v-A) or (v-B) as the case may be.” — U. P. Act XIX of 1938 (9-1-1939).

(3) Two brothers brought a suit under O. 21, R. 63, impleading the other two as defendants but on application of the latter they were transposed as plaintiffs. It was held that the transposition did not make any difference to the nature of the suit or the valuation and, therefore, no ad valorem court-fee was payable on the value of the decretal amount. AIR 1955 Punj 104 (Pr. 8) (DB).

(4) Suit to set aside a summary attachment by a Collector under Bombay Act 1 of 1865 held to be governed by this paragraph. (1877) 1 Bom 352 (357) (DB).

(6) The word “value” in the proviso to the paragraph must be construed in the same way as in the previous paragraphs of the section. Where the attached land is one in the Bombay Presidency, held on settlement for a period not exceeding thirty years and paying full assessment to Government, the value will be deemed to be a sum equal to five times the survey assessment. (1877) 1 Bom 352 (357) (DB).

(8) Section 7 (viii) (as amended in U. P.) — Temporary injunction restraining defendant from transferring property treated as attachment by parties and court — Objection taken under O. 21, R. 58 dismissed — Suit to set aside order dismissing objection — Held, that suit was one to set aside order under Order 21, Rule 61 and so was governed by Section 7 (viii) and not by Sch. 2, Art. 17 (iii). AIR 1943 Oudh 422 (423) = 19 Luck 405.

(9) Section 7 (viii) (as amended in U. P.) — The word “whichever” must be held to apply to “the amount for which the attachment is made” as well as to the “value of the property or interest.” AIR 1945 Oudh 104 (105) = 20 Luck 254 (DB).

(10) (As amended in U. P.) — A suit for a bare declaration that an attachment is illegal is not equivalent, for purposes of Court-fee to suit for setting it aside. A litigant who merely asks for a declaration that the attachment is illegal cannot be asked to pay ad valorem Court-fee on the ground that the result may ‘involve’ the setting aside of the impugned attachment. SECTION 7, PARA (ix) — SYNOPSIS

1. Scope.

2. Suit for the recovery of the property mortgaged.

3. Mode of valuation — General.

4. Mode of valuation in suits for redemption.

5. Court-fee in appeals from a suit for redemption or foreclosure.

1. Scope. — (1) A suit by a mortgagee to enforce his mortgage by sale of mortgaged property is not governed by this paragraph but by para (i) of this section. ('36-43) Tax Dec (Nag) 59 (60).

(2) A suit for possession of the mortgaged property by a mortgagee under a mortgage by conditional sale after the foreclosure proceedings under Regulation XVII of 1806 is a simple suit for possession by a person out of possession and as such is governed by para. (v). 1893 Pun Re No. 20, p. 104 (105) (DB).

(3) Subsequent mortgagee seeking possession of mortgaged property by discharging mortgage debt — Suit is in substance one to redeem prior mortgage — Court-fee is payable under Section 7 (ix) and not under Section 7 (v). 1965 Cur LJ 833 (Punj) = ILR (1966) 1 Punj 793.

2. Suit for the recovery of the property mortgaged. — (1) Suit contemplated by expression “recovery of the property mortgaged” is a suit to redeem the mortgaged property and not a suit

Section 7, Para. (ix) — Note 2 (contd.) for recovery of possession of the mortgaged property from the mortgagee. (1936) 63 Cal 657 (660)  (1912) 17 Ind Cas 442 (444) (DB) (Mad)  1889 Bom PJ 58 (DB).

(2) The existence of the charge is of the essence of the claim in suit for the recovery of the property mortgaged. The raising of any question to the title of land is an incident. (1882) 5 Mad 288n (288n) (FB)  (1907-1910) 9 Oudh Cas 42 (43, 44) (DB).

(3) This para will apply to a suit for recovery of movable property mortgaged. It does not however apply to a case where the movable property is not mortgaged but pledged. There is a distinction between a mortgage and a pledge. In the case of mortgage there is a remedy by way of a foreclosure but in the case of a pledge the creditor's only remedy is sale. To a suit for redemption of a pledge, this para will not apply. To such a suit para 3 will apply. AIR 1954 Madh B 6 (Pr. 3)  AIR 1949 Nag 368 (Prs. 10, 11) = ILR (1949) Nag 243  AIR 1952 Madh B 196 (Prs. 4, 7) = ILR (1952) Madh B 136 (DB). (AIR 1949 Nag 368, Rel. on.)

(4) A suit praying for "an order to deliver the mortgage-deed with an endorsement of full satisfaction" is a suit to redeem the mortgage and is governed by this paragraph. (1936) 63 Cal 657 (659, 660).

(5) Suit for possession by mortgagor against a mortgagee under a likha mukhi mortgage is suit for redemption. 1899 Pun Re No. 73, p. 316 (317) (DB).

(6) Redemption suit — Mere fact that plaintiff claims payment of any sum which might be found due to him on taking accounts does not alter nature of the suit so as to necessitate the payment of an additional court-fee. AIR 1941 Mad 115 (116)  AIR 1951 Mad 187 (Pr. 9) = ILR (1952) Mad 92 (FB). (A suit for redemption of a Malabar Kanom, like, any other suit for redemption of a possessory mortgage, can be valued under Section 7 (ix), even though the plaintiff incorporates in his plaint a prayer for the taking of accounts and the payment of arrears of rent due from the Kanomdar.)  AIR 1957 Mad 297 (298)  AIR 1953 Pat 306 (Pr. 11)  AIR 1947 Mad 411 (412) = ILR (1948) Mad 103 (DB)  AIR 1937 Nag 295 (298) = ILR (1937) Nag 49 (FB)  AIR 1931 Mad 479 (479)  AIR 1929 Nag 1 (2) = 24 Nag LR 197 (DB)  AIR 1923 All 261 (262) = 45 All 154 (DB)  (1910) 13 Oudh Cas 32 (34)  (1907) 29 All 471 (475, 476) (DB).

[But see AIR 1915 Oudh 13 (13) (DB)  (1912) 17 Ind Cas 442 (444) (DB) (Mad).]

(7) Decree for redemption — Compromise in appeal increasing amount — Suit by transferee from mortgagor to avoid compromise decree and for recovery of property — Not one for redemption. AIR 1935 Mad 671 (672).

(8) Suit by reversioner for possession on ground that sale effected by h's collateral was without consideration and necessity — Compromise — Land in suit to be regarded as mortgaged with alienee on behalf of plaintiff who would be entitled to get it back on payment of certain sum — Subsequent suit for possession by plaintiff — Suit is governed by Section 7 (ix) and not by Section 7 (v). AIR 1949 East Punj 336 (Pr. 3) (DB).

(9) The plaintiffs brought a suit for redemption of two mortgages, paying court-fee on the consideration of the mortgages. In the plaint it was stated that the land mortgaged had after the execution of the mortgages been fraudulently sold in execution of rent decree and, as such, they were not bound by the sale and were entitled to redeem the land as stipulated under the mortgages. It was held that the facts stated in the plaint being in the nature of anticipatory defence, the court-fee already paid by the plaintiffs was sufficient and they could not require to pay ad valorem court-fee on the market value of the land under Section 7 (iv) (c). 1956 BLJR 265 (269).

(10) Where according to the allegations made by the plaintiff the mortgaged property is lost altogether or damaged and the property cannot be restored back to the mortgagors and the plaintiff prays for a decree for the market value of the property mortgaged, that does not make any difference. Under Section 7 (ix) the plaintiff is entitled to value the suit only at the amount secured by the mortgage and the mere fact that he has asked for the market price of the property mortgaged as compensation in case the mortgaged property is lost or damaged, does not change the nature of the suit. AIR 1958 Pat 421 (Pr. 2).

3. Mode of valuation — General. —

(1) In all suits governed by this paragraph, the court-fee is payable according to the amount of principal money expressed to be secured by the instrument of the mortgage. AIR 1931 Oudh 366 (368) = 6 Luck 684 (DB)  AIR 1958 Pat 421 (Pr. 2)  (1887) 11 Bom 591 (595) (DB)  (1969) 5 Bom HCR (AC) 153 (155) (FB).

(1891) 14 Mad 480 (483)  1950 Trav-Co LR 44 (46) (DB). (Court-fees have to be paid on the amount expressly secured by the document irrespective of the fact that the amount has been reduced subsequently by adjustment of the parties.)

[See also AIR 1920 Nag 139 (140).]

(3) Mortgagee not paying whole but only a portion of mortgage consideration — Mortgagor suing to recover property mortgaged — It is a suit for redemption of property and court-fee is payable on whole consideration as expressed in the deed. (1902) 1 Low Bur Rul 96 (97)  (1897) 1 Cal WN 670 (671) (DB).

(4) Principal amount expressed in a deed of mortgage including a certain amount of paddy valued at a certain rate — It is the rate expressed in the deed and not the rate prevailing at the time of the institution of the suit that determines the "principal amount" in assessing court-fee payable in the suit for redeeming that mortgage. AIR 1925 Mad 1254 (1254).

(5) More than one mortgage in respect of the same property — Mortgagor suing to redeem it — Court-fee must be calculated upon sum total of principal money payable under all the deeds and not on the separate sums due under each deed, as all the deeds provide only one cause of action. (1904) 7 Oudh Cas 152 (157) (DB). (Section 17 does not apply to such a case.)

(6) Mortgage in favour of two persons advancing equal amounts — Mortgagor acquiring interest of one mortgagee — Suit for redemption of remaining half — Amount advanced by mortgagee whose interest was not acquired would be principal amount as contemplated in Section 7 (9). AIR 1970 All 188 (190).

(9) On account of purchase of portion of equity of redemption by mortgagee, mortgage-debt pro tanto extinguished and integrity of mortgage broken — Some of the mortgagors becoming entitled to recover a portion only of the mortgaged property — In a suit for redemption of such portion, "the principal money expressed to be secured" on which court-fee for the suit is to be calculated under this paragraph must be taken to be the proportionate amount of the debt for which the portion sought to be redeemed would be liable. (10) The suit was essentially a suit for redemption. All that the plaintiffs had done was that they had described in the plaint how they were entitled to succeed to the properties of one B as the next reversioners after the death of his widow. They had not prayed for declaration of title in the plaint, nor had they made any allegation in it which could be construed as raising a question of title. It was necessary for them to state how they were entitled to redeem the mortgage. It was only in view of the defence taken in the written statement that it had become necessary for the Court to decide the question of the plaintiff's title in the suit. It was held that the mere fact that the question of title had to be gone into on account of the defence raised by the defendants could not convert the suit into a suit for declaration of title. Court-fee was payable on the principal mortgage money in a suit for redemption and as the suit could not be held to be a suit for declaration of title and consequential relief, they could not be required to pay ad valorem court-fee on the market-value of the properties in question. 1955 BLJR 44 (45).

(4) Where in a decree for redemption of all the mortgaged properties, including the properties claimed in appeal, the appellant attacked the entire decree and wanted the entire decree to be set aside in toto and the suit dismissed, it was held that the proper court-fee payable on the appeal would be certainly on the principal money expressed to be secured by the instrument of mortgage, and not merely on the market value of the one-fourth of the mortgaged properties which he claimed for himself as not redeemable. AIR 1957 Mad 168 (168).

(5) In the following case decree was passed in a foreclosure suit for a certain amount in default of payment of which within a certain time the property was to be foreclosed. Defendant appealed denying plaintiff's right to foreclose on the ground that he was not liable to pay any portion of the sum decreed. Held, that suit had changed its nature in appeal and had become a suit to avoid payment of a specified sum and as such the court-fee payable was to be calculated ad valorem on the amount of the decree under Sch. AIR 1944 Oudh 113 (114).

(20) Where in an appeal by some of the co-mortgagors from a preliminary decree for foreclosure the relief claimed is a declaration that the mother of the appellant who was also a mortgagor had only a limited interest in the property mortgaged and not an absolute interest as found by the lower Court, the subject-matter of the appeal is the difference between an absolute and a limited interest. This is not capable of valuation and the Court-fee payable on the relief is under Article 17 (vi). ('36-43) Tax Dec (Nag) 70 (71).

(21) Order allowing redemption of a mortgage under a conditional decree for redemption with the alternative for foreclosure — Money paid by mortgagor and order having the effect of decree absolute for redemption passed — Appeal by mortgagee on the ground that payment was too late and should not have been received by Court — Right to foreclose or to redeem not in question — Subject-matter is incapable of valuation — Court-fee of Rs. 10 under Schedule II, Article 17 (vi) must be paid. (22) Where in a suit for redemption of a mortgage a decree for redemption is passed with a condition superadded that if the defendant deposits certain amount in Court within a certain time the decree shall not take effect and the plaintiff appeals against the decree seeking to avoid the condition, the Court-fee on appeal is payable under Sch. (23) The plaintiffs mortgaged a certain share in a tauzi usufructually to defendants Nos. 1 and 2 to secure a loan of Rs. 1,600, 12 bighas of land were included in the hypothecated property as bakasht land. The suit was brought by the plaintiffs to redeem the mortgage. They also sought khas possession of these 12 bighas as against defendants Nos. 3 and 4 alleging that these defendants were the benamidar for defendants Nos. 1 and 2. The defendants Nos. 3 and 4, claimed occupancy rights in the 12 bighas, which they claimed to have been settled with them by the predecessor in interest of the plaintiffs with the consent of the mortgagees. This defence was not accepted and the Court granted the plaintiff the relief prayed for. The defendants 3 and 4 filed an appeal. It was held that the question that was raised in the appeal was not a question which arose between the mortgagor and the mortgagee but it arose between the mortgagor and persons who were strangers to the mortgage. Clause (ix) of Section 7, therefore did not apply and Court-fee was payable on the appeal under Article 1 of Schedule I on the value of the interest claimed by the appellants in the 12 bighas of land. AIR 1951 Pat 183 (Prs. 6 to 9) = 30 Pat 859.

The decree under appeal directed the Commissioner to ascertain in terms of the directions contained in the decree the amount to which the mortgagee would be entitled in addition to the principal amount and the appellant claimed certain alterations in the directions.

Held, that the relief claimed in appeal was incapable of valuation and therefore Court-fee was payable under Schedule II, Article 17 (vi) and not under Section 7 (ix). AIR 1960 Madh Pra 292 (293) = 1960 MPLJ 886 (DB).

(6) Where in a suit for specific performance of contract for exchange of immovable property, the plaintiff was already in possession of land in suit and the deeds of exchange alone had remained to be executed it was held that as the plaintiff was only asking for relief of having a valid title deed in respect of the land, the case should be considered to come under Section 7 (x) (a) and the valuation put by the plaintiff (consideration amount) must be accepted as correct. AIR 1957 Cal 171 (173).

(7) Suit by vendor for recovery of amount agreed on as consideration in which he declares his willingness to perform his part of contract by executing proper conveyance of the property will come under this paragraph. AIR 1919 Mad 304 (304) (DB).

(8) Suit to have sale deed executed and completed or for recovery of sale deed already executed is suit for specific performance of contract of sale, though there is no prayer for possession of property sold. AIR 1924 Lah 439 (440) = 5 Lah 75 (DB).

[See also AIR 1956 Hyd 49 (Pr. 4) = ILR (1956) Hyd 138 (DB). (A suit for compelling the defendant to execute a sale deed is a suit for specific performance.)]

(9) A suit for specific performance of a contract of sale of land against defendant first party with an incidental prayer for declaration that the subsequent sale executed by defendant first party in favour of defendant second party is invalid and not binding on plaintiff, would be governed by Section 7 (x), and not by Section 7 (iv) (c) or Section 7 (iv-A) as inserted by Section 8 of the Orissa Court-fees (Amendment) Act (5 of 1939). The valuation for such suit would be the amount of consideration for the suit contract of sale and not that for the subsequent sale. AIR 1960 Orissa 129 (130) = ILR (1960) Cut 184. (AIR 1953 Pat 24, Rel. on.)

(10) Mortgagor contracting with mortgagee that on default in paying mortgage-money within certain time he would execute conveyance of the property to mortgagee — Latter suing for specific performance of the contract — Amount that will be due on mortgage is ascertainable and Court-fee will have to be paid on such amount.  ment he has entered into by which certain properties are to be conveyed to him, but in the plaint desiring that only some of those properties should be conveyed and possession of such properties should be delivered — Suit will have to be valued on consideration mentioned in original arrangement, as Court will, in any event, have to declare the original arrangement and on that basis only will be able to give any relief to plaintiff. AIR 1937 Mad 831 (832, 833).

(12) The plaintiff sold the suit properties to the defendant for a stated consideration of Rs. 5,500. Alleging that the consideration actually paid was only Rs. 3000 and there was an agreement for reconveyance of those properties entered into on the same date for this sum of Rs. 3000, the plaintiff filed a suit for specific performance of that agreement of sale. Held, that according to the averments in the plaint the appropriate Court-fee was payable on Rs. 3000 and not Rs. 5500. The amount agreed for the contract of reconveyance was Rs. 300 and the sale consideration for the earlier sale had no bearing. AIR 1954 Andhra 6 (Pr. 6).

(13) According to Clause (x) of Sec. 7 the Court-fee is payable "on the consideration of the sale". Those words prima facie mean the consideration agreed upon between the parties as payable in respect of the contract and not the portion of the consideration which according to the plaintiff was payable at the time of the suit. AIR 1958 All 851 (852).

(14) Different views are held as to Court-fee payable on suit for specific performance of a contract of sale and for possession of property sold.

as well as execution of sale deed. AIR 1920 Oudh 167 (169) = 23 Oudh Cas 388  AIR 1945 Bom 81 (81, 82) = ILR (1945) Bom 32 (DB).

(15) Suit for possession against seller on basis of a completed sale is not one for specific performance within the meaning of this paragraph although the suit contains a prayer that defendant may be ordered to execute and have registered a sale deed. AIR 1920 Lah 72 (72).

(16) Suit by lessee to be put in possession of leasehold property will not come under this paragraph but will come under paragraph (v). AIR 1933 Oudh 363 (365)  1908 All WN 201 (202). [But see AIR 1937 Sind 93 (93) (DB).]

SECTION 7, PARA. (xi) — SYNOPSIS

1. Clause (b).
2. Clause (cc).
3. Clause (d).
4. Clause (e).
5. Rent — Meaning of.
6. Application for standardisation of rent — Valuation.

1. Clause (b). — (1) A suit for commutation of grain rent into money rent of equal value does not fall under this clause. AIR 1924 Mad 623 (624) (DB).

(2) "A tenant having right of occupancy" does not include a person having a superior interest. A tenure-holder in Bengal is a person having a superior interest and a suit for enhancement of rent against him is not governed by Clause (b) of Section 7 (xi). AIR 1934 Cal 674 (678) = 61 Cal 513.

(3) This clause does not apply to a suit for assessment of rent. AIR 1927 Pat 123 (124) = 6 Pat 17.

(4) In the plaint the suit was valued on the basis that the annual rent was only Rs. 60 per year. The plaintiff had a right to get enhanced rent at the rate of Rs. 1000 per year from a certain date. The defendant contended that the Court-fee paid was insufficient. It was held that in view of the plaintiff's omission to amend the suit valuation and pay Court-fee on the enhanced rate in spite of the defendant's contention a decree could not be passed in favour of the plaintiff for enhanced rent on payment of necessary Court-fee in the High Court. AIR 1955 Trav Co 167 (Prs. 3, 4).

2. Clause (cc).— (1) Suit contemplated by this clause is one by ex-landlord against ex-tenant for possession of leased property, brought on the ground of determination of tenancy. (2) Where there is a prayer for possession in the case where the defendant had entered into possession of premises as a tenant of the plaintiff without executing the lease, in pursuance of the agreement, it is Section 7 (xi) (cc) which applies. The Court-fee payable is according to the amount of rents payable for the next year before the date of presenting the plaint. Section 7 (xi) (cc) is comprehensive and it covers every suit for the recovery of immovable property from a tenant. The scope of the provision is not limited. 1961 Jab LJ 1106.

(3) Meaning of word 'tenant' in Section 7 (xi) (cc) of the Act includes a person to whom that description would apply immediately before the institution of the suit but whose tenancy has terminated entitling his landlord to eject him. 1968 Pat LJR 292 = ILR 47 Pat 359.

"I will make two quotations from Chitaley and Annaji Rao's annotated edition of the Civil Procedure Code, 4th Edn. Vol. III, because those learned commentators have, in my opinion, correctly summed up the position in language which cannot be bettered."

CONSTITUTION OF INDIA.

1961 Manipur 1 (4) (Pr. 11) [A.I.R. V 48 C 1]—Tirumalpad J. C.—"What is prohibited (in Art. 23 (1)) is begar and other similar forms of forced labour. The A. I. R. Commentaries on the Constitution of India at page 635 define 'begar' as a system under which persons are pressed to carry burdens for individuals or public or to perform other forms of menial service under compulsion".

1956 All. 341 (345) (Pr. 33) [A.I.R. V 43 C 126] (DB). — Desai J. —"Shri Jagdish Sahai could not cite any authority in support of his contention that the right given to the Court to draw an adverse inference is equal to compelling the accused to be a witness against himself. We notice that Chitaley in his Commentary on Constitution, Vol. I, pp. 497-498, does not see any conflict between the provisions of Art. 20 (3) and those of S. 342, Cr. P. C."

1956 J. & K. 1 (10) (Pr. 34) [A.I.R. V 43 C 1] (F. B.) — Kilam J. —"The learned author Chitaley in his luminous commentary on the Constitution has, after discussing almost the whole case law on the subject, enunciated some principles which I might give more or less in his own language. According to the learned author" (Points from Note 8 (g) under Art. 21, p. 533 quoted.)

CIVIL PROCEDURE CODE, 1908.

1953 S. C. 23 (27) [A.I.R. V 40 C 7]—[Touching the revisional jurisdiction of the High Court set out in S. 115, Civil P. C.] "A large number of cases have been collected in Edn. 4 of Chitaley & Rao's Code of Civil Procedure (Vol. I) which only serve to show that the High Courts have not always appreciated the limits of the jurisdiction conferred by this section."

1949 P. C. 156 (158) (Pr. 19) [A. I. R. V 36 C 48]—Sir John Beaumont—"There have been no doubt, decisions in some High Courts in India which lend support to the view upon which the Judges acted. The cases are collected in Edn. 4 of Chitaley and Rao on the Code of Civil Procedure, Vol. I, p. 1105."

P. L. D. 1965 (W. P.) Lahore 590 (594, 595) (DB). — Sajjad Ahmad J.—"There has been a conflict of judicial opinion on the question of the applicability of this section to decrees in appeals under the Letters Patent. The High Courts of Bombay, Punjab, Madhya Pradesh and Madras have held that the section applies. The High Court of Patna took a contrary view (See Chitaley's Commentary on S. 114 of the Civil P. C.—headnote 1, at page 1507, Vol. II, 1963, Edition.) In a recent Full Bench decision reported in Jwala Prasad v. Jwala Bank Ltd., A. I. R. 1961 All. 381, the Allahabad High Court has held that . . . and has overruled an earlier decision to the contrary given by another Full Bench of the same Court reported in Mst. Abhilakhi v. Sada Nand, AIR 1931 All. 244."

1968 J. & K. 13 (14) (Pr. 7) [A. I. R. V 55 C 4]—J. N. Bhat J.—"The principle as laid down in certain authorities as summarized in the Commentary on Chitaley's Civil P. C. (7th Edn., Vol. 2, Page 1927) is that the Court has to see whether the suit cannot be determined in the absence of the person who applies to be made party or whether his interests will not be prejudiced by not being joined as a party".

1968 Mad. 1 (21) (Pr. 59) [A. I. R. V 55 C 1] (FB) — Venkataraman J.—"Pointing out that S. 105, Civil P. C., must be read harmoniously with S. 99, Civil P. C., the decisions have held that the phrase 'affecting the decision of the case' in S. 105 must be interpreted to mean 'affecting the decision of the case on merits'.
